Mr. J. S. Anderson, of Novelty, Mo., came in on Tuesday for the purpose of assisting in starting a new bank in this city, of which he will probably have the management. Several of the business men, we understand, were approached when Mr. Anderson was here some few months since, when they decided to take stock. The matter is now under consideration, and it is a little premature to predict what the result will be as there is a report that overtures are being made to buy the bank of C. & E. Thayer.

When practical jokes go to that extent that fire arms are used, frightening people in their homes, as it did on Wednesday night in the east part of this city when practical jokes were played on two men accused of monkeying with other another men's wives and blank cartridges fired to frighten the victims, it appears to us that this is going too far and the officials should prosecute the perpetrators, for had this turned into a shooting scrape, as such affairs are likely to, it would be no laughing matter. Now let us see whether our new city officials will take the matter up, making an example of those who think they can use fire arms in this city to frighten people.

The new firm of Gangloff & Snuffer has let a contract to put up a store building, two story, 48 by 70 feet, near the Day barn. Mr. S. A. Brodhead is the contractor, and it is to be completed in six weeks, after which a feed yard will be built. The new firm will handle flour, all kinds of feed and grass seed, hay, cheese and other farm products and pay spot cash. Mr. A. R. Gangloff is no stranger to the West, having resided at different points in Eastern Oregon during the seventies. He is the main spoke in the new bank to be started in Tillamook City. Mr. Gangloff has great faith in Oregon, especially in Tillamook county, and his family will probably move here about June.

The Evening Telegram last Monday contained a picture of the Mayor of this city, with this write up: "Hon. J. L. Briggs, who assumed the office of Mayor of Tillamook January 6, is the junior member of the firm of Wade & Briggs, hardware merchants. Mayor Briggs is comparatively a new-comer to Tillamook, having been a resident of the city about two years. His reputation of possessing a combination of the characteristics of Davy Crockett and President Roosevelt has permeated the entire community, and this combined with his undoubted business ability, elected him to the office without opposition." And now Mayor Briggs is in a dilemma, in fact, in a tight place, wondering which of the two resembles him most and if they are as good men and resemble the Mayor of Tillamook. Probably he will have to go to Washington to decide.

The house committee on territories fixed the 23rd inst. for hearing on the Oklahoma statehood bill; the 31st for the Arizona statehood bill, and February 7 for the New Mexico statehood bill. The bill to create the territory of Jefferson out of Indian Territory was referred to a committee.

According to advices from Omaha, the Union Pacific Company will this year spend not less than $30,000,000 in road betterments and extensions. Two-thirds of this will be spent in improvements west of Salt Lake, and the other third on the Los Angeles extension of the Oregon Short Line.

Following close after the snub administered Great Britain earlier in the week (when the semi-official North German Gazette denied that Emperor William urged the Prince of Wales to visit Berlin on the occasion of his majesty's birthday celebration, pointing out that the Prince had been invited at the request of King Edward) the North German Gazette pointedly denies that Emperor William will attend either the memorial service in honor of Queen Victoria or the coronation of King Edward. That paper says the statements of English papers on the subject are untrue.

Sparks from the Editor's Quill.

It is a bad thing to be a loafer, or to be raised that way, without a spark of ambition.

If you are a constant reader of the Headlight and are not a subscriber, we shall be pleased to put your name on our list.

Germany and England appear to be at odds again, but as it is only a war of words we expect that the Emperor and King will soon kiss and make up.

There is this satisfaction, if the republican party should happen to nominate undesirable candidate there are plenty of clean men on the prohibition ticket for taxpayers to vote for.

Our friend who signs himself "L." in the Ocean Wave, continues to discuss county affairs, and in doing so gives the Editor of the Headlight an occasional dig. But, pray, do not hold us responsible for what Judge Sappington has done illegally.

Asland is to remain a dry town, and it is reasonable to suppose that other towns will try and follow its example, especially where the law is openly violated and the gambling habit becomes a curse to a town and a detriment to other businesses.

As there is not enough room for the pupils in the public school building in Tillamook City, and as it is absolutely necessary that more room should be provided in the near future, what is best to be done, build a new school house or make an addition of two rooms, for that is what is required?

Any person who is a gambler or cannot run his own business and is wanting to be nominated for a county office, had better consider twice before they decide, for it is self-evident that the people of Tillamook have grown to mistrust, as they have a perfect right to, those who gamble or cannot make a success of their own businesses.

Richard Croker has tendered his retirement from the leadership of Tammany Hall, and it would be in order for Tom Platt to notify the republican party of New York that he had retired also, for it is fitting that these two political gods should retire arm-in-arm, for they were both tarred with the same brush in political corruption.

Tillamook county enjoyed a delightful summer and fall, the weather being refreshing and cool, while at the same time the people in the Middle West and Eastern states were being cooked alive with drought and heat. How we did pity them. Now, while King Frost is holding high carnival in the East, Tillamook is enjoying pretty weather and tempting enough to the ladies to wear shirt waists.

If, as it was stated at the farmers' congress at Salem last week, that five square miles in Tillamook County were equal to 10 square miles in the Willamette Valley, so far as yielding profits in dairying is concerned, no better argument can be advanced for an appropriation for the improvement of a railroad from Portland to Tillamook. And, as the above is an undisputed fact, Tillamook is the best place in Oregon for home seekers to locate in.

As Tillamook cheese is now practically a cash article, it would not surprise us much if it will have to be graded in the near future. In cheese making, as in everything else, some factories turn out a much superior article than others. All is now classed as Tillamook cheese, no matter whether it is made by an experienced cheese maker or a novice at the business. True it is that most of the factories have experienced men and they turn out a splendid article, but this can be greatly improved upon when dairy men confine their cows to pasture land and not allow them to feed in the brush. The factory whose patrons adhere to this will be graded A1 Tillamook cheese, while the factory which will take milk from dairymen who are indifferent where their cows feed will never be able to attain that grade.

It was only natural that the farmers' congress at Salem should advocate the passage of the Groat bill now pending in congress. The bill is of particular interest to Tillamook county, for when oleo-margarine is sold in competition and as is often done as pure butter it is plain to see that it is a serious menace to the market value of pure butter and the principal industry of this county. Every creamery or association of dairymen in Tillamook should take action and communicate with every member of the Oregon delegation and ask them to support the bill. Although it may look incredible, the slaughter houses of the meat packing companies have been turned into creameries for the manufacture of bogus butter without one drop of cream, and as the imitation is so perfect in many respects it beggars a good many dairymen to determine which is oleo and pure butter. By all means the Groat bill should become law and the Oregon delegation will help to make it so if the dairymen of this county will get in closer touch with them.

Dr. W. A. Wise, in breaking away from the state dental society because it is not etiquette for professional gentlemen to advertise, has his head screwed on the right way in having an eye to business. Not that we wish to complain that the professions are modest in advertising, but advertising pays and brings many men and businesses out of obscurity. Thousands of men attribute their success in business to advertising, while the man who thinks a few dollars thrown in that direction every month as useless expense is not up to the times, for this is an age for advertising. Business men can crowd their stores full of goods, but the way to call people's attention to them and sell them is to advertise, and there is no better medium in Tillamook to advertise in than the HEADLIGHT, for it is a wide-awake newspaper catering to a wide-awake people, and is eagerly looked for every week because it is the best, newest and most outspoken newspaper in Tillamook. That is an indisputable fact which is admitted all over the county. It pays to advertise, and especially in the HEADLIGHT, and Dr. Wise says, "There are lots of people who have money in their pockets to buy goods and services, and they are going to spend it to the best possible advantage. They are looking for bargains, and have the spot cash to pay for them, and they watch the papers for live people who advertise."

Sappington's Unpopularity.

Of course, Judge Sappington is wanting to succeed himself, and is working to that end. Not that we anticipate for one moment that so unpopular a county judge will do so. He must have been unpopular when he was elected, for he fell so far below the other candidates on the ticket that it would be political suicide to run him again. Let us refresh our readers' minds. County Clerk H. Mason, 725 votes; Sheriff H. H. Alderman, 696; County Judge G. W. Sappington, 409. Surely the county saw mill and the silent partnership transactions have not made him any more popular, and the way the last republican county convention sat down upon him, ignoring his wish and plea to be chosen as a delegate to the congressional convention, were only foretastes of public sentiment which will hurl the county judge from power. That is the issue for republicans Sappington was equally as unpopular in Yamhill. We are told by Yamhillers now residing in this city that Sappington was an office seeker in that county for twenty years, and when he did get a nomination for sheriff on the republican ticket he was badly beaten at the polls. Then he came to Tillamook, and republicans of this county now see the grave mistake they made in making him county judge, and they must expect his silent partnership transactions to be flouted in their faces at the next election with taunt and jeer.

Assessment of Oregon.

SALEM, Jan. 13.—An increase of $24,000,000 in the assessed valuation of all the property in the state, as compared with last year, is shown by the assessment summaries for 1901, filed in the office of the Secretary of State. Owing to an increase of about $500,000 in the exemptions, the net increase in the value of taxable property is $23,500,000. The total value of taxable property is now $141,398,513.96, as against $117,804,874.13 in 1900. The total valuation is now higher than it has been in five years before. There is an increase in the total value of every class of property except tillable land, which shows a decrease of $2,000,000. This decrease is more than made up by the increase on what is called non-tillable land, which has gained $8,000,000. Among the classes of property which show heavy increases are street-railway beds, which have doubled in assessed valuation; merchandise, which has increased $1,300,000; town and city lots, which have grown in value $7,500,000, and improvements on city lots which show an increase of $3,500,000.

Milk in the Form of Powder.

The State department has published the following report by Robert Bergh, United States consul at Gothenburg, Sweden: "Dr. M. Ekenberg of Gothenburg claims to have invented an apparatus by which milk can be brought into the form of powder, like flour in appearance, but possessing all the qualities of milk in concentrated form, moisture excepted. It is said that this milk flour is completely soluble in water, and can be used for all purposes for which common milk is employed. The milk flour does not get sour, does not ferment, and in the dry state is not sensitive to changes in the weather. It can be kept and transported in tin cans, baskets, barrels, bags, etc. The cost of production, Dr. Ekenberg has estimated at about twenty-seven cents per 106 quarts, and he thinks that flour made from skimmed milk can be sold for about thirteen cents per pound. The discovery will be of the greatest importance in the utilization of skimmed milk, which heretofore has been wasted."
