Dave Martiny has accepted a position with the paper company at Oregon City and left last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Allen are under the weather, or more correctly speaking are both entertaining a cold and keeping in the fashion.

The man who hasn't a son and no property can always be found in the band wagon to tax and bond other people's property.

Rev. Looser, of the German Reformed Church, will hold services at the Adventist Church on Sunday next, from 12 to 1 o'clock. Every Protestant German invited.

A pleasant party took place Saturday evening at the home Dan Murphy, a number of young folks from town going out to the prairie, where they had a pleasant time.

Seven of the Tillamook timber claim contests were dismissed at the land office at Oregon City on Wednesday, in which the Severance claims are included, in their favor.

A number of the young friends of Miss Frankie Drew gave her a surprise on Monday evening, the occasion being her birthday. The young folks report having a good time.

A petition is being circulated to be presented to the next state legislature to change the city charter so that the city can be bonded to the extent of $60,000 for a water system.

A special meeting of the school district is called for Jan. 2nd for the purpose of levying a tax for general purposes and also a tax for a sinking fund for the payment of outstanding bonds.

We have received some news items from Nestoet, but as we cannot quite understand the drift of them and the correspondent has not signed his name we are compelled to omit them.

Commencing Saturday, December 20, I will serve lunches any time during the day up to midnight. You can get a good cup of chocolate, coffee or beef-tea, sandwiches, pie or doughnuts, at A. C. Vogler's, Tillamook Bakery.

The Oregon City factional republicans have kissed and made up with the exception of a few office seeking soreheads. They have bought the Enterprise and that newspaper will henceforth be run according to their ideas.

School districts which have made levies for special school tax for the year 1903 are: districts No. 1, 6 mills; No. 21, 5 mills; No. 35, 1 mill. All levies for special taxes must be filed with the county clerk before the 1st February, 1903.

A phenomena in the shape of a stray star was seen to pass over here just before six o'clock, traveling at a lively gait and going due west. The knowing ones said it was a stray star which made its appearance every 99 years, and this time it was going to land in the Pacific ocean.

At the last regular meeting of Tillamook Lodge, F. & M., the following officers were elected to serve next year: M. M. Reynolds, W. M.; C. W. Talmage, S. W.; George Cohn, I. W.; W. S. Hayes, treasurer; A. A. Ford, tyler. The installation will be on the 27th inst., St. John's Day.

Mr. W. N. Vaughn, in behalf of himself, wife and family, wish us to express their sincere thanks to the many friends who showed so much sympathy and kindness to them in their recent bereavement, and especially to the Degree of Honor and the members of the Foresters of America.

The Pippins and the Athletics are getting their football dander up again after chewing the rag as to the merits and the demerits of each team, and to prove which are the best players, it is expected they will meet on the gridiron for another contest on Christmas afternoon. It seems the last game they played it was a draw, the referee changing his decision in giving the Pippins two points.

A petition, which is obtaining a large number of signers, is being circulated, asking Capt. W. P. Langfitt, government engineer, to make some necessary improvements in Hoquarton slough with the money now available. We may state in this connection that Captain Langfitt is figuring upon some kind of dredge to make these improvements. What the petitioners should have petitioned Captain Langfitt for, the most important in our judgment, is the straightening out of Hoquarton slough.

The following officers were elected to preside in Silver Wave Chapter for the ensuing year on Saturday evening: Mrs. Lavina Coates, W. M.; George Lamb, W. P.; Mrs. George Handley, A. Vote of Condolence.

Tillamook, Ore., Dec. 15th, 1902.

Whereas, another member of Ocean Wave Lodge, Degree of Honor, having passed over to the eternal beyond, thus severing another link in our fraternal order; therefore, be it resolved that we, the members of the Degree of Honor, while we feel the loss of our departed sister, Hattie Vaughn Page, and humbly submit to the Divine Master's will, we deeply sympathize with the bereaved families in their loss of a devoted wife, daughter and sister;

Resolved, that by her death our lodge has lost a respected member, and as a tribute to her memory our charter be draped for 30 days in mourning and a copy of these resolutions be placed on our records;

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved families of our departed sister and a copy to the local papers for publication.

MRS. EUGENIA MYERS, Committee.
MRS. RUTH RESSECKE.
MRS. ANNA TODD.

A REMARKABLE SECT

Russians in Manitoba Who Are Possessed of a Strange Craze.

Refuse to Use Lower Animals for Any Purpose and Place All the Burden of Labor Upon Their Men and Women.

Strange fancies sometimes take possession of religious sects, but the strangest of all is probably the distressing mania that has enthralled 5,000 Russian Doukhorosti, who have located in western Manitoba, says a special to the New York Times from Yorktown, Manitoba. In the Swan river district the government is apprehensive for the remarkable craze that has taken possession of those colonists. A visit to the community showed that the sights, scenes and the horror depicted were almost beyond conception.

It is well known that the Doukhorosti are adverse to shedding blood. This is the reason why they emigrated from Russia, and it is also the reason why the Canadian government exempted them from military duty as inducement for their location on the prairie lands of the west. As to what they should eat, this was purely a personal matter, but, as it appears, it was one of the features that was overlooked by the government that will cause immense trouble.

In this country a man may eat what he chooses, and if his religion dictates that he shall conform to a vegetable diet, such beliefs are respected. All might have been well had this state of affairs been confined to vegetarianism, but the Doukhorosti religion does not appear to be a finished product. From the belief that it was a sin to eat meat, it seems a long jump to reach the conclusion that it is wrong to eat animal products, but these people have now given up drinking milk, eating butter, cheese, eggs, etc., and the cows, oxen, goats and fowl are increasing and multiplying, and waxing fat, while the people are on the verge of starvation.

Having reached this absurd position, it was but a step to another and more ridiculous one. If it were wrong to eat the flesh of animals the same line of reasoning made it comparatively easy to condemn the use of leather harness made from the hides of God's creatures, and then followed the condemnation of wooden clothing, because wool grown on the bodies of sheep, which also belonged to the Lord. The next step was still more sweeping in its effect on their economic condition. It was to make servants of any of the lower animals, to use them for beasts of burden or for any other purpose.

They had the courage of their convictions, and at once turned out their horses, cattle and sheep, driving them to "God's Hill," to forage for themselves, placing all the burdens of farm life on their own shoulders. For all drawing purposes, such as hauling heavy loads on wagons, men take the place of horses and oxen. Twelve or 14 men hitched to a plow suffice for this purpose, and it is the only method employed by them in the cultivation of the soil. Women, even, are employed in this manner, though when coming into town men only are seen hauling the wagons and buggies. Every day in the streets of Yorktown dozens of men may be seen drawing wagons, hauling what little produce they may have for sale, and carrying back to their farms flour and other necessities.

The Doukhorosti are clad exclusively in cotton clothes and wear rubber boots or shoes knit or woven with binder twine, which they buy for the purpose. Their food consists of bread and water, and such vegetables as they grow, and wild berries and herbs which they gather. Their farms are neglected and their stock, of which they have much, is running wild in the hills, where it will all die during the winter, or be appropriated by those who are not of their religious faith, and who will at least give the stock shelter.

With the advent of cold weather starvation and disease must certainly follow, and they appear to know this, for they have been in correspondence with authorities in southern California, Nevada, Arizona and Australia, with a view to emigration to a warmer climate where the conditions would enable them to subsist on the soil without trespassing on the possessions of the animal kingdom. It is needless to say that no one wants them, as they are still in Manitoba, an elephant on the hands of the government that brought them from Russia a few years ago to develop the prairie land of the west.

USE OF FALSE TEETH.

The Enormous and Ever Increasing Output of Manufactures in the United States.

Probably not less than 2,000,000 artificial teeth are manufactured in this country each year, and still the output goes on increasing, states the New York Times. Never before was such great care manifested for teeth as has been exhibited during the past few years. In this respect Americans lead the world, not even the fastidious French excelling the people of the United States in their solicitude for the preservation of natural teeth and in their application of the arts of dental science when substitutes have to be provided for nature's molars.

Englishmen are notoriously careless about their teeth, although in late years great progress has been made in this matter.

A prominent dentist of New York declares that nearly every patient with a mouthful of decayed teeth is a foreigner. "They let things drift," he says, "and come only when pain drives them here. Americans, and especially southerners, hasten to their dentist immediately they detect even the slightest signs of coming trouble, and the result is that there are far more "saved" teeth in this country than in any other. Englishmen and Irishmen are remarkably apathetic about their molars, and will go about for years with hopelessly decayed teeth."

WAGES IN FORMOSA.

The Highest Pay for Skilled Labor Does Not Come Up to One Dollar a Day.

The people of Formosa have just become up to date enough to have a railroad of their own, and a detailed report of its construction has been forwarded to the stockholders, many of whom are Frenchmen and Englishmen, says a London paper. The rails are English; the locomotives are English and American; the bridge works and girders are American, and the rolling stock is built on American trucks. The labor employed was Formosan and Japanese, but the work was done under the direction of French, English and American engineers. The rate of wages paid per day to the machinists and laborers furnish an interesting contrast between the value put upon work in the incident and orient. The Jap, on an average received one-third more than the Formosan, and the day was of ten hours. Here is the schedule of the highest rates paid: Carpenters, 62 cents; sawyers, 64 cents; masons and plasterers, 80 cents; roofers, 68 cents; coolies, 37 cents; workmen on scaffolding, 52 cents; navies, 47 cents; painters, 63 cents; blacksmiths, 79 cents.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

He Doesn't Set Himself Up as a Teacher, But Draws a Lesson from Experience.

"No matter what business a man may be in," said the retired burglar according to the New York Sun. "It is only by actual hard work and by everlastingly keepin' at it that he will get on in it. No amount of dreamin' will put a man anywhere; but there ain't nowhere that a man can't go by steady, hard work."

"I've seen this illustrated in my own business; as a matter of act, in my own experience."

"I've wasted many and many a night dreamin' of robbin' banks, makin' in my mind, a million dollars at a clip, but never actually makin' a cent, while some chap that I knew that didn't have half as lofty ideas about things as I did would be doin' very well, indeed, robbin' just small houses and places like that, just by gettin' down to business and stickin' to it; not wastin' his time dreamin'." My son—

"Well, I dunno, considerin' my business, or what was my business, as I ought to set up as a teacher, but you can draw your own conclusions."

AS THEY SAY IN ENGLAND.

British Tourists in America Are Astonished at Our Pronunciation of Names.

"Since arriving in the United States I have been greatly astonished at the way you pronounce proper names," said Mr. John H. Hanson, a tourist from Huddersfield, England, according to the Washington Post.

"For example, this very hotel at which I am stopping (the Raleigh) is given a pronunciation that sounds barbarous to my ears. You call it as though it were spelled 'Rawley.' Now that is positively incorrect, for the great Englishman in whose honor it was no doubt named is known now and has always been known, with us, as though his name were spelled 'Rally.'"

"I can't criticize your pronunciation of such words as 'Potomac,' but in England your beautiful river has ever been called the Pot-o-mac, with the accent on the last syllable. It is an Indian word, I believe, and you have the right to place the emphasis on any syllable you like, although it seems to me that our way of pronouncing it gives far more strength and dignity to the name."

Making Cocoa Butter.

Mr. F. D. Hill, consul at Amsterdam, says: "Cocoa butter is manufactured in the following manner: The cocoa beans are roasted, and after the shells are taken off the beans are ground and the cocoa is pressed out by means of hydraulic presses."

Red Shoe House Special for the Holidays.

WOMAN'S RELIEF

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will quickly relieve those smarting menstrual pains and the dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

WINE OF CARDUI has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy. It is the provision made by Nature to give women relief from the terrible aches and pains which blight so many homes.

GRASSWOOD, La., Oct. 14, 1900. I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.

Mrs. M. A. YOUNG.
