

KISSES FORBIDDEN.

Osculatory Leave-Taking Must Be Cut Out in Jersey Central Depot.

Decrees Sent Forth by the Officials and the Train and Gate-men Have Troublesome Times Enforcing the Order.

"All trainmen, gate-men and ticket examiners of the Jersey City exits will stop all persons from exchanging kisses upon the arrival and departure of trains in this station. This order must be rigidly enforced."

It is claimed that during the rush of travel the exits and entrances have been blocked by those anxious to exchange greetings with their arriving or departing friends.

SAVES LIFE; WINS A WIFE.

William P. Mullen Weds Lillian Conway, Whom He Had Rescued from the Sea.

When William P. Mullen, life-saver at Rockaway beach, rescued Miss Lillian Conway, of Bedford Park, The Bronx, last year her friends at the beach had despaired of her rescue.

Mullen has been a professional life-saver for 26 years. Among those he has rescued are Gen. Joseph Shelby and daughter, who were swimming at the North Side swimming school in Chicago in 1890 and came near death; Webster Davis, son of the mayor of Kansas City, and Harris Cohen, a New York clothier.

NIGHT AIDS WIRELESS SYSTEM

Marconi in Lecture at London Says Messages Can Be Sent Further After Dark.

Marconi, in a lecture at the Royal Institution at London, said it was by means of a magnetic detector that he improved upon the coherers hitherto employed.

Referring to February's experiments, when readable messages were received aboard a ship 1,551 miles from Cornwall, and indications were received for a distance of 2,099 miles, he said that at distances of over 700 miles signals transmitted by day entirely failed, while those sent at night remained strong up to a distance of 1,551 miles, and were even decipherable at a distance of 2,099 miles.

This might be due, he declared, to diselectrification of the very highly charged transmitting elevated conductor when operated by daylight. He did not think that the effect of daylight would confine the working of transatlantic wireless telegraphy to hours of darkness, as sufficient sending energy could be used during the daytime at transmitting stations.

Will Herald the Coronation.

A chain of bonfires extending through the length and breadth of three kingdoms will illumine the night of the coronation of King Edward. The arrangements are already well advanced. The country has been divided into districts and circulars will shortly be issued giving all necessary particulars.

A Growing Joke.

Now we have a lamp truss. Turn it down—Minnapolis Times. Why not snuff it out?—St. Joe Gazette. Or blow it up?—Philadelphia Ledger; and the Chicago Tribune witheringly adds: "Or resort to gas—as above?"

An Unsuspected Nihil.

A Richmond (Va.) professor has just completed a 17-volume "Life of Edgar A. Poe." Never, says the Chicago Record-Herald, until now have the life of Poe as a possible rival of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

UNIQUE PLAYGROUND INDGORS

Chicago Department Store Establishes Amusement Spot in Its Building for Children.

A unique and attractive playground has been established at one of Chicago's large department stores. It is on the third floor and has already become popular with the little ones who accompany their parents on shopping tours.

A matron is in charge and looks after the children while they play in the white sandpile or build castles with the aid of shovels, rakes, and wheelbarrows. Swings, hammocks, and baby-jumpers, too, afford the little fellows fun.

Trees are arranged so as to form a grove, and here and there are benches and rustic lawn furniture. On one side of the lake is a fishing outfit, just as a careless fisherman would leave it.

It is a summer scene, typical of some quiet country spot. Even the older persons take advantage of the retreat and lounge around under the branches, watching the children at play.

RECRUITS FROM IDLE MINERS.

Navy Department Improves the Coal Strike to Secure Needed Man for the Service.

The navy department has taken advantage of the strike in the coal region of Pennsylvania to obtain men for the navy. Upon the recommendation of Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, Secretary Moody has directed a recruiting officer to visit the several points where the miners are not at work and enlist able-bodied men of average intelligence who are willing to go to sea.

This officer, Lieut. J. P. Ryan, is at Wilkesbarre, and will go to Danville, Williamsport, Lewisburg, Sunbury, Harrisburg, Lebanon, Reading, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Mauch Chunk, Pottsville and Hazleton.

The middle and far western states are also being scoured for men. Lieut. R. D. Hasbrouck will enlist men at Louisville, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus, Cleveland, Sandusky, Toledo, Detroit, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. Lieut. W. L. Littlefield is now making a tour of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Tennessee.

Lieut. J. P. Morton is under instructions to establish recruiting stations in New Mexico, Texas, Colorado and Arizona.

The navy department is making extraordinary efforts to get recruits in order to fill the vacancies existing in the enlisted force of the navy and to obtain sufficient men to man the ships which will be placed in commission to take part in the maneuvers to occur next winter in the Caribbean sea.

FORCE UP PRICE OF PAINTINGS

Art Critics in Europe Complain Against the Extravagance of American Millionaires.

The art critic of the Vossische Zeitung, Berlin, complains that American millionaires have sent up the prices of paintings to such a point that European collectors are now unable to compete with them.

The fact that pictures go to the United States, says the critic does not mean their loss to the world, as European artists often assert, and many of the older American collectors often showed genuine appreciation and understanding of art.

Mr. Shaw made a larger collection of the paintings of that school than all the French collections put together.

The critic of the Vossische Zeitung also mentions Henry G. Marquand and Allan Marquand, of New York, and Mrs. Gardner, of Boston, as discriminating picture collectors. He deprecates, however, the invasion of the art field of the younger generation of American millionaires, who he declares to be without real artistic appreciation, saying they make it possible for picture dealers to increase the prices of pictures tenfold, and thus shut out European buyers.

Man Can't Afford Both.

The president of Vassar college says marriage is becoming unfashionable, because so few people think they can afford it, and the Chicago Record-Herald adds: Is this to be regarded as another slap at the panama hat.

Rostrand Studies the Map.

Mr. Gross' victory has made M. Rostrand brush up on the geography and nomenclature of the United States, says the Chicago Record-Herald, even if it has served no other good purpose.

MANY WILL TEACH.

But Few Prospective Preachers in Graduating Class.

Students Who Complete Their Course at Chicago University Indicate Their Purpose in Life After Leaving School.

Seventy-seven young men who graduated from the academic college at the University of Chicago this year have reported to the faculty what they intended to do now that they have finished school. Sixty-three senior coeds have made a similar decision, while 12 young women and two men declare they "don't know."

The report of the chosen field of labor of the graduates of this spring quarter was by Dean Tufts, of the senior college, before a meeting of upper classmen. Life work that the graduates will take up, as shown by the report, shows a range from the study of medicine, which will be pursued by 18 young men, to the pursuit of "remaining at home," which five coeds name as their chosen labor.

Following is a list of pursuits which the University of Chicago graduates expect to take up:

Table with columns: Men, Women, Total. Rows: Teaching, Medicine, Law, Business, Graduate study, Journalism, Ministry, Art, Architecture, Engineering, Music, At home, Undecided or unknown, Totals.

The answers sent by the members of the graduating class to the question "What do you intend to do when you leave school?" caused Dean Tufts to make some remarks on the curious workings of heredity.

Only two of the graduating class in this institution declare a determination to enter the ministry," declared Dean Tufts. "Yet there are five ministers' sons who will take their diplomas. Six doctors' sons will follow their fathers into the study of medicine, and out of eight sons of lawyers in the class five of them intend to become attorneys. Seven teachers have children in the graduating class, and only two of them expect to teach.

MACHINES TO REPLACE MEN.

Wonderful Invention Which It Is Claimed Will Do Away with Many Hands in Glass Factories.

The American Window Glass company has begun at Alexandria, Ind., the practical operation of machines designed to do away with the blowers, gatherers and snappers from the glass industry. Twelve machines have been installed in the old Dupanew factory, which has been fully equipped throughout with up-to-date apparatus.

For nearly a year one of the machines has been operated experimentally in secret at Pittsburgh by the window glass company, and the invention is said to have been brought to perfection. If the practical operation proves as successful as the experiment every plant controlled by the trust will be equipped with the machine as soon as they can be made, and thousands of skilled workmen will have to seek other employment.

The machine is the invention of John Lubbers and his patents are owned by himself and President James A. Chambers, First Vice President M. K. McMullin, General Manager George E. Hoore and T. Hart Given, a director of the American Window Glass company. For the rights they have been offered $10,000,000, it is said. The Window Glass company expects to exploit the machines under a royalty system.

GERMANY SECURES PATENTS.

Kaiser's Government Buys Rights in Chicago to Automatic Telephone System.

The German government has purchased the patent rights covering all Europe, with the exception of the United Kingdom and France, for the automatic telephone apparatus manufactured by the Automatic Telephone company of Chicago. Charles Ebelbauer, of the Deutsche Waffen und Munition Fabriken, who has been in Chicago studying the apparatus, has just sailed for Europe. His firm will manufacture the equipment for the German government.

All the telephones in Germany are owned by the state. The installation of the American device will necessitate many operators seeking other employment, as one inspector can oversee a large system.

Under the new system every subscriber will have his own machine, and this will connect with a central automatic switchboard, where the call is automatically registered in decimal order.

Decadence of the Times.

George and Martha Washington have just been divorced here in Chicago, and Martha claims that George is a bad man. History, says the Chicago Record-Herald, is having some difficulty in repeating itself nowadays.

Chance for One More Speech.

Mark Twain might make one more speech, says the Chicago Tribune, to explain why he has resolved to make no more speeches.
