Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is made bad by an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Broke From Moorings.

ASTORIA, March 21.—The bar tug Taatoosh returned this evening from her cruise in search of the derelict schooner that was reported adrift off the mouth of the river, and while the schooner was not sighted, enough was learned to clear up the mystery. The Taatoosh took a course south-west from the mouth of the river, and after steaming 30 miles, met a Victoria sealing schooner, which reported having seen nothing excepting the recently wrecked sealing schooner off Gray's Harbor two days ago.

The Taatoosh then continued her course about 60 miles, when she spoke the barkentine Omega, and her master cleared up the mystery. He said that last evening he passed a small dismasted vessel. She was light, had no bowsprit, all the windows were broken and a small rope was hanging from her bow. He thought the craft was some old sealing vessel or yacht that had broken adrift from some of the rivers along the coast. There was no water in the vessel, but she was not worth towing ashore.

The Taatoosh ran south a few miles further in hope of sighting the craft, but failing to do so, returned to Astoria, after a run of 176 miles.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

John Grey, of Tillamook, had a narrow escape on Sunday. He was riding a horse and driving a colt ahead of him, holding the animal with a long rope.

When going over the tassel east of Blum's the end of the rope was trailing. It got caught and snubbed the colt up, causing the rope to draw tight across the horse which Grey was riding.

This frightened the horse and it bolted. The rope caught Grey and he was partly thrown off, falling against something he hurt his side. The horse skipped for town, but when coming down the road by Turner's place was captured and turned over to Grey.

Anarchists Boycott an Italian.

PATERSON, N. J. March 23.—Because he would not become an anarchist, Secondo Casanova says he is under a boycott and cannot get groceries or milk from the only dealer in those necessities in Paterson, a small settlement of Italians on the outskirts of this city. Casanova has sworn out complaints against 25 of his neighbors, charging them with conspiracy. Ashley Heights is settled exclusively by Italians and Casanova says they are all anarchists. They reportedly tried to get him to join their group, but he refused and then a long course of persecution started. Casanova owned his house in Ashley Heights and could not move away, so he stood the persecution for a long time.

There is only one grocery in the little colony and one milkman, neither of whom is an Italian. These dealers were presented with a paper signed by 25 residents threatening that if they continue to serve Casanova the signers would withdraw their trade. The grocer and milk man explained the situation to Casanova and showed him the paper. They said the evidence he would need at once made the charges of conspiracy.

A Blood Thirsty Crime.

UNION, Or., March 23.—Woods Gray and his 12-year old son were brought to the Union County jail late Saturday night as the probable murderers of Archibald M. Halgarth, of Elgin, who is dying as a result of a conflict with the Grays, father and child. The affair, which occurred in Northeastern Union County, five miles from Elgin, near the Wallowa border, was one of the most tragic and sensational in the country's history. One of its horrible scenes was a prostrate man being hammered to death with a revolver, his assailant mortally wounded with a bullet through his chest and stomach, inflicted by the murderer, and the murderer, who was laughing vengefully with a pocket-knife at his father's enemy.

Woods, Gray and Archie Halgarth were neighbors and foes. Gray was a Tennessean, raised in Kentucky, and a typical mountaineer. The small sons of the man fought at school, the battles of their fathers and in the complication Gray's son was expelled. He was taking him back to school with a gun in his pocket when Halgarth, one of the trustees, spied them from the field and called a halt. There was a narrow line between them, with two fences. As Halgarth crossed the intervening fence to get at Gray in the county roads, mutual recriminations occurred, and Gray pulled his gun and told the burly trustee to stay on his own side. Halgarth was a reckless man and walked into the jaws of a revolver, seizing Gray.

In the struggle Gray shot four times, hitting Halgarth once. The bullet struck Halgarth's chest, ranging down and out through the stomach. With this mortal wound, he threw Gray down, wrested the weapon from him and then began pounding him. Then Gray, according to Halgarth's statement, cried to his son: "Get your knife and kill me."

The boy opened his jackknife and assailed Halgarth, stabbing him six times, one penetrating the lung. Halgarth died last Saturday night.

Saturday night Gray was removed to Union to prevent a possible demonstration from an Elgin mob. Sentiment, however, is turning to Gray's favor on grounds of self-defense. He is an old man and not too strong.

Halgarth was a Mason, and very prominent.

ELGIN, Or., March 24.—The remains of Archie M. Halgarth, the Elgin rancher, who was shot in the chest by Woods Gray and stabbed six times by Gray's young son in an affray five miles east of here, were interred yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, with a large concourse of Union County people in attendance. He suffered a good deal before death. His dying statement is in the care of three members of the Masonic lodge at Elgin—A. R. Tuttle, William Fine and James Masterson.

Gray and his son are in Union, beyond the reach of any possible violence on the part of Halgarth's friends, who are very bitter. Sentiment here, however, is now favoring Gray to some extent, many claiming he shot in self-defense.

To force the issue on the blue laws in Philadelphia, the prominent and responsible members of the Sabbath and Observance Association have sworn out warrants for the arrest of several publishers of morning newspapers and the executive officers of a new company, a locomotive works and an ice cream company. The newspapers are being prosecuted for accepting advertisements on Sunday, selling wares and doing all manner of labor prohibited by the act of 1794, which also prohibits a man from kissing his wife.

Mrs. Arthur G. Miller, wife of the manager of the telephone company, at Butte, Mont., caught John Genser trying to enter the rear of her house. She shot at him, but missed, and then marched him at the point of the gun to the center of the town, where he was turned over to a policeman.

In his sermon Sunday morning, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst referred to the incidents of the capture of Aguinaldo by General Funston, and criticized the American people for condoning what he called the "deceit and treachery" practiced by Funston in making the celebrated capture that utterly discouraged all other belligerent Philippine leaders.

For five days Mrs. J. M. Reeve, of Succosunna, N. J., has lain in a trance. She sleeps deeply, as if at rest, and never moves a muscle. The physicians fear she will die without recovering consciousness. For many years past Mrs. Reeve has been subject to lapses of consciousness, but they have never lasted more than a few hours at a time. At such times, on awakening, she has told strange tales of having been in the spirit land, and of conversing with her departed husband. It is asserted that she has foretold the deaths of various persons. About a year ago she told of a vision in which she saw seven men lying dead. She was so sure that something dreadful was going to happen that she spread the news throughout the village. Two days later the power works blew up and seven men were killed.

Niagara Falls is practically dry and for the first time in 55 years people are able to walk about in the river bed. Thousands have clambered over the rocks hunting for relics and souvenirs. Great rocks never before seen are high and dry. So little water is flowing over the American falls that men in high boots almost could have crossed at the brink. The extraordinary condition is due to an ice jam up the river. The ice was driven from Lake Erie into the entrance of the Niagara and lodged in the shoalwater, shutting off the flow into the American channel. The Horseshoe Fall is not affected as much as the American. The river in the vicinity of the Three Sister Islands is quite dry and the center falls, between Goat and Luna Islands, is a skeleton of itself. The condition is likely to exist for several days.

While the 16-year-old daughter of William Rales, who lives on a homestead in the Glade, about 15 miles from Prosser, Wash., was burning sagebrush last Thursday afternoon, the high wind which prevailed at the time in some manner communicated the fire to her clothing. Immediately, she was in a blaze. Her screams for help attracted her father, who was working some 30

Her Love Unrequited She Kill Herself.

SUMPTER, March 24.—The suicide Miss Zerelda McKiever yesterday afternoon is the sole topic of conversation among residents of Sumpter. The lady was well known and had many friends. The result of the coroner's quest today revealed that despondent over unrequited love was the cause of her taking her life. The verdict was that she died from a gunshot wound inflicted by herself with suicidal intent.

The investigation showed that she held a 22-caliber rifle against her breast and fired the fatal bullet through her heart. A letter addressed to her sister heart told the story of the cause and the motive for the deed. Several witnesses were examined, among them Robt. McClure, a barber, for whom she entertained an affection that was not returned. The latter was read to the jury and was most pathetic. It said:

"My Dearest Bob: When you receive this I will have passed out of the mortal existence that mortal life knows, for seeing that it was all or between us and that our paths here forth must be separate, I cannot starve. I loved as no being can ever love again, and I cannot stand it. I admit that I trifled with you and a sorry, oh, so sorry, but I cannot men now. If I had taken your advice would have been better off, but as it is I write these lines I love you still and death is preferable to this agony and suffering. If you will take it as an offering from me you may have the large good heart I wear. Lovingly, your faithful, ZERELDA."
