 Robert Wiley, son of Dr. Wiley, who has been in Alaska for about five years, returned from there and came in on Friday to visit his parents.
 We are told the chitten bark peelers in the south end of the county are going into a combine another year so as to handle the business themselves.
 A. M. Austin has some strawberry plants that give two crops a year, and he brought some fine berries to the city on Tuesday as a sample of what he is now gathering.
 C. & E. Thayer have provided a separate department of their business for a savings bank, and depositors in the savings bank branch will be paid interest on their deposits.
 Owing to the low pressure of water in the water system, a petition was circulated at Saturday by Marshal Clements that something be done to give the city better fire protection.
 C. E. Reynolds returned to the city on Friday from San Francisco, where he attended the G.A.R. encampment. He also went there on business connected with his furniture store.
 John W. Fleck and Miss Bessie M. Waymire were married on Monday by County Judge W. W. Conder, in Tillamook City. They were from the south end of the county.
 Mrs. John Donaldson's horse trotted off while it was left standing on Main street with two children in the buggy, but fortunately the animal was stopped opposite Crenshaw's.
 F. H. Skinner, who is working up the proposition to establish a line of boats between Portland and Tillamook City, came in on Sunday to look after the interests of the new company.

 S. A. Brodhead, in completing the new school building, has added another well-built and handsome building to adorn the city, a structure that is well and substantially built in good workmanship style, and is not only a credit to the city but the contractor as well.
 Elder Arthur Allen, of Holden, Mo., representing the reorganized church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, commenced a series of evening meetings at the Adventist Church on Monday. All are invited, and the meetings will be continued until further notice.

All Kinds of Guns at Reduced Prices at Ralph Ackley's.
 Mrs. J. S. Stephens, who has been quite sick for several months, was taken out to the hospital this morning.
 The board of equalization appears to be well satisfied with the way that the county is assessed, and the taxpayers as well, for they have not troubled the board with complaints, with the exception of those who had some timber that was burned last year.
 The raft of logs which was towed from Nehalem last week by the steamer Geo. R. Vosburg did not get through so successfully as the first raft, for in crossing out over Nehalem bar eleven of the large logs got loose and are now stranded along the Garibaldi beach.
 While the lumber schooner Jennie Thelin was being towed down to the bay last week she got out of the channel and went ashore in the slough, where she remained several days. She was pulled off by the Vosburg and is now taking on the remainder of her cargo.
 The steamer Geo. R. Vosburg came in on Monday from Astoria, her passengers being Mrs. R. Tagert, Mrs. Ewing, Mrs. Babbage, Miss Scovell, A. Jurhas, J. and B. Olsen, B. A. Anderson, P. Sheridan, Sisters M. Seraphim, Crellia, Blexia, Barbara, Hildyard and Ignatia.
 C. C. Clarke is interested in the Nehalem logging company that are towing logs from Nehalem to Astoria. A raft containing 78 logs were safely towed to Astoria last Thursday. This new scheme will open up a fine body of timber and get it to market.—Seaside Sentinel.
 The steamer Sue H. Elmore came in on Wednesday with the following passengers: S. D. Wells, E. Maxfield, Mr. Gordon and son, Mrs. Eberman and two children, Messrs. Swede, Ireson, Rupert, Chas. Linn, Mrs. Stansbury, Mr. and Mrs. Powell, Miss Jessie Davis, Misses Sue H. and Floe Elmore and two young lady friends from Astoria.
 There is a rumor that the Elmore is about to be leased to a couple of well known Tillamook business men. A three days' option, to expire tomorrow, it is said, has been given. Dame Rumor also says that Mr. Samuel Elmore, her principal owner, is pulling up all his Astoria stakes, with a view of removing to California.—Astoria News.
 Carl A. Patzlaff, who bought out Dwight Edmunds' stock, will open up on Monday next with a large addition of new and up-to-date goods, and he solicits a share of the patronage. The goods are nicely and tastefully arranged, and being a thorough business man Mr. Patzlaff has a good idea of the requirements of the citizens.
 Despite the criticism to the contrary, and being unable to purchase the Sue H. Elmore at a reasonable figure, we are informed that the Oregon Pacific Navigation Company intends going ahead with the proposition to put on a line of steamers between Portland and Tillamook City, and plans are now being drawn for a new boat.
 The steamer Sue H. Elmore had the following passengers on board when she left last week: J. Johnson and wife, P. Mattsen, Ben Perry, Mrs. Dave Pierce, Jess Pierce, M. Kneduson, A. Gustavson, Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Snow, Jr., John and Annie Raz, W. McKinster, Mrs. Patzlaff, J. Street, G. Mattison, W. H. Franklin, R. Gardner, L. Manford, L. C. Mackie, Geo. Cohn and Mrs. Sturgeon.
 The steamer Geo. R. Vosburg took out the following passengers today:—J. F. Martin, S. Morton, Mrs. E. Jenkins, Mr. H. S. Copeland, Miss Ida Copeland, P. M. Sheridan, P. Brenner, M. Penglorn, W. E. Noyes, S. E. Berthel, Mrs. Dr. Smith and son, Mrs. Fred Wheeler, Mrs. M. Stillwell, Miss Bessie Stillwell, T. H. Skinner, Miss Blake, Mrs. Ed. Curtiss and son, J. S. Stephens and wife.
 We have received a communication from Frank Richardson in regard to a paragraph which appeared in our last issue about the bad cheese that was shipped to W. B. Glatke Co., but as we understand the combine is to sift the matter out, we will withhold it from publication for the present at the request of the writer. We had intended also publishing a letter from Mr. Glatke describing the bad cheese to show that we had not misrepresented it, so will hold this letter over as well.

Opening of St. Alphonsus Academy.

The school of St. Alphonsus Academy will enter upon its seventh year next Monday, Sept. 7th, when it will be resumed and conducted under the auspices of the Sisters of the Precious Blood, who arrived here late Monday to attend the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart.
 The ground work of education, so bravely undertaken by the former Sisters, and through their able management and competency, so well accomplished, has elicited the admiration and sympathy of the entire community.
 The new Sisters are hereby greatly encouraged, and with their vast experience in the training of the young, attended by great success in other fields and the lofty aim of their vocation—to impart knowledge and form character—they can confidently hope that their efforts for the cause of education will be appreciated and crowned with success. Their gentle and refining influence, combined with their devotion and self-sacrifice to duty, cannot but attract the observant eye of the youthful students and deeply impress them with the sacred principles which form the basis of that manhood which is the touchstone of true greatness, and of that womanhood which is the aegis of virtue.
 Classes will be taught on very much the same plan as heretofore. Music teachers of years' experience are prepared to give lessons on any of the various popular instruments.
 We tender them a cordial welcome and wish them success.

Editorial Snap Shots.

We can't understand why Tillamookers should want to go hop picking at 40c. a box in the valley when chitten bark is selling at $240 a ton in this county.
 The south end of the county has struck a gold mine in chitten bark, and it is no wonder that the settlers have become excited and jubilant and dropped everything to peel the valuable bark, which is $240 a ton and may reach double that figure before long.
 To obviate bonding the city for a new gravity water system, Mr. B. L. Eddy has made one suggestion that is worthy of consideration. It is to bore for artesian water and establish a pumping station, with an electric light plant in connection with it. True this may not be as nice as a gravity system, but it may answer the purpose until such time that the city has grown to that proportion it can better afford to bond itself for the large sum of $60,000.
 Will Tillamook City ever amount to anything as long as there is a tendency to cripple and monopolize industries? That, as most of our citizens are aware, is a stumbling block which have retarded the growth of the city. Instead of getting in and helping those who may be in industrial difficulties, the tendency is to hold aloof and pull down. A very poor inducement to people who may be looking for locations for industries, for no one cares to encounter such a spirit.
 Would it be practical to erect a large water tower and pump water from the slough into it, and in case of fire turn it on into the present system? Or, so as to get fire protection at the least delay and expense, erect a large water tower, to be kept filled by the present water system and held in reserve in case of fire? As it will take considerable time to get either an artesian or gravity system in stalled, the water tower could be put in in short notice and with not much expense. We simply throw these ideas out as suggestions.

 Ex-Senator J. W. Maxwell slapped the editor on the shoulder on Tuesday and in doing so made this remark: "Baker, you're all right." Thanks, senator, but we are not looking for bouquets of that description. The senator is all right too, only that he has fallen from political grace on account of training with the faction that the people of Tillamook will down every time it tries to get into the political saddle, with rule or ruin tactics. Come in out of the cold, senator, and don't allow another political freeze up to leave you stranded and cress fallen on the political battlefield next June.
 A recent arrival in Tillamook, a man who is showing some amount of enterprise and is an intelligent observer of what is going on asked us this question a day or so ago: "What's the matter with Tillamook people, anyway?" And before we had time to reply he answered his own question by saying "It seems to me they put their heads together instead of their heads." That is the opinion of a man who has not been long in Tillamook, but long enough to know that the petty jealousies, the rule or ruin spirit, and the tendency to pull down and monopolize are features which Tillamook people have had to buck against for years. But it will not be always that way, for with the advent of new industries, competition and more inhabitants the rule or ruin faction is losing its grip. But, still for all that, there is a lot of truth in the remark that Tillamookers put their heads together instead of their heads. They will catch on soon, and find that the head work is a detriment to themselves and the county as well.
