Up To Fighters.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.-Mayor Schmitz refuses to act as referee or to listen to any evidence in the matter of the alleged fake Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight, though requested to by both pug-ilists. He says be has no time for such things. From the evidence before him he is inclined to think the fight ended things. as per agreement between the men but says it is for the pugilists to convince the public or the Examiner which made the charge that the fight was square but it is not his business to do such things.

Both Fitzsimmons and Jeffries profess by the Examiner and say there is no evidence of any fraud-that the contest ended in the eighth round because Fitz was put out fairly and squarely and there was no collusion whatever.

The public school library law should that Harry Tracy begun his plans to esnot be overlooked, lists of good books for school libraries can be procured by mediately after his incarceration. The battle with Tracy at Bothell, July 3. criminal cunning of the man was never fully appreciated by the prison officials. This is easily explained by the prison officials. This is easily explained by the fact that although he was known to be a desperate man his record for breaking out of pris on in Montana and Colorado was at that

She is thought to have given the convict some assistance, but the first appeal from Tracy to send him a revolver, a saw and a brace, on the inside of a ham was unheeded by the woman, as she evidently saw the folly of such an attempt. Tracy took a novel way to write the research of the re tempt. Tracy took a novel way to write the request for the revolver and tools to his wife.

All letters leaving the penitentiary are scanned by the prison officials and there-fore the prisoner could only write such a letter as would not be destroyed before it could get beyond the penitentiary walls. He wrote an innocent looking family letter to his wife, who is Merrill's sister, on April 2, 1899. On the back of sister, on April 2, 1899. Imitating Tracy.

FRENSO, Cal. July 28.— In Porterville yesterday James McKenney ran amuck and imitiated his performances by shooting out the lights of a saloon and tried to shoot the cards out of the hands of a man in a card game. That he only wounded the man was due to his poor marksmanship and not to his criminal intentions. He then proceeded to a livery stable and secured a rig at the point of a revolver. A constable, a de-puty and several citizens attempted to arrest McKenney, but he opened fire and four of them were more or less riously wounded.

Officers in surrounding counties were notified and a sharp outlook is being kept. McKenney has a bad record, having some years ago been sent to state prison from Tular County. Two years ago he killed a man in Bakersfield, but was exonerated. William Lynn, a gam-bler, whose abdomen and legs were filled with buckshot, has succumbed to his wounds. McKenney also filled the dairying counties in the state. Its cheese has a reputation all over the Pacific Coast. Last year it accumulated and did not sell so rapidly as this year, and the prices dropped. This year the manbe treather steamer service, as they now have better steamer service, as they now have door. Standing before the door, gun in steamers four or five times a week. Rancher's Bad Conduct.

PENDLETON, Or., July 27 -Later demysterious disappearance of Artie And Jugiper precinct, place his conduct in a better light in some respects, but worse in others. He did not embezzle the funds of Juniper school district, of which he is Clerk, but turned the fuud, amounting butter, so that they will comply with to $200, over to Fred Gorden, before he the law and fill them out, thus giving left. Anderson left some unpaid bills, left. Anderson left some unpaid bills, but his property is good for the amount. He had about $800 m cash when he disappeared.

The worst feature of the case is his ago Mrs. Anderson went to California to attend her husband's mother in her last sickness. After her departure Anderson appeares to have taken to drink, and when be disappeared over a week ago, was accompanied by an abandoned woman. Yesterday Mrs. Anderson returned from the funeral of her husband's mother, accompanied by Anderson's father and brother, also to learn that her hasband had raised all the money he could from their property, and had run away with a prostitute. Mrs. Asstarted for Portland last night, she was informed her husband had been een, with the hope of reclaiming him. The First National Bank of Pendleton has commenced forclosure proceedings on chattel mortgage amounting to $3000, covering 800 acres of growing wheat, a large band of horses and a complete outlit of farming implements.

William Nixon, of the disorderly district of Seattle, tried to win a woman's affection in the guise of Outlaw Tracy, and is nearly dead as the result of his foolbardy act. He told an actress in a music ball that he was none other than the famous desperado, and threatened her life if she told. He made her buy him drinks and promise to supply him with money. Saturday night, when he entered the theater, he was attacked Evidence has come to light showing by a policeman, and the proprietor, Joe has not fully regained his faculties yet. The mistake was discovered when the man's features were compared to those of a photograph at police headquarters. It is almost a miracle that the policeman did not shoot first and investigate after wards, as he was told positively that the man was Tracy and a reward of nearly $7000 is offered for the desperado, Smiling into the eyes of a man for whom she had jilted, Wilbur M. Whealen, of Marshalltown, Ia., Ada Marsh, a habitue of Wodach's concert saloon, drank to the death of her rewere seated at tables in the resort when young Whealen approached, begging her to forsake the man she was with and g with him. "Don't bother me," cried the girl, "go away. I have told you to do so before." "And I have told you what I would do," he replied. Then, taking a seat at a table near the one at which she sat he raised a bottle to his line. A moment later, he fell kersily to lips. A moment later he fell heavily to the floor and in a few minutes was dead.
