The game of ball on Sunday between Tillamook and a team made up of parties from the outside, was well played, when the home team won with a score of 19 to 7. Monday "Thayer's Colts" played the outside team, which resulted in a tie of 9 to 9, but in playing to the eleventh innings the Colts lost the game by one tally.

He was agreeably surprised to find such a fine section of country and predicted that it had a splendid future.
Mr. Claude Thayer, Mr. J. E. Sibley and a number of the prominent business men of this city have interested themselves in base ball, with the result that a number of teams have been formed with the object of playing for a pennant, the first games for which will take place on Sunday in this city, as will be seen by an advt. on another page.

Died on Sunday morning, August 3rd at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Delsman, at South Prairie, Tillamook county, Or., Mrs. Anna Catherine Heitkemper, aged 91 years. The deceased lady was born in Germany on October 20, 1811. She first came to Iowa in '59, and about seven years ago she came to Oregon and since that time has lived with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Delsman, who cared for her in her declining years. She was also the mother of four sons, all of whom are residents of Portland, Or., viz., Henry, Herman, Gerhard and Anton Heitkemper. Her husband died nine years ago on the same date that the deceased died. She was a loving mother, and was a woman who was much beloved for her amiable and fine qualities. The burial took place on Monday in the Oddfellows' cemetery, the religious service being in the Catholic church, conducted by Father J. J. Burri.

City Council Meeting.
A meeting of the city council was held on Monday evening, with Mayor S. A. Brodhead presiding, and Councilmen W. H. Reynolds, F. L. Sappington, Albert Mason, Geo. Grayson and Howard Cary present. Bills allowed were: Marshal's salary, $45; recorder's salary, $10; E. Jenkins, $1.50; electric lights, $19; J. Latimer, 4.50; The bills of D. Reddaway, $14, and L. Hiner, $16, for cart for the Babcock chemicals, were referred back to committee on accounts and current expenses. Mr. W. Olsen appeared before the council as a committee from the Fraternal Union asking that the scarlet fever cases in the city be quarantined. This led to some discussion, which revealed the difficulty of quarantining cases which were not reported and were not known until the parties were well. The health officer was instructed to do the best he could to prevent the disease spreading. As A. M. Austin had removed from the city the office of surveyor was declared vacant and the Mayor appointed Councilman Sappington, which was approved by the council. The Mayor appointed Councilman Cary on the committee he had previously served on. An ordinance was read and passed to its final reading to vacate Park addition to Tillamook. The matter of the proper location of the fences on the streets east and south from the Headlight corner came up for discussion, and City Attorney Eddy explained the situation from abstracts on both streets. There was nothing to show the exact location of the county road, although the deeds called for a 60 foot road, and it was a question in his mind that if the fences had been erected on First street ten years previous to 1895 whether the law of limitation did not apply to them. Most of the councilmen thought they would have to be satisfied with a 55 foot street, and this would necessitate the Headlight building being moved back several feet and the fences put on the right angle. As to the street south of the Headlight corner, there seemed to be no question but that the property owners on the east side of that street were not on their proper line, some already having moved back. The city surveyor was instructed to establish monuments so as to stop all controversy in the future and prepare a plat of the city with its several additions.
Snap Shots by the Editor.
It pays to advertise—in a live newspaper like the Headlight.
Who imported the barber's itch? We hope it will not become as contagious as the Filipino itch.
When the question of a new water system was being talked over at the council meeting on Monday, Mr. B. L. Eddy suggested, rather than borrow a large sum of money for a gravity system, whether it would not be better to bore for an artesian well.
The side walks all over the city were never in such a rickety condition as they are at present, and it looks to us that if the property owners allow them to go to rack much more the city council will have to order in quite a lot of new side walks at the property owner's expense.
We want to know why some of the boys at Garibaldi are quietly doing some rubber-necking down there. What's going on, anyway, for editor's have an idea they ought to be informed as well as allowed in on the ground floor, so that they can rubber as well.
If farmers in Tillamook would raise a few dozen more hogs every year it would help to fill the local demand for pork, ham and bacon, and would keep a lot of money in the county which is now being sent out for those products. The high price for hogs should be an incentive to keep more hogs.
This is the time of year when every precaution should be taken to prevent fire, and the city dads should put on a night watchman. The least carelessness at this season of the year would sacrifice many thousand dollars worth of valuable property and do some men up in business if a fire once got started in this city.

The city council did one good lick of work on Monday when it decided to establish monument so that property owners would know where their lines are and where they are at when they are building. Like the proposed railroad to Tillamook, there has been a terrible lot of procrastination, and now the city dads have managed to get a white heat on the job we hope it will not allow it to get cold until all the corners are satisfactorily established and the city is in possession of a plat of the city showing the different additions and distances.
The water question comes in for an occasional discussion at the meeting of the city council when questions like these are propounded: "What is the council doing about the proposed new water system?" and "What is the committee doing?" The only thing that can be done is to ascertain the cost of a first-class iron system from the north fork of the Trask river, and after that is done to submit it to a vote of the people. If they want to put in such a system and think the condition of the old system justifies them in voting for a new system, the present water company will have itself to thank if the people decide to put in a new plant, for it is plain to all that the life of the pipe near the city in the old plant is approaching a time when it will give out entirely, and it is just as well to be thinking about doing something to meet the crisis, provided the water company does not get a move on and improve its plant so that the people will have a little more confidence in it and the property owners an assurance that they have fire protection, for there is now considerable property and valuable merchandise at stake in the city, which may be sacrificed at any moment for the want of a proper water system. We are not very much in favor of the city putting in a new system if it can be avoided, but it is like this, the present company has to replace part, if not the whole, of its pipe line with new pipe in the near future or the city has to put in a new system. Which is it to be?

Can a person be a councilman and city surveyor at the same time? The city council says "Yes." But we beg to differ, not that we want to deprive Councilman F. L. Sappington of the honor of holding down a most unthankful job—that of being a city dad. Probably some of the legal lights may construe the following paragraph that it does not interfere, but somehow the Headlight is of a different opinion:
"No officer of the corporation shall be interested in any contract or work the expenses of which are to be paid out of the city treasury."
We are aware that a councilman was at one time fire warden and received pay for the job, and on that account there should be no objection to Councilman Sappington being city surveyor, but to correctly construe the charter he cannot hold down both jobs. One thing is certain, Fred will never become a Morgan by holding down both positions.
Why, why, why. What are we about in Tillamook? Forest Grove and Hillsboro are to have condensed milk factories and it will prove a great benefit in getting those towns out of their sleepy dispositions and save them from dying a natural death. But being in the center of a grass country, with dairy farms all around and an abundance of milk to be had, there is not a better place than Tillamook in the whole State of Oregon for a condensed milk factory. This is no idle assertion, so we will defy anyone to deny it. It may be wise to let well alone, but it is just as well to know if the dairymen can make more out of their milk by taking it to a condensed milk factory than a cheese factory. That is the point, and if it can be shown that a condensed milk factory would be to their advantage and a benefit to the city, then, by all means, let Tillamook City have a condensed milk factory.
Culture is not character, but character is culture.
