Mr. C. L. Roadarmel came in on the Elmore on Wednesday. He has been sent in here to start the much talked of, much needed salmon hatchery in Tillamook county, and in all probability it will be located on the Wilson river.
C. Ben Riesland has filed suit in the circuit court against William and Carrie Timmerstet for commission amounting to $364 in an alleged agreement to sell the defendants' place and which they refused to do after he had obtained a purchaser.

wered down with smallpox at Hoquiam. Had not been quarantined she did not go there. They expect to be out this week!
Mr. C. B. Trescott, formerly of the Trescott Packing Company, at Goble, made a short trip here last week for the purpose of looking over the situation with a view of putting in a cold storage plant for salmon. Mr. Trescott went away favorably impressed with Tillamook.
A ball game was played on Sunday between the senior and junior teams, with the result that the former won with a score of 16 to 9. Although but organized last week, the juniors put up a fairly good game, and they claim they would have won had not the arm of their pitcher given out.
A heavy wind and rain storm passed over Tillamook on Monday afternoon and night, which made the farmers who had grass down somewhat anxious for fear it would continue. The weather on Tuesday looked threatening with the wind in the South, but Wednesday it broke fine with the weather wave gradually getting round to the Northwest.
Mr. H. C. Banker, of the H. C. Banker Building Co., of Long Beach, Cal., Mr. J. E. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson, and Mr. P. L. Gunn and family, came in on Wednesday from California. They came in on the Elmore and are here to take over the Krebs mill at Nehalem, which Mr. Banker and his associates have purchased and which they will operate in the future and ship the output of the saw mill to California.
Prof. E. H. Whitney will in all probability be the next principal of Tillamook City public school, the directors having decided upon him provided he can get a transfer from the board of education in Washington to teach in Oregon. He has certificates from the states of Nebraska and Washington. Mr. Whitney was visiting his friend (Attorney H. E. Bots) when the vacancy occurred, and he left last week for the purpose of having the transfer made.
H. A. Webster, the newly appointed Deputy Fish Warden, has arrived at Astoria and will make that city his headquarters, as he has been assigned to special duty on the Columbia, and will patrol in search of those fishing without a license. Previous to his appointment it had been intended that he should be superintendent of the Tillamook hatchery, but now L. Roadarmel, of Clackamas, an experienced hatchery man, has been appointed to that position.
Go to McIntosh & McNair's when you want farm implements, for they are the local agents for the Plano Manufacturing Company, carrying in stock the celebrated Jones' Mowers and Tenders, recognized the best implements made in the United States; also agents for the Olds' Wagons, manufactured at Fort Wayne, Ind., which are made of the finest material that can be procured. You will save money by buying your farm implements at McIntosh & McNair's.
The steamer Geo. R. Vosburg reached this city Tuesday evening. After she left Astoria on Monday she was caught in the storm which suddenly sprang up that afternoon, when they got in the roughest sea any of those on board had ever experienced. She had to put into Nehalem, where she towed in a schooner the next day and then came on to this city. The propeller which she lost when she broke her shaft striking a water soaked log at Drystocking has been found.
As Howard Cary could not make his books and bank account tally last week when he turned over the treasurer's office to his successor, he immediately made up what was deficient, which was in the neighborhood of $1,500. Howard believes that some of the warrants have been "littered," and if that is so it should be ascertained who did it, but he has made every thing right with the county, and probably if the books were experted a mistake might be found to put the matter right.
Assistant Commissioner W. A. Rich, of the United States Land Office, has made an important ruling affecting many homesteaders who have entered upon land in the Siletz Reservation. In all other portions of the Oregon City land district homesteaders are required to pay $2.50 an acre for all excesses on land embraced within the limits of a railroad grant, and $1.25 an acre on excesses outside of this limit, the payment to be made at the time the land is entered upon; as a commission on 100 acres. Under the ruling, homesteaders will not be required to pay for excesses or commissions on the same unless the homestead is commuted, which is often done. On commuted entries, 2 per cent commission must be paid on the purchase price of the land, and this amount must be paid at the time the entry is commuted.

The special school meeting on Monday was not as largely attended as the previous meetings when the subject under consideration was how to provide sufficient accommodation for the pupils attending the public school in this city. As is well known, the previous meeting voted to make an addition of four rooms, but as there appeared to be considerable objection to this and the money voted not being sufficient to make the addition the directors decided to bring the matter again before the district, and in doing so submitted pictures and plans of two buildings, the estimated cost to erect was $3,200 and $4,000 respectively, without heating appliances. These were discussed informally for some time. The first vote taken was upon the question as to making an addition to the old building or erecting a new one, which was decided in favor of a new building. Mr. Claude Thayer then moved that the directors be authorized to borrow $4,200 to erect the building with the four school rooms on the ground floor and $500 to repair the old building. To this Mr. F. R. Beals moved as an amendment to build the two-story building, but as there appeared to be some doubt in the mind of the members as to whether that building could be erected for the money stated, Mr. Thayer's motion was carried by a large majority.
The annual meeting of the Tillamook County Teachers' Institute will be held in this city on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 28th, 29th and 30th, for which Prof. G. B. Lamb has prepared an interesting program for what promises to be a profitable institute. The instructors are Prof. J. H. Ackerman, county superintendent of public instruction; Prof. David Forbet, professor of science and mathematics at Albany College; Prof. L. H. Baker, principal of South Salem school, all well-known school men of good repute in the state, and, in consequence, from a teachers standpoint, the institute will be equally as interesting as those in previous years when these gentlemen were instructors and gave the institute the benefit of their long experience in school work. Two public lectures will be given, the first by Prof. Forbet, who has become quite a favorite in Tillamook on account of his visits and interesting lectures here. He will lecture on Monday evening, July 28th, when his subject will be "Higher Education in New York." Prof. Ackerman will lecture the following evening on "The Educational Outlook," and as he needs no introduction to a Tillamook audience, he is sure to have something of interest to lecture about. The lectures will be preceded by a short musical program under the direction of Miss Ruth Cooper. Every teacher in the county, and especially the young people who intend making teaching a profession, should attend the institute, in fact it is almost compulsory for teachers to do so, for the County Superintendent may, at his discretion, revoke the certificate, or the grade, or refuse to grant a certificate to any teacher who refuses to attend the county institute without cause. Holders of state diplomas or certificates are expected to take part in institute work, and refusing to do so may be reported to the State Board of Education for unprofessional conduct.

Sparks from the Editor's Quill

If you think you can do an editor a meaner trick, he can patiently wait for his opportunity in the sweet bye-and-bye when he can return the compliment with interest, and the editor won't get mad and vindictive either.
It has just dawned upon us why the dairymen and cheese makers won the tug-of-war on the Fourth against the loggers. Limberger cheese is a pretty strong product, and no matter how determined the loggers pulled, Limberger was altogether too strong for them.
The school meeting on Monday did a good lick of work toward beautifying and improving Tillamook City. Let the good work go on, and if the city dads will provide a city park and the water company a new pipe line, these would be valuable additions and do much to improve the city.
The outside photographers who took a snap shot at most every business and private residence in the city for an outside firm (?), did not appear to work the "graft" they expected, for when they failed to dispose of their poorly finished pictures we saw them setting fire to them, which their "company" on the outside can never know about.
Suppose the county courts throughout the state refuse to receive scalps in the future on account of the money appropriated by the state legislature being exhausted, no doubt the next legislature will be induced to make another appropriation to silence the howl of the legislators who come from Eastern Oregon, for they have more howling political coyotes in that part of the state than anywhere else.
Taking everything into consideration, and weighing fairly and looking at the situation squarely in the face from an economical point of view, Mr. Thayer's motion at the special meeting of the school district was the right thing to adopt. It will answer all purposes and should satisfy those who have been advocating a new building in preference to spending money making an addition to the old building. Something had to be done to provide more accommodation, and we believe all will eventually admit that what was decided on Monday was the proper thing.
Figures are perplexing at times, and so are the figures of the number of persons of school age in Tillamook county for the past five years. One would naturally suppose that Tillamook, growing as it surely is in industrial wealth, would have a steady increase in the number of persons of school age. It is not so, however, for there are nine less this year than there were in 1898. How to explain it we hardly know, unless the old settlers were stronger believers in the propagation of the human race than those who came after them and in recent years are but others may have a more correct theory to advance, so we give the enumeration for five years: 1898, 1695 persons of school age; 1899, 1672; 1900, 1729; 1901, 1722; 1902, 1686.

As each school district receives its revenue from the number of persons of school age in its district, it is not very probable that some have been overlooked, for the tendency is for clerks to crowd as many on the school roll as is possible, even if they have to stretch a point to keep them there.
The people who come to Tillamook every summer to peddle articles and solicit orders are beginning to get so numerous they are becoming a nuisance, and for that reason, if for no other, they should be made to pay a good round sum for a license and in this way they could be made to shoulder some of the burdens which now fall so heavily upon the permanent business men. There is hardly a thing that is hawked in Tillamook City and county every summer but what can be obtained of our business men at a lower figure and a better article. Take for instance sewing machines and stoves. We have in mind's eye several instances where people have paid $20 to $40 more for these articles to a peddler than what they would have paid had they gone to the business men in those lines in Tillamook City. The same to some extent can be said of farm implements and other things. Oh, yes, if "Jones pays the freight," it is a positive fact that the people who patronize peddlers have to go down deep in their jeans before they get through being humbugged by people whom they know nothing about. Patronize the business men who advertise in the Headlight and you will get a square deal, for we can recommend every one of them.

Now this old and reliable firm, Home Merchants, will sell you, at great bargains, a SUIT OF CLOTHES, Hat, Pair Shoes, Shirts, Tie, etc.
When you make your purchase be sure and patronize your Home Merchants.

Then your conscience will feel clear; when you admire yourself before the mirror, you will know that the taxes have been paid on your outfit.
You will know that they were bought from men who pay for their goods and buy from the manufacturer, from men who contribute to your roads, churches, school houses, and credit you when you are broke.
If you buy from junk shops, traveling fakes, who never pay any taxes, who jump from town to town, and never meet the assessor; and at the same time you are in debt to your home merchant. You will lose your self respect, other people will not respect you, and the fake that takes your money will call you a sucker.

STOP THAT COUGH.
A good many people have thought that a cough didn't amount to much—most excellent people whose friends were sorry to lose them. Now don't make this mistake—a cough is the first step toward serious and often fatal sickness; stop it right there.
Our Syrup, Tolu Tar and Wild Cherry, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 bottles, has proved a marvellous cough stopper. If you've just begun to cough, the 25c. size will fix you; if it's an old cough, try a larger bottle. It always relieves, and except in the most desperate cases it always cures.
And everything a well-stocked drug store ought to have, we have.
