

FOLLOW THE CROWD!

To the people of Tillamook City and county, credit must be given for telling good things when they see, as that was fairly demonstrated last Saturday at the grand opening of the "FAMOUS" STORE, almost opposite the P.O.

All the hands were kept pretty busy till late in the evening, not talking to the customers, but selling and wrapping.

The quality and prices did all the talking; but the salesmen—only the displaying of the goods and receiving the cash.

The "FAMOUS" takes the pleasure to announce to the public that the same astonishing low prices that have prevailed during last Saturday shall be the issue of all this week.

Forest Fires Are Raging.

TACOMA June 23.—Standing timber of great commercial value to the amount of 500,000,000 feet has been burned in five districts along the line of the North Pacific. This timber comprises a splendid forest of fir, clean of limb for 100 feet, and all readily accessible because it grew within a few miles of the railroad.

The Convicts Vanish Again.

LA CENTER, Wash., June 23.—Two more robberies have been added to the long list of crimes perpetrated by Tracy and Merrill, the murderous Salem convicts who are now flying for their lives through the brush of Clarke County, Washington.

SAND LAKE.

Farmer & Co. are turning out some fine shingles at their mill and find ready sale for them.

An effort is being made to have a celebration on Sand Lake the Fourth.

An agent of the Oregonian was around taking subscriptions for the Oregonian, and as an inducement was offering an autographed map of Oregon.

It may interest some to know that W. C. King has been awarded four important awards for cranberries, as follows: First premium at the State Fair, Oregon; a silver medal and diploma at the Portland exposition; a bronze medal and diploma at the Pan-American Fair; and a bronze medal and diploma at the South Carolina Inter-State & West Exposition.

It ought to be a matter of considerable pride for the state of Oregon, and especially Tillamook county, that cranberries produced here receive such recognition in the east, the recognized home of the cranberry.

There is prospect of a wonderful crop of cranberries this year.

Chicago puts in circulation a bunch of statistics proving that the fabled Underella slipper fits the understanding of Chicago girls. The information is interesting and comforting to the web-feet but there is a host of unbelievers who are unganllant enough to second the motion of St. Louis, "You'll have to show me."

Friendship After Peace.

The Boers are showing a spirit in peace which commends them as strongly to the admiration and respect of the world as did their heroism in war. When the peace terms had been signed the Boer leaders addressed a letter to the burghers in which they said: "Casting aside all feeling of bitterness let us learn to forget and forgive; so that the deep wounds caused by this war may be healed." They are acting in the spirit of this admonition.

General Botha and Dewet have declared that they had submitted in good faith and that with tolerant administration Great Britain could hereafter depend upon the loyalty and fidelity of the Boers.

General Botha and Dewet, speaking to the inmates of a concentration camp, urged the burghers to do their utmost to show Great Britain what good colonists the Boers can make.

Other expressions of a like character have come from the leaders and dispatches have stated that the English soldiers and the burghers were heartily fraternizing and that the arrival of commands for surrender and their reception by the British resembled huge picnics.

A Florida dispatch says the only bitterness observable among the leading Boers there is against France and Germany, they declaring that the war was protracted unnecessarily owing to hoges held out by the French and German press. It was a very great wrong to those brave people to hold out to them baseless assurances, as was done in Europe, and it is not surprising that they feel bitter resentment towards those who misled them.

Ed Butler, chief of municipal looters in St. Louis and democratic boss for revenue only, did not flee the city with his crooked companions and is kept busy battling for liberty in the courts. He won the first round by securing a change of venue from St. Louis courts.

The literary character of the Chicago directory scores a slight improvement. Of the recent matrimonial merger of Ploier Kybarek and Maryanna Staanszynska, Boleslaw Werbachowski and Jozefa Czajkowski, and Anton Brycwski and Anna Jozyska. Let the good work go on.

The jolly ocean rover who landed a whaling story in New York a month ago is unloading another cargo of weird yarns. He reports having spied in the Caribbean sea a floating island filled with monkeys, which amused themselves playing ping pong with coconuts. It is not yet known whether the loquacious tar is training as a magazine specialist or preparing to take the road for a comic opera troupe.

King Edward's Life in Danger.

LONDON, June 24.—According to the highest medical authorities of London, King Edward VII. is likely to die in the early hours of the morning. At 6 o'clock this evening it was unofficially announced that his condition was extremely critical, and the attending surgeons have requested the royal family to remain in the palace all night.

LONDON, June 24.—It was officially announced that King Edward to-day underwent a surgical operation. He is suffering from perityphilitis. The Exchange Telegraph Company says the coronation ceremony is postponed.

LONDON, June 24.—The announcement of His Majesty's illness was contained in an official message signed by his physicians. After stating the nature of the King's disease, the message read: "The King's condition on Saturday was so satisfactory that it was hoped that with care His Majesty would be able to go through the coronation ceremony. On Monday evening, however, a recurrence became manifest, rendering a surgical operation necessary to-day."

Soon after this announcement was made public, it was officially announced that the coronation would be postponed. The news that something was wrong with the King was spread at first as a rumor on the Stock Exchange about noon. It then ran like wildfire throughout the city.

Half an hour later confirmation came in the form of an official bulletin from Buckingham Palace. The operation was performed on the King. It was successful, the King regaining consciousness soon after it was performed and then falling asleep.

In the streets of London consternation was depicted in every face. Strangers and Londoners alike are groups together excitedly discussing the bad news. Papers are selling at any price, the newsboys being almost mobbed.

The King has expressed a desire that Lord Mayor see the coronation dinner to London's poor is not postponed, but at other celebrations in London must be postponed.

New York, June 24.—Dr. Cyrus Edson explained the King's illness and the operation as follows: "Perityphilitis is inflammation, including the formation of an abscess of the tissues around the vermiform appendix and hence perityphilitis is distinguished at once from appendicitis. Usually an operation is necessary to ascertain whether the appendix or the surrounding tissue is diseased. In the King's case there is probably an abscess at the head of the large intestine and the feeling of the abdomen and the operation today was an immediate necessity because the abscess had to be got at at once and emptied of its contents of pus. Of course I cannot say what further than the abscess was discovered by the surgeons—that is, to what extent the inflammation had affected that part of the King's body. Under ordinary circumstances he ought to recover in three or four weeks, but after recovery it would perhaps be four weeks more before he would be able to perform his part of the coronation ceremonies. The King's trouble is in his right side, low down."

Reservoir Bursts.

BAKER CITY, June 23.—Fisherman returned from Rock Creek report what came near being a disaster at Lake Kalamacue Friday night. An irrigation company had been working for some time boring a tunnel under the bottom of the lake a distance of about 250 feet, so that it could use the water during the months of July and August, when Rock Creek is almost dry. The tunnel was so planned that it would strike a point about 60 feet below the surface of the lake. Soundings were made to ascertain just how deep the water was, but no account was taken of the mud and silt, under the water. An uprise was started from the end of the tunnel to strike the lake bottom, supposed to be about 60 feet below the surface. The work upon this gun was being done by the men of the company. The work upon this gun has been going on for years. Monitor cranes have been constructed in order that the various parts of the record-breaking gun may be conveniently shifted.

When the president wrote his name at the bottom of a bill of Congress last Tuesday night he performed an act whose importance will be far-reaching. The bill which he signed was the famous Hamsbrough irrigation bill, and from this time forth the Government is committed to the policy of developing and making ready for settlement the arid lands on the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific Coast.

A 16-inch gun, the largest in the world will be completed at Watervliet Arsenal by Wednesday and sent to the United States Government proving grounds at Sandy Hook. Its operations are expected to astonish the world. It is the most powerful weapon yet devised by man, and is expected to revolutionize the art of gun-making. The work upon this gun has been going on for years. Monitor cranes have been constructed in order that the various parts of the record-breaking gun may be conveniently shifted.
