NEHALEM.
Max Fisher's family has given up ranching and moved back to Portland to live.
The cheese factory closed down Saturday.
F. L. Gunn and family left for Cottage Grove.
School Superintendent G. B. Lamb visited schools on the river last week.
The cannery is about out of tin and unless the weather changes for the better will soon have to shut down.
D. H. Yelder has his little sawmill about completed.
S. Scovel is butchering the fat hogs at the cheese factory.

BOULDER CREEK.
Mrs. R. M. Dingess is staying with her mother during the absence of Mrs. Dingess who has gone to the valley on business.
R. Y. Blalock has commenced building his new house, so the music of hammer and saw is heard in the land.
H. L. Jensen and family visited Sunday at W. N. Bays' home, and Mr. H. Bays with his nephew Marcus Bays.
Mr. Ginn of Blaine, passed through this neighborhood one day recently.
Mrs. Linnie Poland visited Mrs. D. Jensen last week.
Protracted meeting will be held all week at the Bondville school-house. Come one, come all!
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lucas spent Sunday at the home of Elder and Mrs. Blalock.
A merry party of young people gathered under the hospitable roof of W. N. Bays, Saturday to celebrate Halloween, after the time honored custom. The various games and festivities occupied the time until the wee small hours.
J. S. Meyers is duly domiciled in his new home, after quite a siege of moving through the mud.

BEAVER.
Mr. West is building an addition to his barn.
Mr. Lucas has built a well and pump for the fair cook at the new hotel.
Mrs. Woods health is so much improved she talks of moving home in the near future.
Mr. Ginn has moved to Blaine. Where his family went a few weeks ago. Mrs. Ginn is teaching school there and the children going to school.
Mr. Bixby, the merchant, made a short business trip to Beaver last week.
The two Mr. Sailings have returned to their home again.
Miss Delia Sailing is working for her sister, Mrs. Jackson.

Miss Kirk visited Miss Hiatt last Sunday.
Quite a number of the Beavers are talking of organizing a literary or spelling school soon, to pass away the long winter evenings and cultivate the youth, and perhaps the older heads also. We think parents especially ought to lead a hand in this matter and help to carry on some instructive amusement for the rising generation, who soon will have to fill their stations in life.

PLEASANT VALLEY.
E. G. E. Wist is looking for a gate and his lumber trucks since Saturday night. It looks as if the evil spirits are unchained.
S. H. Phillips buggy took a notion to haul wood Saturday night, and after getting loaded got scared and mounted the school house wood shed and had to be helped down.
The rain has temporarily put a stop to gravel hauling, but we think that there will be enough good weather on the way to finish repairing our highways.
I. H. Moore had to fill a hole on the Sabbath. One of his cows got in the mud. Hence the hole.
Henry Simmons tried to hide from some imaginary monster and crawled under a spruce tree, and a couple of the citizens going along the road discovered something protruding from under the tree, so started to investigate, thinking they had found the remains of Noah's ark, but it proved to be a pair of feet belonging to Henry.
Surveyor Sappington was in this vicinity Friday establishing some lost corners.
In talking to men who have cattle and hives for sale, they do not sing prosperity. What is the matter? The local market never was as demoralized as at present in twenty years. The writer sold beehives under Cleveland's administration several different times at 5c. dressed. Now, if the people would put in as much time finding out the truth of the matter as they do harping for some politician, they would find it is not Cleveland nor Roosevelt that gives them good or bad prices, but the barons of commerce and the contractors of the mediums of exchange. There are just twenty men in these United States that can make or break the welfare of the people whenever it suits them.

SOUTH PRAIRIE.
Sam Johnson has been wearing a beaming boot since the past week. He feels now that that won't have split stove wood any more, as they have a 12lbs. boy at their house.
Lloyd Powell, while out bicycling late the other evening, ran over a calf while laying down in the road, causing him a severe fall, but no bones broken.
Miss Carrie Wells, of Woods, visited at Mr. Marolf's last week.
Hull Johnson has been laid up with a swollen foot, which almost resulted in blood poisoning.
We are pleased to note that Mrs. Ida Quick is still improving from her severe sickness.
There were a number hoodlum boys from Long Prairie halloween night, tearing down fences and gates and molesting milk cans. Not saying what our own boys did.

FARM FOR SALE.
A Bargain.
