We should have stated a few weeks since that the bonded indebtedness on the court house of $5,000 is paid off after running for over 15 years at six per cent interest. Bonds are expensive things to dabble into when, after a few years, the interest amounts to about as much as the bonded indebtedness.

After several days exertion by those who had the oil proposition of Messrs. Wetherell and McCoy in hand, they succeeded in raising the necessary $2,000. All that remains now to be done is to form a stock company and commence work. It is expected that the machinery will be here within a month.

What with boring for oil, a condensed milk factory and the prospect of several new saw mills being started before very long, there is some prospects that things will take a turn for the better. New industries, no matter how small, should be encouraged, and that, and nothing else, will make a weekly pay roll for the city.

The lumber schooner Oakland was unable to take on a full load of lumber at the Wheeler saw mill at Nehalem, owing to the bar at that place shoaling up. We are sorry to say that Father H. J. McDevitt is to leave Tillamook, having been notified by Archbishop Christie to be in Portland on Sunday next. He leaves this city on Friday.

It will be noticed by County Treasurer Todd's call for warrants that outstanding county warrants on the general fund will be paid up to January 14, 1901. This is a good index that the county is gradually crawling out of debt, for it was not two years ago that the county was four years behind in the payment of outstanding warrants. There is money on hand to pay road warrant, so there is no interest being paid now from that fund.

Is it going to be a scramble to get into the condensed milk business? If it is such a profitable business, as it is cracked up to be, it should wipe out all the cheese factories and creameries in this county. But is it, is the point that is to be demonstrated by actual experience? There is not a dairyman in Tillamook but is longing for the day to come when they can get about $1.50 per hundred pounds for their milk, so the dairymen should keep themselves foot loose so as to be able to take their product where they can get the most money for it, especially as there will be a greater demand and competition for milk if condensed milk factories are started.

C. Ben a Benedict.

The report a few weeks ago that Mr. C. Ben Riesland and Miss Queenie Kelly were married was not true at the time, but it is a fact now. They were married at Eugene on Tuesday. C. Ben needs no introduction in Tillamook, for he is too well known for that. Being a hustling real estate agent, he proved himself a hustling wooer as well in capturing the affections of Miss Queenie Kelly, who is an accomplished and estimable young lady with a large circle of friends in Portland and Tillamook. She is a sister to Mrs. Henry Alderman. We extend our congratulations to C. Ben and his bride and trust that the union will be a long and happy one.

A Condensed Milk Factory for Tillamook City.

Mr. A. J. Cohn, who has been outside for several days ascertaining what could be done to get a condensed milk factory started in Tillamook City, has succeeded in his efforts and a factory is to be erected in this city. Articles of incorporation were filed in Clatsop County on Saturday. It is reported that Mr. S. Elmore and Captain P. Schrader is interested in the new enterprise and that the machinery for the factory has been ordered. Mr. Cohn will probably return to the city today.

The Astorian of Sunday says:

WILL START A CONDENSORY.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the county clerk yesterday for the Tillamook Condensed Milk company. The plant and head office of the company will be located in the city of Tillamook, where is produced probably the largest amount of milk in a small area in the county, making it a desirable place for an enterprise of this kind. Mr. A. J. Cohn, president of the port of Tillamook commission and of the incorporated firm of Cohn & Co., leading merchants of that city, and who is now in Astoria, is at the head of the new venture. The incorporators are encouraged by the success of the condensories which are in operation in the valley, and will at once erect a plant and proceed to business, increasing its capacity according to the demand. The products for the present will be condensed milk and sterilized evaporated cream.

Notice.

Having disposed of our stock of furniture to C. E. Reynolds, those who are owing us are requested to settle their accounts with us at once.

Anoteer Condensed Milk Factory Proposition.

At a meeting of the dairymen on the Wilson river on Wednesday evening, a proposition to erect a condensed milk factory, on the understanding that the dairymen contract their milk to Mr. C. Ray, who agreed to pay 35c. per pound for butter fat was considered. This is the printed contract that the dairymen were asked to sign:

In order to secure the establishment of a factory for making Condensed Milk in Tillamook county, Oregon, at or near Tillamook City, and in order to guarantee to Charles Ray and his assigns a supply of milk sufficient to justify the necessary expense of building such a factory, and with a capacity sufficient to manufacture or condense any amount of milk which may be tendered thereto, I hereby agree and contract to and with said Charles Ray and his assigns that if he and they will and do erect such a Condensed Milk Factory, as above specified, and will cause the same to be constructed and put into operation, on or before one year from the date hereof, that I will sell unto said Charles Ray or assigns any and all milk which I may produce from any cows in my possession, owned or leased by me, or under my control, for a period of five years from the time said factory is put into operation; providing, however, that the purchase price of such milk shall be at the rate of 35 cents per pound for butter fat, Babcock test. And I further agree to deliver the same at the said factory in such a condition as the requirements of such a factory demands; providing, further, that the payments for such milk shall be made each 30 days, said payments to commence at the expiration of the month following the month of delivery.

The consensus of opinion amongst the dairymen is that they did not care to sign the contract and tie themselves up to anyone, although if a condensed milk factory was erected and it gave the dairymen 35c. per pound for butter fat, they are ready to quit the cheese factories or creameries directly they can get that figure for their butter fat.

Special Notice.

I wish to say to the people of Tillamook that I have opened an office at 623 Chamber of Commerce, in Portland, that I intend to make headquarters in Portland this summer for the purpose of directing the immigration toward Tillamook. I shall bring prospective buyers in myself and place them on your property. I have determined that is the only practical way of handling the immigration question in Tillamook County. My office will continue in Tillamook City as before under the management of Mr. Howard Drew with whom I should be pleased to have you list any property that you wish to move in the near future. I shall also be pleased to receive mail direct at my Portland office or to P.O. Box 738.

Respectfully yours,
C. BEN RIESLAND,
Pacific Coast Land Agent.

Members of the original United States Steel Syndicate, who put up $25,000,000 in cash and stood liable to have to put up $175,000,000 more, received notice of their final share in the distribution of profits, aggregating about $50,000,000, or 200 percent. They long ago received their original cash deposit of 12 1/2 percent back again. Besides that 20 percent dividends had been declared.

Contractors who were sinking a well for the Capitol box factory on Hylebos Creek, near Tacoma, Wash., struck a gusher. They were down to the depth of 76 feet when apparently the drill ran into an underground stream, the water gushing up with force three feet above the level of the ground. Manufacturers who are contemplating building in that district hail with joy the assurance that there is plenty of water to be had there.

Josiah E. Lynn, at one time one of the richest men in this country, is dead at the county almshouse at Washington, N. J., aged 73 years. Fifty years ago Mr. Lynn was associated in the tanning business with Jay Gould. He disposed of his interests and for 25 years conducted a monument business there, amassing a fortune. Domestic troubles ten years ago resulted in his wife leaving him, and a year later he became blind. His fortune was wasted. He was taken to the almshouse three years ago.

Before the members of an organization called the Mothers' and Fathers' Club at Boston, Mary A. Livemore spoke of "Child Culture," Monday night and took issue with President Roosevelt and President Eliot on the race suicide question. She said: "We need to listen more to talk about the culture of the child, it seems to me. There are two mighty factors that enter into the making of individuals and of nations. Those factors are hereditary and environment. There are men and women who are unfit to be the parents of children. At the present time we have to depend upon environment. In many cases it is better to take children away from their natural parents so that they may have a chance to do better. The need is not more children but better ones. It would not be race suicide if we were to have more homes into which only two or three children were born. Quality and character signify more than a horde."

The smallpox epidemic is assuming alarming proportions about Prineville. A large number of victims are down with the disease, which is occurring in a very violent form. A number of deaths are being reported, and the citizens are alarmed at the outlook. To make the condition worse, the three doctors that have been attending to all of the cases have been stricken with the disease, and medical aid cannot be obtained. News of the condition was telephoned to Portland, and the State Board of Health will at once take steps to relieve the people and try and get the epidemic under better control. Dr. Woods Hutchinson, State Health Official, is sick and confined to his bed, and cannot give the epidemic his personal attention. Dr. Andrew C. Smith, president of the State Board of Health, was notified of the situation and at once took steps to better the conditions.

Theodore Odenthal, a farmer, aged 51 years, committed suicide at his home at Sublimity Saturday night by hanging himself with a piece of baling wire. He leaves a wife and seven children. He was a well-to-do farmer, having come to Oregon from Nebraska a year ago, after selling his property there for some $25,000. Saturday evening he was in Stanton and returned to his home about 9:30 o'clock at night. After putting his team in the barn and unharnessing them, he took a piece of wire six feet long and wound it three times around his neck. He then twisted the ends around a ladder five feet above the ground and by drawing up his legs he threw his weight upon the wire and choked himself. As he had money in his pockets, had no enemies and was always of a cheerful disposition, his act can be accounted for in no other way than by assuming that he was temporarily insane. Coroner Clough visited the scene but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Reames Challenges Hermann.

EUGENE, April 27.—The following challenge to Mr. Binger Hermann on behalf of Mr. Reames was issued today at Democratic headquarters:

EUGENE, Ore., April 27.—Dr. T. W. Harris, Chairman Republican Congressional Committee, First District of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon:

"Dear Sir,—For reasons that will be obvious to you and that will appeal with equal force both to Democrats and Republicans, we have the pleasure in extending to the Hon. Gored to Death by a Bull.

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 28.—A bellowing bull standing over the prostrate form of a man and repeatedly butting with his horned head at the recumbent body was an incident that happened last evening on a farm four miles south of Philomath and resulted two hours later in the death of the victim, William Armstrong, a farmer, aged 68.

Armstrong was leading the bull from the pasture, and when he stooped over, the animal attacked him. With a loud bellowing the beast kept up the assault. Armstrong lay helpless under him and was unable to resist.

His grandson, attracted by the bellowing, tried with a club to drive the bull away. Then he got a shotgun and when he fired a charge of shot in to the animal's nose he ran from the scene.

Armstrong's ribs were crushed and protruded from one side, his collarbone was broken and there was a deep cut under one ear. With assistance he managed to walk to the house, but died two hours later.
