Married.

For a large part of the world the poet speaks true when he says "In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." But in this part of the world autumn seems to play the part of spring and our young men just now seem turning with one accord to the telling of that sweet old story which is ever new. And how successful they are.

On Sunday, October 19th, there was a very pretty wedding at the house of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Collier, when Mr. Otis E. Farmer and Miss Nina A. Miles took upon themselves the marriage vows.

This young couple began life with bright prospects of a happy and useful future. Both bear the reputation of good character, and they go to their new home near Tillamook with the best wishes of a host of friends. With them we join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Farmer a long life of happiness and prosperity.—Ocean Wave.

Death of Judge Gray.

ASTORIA, Oct. 27.—Judge J. H. D. Gray, one of Oregon's oldest pioneer residents, died at his home in this city last evening, the result of a severe attack of grip.

Judge Gray was born at Lapwai, Idaho (then Oregon), March 20, 1839, his father, the late W. H. Gray, Oregon's first historian, having come from New York as assistant missionary to Oregon with Dr. Whitman in 1836. He had lived in Oregon all his life, with the exception of three years spent in British Columbia prior to 1861, when he returned to enlist in the Washington Guards, expecting to be sent East during the Civil War. On the disbanding of the regiment he entered the employ of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company and engaged in steamboating on the Upper Columbia and Snake Rivers. In 1868 he returned to Astoria, and had resided there since that time, first engaging in transportation business on the river and afterward conducting a general store.

Judge Gray was elected a member of the State Senate in 1886, representing Clatsop, Columbia and Tillamook counties, and served in that capacity for four years, during which time he succeeded in passing a bill giving Clatsop County two Representatives and one Senator in the State Legislature. He was elected County Judge in 1894, and was re-elected in 1898, his last term expiring in July of the present year. He also held several other public positions, and was always a faithful and competent official.

He leaves a widow and eight children, all of whom excepting Mrs. R. W. Wright, of Portland, reside in Astoria. The deceased was a member of the A. O. U. W. and Oregon Pioneer Society. The funeral will be held tomorrow under the auspices of those orders.

The War Department awarded to B. P. Wheatly, of San Francisco, the contract for furnishing the second half of the large purchase of assorted lumber, 5,500,000 feet, for shipment to the Philippines, the contract price being $61,000. On his original bill Wheatly wished option of delivering the lumber at Portland or on Puget Sound, but the Department held it had no authority to allow such discretion. He now agrees to deliver it on the Sound, half in 30, the remainder in 60 days. The Department had prepared to award to the Pacific Export Company, of Portland, the contract for doors to be shipped to Manila, but the bidders finally advised that they could not fill the contract in the desired time, and an effort will now be made to place this contract on the Sound.

The cholera is gaining a strong foothold on the island of Mindanao. It is expected to spread there, as it has elsewhere in the islands. It continues to be bad in the Province of Ilo Ilo, island of Panay, but it is light elsewhere. It has disappeared from Manila. The cases reported up to date exceed 100,000.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the well-known woman suffragist, died at her home in New York on Sunday. Old age was given as the cause of death. She was conscious almost to the last. About a week ago Mrs. Stanton began to fail rapidly. This became more noticeable last week, and then it was known to the family that her death was only a question of days or hours.

NEHALEM.

To Protect Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—In general order No. 1 General Robert St. George Drenforth, commander-in-chief of the Union Veterans' Union, has issued an appeal to the Union Veterans of the Civil War to organize into a brotherhood for mutual protection. He says that eligibility to membership in the order is now extended to every honorably discharged Union veteran of good record. He says defenders of the Union should be a factor in the present day.

"By taking an active interest in the affairs of the present," says General Drenforth, "he will not only command recognition as an American citizen, but draw attention to the importance of according to him a reward for his incomparably great services of our beloved country."

The assertion is made that there is now a demand in the newspapers that pensions shall be cut off, and in this connection General Drenforth sets out the necessity of organization.

Gloomy in Philippines.

MANILA, Oct. 26.—It is believed that President Roosevelt's order permitting foreign vessels to engage in coastwise trade through the Philippine Islands will relieve immediately the insular freight situation and will improve and lessen the cost of rice, in which article a famine is threatened. The Civil Commission intends to act at once on the President's order, hoping thereby to avert suffering among the poorer people of the island.

It is announced that British, German, Japanese and Chinese vessels will engage in the coastwise trade. Existing freight rates from Manila to some ports at the archipelago exceed the rate from San Francisco to Manila.

Agriculture in the islands, already impaired on account of the war and cholera has been further injured by locusts. These have appeared in many places, and are working serious injury to the crops. The advent of locusts, together with the fall of the price of silver, renders business and industrial prospects in the Philippines gloomy.

Gloomy accounts of the state of affairs in Cape Colony, the Orange Colony and the Transvaal have been received in England from time to time through private channels, but there has been a tendency to discredit them. The announcement of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's decision to proceed to South Africa, in order to examine on the spot the problems presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new British colonies consequently caused the utmost surprise in political circles. It is tolerably certain, that if the situation had not been one of peril the Colonial Secretary would have left the whole matter absolutely in the hands of Lord Milner.

The Moon's Warning.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 27.—In a drizzling rain this morning a large band of Indians from the Nanaimo reserve left for Cameron Lake, armed with shot-guns, rifles and hunting knives. They are after a whole Winter's supply of food. For years they have made a practice of obtaining food from day to day throughout the Nanaimo Winter as in Summer, but a bad omen, the recent eclipse of the moon, which was clearly visible from Nanaimo, has caused alarm among them. They recall a winter of 20 years ago, when Nanaimo harbor was frozen over, and declare that the eclipse was a warning of a repetition of that hard season, when there was but little game to hunt and it was too cold for hunting.

Can Sell Canal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—"The title to the Panama canal is valid," is the gist of the report to President Roosevelt by Attorney General Knox on his investigation of the offer of the Panama Company. The next step, on the part of the United States, will be to negotiate and ratify a treaty given to it the rights demanded under the canal legislation of last session. President Roosevelt will do everything in his power to secure the completion of such a treaty in time for presentation to Congress at the coming short session, as he believes ample time intervenes for accomplishing this object. Should the Colombian government delay or decline to accede to the conditions laid down by Congress, thereby causing a postponement until the first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress, there is a possibility that the President will again take under consideration the construction of the canal over the Nicaraguan route. The opinion prevails here, however, that a treaty of satisfactory character will be negotiated, and that the first steps looking to the construction of a canal will be undertaken early next year.

Lone Farmer Murdered.

SPOKANE Wash., Oct. 26.—"Old Man" Campbell, a well-known farmer living near Oroville, was foully murdered a few nights ago. Wednesday morning last his body was found outside his cabin with a large bullet hole in the head. The wound was in the base of the skull, indicating that Campbell had been shot from behind while about to enter his little cabin. He was fully dressed, and his hat lay beside him where he fell.

Campbell had some trouble about a week ago with some hobos, and last Monday night his haystack was fired. It is presumed this act was committed by the same person who afterward laid in waiting for the old man and shot him to death. No clew is obtainable as to the guilty persons, and Campbell gave but meager particulars of the trouble with the hobos, and he lived alone on his ranch.

Campbell was a well known rancher, and owned quite a valuable place. He was a hale, hearty old man, and generally liked. Little is known of his history previous to his coming to Oroville three years ago.

Killed By a Vicious Boar.

J. B. Gilbert, a well known farmer living near the seven-mile post on the Base Line Road east of Portland, was killed by a boar Sunday night, as the result of his having attempted to stop a fight between two of his hogs. The boar, which is a vicious animal, bit through an artery in his leg, and the unfortunate man jumped into another pen, it is believed, to save himself. He was found dead at noon on Monday, by his brother-in-law, his body having been partially eaten by the hogs, so that it was hardly recognizable.

Much of the information concerning his death is only guesswork. It is supposed that he went into the pen to separate two of the hogs and stop their fighting; and that while so engaged one thrust him through the leg, striking an artery. From the place in which he was discovered, it is supposed that he had strength enough left to climb into another pen, but the loss of blood was so great that he was unable to save himself and lay down to die, while the hogs gathered around and consumed his body. When he did not appear Sunday evening, his family were considerably alarmed, but did not think of searching for him around the farm. At noon Monday his brother-in-law, I. M. Edwards, found the remains of Mr. Gilbert in the pen.

He was a man 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children. The Cornor went to the scene of the trouble to hold an inquest. Mr. Gilbert had made a speciality of raising fine hogs, but formerly had difficulty with the boar supposed to have caused his death.

When Should Cows Freshen.

Not the least of the factors determining the profits to be derived from a herd of cows is the time of year allotted to the greatest flow of milk. In every locality there are certain times of year when the product brings an increased price. This may vary with the conditions of different localities. Each man should study this fact in connection with his local conditions as regards economy of production at different seasons of the year, and breed his cows accordingly. The Otsego Farmer prints the following which is applicable in a general way:

"The general rule is for spring calving, but the best time is the fall. There are many reasons in support of this statement. A great many experiments have been carried on during a number of years in various parts of the world, and these all go to show that from fall calving cows about 25 per cent more milk is obtained than from spring calving. The reasons are obvious. During the winter the cow is free from drought, heat and flies, and her yield is thus not affected, when right in the flush of the milk, as is too often the case. Then the spring grass coming toward the close of her period of lactation serves as an inspiration of her wearying powers and greatly increases the waning milk flow.

"Milk and butter usually bring better prices in winter than in summer. There is usually more time on the farm to attend to the cattle, calves are more economically raised, since by the time the spring grass shoots up they are ready for it, and are in good condition the next winter to begin their duties. Mid-summer and 'dog days' are a good time for the cow to be dry; stabling is easy, comfortable and the handling and care of milk is more troublesome than at any other time. In short, four fall fresh cows have been found to equal five which calved in the spring, in twelve months' product, and at about four-fifths the cost."

General Dewet informed a representative of the Associated Press that he would sail for South Africa November 23. He added: "Botha and Delarey still intend paying a visit to America."

Alfred Peterson, a Swedish pianomaker of New York, after being out of work some time, became downhearted. His friends told him to cheer up. He told them he would be glad to do so, and invited them to form a party at his house. The guests arrived, and after an evening of gaiety Peterson arose to propose a toast. He said: "Here's to our dear fatherland, to which my spirit will fly." Peterson drew a revolver as he concluded, and, before his horrified friends could interfere, he fired a bullet through his brain and fell dead.

Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, in delivering his farewell sermon in New York said in closing: "Make your life more simple, even if you have to make it less fashionable. The world wants to see a real difference between Christians and other people in their attitude toward money. A Christian can use money as a servant, but if he makes it the ruler of his life, his practical God, then his Christianity is a lie. Men blame the church for paying too much reverence to wealth. It is not the church that is at fault; it is the people who make up the church."

The United States is to have a model farm run by the agricultural department and situated just across the Potomac river. It embraces that part of the Arlington estate not used for the national military cemetery, about four hundred acres of Virginia land to the south of the cemetery and bordering on the river. It is to be known as the "Arlington Farms" and it is the purpose of Secretary Wilson to make it the Mecca for farmers, not only of the United States, but of all the world. With scientific farming, and under the care of experts, it will be shown what nature will do. The work has already begun, but until now no formal announcement has been made of the plans.

According to a statement made by President Evans of the Wells-Fargo Express Company, the persistent rumors of a proposed merger of the interests of the Wells Fargo Company, Adams and United States Express companies are but the baseless fabric of a dream. "Those stories of the merger of the express companies are all in the air," said President Evans. It has never even been discussed by the presidents of the companies, that is, with a view of bringing it about. From my knowledge of the expressmen, I do not believe that they wish a combine. Certainly I see no occasion for one."
