Emmett Quick wishes us to say that he did not circulate a petition to have the cows kept up—when he found that so many people objected. We hardly thought that Emmett intended to become a busy-body and to usurp the title of "The city petition globe trotter" from Bro. Watson.

The hose company on Thursday evening authorized a committee, composed of Fire Chief H. Crenshaw, Geo. W. Grayson and Howard Cary, to purchase Babcock chemical fire extinguishers. The city authorities have about made up their minds that all buildings and fences which have encroached on the streets will have to be moved back to the proper lines. Most of the pupils in the public school have been vaccinated on account of the smallpox having made its appearance in this county, two cases having been reported, one several miles south of this city and the other east of here. Mrs. H. E. Weston has just received the sad intelligence that her daughter, Mrs. Ida Hurlbert, who was in Tillamook City on a visit last winter, died on the 9th April at Dudley, Wis., caused by pneumonia and pleurisy. She was a Christian woman, had a very amiable disposition, and was loved by all who knew her. She will be greatly missed by friends as well as in the home circle.

Mrs. Ward, the mother of Arthur Ward, who was frozen to death in the mountains, wishes to thank those who have shown so much sympathy with the bereaved family and to those who assisted in bringing the body out of the mountains and for warding it to Astoria. Mrs. Ward has written to Coroner Tuttle advising him that she does not wish the county to pay any of the expenses entailed in having the body of her son sent to Astoria, for she will pay all bills.

Mrs. Eddy received the sad news on Monday that her brother, Marvin Apple white, was accidentally killed at Victoria, B.C., the previous Saturday. He worked for the general electric light company at that place, and he was found dead Saturday evening at the foot of an electric light pole. Whether he was killed by a shock or lost his hold and fell cannot be said. He was a young man about 24 years of age and had been married eight months.

Mrs. Ward, the mother of the unfortunate boy (Arthur Ward) who was frozen to death in the mountains, in wanting to pay all expenses attending the removal of the body, and not for it to be paid by the county, has something more behind it. It shows a mother's love for her son, and although in humble circumstances, she is desirous of bearing this little burden in token of love for her son. Mrs. Ward has a noble spirit, and while sympathizing with her in this bereavement, we must commend her for the underlying motives which prompted her in this matter.

State of Oregon, plaintiff, vs. S. M. Hayes, defendant. Oil Struck At Last.

The first crude petroleum struck in Oregon has made its appearance near Mouth, Polk County, and the prediction of oil experts have thus been verified. The fluid began appearing at the top of the well shortly after a depth of 670 feet had been reached, and efforts have been made to suppress the news until more land can be secured in the vicinity, but the secret was too good to keep.

The well in question was bored on the Whitaker farm, three miles from Mouth, at the expense of H. Kraiberg, of Independence. D. M. Watson, who has been drilling the well, declines to give any information on the subject, but would not deny that oil has been struck. Persons posted in the work say that arrangements are being made to pump the water out of the well so as to permit the oil to flow. As the oil is now kept down by a pressure of 600 feet to the inch, only a small portion of it manages to reach the top.

The well was not ceased, and so could not be pumped out. A 5 1/2 inch pipe is now to be sent down and as this will shut the water off, the oil will then be permitted to come to the surface and show how strong the flow really is.

New Coast Steamers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 11.—A new line of steamships will soon be in operation on the coast, and will compete with the large fleet now in the coasting lumber trade. This line will be instituted by the Hammond Lumber Company. At least three big steamers, which will not only engage in lumber transportation but will also carry passengers, are to be built. The Hammond Lumber Company has hitherto done all its business on vessels owned by other parties. It is now the intention of the Company to run its own line. In carrying out this policy it has already purchased one vessel, and another is now building at Newport News.

Yesterday the steam schooner Arctic was brought from the I. S. Kimball Company by the Hammond Company, and will be put on the run between Eureka and this port. The Newport News Ship-Building and Drydock Company has now under way a steamer which will be out on this coast by the first of next year. She will be 240 feet in length, with a beam of 41 feet and a depth of hold of 14 feet. She will carry 1,100 tons of water for ballast. Oil will be used for fuel, and the ballast spaces has been arranged to carry oil enough to last for long voyages to foreign ports. The new steamer will have limited passenger accommodations, and a speed of ten knots. A. B. Hammond, president of the Hammond Lumber Company, will be president of the new steamship line. The company is capitalized for $2,600,000. Others who are interested in it are John B. Chaffin, of New York and Francis J. Leggett.

QUALITY VS. QUANTITY.

When selecting a horse a man does not buy one because he can get it cheaper than others, but considers its good points.

When selecting a cow he finds out whether she gives plenty of good milk.

Then why should people not be just as particular in regard to buying their food stuff.
