

DYNAMITERS WANT MONEY.

Demand $50,000 From Northern Pacific Immunity from Outrages.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 27.—It has developed that the recent attempts to dynamite bridges and tracks on the line of the Northern Pacific between Livingston and Missoula are in furtherance of a plot to force the railway to pay $50,000 for immunity from the outrages.

In August last the company received a letter demanding $25,000 and it was threatened if the terms proposed were not agreed to dynamite would be used on the line. No attention was paid to the demand, and shortly after the railroad bridge at Livingston was partially wrecked by dynamite, and a few nights later another stick of dynamite was exploded near Bozeman under a passing train.

Other letters followed, and the dynamiters proposed that the company pay $50,000 and if it acceded to the demand it was to carry a white flag on engines hauling trains and September 22 was to run a light engine from Butte to Missoula, and at a point on the road was to stop on signal, and an agent of the company was to pay over the money.

The company, hoping to catch the men, put out the white flags and on the night agreed upon ran the light engine. Behind it followed another engine pulling two cars. One was filled with armed sheriffs and deputies and the other contained horses and bloodhounds. The run was made from Butte to Missoula, but there was no signal, and it was thought the men had been scared off.

Soon after the letters began to arrive again, the dynamiters making the same demand and telling the railroad if it agreed to the terms to put the flag on the engines. This the railroad company has not done and in the past two weeks there have been four attempts to damage the line by the use of dynamite.

One of the attempts to blow up the train took place in the railroad yards in this city last Monday night. This was followed a few nights later by explosions on the track near Elliston and Blossburg. Within the past ten days a powder magazine belonging to the Holter Hardware Company, of this city, and located on the outskirts of the town was broken into and 2150 pounds of dynamite stolen.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 27.—There were starting new developments in the $50,000 Northern Pacific dynamite plot today, in that it became known that Thomas Travis, Chief of Police of this city, has received an ultimatum from the conspirators ordering the immediate release of two men who are confined in the city jail on the charge of having attempted to dynamite the Northern Pacific bridge at Livingston, a few days after the first $25,000 ultimatum was delivered to the railroad company.

The city officials have a strong case connecting these men with the crime, although the evidence is principally circumstantial. The notice received by the Helena police in to the effect that if the men are not released by Monday noon the jail will be blown up with dynamite. This letter is believed to have the same origin as those sent to the Northern Pacific demanding $50,000 or otherwise it would be put out of business in Montana.

All of the letters sent to the railroad company were mailed at either Helena or Butte, and the one received by Chief Travis is postmarked at Helena. It was learned today that the Northern Pacific was given until October 4 next to comply with the demands of the conspirators.

Another gang of men left here today to search for the ton of dynamite stolen from a local warehouse a week ago. Owing to its dangerous nature it is not thought the thieves carried it a very great distance, and that it is proving their source of supply for the various outrages against the railroad's property admits of no doubt.

Look in Gun Muzzle.

BAKER CITY, Or., Sept. 27.—Manager Art Harris, of the Geiser Grand Hotel, of this city, and Colonel E. E. Stewart, of the Simmons Hardware Company, St. Louis, were held up by a lone highwayman, several miles above Sumpter near Hanover while on their way to the Mountain View mine yesterday morning.

They were relieved of all their belongings including cash, clothing in their grips, cigars and other refreshments. Mr. Harris lost over $300 in cash and Mr. Stewart was relieved of about $70. They could not give a very clear description of the robber. Mr. Harris said the gun used was a very large one; the hole in the muzzle was apparently as large as the mouth of a mine tunnel by the roadside. The robber made good his escape.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Rocky Ford is not the only place where the gem melon is raised. The two of Alma, Marlon county, Ill., raised and shipped them long before Rocky Ford was heard of. They have been raising gem melons at Alma for twenty years and in that time it is estimated that they have added $1,400,000 to the wealth of the town.

A circumstantial fish story is told by the London Daily News. The captain of the steamer Benalder of Leith, on a voyage to China, threw a bundle of old letters overboard in the Mediterranean. Some Spanish fishermen of Aguilas, near Cartagena, later caught a large fish, and on opening it found a bundle of letters inside. They took this to the mayor, who managed to decipher in one the name and address of superintendent of the steamship line in London, and thus to restore the letters to their owner.

The Canadian government has chartered the Newfoundland sealing steamer Neptune to convey a scientific expedition to Hudson's Bay. The expedition will winter at Chesterfield Inlet. Its object is to determine the availability of the region for a Canadian grain route.

Captain Samuel Bartlett, for several years navigator of the Peary steamers, is in command of the ship, the crew of which consists of Newfoundlanders familiar with ice work. The scientific party is composed of Canadians. The ship will also enforce the Canadian customs laws against American whalers who are operating in Hudson's Bay.

The dairymen of Chicago are trying to have the milk of Holstein cows excluded from the city. Inspector Grady, who passes on the quality of the milk supply of the city, is quoted as saying that the Holstein cows should be shot. In this connection there are Holsteins and Holsteins. There are Holsteins that give a low grade of milk, such should be relegated to the butcher's block as soon as possible and not allowed to leave any of their progeny behind, but the number of Holstein cows who would suffer from this cause we have reasons to believe are few compared with the whole number. It is for the interest of the breeders of the Holsteins to have a comparatively high content of butter fat in the milk of the Holstein cows. There are plenty of Holstein cows whose milk will test 4 per cent and few would be excluded if the test was left 3.5 per cent.

Isthmian Canal Traffic.

The question that has played a large part in the discussion of the isthmian canal question and may yet figure to some extent in the discussion of that matter, for it is certainly one of importance, relates to the possible traffic of the proposed canal—that is, whether it is remunerative or not. There is, it is needless to say, a difference of opinion in regard to this. There is some very good authority contending that under no circumstances can the projected waterway be made profitable to the United States.

A few statisticians of undoubted ability assert that if the United States shall construct the Panama canal the enterprise will be a continual financial loss to this country. On the other hand it is urged that there is no question that the proposed canal would not only pay all its expenses connected with it, but a very fair dividend upon the investment. It is manifestly impossible for any one to determine in advance what the results of the proposed isthmian canal might be. It might pay from the beginning and it might not pay for years to come. That involves a question which has never been seriously considered by our government and never will be. It is not a question of what the interoceanic canal will yield at once or at some future time in revenue, but what it will be in its strategic position as well as in its commercial influence. The United States wants the canal not wholly as a commercial proposition, important as that unquestionably is, but also as its value in a military point of view, which if secondary is by no means unimportant.

A writer in the Quarterly Journal of Economics for August takes the position that by the time the Panama canal would be completed, say by 1914, the commerce going through that canal would be sufficient to perhaps meet the expenses, but not enough to pay any dividend upon the investment. This writer does not take anything like a pessimistic view of the situation, but on the other hand he does not hold out the idea that an isthmian canal will from the outset be a profitable investment, considered purely from a financial view, to the nation. Perhaps no one expects this and it will not interfere with the nearly universal demand for an isthmian canal.

Faith and Virtue.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. The Christian home is the domain of faith and virtue. As a nation we either sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish with the home. It is the experience of nations that it pays to encourage foreign immigration to those who establish and maintain desirable homes, the homestead laws prove a success. The time is when homes for the rising generation ought to interest every citizen of our land. The home without faith and virtue does not meet the approval of God or the American people. No man has a right to speculate off of the home. The home is the first consideration and must be encouraged forthwith. Stamp out the home life and there is no incentive to faith and virtue. I have often heard it remarked that a man ought not to bring into the world more children than he can support, as a plea of innocence for abortion. Will not the same God who provided for us care for the next generation. I am pointed to men of large families as objectionable examples, but was it their faith in God or was it not their brute force exemplified, and do such men inculcate faith and virtue into their children? Like begets like, and no man can expect his children to develop better traits than his own, whether there be few or many. Girls of fifteen know more of crime now than our grandmothers did at eighty. Knowledge of the bad has increased with the knowledge of the good. Every socialistic movement has fallen through for want of faith and virtue.

We have associations of different kinds, both political and religious, but how would a home builder's association strike you, for men and women who want to live right lives. If there is anything on earth that has an intrinsic value it is a home where faith and virtue abounds. I believe that an organization, dedicated to the Christian home and its environments, would be a financial success, meet the needs of those in distress, and enjoy the sunshine of God's love.
