It is surprising how many Tillamookers have been subscribers to the Headlight from the time it was first issued in 1888. L. D. Ackley and D. L. Pike, who are amongst those, were in on Tuesday to renew their subscription for Tillamook's old stand-by newspaper.

Rev. R. Y. Blalock was soliciting subscriptions on Monday in behalf of P. B. C. Lucas, who had his house and furniture burned about five miles from Beaver on Saturday. Mr. Lucas has eight children, and their clothing was also destroyed, the loss altogether amounting to $800.

On the occasion of the recent return of Howard Drew from Marshfield, where he has been during the summer, a surprise party was tendered him at the home of his parents on Monday evening, when about forty of his friends were present. Games, music and general sociability were features of the evening, which included light refreshments.

Married, on Wednesday evening of last week, in the Goodenough building, Portland, Arthur C. Hunt and Miss Eva E. Keys, the Rev. William S. Gilbert officiating. The young couple belong to Tillamook, Arthur being a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hunt. The bride was one of the teachers in the public school of this city last year, and was popular with the young people. Both are highly respected in the county, and we predict that the union will be a happy one.

Orville Biggs died at his home at Hobsonville Thursday and the remains were buried on Sunday. Deceased was an old and respected resident of this Tillamook, and was 77 years of age. He was born in Virginia on the 11th March, 1826, and was married in Ohio in 1859 to Miss Lizzie Phillips, who died about 15 years ago. He served in the war of the rebellion in Company D, 36th Ohio Infantry. He was a member of the Baptist church, and leaves a daughter and three sons to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Maud Stallcop and Mrs. Selma Holden gave a progressive whist party at the home of the former on Friday last, at which about forty guests participated in the games and amusements. Supper was served at the Allen house, which prove one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. Walter Baker won the first prize, who tied with Miss Hope Nolan, and L. B. Zeimer the "booby." Misses Flora Perkins and Amanda Timmerstet and Walter Lynch also won the prizes in several new games. Altogether the party spent a most enjoyable time, reflecting great credit upon Mesdames Stallcop and Holden for the liberal manner in which they entertain the guests.

The lumber schooner Gem, Captain Benson, which is loading at the Tillamook Lumber Co's saw mill in this city, met with a mishap while outside. During the Southwest storm off the coast last week the captain discovered that the schooner would not answer to her helm and that the rudder was disabled. He rigged a jury rudder, and then headed the schooner for Tillamook bar, successfully getting through the breakers and into Tillamook Bay, coming up as far as Elmore's ranch where the vessel was beached and the rudder repaired. It was a close call for the Gem, for she was close in to the shore when the accident was discovered, great credit being due to the Captain for his promptness, especially as he had never been to Tillamook before.

Browning Found Dead.

Sheriff Alderman and Coroner Reynolds returned to the city on Thursday from Blaine, where they had gone to inquire into the death of a man by the name of George E. Browning, whose body was found on Tuesday about ten feet from the Nestucca river. It was at first thought that Browning had been murdered for his money, for when the body was found it was devoid of all clothing with the exception of a pair of gum boots. Browning was about 38 years of age and lived alone on his home-stand on Powder Creek, six miles above Blaine. The last seen of him was about the 10th of the month, and since then the neighborhood has been wondering what had become of him. Some of his cows were found in the barn in a starving condition, and his gun being gone, it caused some suspicion that he had been murdered, so Sheriff Alderman and Coroner Reynolds were sent for when the body was found. It may be that Browning, who was not considered to be exactly right in his head, divested himself of his clothing and committed suicide. It seems, however, that he had a cow stranded on the opposite side of the Nestucca river, but owing to the freshet he could not get her across. Browning had crossed the river on a log and milked the cow and in returning had placed the milk on the bank of the river. In recrossing it is supposed the log gave way or broke, and falling into the river Browning was carried by the swift current down the river and was drowned. His lantern was found about half a mile down the river, and from this it is supposed it must have been after dark when he fell into the river. The body was caught in some brush about a mile and a half down the river, and after the high water had subsided left the body exposed by the side of the river, with no clothes on it, with the exception of gum boots. The river is very rough here and the body went through two barbed wire fences, where it is supposed his clothes were torn off. The body was badly bruised up and in a bad condition when found. It is a little surprising how Browning lost his clothing, whether they were torn off in the river by the current or whether he took them off himself. Previous to going on his homestead, Browning worked for Henry Kunze. He has two brothers in Seattle, who have been notified. Coroner Reynolds held an inquest on the body and the jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

KRIS KRINKLE has made this POPULAR STORE the Distributing Point of his WARES for Tillamook County.

Come and see how well he's prepared for you and see how little teensy weensy the prices are. We will not attempt to describe this mammoth stock of CHRISTMAS GOODS for our pen would fail us. But when we say this is the LARGEST, BEST SELECTED STOCK OF HOLIDAY GOODS ever before displayed in a country town, we do not exaggerate. And we sell CHRISTMAS GOODS at the same small profit that we do all other Goods. At a time when liberality and good cheer so universally prevail, it's assumed by some that nobody cares a fig about value or price. But no greater mistake could be made. Because 'Xmas. gifts are more or less luxuries, is no reason why their purchase should be attended by extortion. Not all who have money to burn love the smell of smoke, and if they did, would that be any warrant for applying the torch. Well, we expect to see you at the SANTA CLAUS STORE. Bring the little "tots," let them to enjoy themselves as never before. And if you are in doubt about our prices being right, fetch your Catalogue to make comparison's.

HE IS STILL ALIVE.

C. Mills, the real estate agent, we learn, is still alive up to going to press, but almost tickled to death to think that he has succeeded in getting so many real snap bargains to sell in the way of second hand buggies, houses and lots and ranches. Why, bless you, he is now able to offer 160 acre ranches from $500 up to $8000, and houses and lots so cheap he even hesitates to describe for fear they may think he is only joking, preferring to take any one free of cost in a good comfortable rig and show his goods. His motto is:

"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

For quick selling C. Mills refers any who may be interested to the following: J. D. Wallace sold his farm, two days time, $2550 00; Zuba Anderson sold her house and lot, one day's time, $1500 00; Lewis Rossett sold his farm, two hour's time, $600 00; he sold the three above all in the same day. Day before yesterday G. O. Nolan put into his hands to sell his two roomed office. In one hour later he had sold the same, cash all down. Would you like to know the secret of the above quick sales? Two words explains it in a nut shell.

Big Bargains.

He have lots of big bargain left. The following are a few among the many: An extra good (either one or two horse) buggy, worth $90.00. Yours for $25.

One eight roomed house, worth $1000. Yours for $215.00.

160 acres of land—if you owned it you probably would want about $2000.00—there is a house and barn, wood shed, chicken house, shop and pig sty all on it, some fruit trees, berries, garden, several acres of grass, quite a lot of wild clover a good portion of the land marshy, good for cranberries or onions. It also takes in a good portion of those bees wax land. Owner lives away off. If sold quick you can have it for $800.

Office, one door East of Headlight Building.

Wood Saw.
