SOUTH PRAIRIE.

Haying time is close at hand, so all the haymen will soon be busy taking care of it. P. McIntosh & Co. have added a new steam boiler to their factory. Quite a number attended the entertainment given at St. Alphonsus' academy last Friday evening, which was enjoyed by all. Miss Belle Wells, who attended the academy was among the little folks on the stage who did so well. The logging company has shut down until after the Fourth. Alvin Johnson and wife have gone to Forest Grove to spend the Fourth. Isaac Quick spent a couple of days at Netarts last week. Mr. Stall, of Netarts, is hauling milk to the factory. Mrs. Marion Lamb and son Ernest returned from Eugene last week.

3000 Valuable Recipes.

For the relief, cure and manufacture of almost every known thing. New and genuine. List sent on application. One for 15c.; eight for $1. Write plain. G. W. WELCH, Clatskanie, Ore.

Used Lunch Pails to Rob.

TACOMA, Wash., June 29.—Fred Stalzman and his three sons, ranging in age from 20 to 16 years, have been arrested and sent to jail on a warrant sworn out by a detective in the employ of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, on a charge of stealing property from the company. All four members of the family have been employed in the shops of the company for some time past, and had free access to all parts of the works. For several months there has been a leak that was hard to account for. Small tools and brass valves that were issued for use in the shops disappeared, and no trace of them could be found. Detectives were placed on the case, and it is claimed that a large quantity of the missing articles were finally located in a junk shop, and that one of the Stalzman boys had sold the stuff. The claim made by the detective who worked up the case is that the members of the family used the buckets in which they brought their lunch to the shops to carry away the material when they quit work in the evening. Although all the articles stolen were small, it is said that the thefts have cost the company thousands of dollars.

All trap fishing has been put out of commission in Baker's Bay and the mouth of the Columbia River by the enormous amount of drift log in the waters. There is hardly a trap left in the river or bay that is not disabled by the logs being driven through them, and an enormous loss has been sustained by the fishermen. Pioneers in the fishing business say they never saw the drift so bad, especially in the bay. Each year the river contains more or less drift during highwater, but a comparatively small amount gets into Baker's Bay.

It is reported that the Moxee Company has sold 107 more bales of hops at 20 cents per pound. This company had its product in the pool that was formed at North Yakima, Wash., in May toward securing better prices, and the break is looked upon significantly by the buyers. The price asked by the grower is at least 25 cents, and now that the middle of the Summer is here, and the prospects are not bright for getting over 20 cents, some of the growers feel like giving in.

AWFUL EXPLOSION.

236 Men Are Killed in a Wyoming Coal Mine.

HANNA, Wyo., June 30.—At 10:30 A. M. today an explosion of fire damp in mine No. 1 of the Union Pacific Coal Company snuffed out the lives of 236 men, injured scores of others, and caused the distraction of a vast amount of property. The mine was not fired, as stated in the early reports, but the explosion was terrific, and completely shattered the timbers of the main shaft and numerous entrances, filled the workings with debris, and those of the miners that were not killed outright by the explosion were buried alive.

The explosion was heard for many miles around, and attracted people from the adjoining settlement. Huge timbers and railroad iron were hurled from the mouth of the shaft a distance of 200 and 300 feet.

Superintendent E. S. Brooks and a large force of men went to work with a view to remove the debris from the shaft and reach the entombed miners. Their progress into the mine was blocked by the foul gases, and several times they were forced to return to the surface.

All day the rescuing party worked, the force being increased from time to time by the arrival of ranchmen and others from near-by settlements, and by those of a relief train sent out from Rawlins, which arrived about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

About 1 o'clock this afternoon four men were taken out alive, and half an hour later they were followed by 42 others. Many were unconscious and had to be carried from the workings. Some were injured, but none fatally. Several are in a critical condition, but it is believed all will recover.

Two hundred and eighty-two men went down in the mine at 7 o'clock this morning, and up till a late hour tonight only 48 have been accounted for. Of this number two are dead. It was some time after the explosion occurred that the first man was brought to the surface. He was followed by others until 1 o'clock, when the last were brought out. The rescuers were unable to penetrate further into the mine until additional openings had been made to permit fresh air to reach the lower levels and clear away the foul gases.

A young man just graduated at Columbia and worth $25,000,000, has announced that his business in life will be to improve the condition of the poor. The name of this original young citizen is Marcellus Hartley Dodge, and the result of his labors will be noted with interest.

New York and vicinity, as well as other parts of the country, were flooded Tuesday by a downpour of rain, during which, in the course of a few hours, about half as much water fell as in the prolonged period of wet weather last month. The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning and Tammany Hall and several other conspicuous spots were struck by bolts but no damage to speak of done.

A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Dawson says: The first news since March from the vast stretch of 2000 miles down the Yukon Basin, from Eagle to St. Michael and Tanana, Koyukuk and Rampart camps and Kuskowim watershed came today on the steamer Rock Island from Andreaski. The steamer has passengers from all camps mentioned, mostly from the Tanana. They report hundreds of miners at the mouth of the Tanana River with no money to pay fare up, but going down the Yukon. Four thousand people are in the camp there.

Representative of the United States Packing Company, of Colorado, are in Kansas City to consider the question, they say of establishing a million-dollar packing plant. The United States Packing Company was organized under the laws of Colorado in October, 1902, and its purpose is to endeavor to compete with the so-called "beef trust." James H. Peabody, Governor of Colorado, is the president of the independent concern, which already has commenced the construction of a packing-house at Pueblo. The plans of the promoters of the new enterprise contemplate the construction of three plants in the West.

One of the most interesting features of the coming Fourth will be the opening by President Roosevelt of the American cable to Manila. The work has been pushed in a vigorous, businesslike manner. It was quite recently that the cable went into operation to Hawaii, and now the long stretch between Honolulu and Manila will be ready for business in a few days, with all stations on American soil. A prediction six years ago that such a thing could happen by 1903 would have been considered a wild flight of the imagination. But our outputs are planted on the far side of the Pacific, and our own cable fills the link for instant communication. Uncle Sam will have a fresh achievement to talk about on the national birthday.

Rediscovered Lost Art of Tempering Steel.

To an Oregon toolmaker belongs the honor of the rediscovery of the lost art of tempering steel. He is B. J. Casterline, recently removed to Portland from Corvallis, where he had been working for some time to perfect his secret process. He astonished many beholders by the feats which he performed in his shop in the yard of the Suburban Ice & Coal Company, at Fourth and Everett streets. The building and yard were packed with an interested, attentive crowd watching the feats performed. Mr. Casterline put three razors in an ordinary forge, where they were brought to a red heat, then opened a box near by in which was a small tank full of liquid, and plunged them into it. After heating them again he dipped them in water, ground them, honed them on an oilstone and shaved some hair off his wrist with them. The edge of one blade was so thin that the heat curled it up like a shaving, and was ground down by the edge being held at right angles to the grindstone. Treated thus, an ordinary blade would have flown to pieces, but this was brought to an even edge, then ground and honed. Then, to show what can be done with steel tempered by this process, he made a drawing-knife, and, fastening a 16-penny steel spike in a vice, took a shaving off of it with this tool. After the operation it was found that the edge had not been turned in the slightest degree by the rough usage; indeed, it was impossible to tell with what part of the blade the shaving had been done. As further proof that the edge had not been affected, Mr. Casterline took the same knife, and without having sharpened it, shaved some hair from his arm with the greatest ease. Then a pocket-knife was taken, the blade of which had been tempered by himself, and a shaving cut from a nail with it. The blade was drawn across three times, with the edge at right angles, making a distinct cut each time, then he immediately used the same blade with which to shave a small bunch of hair from his hand or arm. This test was repeated four times, making 13 notches altogether in the nail, but the blade removed the hair from his hand as easily as it did the first time. He now undertakes to temper any kind of steel tools, and to make springs that will never break, and later, to apply his discovery to armor-plate. The only secret in the process is the chemical into which he dips the steel after bringing it to a red heat. After this process he again puts the steel in the fire and draws it to the required hardness.

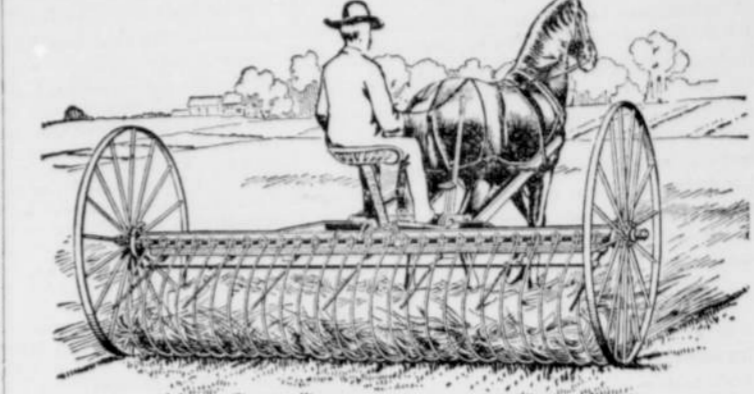

Where Are The Guide Boards?

SALEM, Or., June 29.—There is no section of the road law which is more imperative in its requirements and which is more disregarded than that which makes it the duty of Road Supervisors to erect guide boards at the forks of every highway. If the law were strictly followed no Supervisor could draw his salary until he had erected guideboards whenever roads unite or cross, yet it is remarked by everyone who travels in the country in this section of the state that there are very few such boards in evidence. Newcomers in particular notice the absence of guideboards. The law on the subject is section 30 of the latest edition of Oregon road laws and reads as follows: Every supervisor shall erect and keep up at the forks of every highway and every crossing of public roads within his road district a guide or finger-board, containing an inscription in legible letters directing the way and specifying the distance to the next town or public place situated at each road respectively; provided, that the road supervisor shall not be paid after submitting their report to the County court until they have shown to the satisfaction of the court that the provisions of this section have been complied with.

State Superintendent Ackerman has advised the various County School Superintendents of the state that the State Treasurer, in making the regular apportionment of school money this year, will strictly follow the provisions of the state law on the subject. The disbursement will be made August 1, and such counties as have not filed their report with the State Superintendent before that date will not receive their share of the apportionment.

Evidence bearing upon the postal investigation came to light in Milwaukee postoffice. Stored away in one corner of the basement is a big pile of Gross fasteners, that were sent to Milwaukee for some unknown reason, and without requisition, about 14 years ago. There are two and one-quarter tons in the basement of the Federal building, which will probably never be used unless they are shipped to Washington. None of them have been used. They came during the early years of the late Postmaster G. W. Porter's term. No one ordered them so far as it has been possible to ascertain. There was no use for them. There are 1500 sets of fasteners each set weighing three pounds. The Government paid the contract price, $1.25 per set. There is also stored in the basement a lot of galvanized iron mail boxes that are made in Michigan. They were received about two years ago without requisition.

10,000 Mad Mullah's Men Slain.

LONDON, June 30.—The War Office today received a dispatch from Colonel Rockfort, one of the British officers serving with the Abyssinian forces in Somaliland, which says the Abyssinians, on May 31, after a series of forced marches struck the Mad Mullah's forces near Jeyd, surprising them at dawn, and killed 10,000 spearmen and capturing almost all their cattle and sheep and 1000 camels.

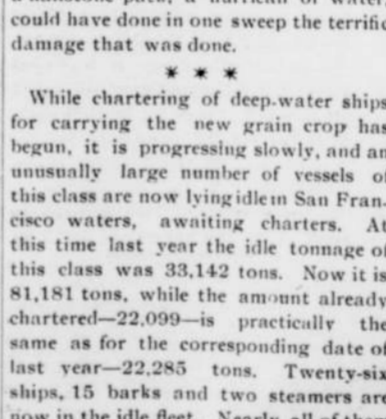

Colonel Rockfort adds that the Abyssinian forces actually closed to the Mullah all the watering places south of the Geriougah-Galadi line, and he hopes they will soon be in contact with the British forces and thus be able to cooperate in the pursuit of the Mullah, who is delayed in his movements by the fact that he is crossing a waterless part of the country. The Colonel's dispatch is dated June 14.

Persons who have been to Heppner and have taken some plans to examine the evidence of the disastrous flood will not be much impressed by the report of Irrigation Expert John T. Whistler, in which he informs the department at Washington that the flood wave was probably not more than six feet in height outside of creek banks nor more than five feet where houses stood. It will be hard to agree with the statements of the expert in more respects than one, because if remaining ocular evidences are not enough, there is ample testimony of survivors of common sense as to the appearance of the wall of black water at the moment it rushed down the hills into Balm fork of Willows Canyon. Most of the surviving people of Heppner living on the side hills are stoutly of the opinion that the crest of the flood was not less than 40 feet in height. It may have shrunk as it spread below town until it was about six or ten feet in height, but it is certain that nothing but a gigantic wave filled with a hailstone pack, a hurricane of water, could have done in one sweep the terrific damage that was done.

While chartering of deep-water ships for carrying the new grain crop has begun, it is progressing slowly, and an unusually large number of vessels of this class are now lying idle in San Francisco waters, awaiting charters. At this time last year the idle tonnage of this class was 33,142 tons. Now it is 81,181 tons, while the amount already chartered—22,099—is practically the same as for the corresponding date of last year—22,285 tons. Twenty-six ships, 15 barks and two steamers are now in the idle fleet. Nearly all of them are British.
