

OUR COAST DEFENSE.

Navy Board Makes Plans for Rendering It More Effective.

Believe That in Some Particulars the Army Fortifications Are Not Enough—Some Danger of Friction Said to Exist.

The general board of the navy, of which Admiral Dewey is president, has been discussing the plans of coast defense and defense to be maintained by the navy in conjunction with the land fortifications, and Rear Admiral P. H. Cooper, who is now on waiting orders at Morristown, N. J., has been designated as the officer who will prepare the coast line from Chatham light, Cape Cod, to Barnegat light, in New Jersey. This new duty will require a good deal of travel along the coast line embraced in the district, and he is authorized to incur all necessary expenses on such trip.

It is not the intention of the naval general board to interfere with the plans of defense contemplated by the army coast fortifications, but the plan of the naval board probably will arouse the artillery officers of the army to some objection against what they may regard as an interference with the legitimate duties of the army.

There has always been more or less rivalry between the two services in the matter of defending the coast, but Admiral Dewey and his associates on the general board believe that the coast forts do not provide all the defense which is necessary. In Chesapeake bay, for instance, there are no fortifications which would serve to keep out an enemy's vessel, and much the same condition prevails in Delaware bay and Long Island sound.

CHINA WORKING LOTTERY.

Method Adopted by Viceroy in the Various Provinces to Raise the Indemnity Money.

China has been driven to desperate measures in order to raise the indemnity of $334,000,000 on account of the Boxer outrages, which she agreed to pay the powers. Official information received by the state department announces the promulgation of proclamations by the viceroys of the several provinces, advising them that the state has determined to operate a lottery and that the people will be expected to buy tickets. Failure to do so will mean the imposition of additional taxes.

This method of raising revenue might receive approval from the Chinese were it not that it is not at all certain that the winner of the first prize will receive the cash called for by his ticket. It is proposed to give him a button, but to the poor Chinaman a button counts for little, and besides if buttons are distributed in any number they will become worthless. According to a proclamation of Chan Chin Tung, viceroy of provinces of the Yang-tse valley, the people have spent too much on lotteries outside of the kingdom, and the money should be kept within the country. The money raised will be used to pay the indemnity as it falls due.

If the people do not readily and willingly buy the tickets," Chan Chin Tung states, "there will be an increase of taxes." The tickets have been distributed among the several magistrates with instructions to sell, and there is no doubt that they will compel their purchase. The mail which brought Chan Chin Tung's proclamation also brought a report of the case of a rich man who had been ordered to buy two tickets. He declined to do so, but eventually took one. His conduct in connection with the tickets was reported to the magistrate, who directed that he be arrested. The culprit was compelled to buy the tickets and was also heavily fined.

Three Grades of Mankind. Henry Thomas Buckle's thoughts and conversations were always on a high level. Once he remarked: "Men and women range themselves into three classes or orders of intelligence; you can tell the lower class by their habit of always talking about persons; the next by the fact that their habit is always to converse about things; the highest by their preference for the discussion of ideas."

Capit's Triumph Over Yames. By getting married in Chicago Pioter Rybarezky and Maryanna Stana-zynska, Boleslaw Werbaczowski and Jozefa Czajkowsky, and Anton Brzyski and Anna Jozynska have, says the Chicago Record-Herald succeeded in simplifying matters a little, anyway.

DOES AWAY WITH DYNAMOS.

Canary Island Scientist Utilizes Atmospheric Electricity Without Chemicals or Dynamos.

The Las Palmas correspondent of the London Daily Mail sends a remarkable account of a great scientific discovery. According to the correspondent, the discoverer is a method of directly using atmospheric electricity without chemicals or dynamos, and practically applying it without any motive force. The discoverer is Clemente Fuenegeras, engineer of woods and forests for the Canary islands, and for many years professor of physics at St. Augustin's college, Las Palmas, and long known as a scientific student.

Hitherto he has jealously guarded the secret of his discovery, fearing that a premature revelation might rob him of his reward. Even now, while he claims to have entirely succeeded, he remains silent concerning the exact principles of his discovery. He claims, however, to have invented a generator which can collect the electric fluid, to be able to store it, and to apply it to an infinite number of purposes; for instance, in connection with ships, railways, and manufacturing. He says he expects the effect of his discovery will be a tremendous economic and industrial revolution. He will not give the key to his invention, but declares that the only extraordinary point about it is that it has taken so long to discover a simple scientific fact.

Prof. Fuenegeras is shortly going to Madrid and Berlin to patent his invention. A German electrical company is reported to have offered a large sum for the invention, while a syndicate in Barcelona has also made a generous offer. Neither advance has been accepted. This, the correspondent adds, is all that is possible to obtain at present. No opinion can be expressed as to the value of the discovery until further details are known.

The London Mail adds that it has learned from other sources that Prof. Fuenegeras has constructed a rough apparatus, by which he obtains a current of 550 volts, which he utilizes in lighting his house and driving a 20-horse power motor. He is shortly coming to London with a perfected working apparatus. His inventions comprise a generator, motor, and sort of governor or regulator. This whole apparatus is so simple that a child could work it.

TALKS OF FAST AUTOS.

Thomas Edison Given the Ride of His Life—Can Build Machine That Will Beat the Wind.

As the result of a wild cross-country ride in a big gasoline automobile with E. E. Britton, of the Automobile Club of America, Thomas A. Edison is working on a new device for his storage battery. "I learned several important points in my ride," said Mr. Edison. "I have drawn plans to work them out, but I cannot make them public."

Mr. Edison's ride ended at midnight, when the Britton machine ran into an iron bar on the road near Paterson and punctured a tire. A farmer's rig was hired to take Mr. Edison and Mr. Britton home. "I never rode so fast in my life," said Mr. Edison. "We speeded up down the avenue so rapidly that all I saw was a streak of trees."

Mrs. Edison and her daughter were next taken aboard the machine and given the ride of their lives.

"I can make an electric automobile that will go so fast a man cannot sit in it," Mr. Edison said. The speed of storage machines is unlimited. I am no sport and do not care to ride fast, so I don't think I'll ever make such a machine. It is a simple matter and all depends on how fast a man can ride and live."

MARRIED ELOPING DAUGHTER.

Near-Sighted Minister Performs Ceremony for His Own Child, Not Recognizing Her.

Rev. Thomas Brown, a prominent clergyman of Tioga county, Pa., married his eloping daughter to J. W. Stone, of Allegheny, by mistake. Dr. Brown, who is very near-sighted, was spending two weeks at Bowersville, in New York state, near the state line. His daughter, Miss Susie, a student at Bryn Mawr, he supposed was on a visit to friends in Philadelphia. She had, however, arranged to meet young Stone and elope. After a two weeks' stay in that city Stone brought her to his aunt's residence, near Bowersville, and the couple drove to the parsonage. The regular minister was there, but Rev. Mr. Brown performed the ceremony, not recognizing his daughter in her traveling dress. She saw the dilemma she was in, but gave her mother's name, which was her middle name, and at the conclusion of the ceremony and the signing of the certificate made known her identity to her father. He was extremely indignant at first but a reconciliation has been effected.

WEALTH OF INDIANA FARMS.

State Makes Good Showing from an Agricultural Point of View According to Census Statistics.

The census bureau has issued a bulletin giving the final agricultural statistics of Indiana. It shows that the 221,897 farms enumerated in Indiana on June 1, 1900, were valued at $841,735,240, of which 82 per cent. represents the land and improvements thereon other than buildings. The value of farm implements and machinery was $27,330,370, and of live stock $109,556,761.

These make the total value of farm property $978,616,471. The total value of farm products in 1899 was $204,450,196, of which 40 per cent. was in animal products and 60 per cent. in crops, including forest products. The total value of farm products exceeded the total for 1889 by 116 per cent. The gross farm income of Indiana for 1899 was $115,980,795 and the gross income upon investment 16 per cent.

ACCEPTS THE INVITATION.

President Roosevelt Will Be the Guest of His "Terrors" at Los Angeles, Cal.

President Roosevelt has accepted the invitation to be the guest of Teddy's Terrors at Los Angeles, Cal., next spring. John F. Hughes, who organized Teddy's Terrors, accompanied by Representative McLaughlin, of California, called at the white house and once more extended the invitation, which was formally presented some weeks ago. It will be remembered the invitation was burned upon a calfskin, couched in cowboy language, which was severely criticized as being anything but good form, the cowboys taking great liberty with the president.

Col. Roosevelt said he would be the guest of Teddy's Terrors next spring. Another invitation has been extended to the president. Former Representative William M. Springer, of Illinois, counsel for the National Live Stock association, invited the president to be the guest of the organization at its annual convention to be held at Kansas City, Mo., on January 13 to 16 next, and to address the convention. There will be 1,500 members of the association present. President Roosevelt took the matter under advisement.

SKY SCRAPER FOR LONDON.

American Office Building Will Be Built in the Great English Metropolis.

That huge American office building for London announced some time ago and afterward declared to be impossible, is not only to be built, but work on it is to begin in August unless there is some further hitch in the negotiations with the London county council, the body from whom the land must be rented. The company wanted 999 years' lease of the land, but it is said that the county council would listen to nothing more than 99 years and that the business has been arranged on that basis. The company is to pay $150,000 a year rent for the land and at the expiration of the 99 years their $10,000,000 building will become the property of the municipality. On the other hand, the site on the Strand at the foot of the broad thoroughfare now being cut through to Holborn is undoubtedly the best site in London for an office building. It is said that the company expects to have its 16-story structure opened ready for occupancy 18 months from the time the ground is broken.

NO MORE CARPET TACKS.

Indiana Inventor Claims to Have a New Scheme to Replace Them.

Harry O. Butler, of Franklin, Ind., has invented an appliance for holding carpets, and is intended to do away with the old carpet tack system. The idea is clear as the article is a plain plate of light durable metal, one-half by one-quarter of an inch in size, with a hook which holds the carpet. In the plate are holes for screws or small nails, which hold the plate fast to the floor next to the quarter round. The hook is pointed over so that the carpet is laid on the floor and hooked on these permanent hooks as the carpet is stretched. The carpet can be put down or removed in a very short time, and the person experiences no mashed fingers or other painful accidents usual in laying carpets. These small metal hooks are made of very durable metal and will last several years. Mr. Butler has already received several handsome offers for his patent, but has not yet accepted any of them.

KAISER GIVES UP SOUVENIRS.

Emperor Turns Over to Museum the Presents Made to Prince Henry in America.

Emperor William has turned over several hundred souvenirs of the trip of Prince Henry to the United States to the Hohenzollern museum. Conspicuous in this collection is a cartoon representing President Roosevelt in the uniform of the German garde du corps and Emperor William in the uniform of an officer of the United States army, both bowing profoundly. Below this cartoon are copies of the emperor's message to President Roosevelt announcing Prince Henry's trip and President Roosevelt's reply.

The collection includes a silver plate engraved with the music of the German song sung by the American sangeband, which took the Emperor William prize. Copies of engrossed resolutions presented to Prince Henry by various societies and menu cards in gold frames are also in the collection.
