The Populists and Roosevelt.

The assertion of a prominent Kansas Populist that he and the greater portion of his element in his state will support Roosevelt in 1904 in bothering some of the Democratic papers. What do these papers think the Populists ought to do? asks the Globe Democrat.

Moreover, the Populists of Kansas and other states of the West have an other reason for rejoicing the Republican party. They see that the Republicans in the past year have done more against the trusts than the Democrats could do in a decade if they had the whole of the machinery of the government under their control.

Of course, the Populists of Kansas and all the rest of the states of the West will shout for Roosevelt in 1904. On the great issues of the day, the tariff, the trusts and national expansion, the Western Populists are on the side of the Republican party, and always were. Free silver is as dead as slavery.

Rural Delivery and Politics.

Mr. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, is not favorable to the rural free delivery system, his view being that the government is building up a great political machine that will in time come pretty near running congress and he therefore thinks its further development should be stopped.

We do not think there is any substantial ground for the apprehension of the fourth assistant postmaster general, but at any rate there is no doubt that the rural free delivery system is permanently established and that its further development will not be stopped.

A Heavy Immigration.

The indications are that the immigration for the current fiscal year will be the heaviest ever known. It is estimated that it may reach 860,000, the previous high record being 788,992 in 1882.

000,000, or more than 50 percent. The increase in native population has been steady, while that in immigration has been irregular.

In regard to this large volume of immigration, attracted by the prosperous condition of the country, the New York Journal of Commerce observes that there is nothing disquieting or alarming in it. There has been here an increasing demand for labor and this new force will fall short of meeting it if properly distributed.

There is another consideration to which the Journal of Commerce urges attention. While it thinks there is no occasion for a policy of exclusion from the country, and it is difficult to set up a standard of discrimination or sifting, it suggests that there is occasion for the exercise of prudence in admitting to citizenship and it is a matter that presents no difficulty.

International Arbitration

The progress that has been made in recent years in international arbitration, in which the United States has taken a conspicuous part, is one of the conspicuous facts of the time that is worthy of more than ordinary consideration.

At an address before the conference of international arbitration at Lake Mohonk the past week Mr. John W. Foster, formerly secretary of state and one of the ablest of our diplomatists, said that the nations had made most wonderful progress in recent years in the matter of international arbitration.

The tendency in this direction is manifestly growing stronger from year to year. The governments are growing more and more to feel that their controversies must be settled by peaceable means and that there is a way to adjust them without going to war.

Merrill Smith Heard From.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. You, without a doubt expect to hear from me at Los Angeles, but I am a long way from there at the present.

But upon my arrival at the city, I received a position with the Pacific Hardware & Steel Co., and so changed my mind from going any further south.

We have had some very warm weather here lately. Last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the thermometer registered 103 and 104 in the shade. People here say that these three days were hotter than they usually see it here in August.

But when the weather gets much hotter here than 104 in the shade, I will begin to pack my grip and start for Tillamook.

Calistoga is one of the greatest summer resorts California has. It is noted for its hot sulphur and other mineral springs.

I was up to one of the larger springs yesterday, and it was quite a sight to see how that water boils, coming up out of the ground. It is so hot a person can cook a hard boiled egg in three minutes.

The hot water from this spring is run through pipes into a large tank or bath, and is there mixed with cold water until the temperature is 72°, and people by the hundred bath every day.

This county is mostly used for the cultivation of grapes and fruit, such as peaches, prunes, apricots, olives and apples, but mostly all the valley lands are set out to grapes, which yield about 3 to 4 tons to the acre, and last year grapes brought $30.00 per ton.

If any of the Tillamook boys get an action in their head that there is better places than Tillamook, they had better change that notion as soon as possible, or not come to California to find that place.

People here have the wrong impression of Oregon altogether. They imagine that it rains there five days in the week and snows two, so you see they don't even give us credit for what sunshine we do get in Oregon.

But for the present I will stay here, and until I receive a copy of your paper, which I expect you to send me.

I remain very truly, J. M. SMITH. Calistoga, Calif., Napa co.

Lumber Flume at Philomath.

The big flume of the Benton County Lumber Company reached its terminus at the spur of the C. & E. railroad company near Philomath Thursday.

Its construction began about the 1st of March, and accordingly, has occupied about three months of time, during which a force of from 8 to 20 men has been employed. It involved the use of about 700,000 feet of lumber which was cut at the mill and floated down the flume as construction proceeded.

At Philomath terminals will be located the plant for dressing and finishing the lumber product of the mill. It will comprise an extensive dry kiln with cars and tracks for convenient handling of lumber, and for loading on the cars for shipment abroad. It will also include two large planers, a boiler and engine of proper power, and other machinery. The boiler and engine for the plant were ordered from the East several weeks ago, and are expected to arrive Wednesday.

A Coast Trading Vessel.

The schooner Gerald C. is expected to arrive at Astoria in a week or ten days from San Pedro, where she was purchased recently by Captain F. E. Dodge. She will be at once put in commission as a coast trader, to operate between Astoria and points on the Oregon coast south of Tillamook, such as Siletz, Nestucca, Netarts, and Sinslaw.

Engineer Chas. H. Deane, of Warrenton, left Astoria to take charge of her engine. The Gerald C. is a schooner similar to the Anita, but smaller, and was built in 1895 in the same yard as the Anita. Her length is 58ft. 5in., breadth 18ft., depth 5ft. 2in., gross tonnage 31, and net tonnage 24.

She is equipped with a gasoline engine as auxiliary to her sails, which makes a good combination for a boat intended for that purpose. Although small, the Gerald C. is said to be a good carrier, and as Captain Dodge is one of the most skillful Oregon bar pilots she should do a good business during the summer, largely increasing the trade of Astoria merchants and helping to make these points tributary to Astoria.

They at present have no regular transportation service, part of them depending mostly on getting supplies by wagon over the mountains. There is also a large amount of produce to be marketed through these little ports, so that the boat will have a load each way and should prove a great success.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Remorse is memory that has sinned. Bank tellers usually know more than they tell. Wise is the man who refuses to drink between drinks. Unless a man has faith in himself there isn't much hope for him. A man isn't necessarily thin because you can see through him. He who stoops to brush a banana peel from the sidewalk is bent on doing good. Some men are never happy unless they are in a position to make other people miserable. Lawyers have their tribulations, but they make money out of other people's trials. A wise man doesn't argue with a woman because he expects it to do any good, but because it affords her pleasure. Appendicitis is getting to be so common that it is more of a mark of distinction to be run over by an automobile than it is to have one's vermiform appendix removed.
