FIGHT ON GAMBLING.

Salem Visited by Anti-Saloon League Representative.

SALEM, Nov. 29.—The city of Salem is about to experience the sensation of an anti-saloon crusade conducted by men who make a business of that kind of work. The anti-saloon movement has no particular connection with the city election, but since the two campaigns will be waged simultaneously it is probable that the saloon and gambling question will enter more or less into the municipal contest.

The anti-saloon movement was inaugurated here a few days ago when Captain L. D. Mahone, a representative of the Anti-Saloon League, appeared in the city and proceeded without any formalities to inform himself upon the conditions which exist in saloon and gambling circles. He declared in addresses made today that Salem is a "wide open," town and promised to do something before he leaves to remedy the undesirable conditions. He did not announce the course he proposes to follow, but gave his hearers to understand that he knows what to do, and is not afraid to do it.

Mayor Bishop was a member of the audience that heard Captain Mahone at the First Presbyterian Church this morning. The Mayor occupied a seat well up front, and in a part of the room toward which the speaker had occasion to shake his finger pretty often, though, perhaps, without knowing that the city's executive sat directly in line with his gesture.

"Salem is a wide-open town," he declared; "as wide open as a town gets to be. The saloons are run wide open all day Sunday and gambling is going on in nearly all of them every day in the week. There are gambling rooms in connection with nearly all your cigar stores. Liquor is being sold to minors—to boys from 12 to 16 years of age, and minors are permitted to frequent these places. I know what I am talking about, for I have been in all these places and have seen the way they are run. I did not go alone, but had two witnesses with me, and I am prepared to prove in the courts the truth of my assertions. I do not make statements that I am not prepared to prove."

Captain Mahone outlined the policy and work of the Anti-Saloon League, told of the success of its efforts thus far, and of the work it expects to accomplish in the future. His plan seems to be not so much to prosecute the saloon-keepers and gamblers, but to go after the municipal authorities and compel them to enforce the laws as they have sworn to do in taking their oaths of office.

"A man has no right to take an office unless he is willing to perform the duties required of him," declared Captain Mahone. "After accepting an office he should either do his duty or resign and let some one else occupy the position. A public office is a public trust, and an officer who betrays his trust by permitting violation of law is twice guilty of crime and should be locked behind prison bars."

These excerpts indicate the general tone of Captain Mahone's remarks. He talked straight from the shoulder, minced no words and gave the audience to understand that he means business. It was a religious gathering so there was no applause, but an approving smile passed over the audience occasionally, and the pastor emphasized the strong points with a fervent "Amen."

RECOVERED HER BOY.

Happy Ending to a Sad Experience of a Too Trustful Girl.

SEATTLE, Nov. 28.—Seven years ago Mrs. Effie Davis, then a young girl fresh from her Iowa home, met and loved Charles Burnaugh at Glenwood Springs, Col. He promised to marry her; she believed him, and for some time they lived together as man and wife. Then a little boy was born and the mother pleaded with the man to make her an honest woman. He refused. Three years ago, while the woman was away from home Burnaugh kidnapped the boy and brought him to the home of his parents, at 2201 North Forty-fifth street, this city. The mother was broken hearted and helpless, for she had no money to follow the man who had wronged her. Last September she married John B. Davis, a railroad man living in Denver, but before the ceremony was performed the woman told him that her child had been stolen and he promised to help her find him. She heard through Burnaugh's brother the first of this month that the boy was in Seattle, and she come after him. The first intimation Burnaugh had that the woman was in the city was when he was served with a writ of habeas corpus and had to produce the boy in court. He thought of fighting the case, but after taking a walk around the court-house decided he would let the mother have the boy, she in return promising not to prosecute him for kidnapping.

Postal Frauds Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—At last the long-looked-for report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General, J. L. Bristow, is given to the public. It is not to be wondered at that politicians throughout the country began to squirm and wriggle when President Roosevelt announced that he had selected Mr. Bristow to make a full and fearless investigation of the frands which have existed in the postoffice at Washington, D. C., since 1893. Neither is it to be wondered at that these same politicians hurried to Washington post haste and begged and supplicated the President in an effort to have him call off this human sleuth-hound.

Mr. Bristow has certainly ploughed deep, and he has unearthed a most astounding state of affairs, and his report "boiled down," as ordered by the President, exposes to the light of day a series of gigantic frauds, collusion and high-handed robbery such as never before existed in any branch of the United States Government. Stripped, as the report is, of any attempt to gloss over any af the gigantic frauds and steals, Mr. Bristow has added zeal to it by timely interjections of slang and pithy comment.

President Roosevelt has stood firmly behind Mr. Bristow, and in closing his long report Mr. Bristow, takes occasion to thank the Nation's Chief Executive for his assistance. All attempts of politicians to get under cover have failed. Beavers and Machen have been handled without gloves. Of Beavers' conduct of the division of salaries and allowance he characterizes it as "reckless and without rule or regularity," and regarding a long series of questionable transactions concerning the purchase of certain automatic cashiers he say:

"Eliminating from consideration all indications of fraud, and passing upon the case wholly as a question of administrative judgment, it appears to me that this transaction would have justified the summary removal from office of First Assistant Postmaster-General Heath and George W. Beavers."

Caught in Typhoon.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 29.—Advices were received from South China by the Athenian of the loss of thousands of lives as a result of the destruction of several hundred fishing junks in a typhoon off Swatow. The havoc was awful when the gale swept down on the Chinese vessels. Masts were broken, rudders carried away, sails ripped and general destruction rife.

For days numbers of disabled junks drifted helplessly about, their occupants suffering greatly from extreme thirst and hunger. The Hong Kong Government tender, Stanley, rescued a number, picked up eight junks and taking 122 men off vessels that were abandoned. The Stanley then turned to the rescue, for the saved fishermen reported that there were 400 junks fishing off Swatow when the typhoon came on November 8. From the Stanley 57 disabled junks were seen showing distress signals. Several junks were towed to Hong Kong and then a third relief cruise made.

Meanwhile three torpedo boat destroyers, the naval water boat Cherub and a Chinese cruiser were sent out and rescued many. Several hundred men were taken from wrecked craft suffering greatly, some being without food or water from two to five days.

Of the 400 fishing junks at least 300 are disabled or sunk, and thousands of lives were lost.

J. H. Burk, whose right name is J. E. Hamlin, pleaded guilty in the Circuit Court to having forged the name of Walter Benards, a Forest Grove farmer, to a note for $300 and attempting to cash it at the Haines' Bank. The incident occurred last Summer and Burk was captured by Cashier Kane and E. W. Haines and turned over to the sheriff. Some time in September Burke made his escape from the county jail and later was caught by Sheriff Biesacker, of Vancouver, who put a shot in Burke's groine before he submitted to capture. Sentence will be pronounced some time this week.
