To Our Patrons and Friends. After a careful review of our past year's business, we have concluded that it is no longer profitable for us to continue a credit system, and have concluded to sell for spot cash, small profits and quick sales will be our watchword. We kindly ask all who are indebted to us to come in and settle their accounts and greatly oblige.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Chapter and a copy be sent to the local press and the Eastern Star for publication.

Dr. Wise Acts Wisely. Dr. William A. Wise, one of the most prominent of Portland dentists, senior members of the firm Wise Bros., has withdrawn his membership in the Oregon State Dental Society. Dr. Wise's action was prompted by his desire to be free from the hindrances which under the name of ethics the society holds down its younger members of the profession in Oregon.

Water too Cold for Oysters. EUGENE, Jan 9.—Professor F. L. Washburn, of the State University, visited Yaquina Bay during the holiday vacation of the university to do some work on the Eastern oysters planted there. Professor Washburn reports the oysters in good condition, with some of them attaining a large size. Very few young oysters have been found, and he is of the opinion, and has been for some time, that while the Eastern oyster spawns in the bay, the water is too cold to allow the spawn to develop. Nevertheless he has been of the opinion that to import the Eastern oysters, while in a young state, and to plant them in various bays of Oregon, Yaquina and Coos Bays, for example, and then to market them, would be a safe and profitable investment. He has several times urged men with capital to take up such a proposition. There is a good opening for such a business at Yaquina, and particularly at Coos Bay, on both of which salt water inlets Professor Washburn has done work with this idea in view.

NETARTS. T. B. Hanley, of Tillamook, was on the beach Friday and Saturday of last week searching for the body of his son, who was drowned in Tillamook bay. Mr. Bosler, of Woods, spent several days on the beach. Mr. Bosler is looking up a location. Ira Bradley is talking of moving out to Greenville, Washington county, in the near future. Geo. Coffman and Pat O'Hara went to Tillamook the first of the week.

NEHALEM. Fishermen complain that the run of steelheads so far is the lightest known. Stock are doing well, and getting quite a lot of pasture yet. The Literary Society had quite an entertaining paper Friday night, by editor Effenburger. Born, to the wife of Chris Larsen, on December 30th, a daughter. Miss Pearl Bristow returned to Bly-look on Monday, to resume teaching school in that district. It is said that Mr. Luetke has purchased the N. P. Ailey ranch. Mr. Miller, of Tillamook, who has rented the Hempel ranch, will move on to it the first of the month, with about seventy head of stock. He will milk about fifty cows and make his own butter.

BOULDER CREEK. W. D. Gladwell returned from Tillamook Thursday, after an absence of three days. He took out a load of cheese and on his way home was obliged to stop and clean out several slides, so he could get through with his load. E. C. Mills and a California home seeker were around trying to buy a farm in this neighborhood last week, and at last accounts they were still hunting. Boulderites know when they are well off, and are not anxious to dispose of their homes at any price. Miss Jessie Ray visited with Mrs. Pres Lucas last week. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gladwell and family were guests at H. A. Chopard's last Sunday. Grandpa Brady went out to the Yellow Fir mill, Monday, and finding it shut down for repairs, he came home Tuesday through a terrible rain. H. L. Jensen's family Sundayed at C. A. Smiths. Mr. Walter Kinnaman and son Clive were upon the latter's ranch a few days last week.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good they may possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle. Scraps. "Mamma," queried little Ethel, "what does M. D. mean after a doctor's name?" "I know," exclaimed her small brother. "It means 'money down.'" "Is your uncle coming home from the Philippines soon?" asked the visitor. "Yes," said the editor's little boy; "his subscription has expired." Mamma—Tommie, I'm glad to observe that you have given your little sister the largest piece of cake. It shows you are charitable. Tommie. No, it doesn't, mamma. It shows that the small piece had the most raisins in it. Mrs. Goodsole—Why, Johnny, are you just going home now? Your mother has been looking for you all afternoon. Johnny—Yes'm, I know. Mrs. G.—Just think how worried she must be. Johnny—Oh! she's near the end o' her worryin'; I'm just beginnin' mine. Bobbie (trying to quiet his baby sister)—Sav, mamma, is it really true that babies in China never cry? Mamma—I have no reason to doubt it, dear. Bobbie—Then what is the use of sending missionaries to a place where the kids are all angels.

To Exclude Chinese. WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The new Chinese exclusion bill framed by the Pacific Coast delegation represents much labor. For five weeks, Senators and Representatives discussed every phrase of the question, and the new measure is the result of this mature deliberation. The new bill re-enacts the prominent features of the old Geary law, with more careful provision for its enforcement, and further provides for the exclusion of Chinese from the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico, and from all other possessions which may hereafter be acquired by the United States. Furthermore, Chinese persons who may now reside in any of these insular possessions are restricted from entering the United States proper. Another new feature of the bill provides that no Chinaman shall be permitted to be a citizen of the United States.

The bill opens with a general provision that all Chinese persons, other than those who are citizens of the United States, or who have an established right to re-entry, either as domiciled merchants or as registered laborers who have acquired a residence here, shall be refused admission into the United States, and after such refusal shall be returned to China or to the countries of which they are respectively citizens or subjects, the expense of their return to be borne by the transportation company bringing them to our borders. Such companies will be required to detain at the port of entry every Chinese person intended to be landed, until it has been determined whether such person has the right to land, a heavy penalty being provided for violation of this section, not exceeding $1000 for each person, or imprisonment for one year. Should railroad lines crossing our border violate this provision, the port of entry through which such lines extend will be closed to all further admission of Chinese.

Masters of vessels bringing Chinese to this country shall present, on landing, a full descriptive list of all such persons on board. The Chinese passengers will then be duly inspected on board ship by designated officials, and their right to land determined. A penalty of not exceeding $2000, or imprisonment for one year, is provided for persons conspiring to unlawfully land Chinese in the United States, and vessels whose officers shall violate this provision shall be seized by the United States.

Batesville, Ala., July 11, 1900. I am using Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Blood-Druggist and I feel like a different woman already. Several ladies here keep the medicines in their homes all the time. I have three girls and they are using it with me. Mrs. KATE BROWDER. Quaint Features of Life. At Anarat, Pa., two aged sisters have lived alone in a small hut for years. All of the windows, except one, were kept barred. How these two women, now in the sunset of life, lived no one knew. They rarely asked aid of any sort and they chopped their wood and dragged it home from the forest. Their dresses seemed to be made of old meal sacks. Recently the women applied to the poor authorities for help. The poor master, before granting aid, decided to call and see what their circumstances were. He found the room piled full of boxes and proceeded to investigate. The boxes were found to contain silverware, silks, sauns, shawls, bolts of calico and sheeting, boots, shoes, crockery, sacks of sugar and salt. Under the stove was found a old wallet containing $150 and the lining of an old dress yielded $450. The entire find is valued at $8,000.

A Crawford county (Kan.) woman has prepared the following obituary sketch of herself, which she has sent to the local papers: "I was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, in 1827, and was married to J. H. Worley in 1843. In 1874 we came to Crawford county, Kansas. In 1847 I united with the United Brethren church, and have been a member since. Was not selfish, but attended all churches, never making loud professions, but rather let my daily walks speak for me. Was the mother of fifteen children, eight of whom are living and seven dead, including two lovely daughters, who died in the full bloom of motherhood."

The widow Hammond, who lives on her little farm near Cochecon, Pa., had a lively experience with a big black bear recently. Mrs. Hammond was awakened by the shrieking of her porker. Lighting a lantern, Mrs. Hammond seized a hatchet and hurried to the barn, where she found a bear trying to carry away the hog. The widow at once attacked the bear and struck him several times with the hatchet, but it seemed only to infuriate the brute, which, with a blow with one of his paws, fell the widow to the ground.

Mrs. Hammond got up and rushed to the house, secured a rifle, and returned to the barn. The bear had lifted the hog out of the pen when the widow raised her gun and sent a bullet into its brain, the bear fell over dead. The report of the gun aroused the neighbors, and when they arrived upon the scene the widow was in a dead faint in the barn. The bear weighed 273 pounds.

The third Christmas dinner and celebration of the Pennsylvania railroad's crew of train "273" was held at Point Pleasant, N. J. Three years ago the crew found that the holiday schedule sent them out of Jersey City early in the morning and compelled them to lay over in Point Pleasant. The regular riders of the road heard of the state of affairs and at almost every station turkey, pie, pudding, celery and other Christmas luxuries were brought to the baggage car and citizens and their wives at Point Pleasant assisted in serving the feast in the baggage car. The last dinner was a bigger successor than ever. It was attended by Mayor Stevenson of Point Pleasant. The principal feature of the dinner was a mince pie four feet in diameter and six inches thick.

A Philadelphia philosopher thus explains the general preference for a wall table in a restaurant: Primitive man ate in peril. The cave bear, the saber tooth tiger, even some worrior of his own kind, was apt at any moment to leap upon him and to devour his food and perhaps himself. Therefore, he took his meals with his back against a cliff or in the corner of two adjoining cliffs, if possible, and with the open country before him. That, you see, was the safest way for him to eat. He could not then be surprised. And we still have in us that memory of the primitive man, and we still unconsciously, when we sit down to our repasts, choose places that give us a wall for our protection. That, and not a desire to see things, is what causes us to pick out walls and corners. You can see as well from the middle of a room or from any other place, you know."
