BOULDER CREEK.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Kinnaman went down the river on Thursday to visit their parents.

L. P. Gray and W. N. Bays received the full benefit of the storm on their way home from Tillamook last week.

R. Y. Blalock is putting the roof on his new house.

The wind played havoc with trees and fences Tuesday night. H. L. Jensen's old barn, used as a machine shed, blew down and slightly damaged a rake and mower.

H. Bays came home on Friday after visiting the past week with his relatives on the other side of the river.

Mrs. Eliza Brady and Mrs. Grace Chopard and son Norman, spent a very enjoyable day with Mrs. Jennie Lucas, last Tuesday.

Maurice Bays was over in our neighborhood the first of the week.

Rumor says that Dr. Phelps has taken a claim adjoining M. T. Suarez's at No Name Lake, and will turn a band of Angoras on it.

Fencing, building barns and wood-sheds and various other improvements too numerous to mention are causing the neighborhood to wear a thrifty appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bays had a close call during the storm last week. A tree fell across their yard, demolishing their clothing, and just reaching the corner of the house.

J. S. Myers went to Beaver Saturday after household supplies.

Ralph Bundy, Gus Chopard, Fred and John Nicklans went bear hunting Monday, but nary a bruin was to be seen.

H. L. Jensen's hospitable home was the scene of quite a gathering last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lucas, Mrs. H. A. Chopard and son, W. D. Gladwell, wife and daughters, were the guests. A very pleasant time was spent by all until the shades of evening warned them of the approach of "cow time."

Mr. and Mrs. John Borba and M. T. Snares dined at Mr. Gardner's Sunday.

We were faintly amused when we read the Coulsonburg effusion in last Thursday's Headlight. Wonder if the correspondent knows how fatal are the effects of bad poetry, cheap wit and "slang" on the person who is so unlucky as to perpetrate them?

Most of the obstructions have been removed from the road, and Uncle Sam's "letter boy" (in other words J. J. Hollett) need not stop to take down fences in order to get around the giants of the forest, that have measured their length across the road.

THANKSGIVING.

Be thankful for the mean things you thought of doing, but didn't do. Be thankful for the unkind thing you thought of saying but didn't say. Be thankful for the promise you didn't break, for the lie you didn't tell.

"Merlee" in the Housekeeper.

SOUTH PRAIRIE.

The loss of the Tillamook bridge by the recent run of saw logs during the freshet, is causing inconvenience to those owning land adjoining the river and those living at the Bewley creek road.

Last Sunday the relatives and friends and neighbors of Mrs. Curtis Johnson, gathered at her home to witness the marriage of her daughter, Miss Sadie, to Mr. William Miller. After the congratulations were over the guests sat down to a bountiful dinner. We join their friends with the usual wishes for joy and prosperity.

Mrs. Grey is helping Mr. Grey make cheese since the milk decreased in quantity.

Mrs. Wiley, of Netarts, visited Mrs. Powell last week.

Miss Una Baker closes a very successful term of school this week.

Ten Commandments.

The following set of commandments are going the rounds of the press:

I. Thou shalt not go away from home to do thy reading, nor thy son, nor thy daughter.

II. Thou shalt do whatever lilt in thy power to encourage and promote the welfare of thine own city and thine own people.

III. Thou shalt spend thy earnings at home that they may return from whence they came, and give nourishment to such as come after thee.

IV. Thou shalt patronize any home merchant and thy home printer, for yea, verily, doth not thy home spread over the land tilings of thy goodness and greatness that the people shall patronize thee.

V. Thou shalt not ask thy printer to take less than his price. Remember by asking him to retreat from his price thou interest that he is a robber. If he hath not dignity thou will get done by him somehow.

VI. Thou shalt not ask for credit, for goods cost much money, and the merchant's brain is burdened with bills. His children clamor daily for bread, and his wife abideth at home for lack of sufficient raiment as adorneth her sister. Blessed, yea, thrice, blessed is the man that pays cash.

VII. Thou shalt not suffer the voice of pride to overcome thee and if other towns entice thee consent thou not for thou mayest be deceived. Remember the fate of the calf that left its mother and followed a steer away, and lost its supper.

VIII. Thou shalt not ask for reduced prices or thy "influence" for gitts is in thine heart and the merchant rendeth it like an open book. He laugheth thee to scorn and shouteth to his clerks, "ha! ha!"

IX. Thou shalt not ask the printer to take two dollars for a three dollar job because some other printer will do it for less money. The other printer may steal his stock and underpay his help. If thou trade with such as he thou art accessor to the crime.

X. Thou shalt not bear false witness against the city wherein thou dwellest, but speak of it to all men, that thy home city and its people may be proud of thee.

Bolt in House.

It is becoming very apparent that an effort will be made, early in the regular session to override Speaker Cannon and the Republican leaders of the House and force the consideration of a river and harbor bill, contrary to the announcement put forward some time ago that "none but necessary appropriations shall be made."

There is a great deal of talk among members of states that are interested in river and harbor improvements in denunciation of the policy of the Republican leaders, and several state delegations have determined, if possible, to force appropriations for certain projects in their respective states. Such individual efforts can, of course, accomplish nothing, but it is evident that one state after another that is in need of money for its rivers and harbors is falling into line, and before long it is believed there will be a general movement of such importance and so wide-reaching in the House, that even the Speaker and his leaders will be unable to stem the tide.

An upheaval similar to that which forced the passage of an omnibus public building bill in the last Congress over the protest of Speaker Henderson and his leaders, is threatened and the outlook for the river and harbor bill becomes brighter every day. The movement will not take definite shape until after the committees are organized in December, but the first of the year, if not before, some popular demonstration is looked for that will likely result in action.

Waterlogged derelict Charles Nelson, that was towed into San Francisco by the steam collier Edith, and the master of the rescuer, who will get a big share of salvage money. The Charles Nelson was abandoned off the Oregon Coast half submerged, and at the mercy of the waves about ten days ago. Captain Gunderson, of the Nelson, showed thorough seamanship by saving the 32 persons consisting of the crew and passengers of the ill-fated vessel.

Mrs. William Baker, wife of a logging contractor at Sumpter, has eloped with W. A. Walker, a gambler, taking $1100 of her husband's money. She obtained $800 from the First National Bank of Sumpter by forging her husband's name. She drew $300 from the bank at Sumpter, which she was authorized to draw. The bank people are searching everywhere for the woman. She left two small children at Sumpter. It is supposed that the runaway couple went to Portland. They have been traced to that city but it is not known for certain which way they went from there. Walker, it is said, was mixed up in a similar affair in French Gulch, Cal., some years ago.

The town of Chinook, on the north side of the Columbia, was visited about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon by a severe hail storm that did several hundred dollars damage to property. The storm continued only a few minutes and its track was not over 2000 feet wide, but in that district not a pane of glass was left unbroken. The hailstone were unusually large, some of them measuring two inches in circumference.

There are some farmers who will not be benefited by science, because they will not apply it. Science has developed and demonstrated the fact that alfalfa, one of the most profitable crops grown, will not succeed without the assistance of the nitrogen-gathering bacteria peculiar to the plant. On land where these minute creatures do not exist the plant turns yellow and dies out, and the farmer cries "alkali!" and plows up his alfalfa and plants cotton there. If he had gone to some neighbor who grew good alfalfa, and procured a cartload of soil from this neighbor's alfalfa field and sowed it broadcast on his alfalfa ground the alleged alkali would have assumed a thrifty green color. This process is called soil inoculation, and ought to be understood by every farmer. The bacteria can be cultivated and grown in immense numbers, and put up in biscuits and sold or given away. The Agricultural department is now doing this.

FISHES' FACES

One Cannot Always Tell by the Expression What Their Actors Are.

"Fish are a good deal like men," said Superintendent Spencer of the New York aquarium. "They tell by their countenances to expect of them. Look at the low there, now!"

He pointed to a tiger fish. "It was butting its nose against the glass of its tank. No man could see the expression of its face, but the haunts of the third class are the haunts of the third class."

"Looks as if he would wriggle a bit," doesn't superintendent continued. "The jaws! Bad eye, too. Well, the fish is the most gentle fish in the aquarium—one of the clinging limpets seeks affection and kindness over there is a lady fish. They serve these brilliant colors. Look at dear, sedentary face, and cooing, graceful movements. You'd think it would be a scolded it."

"On the contrary, it's the ladylike fish in this collection. Its temper is shrewish, and it is as bad, and if you give it a fish it would bite you like a scorpion pup. It's a vicious fish, and it deserves all those fine things."

Mr. Spencer put his hand on the glass front of the tank, and New York Mail and Express said it was an instant commotion, sinuating tail lashed the water, that angelic mouth bumped against the barrier in a vain effort to nip the tip of the superintendent's finger.

"Would you ever think it?" Mr. Spencer. "Lady fish, lady!"

SHOE TRADE OF CUBA

Shipments by American Manufacturers Have Been Very Large—Have the Increase.

From statistics relating to the boot and shoe trade of Cuba under United States control, shown by the last commercial year of the island for May, published by the bureau of affairs of the war department, appears that for the period were made to the amount of 698 pairs, valued at $6,812,017.

Portions coming chiefly from this country in the ratio of 10 per cent. for the former, against 90 per cent. for the latter, though in comparison by years discloses that under an equitable adjustment of the tariff rate on merchandise of this class, in effect prior to States intervention, American manufacturers of boots and shoes largely increased their trade in Cuba.

In connection with this fact is mentioned that each month of the three months, 1899, 1900 and 1901, the importations of boots and shoes to the island were $680,621, $333,467,778, respectively, considering the excess of the shipments from the customs houses destined for all rope (excepting the United States), the exportation from the island of $285,172 and $400,431 during periods mentioned.

DAINTY WOMEN OF JAPAN

The Picturesque Little Land is a Dainty Nation.

The almond-eyed, dainty little women of Japan are easily satisfied in the matter of food. She begins the day eating when she wakes a couple of green plums pickled in vinegar rolled in sugar. This traditional breakfast of Japan is completed by a cup of tea. The dinner, which is brought on a red lacquer tray, is a droll affair. The viands are in the cups with covers and among them such dainties as a halved sparrow stuffed prawn, a salt sweetmeat, weed with sauce and a sugared dill. After these dishes, which are served "frills," the substantial part of the meal is begun. A wooden bowl, brim with rice plainly boiled in water. From this the flower of Japan fills her bowl—a capacious one—and, having mixed it with a black sauce flavored with fish, she then lifts it to her mouth and crams it down with the aid of chopsticks. Thus ends her dinner.

AUTO CLIMBS A TOWER.

Two Hundred Pound Machine is Copenhagen Performs a Most Remarkable Feat.

A curious performance was lately accomplished by an automobile in Denmark. Copenhagen possesses a circular tower 100 feet in height, which was formerly used for astronomical purposes. Its top is only reached by ascending a spiral passage 12 feet broad which winds between the outer wall of the tower and an inner circular wall. From the base to the top it is entirely without steps, and the gradient is seven inches per ell. An automobile of five-horse power, weighing 200 pounds, and carrying three persons, ascended the tower the other day, taking one minute for the journey, and afterward making the much more dangerous descent with equal success. It is of interest to recall that the Czar Peter the Great, on visiting Copenhagen in 1716, made the same ascent and descent in a carriage drawn by four horses.
