

IBLERS CONTROL CITY.

by Election for Wide Open and Re-Elect Talmage for Mayor and Clements Marshal.

considerable interest was taken in the election on Monday, which passed quietly and pleasantly, and which ended in a victory for the wide open advocates and the gambling faction.

For some time past a spirit of dissatisfaction has been manifest on account of the city officials allowing wide-open gambling in violation of the city ordinance and the state law, thus privileging gamblers to openly violate the law.

In these days when a single ship carries an immense cargo, and can cross the Atlantic in less than a week, the adoption of a tariff for government revenue only would flood the country with foreign goods made by men who receive but half the wages prevailing in the United States.

American Wages.

In some interesting personal reminiscences of Mr. Blaine, ex-Senator Vest touches incidentally on the services of the Maine statesman to the protective policy, and he recalls a conversation in which Blaine said: "There should be high wages for the workmen, both in factories and on farms, and at the same time the manufacturers should receive sufficient profits on their investments."

It is a fact well worth the special attention of the working class of the United States that the Democratic party has never been in favor of any part of this proposition. No democratic platform has ever proposed even to have protection enough to maintain American wages at the present standard, which is the highest in the world.

Carrie Nation and Dowie.

If no one cared for what happened any more than Carrie Nation and John Alexander Dowie, there would be a great many more "successful" persons on earth, for both of these are a success in the way that they want to be.

Carrie Nation was rolled in the gutter by a saloon keeper's wife in Kansas she arose without a blush, in fact, with a smile, unabashed, not in the slightest ruffled in temper, quite unconscious of how she had looked floundering around on the ground.

Carry nation is enormously funny, but she doesn't know it. Now all other people would retire to an obscure mourning place and become nobody. Here is the point at which they display their lack of genius, being absolutely and utterly guided by the properties in their behavior, they are dead failures.

Looks Out for Oregon.

Representative Hermann, since his return to Congress, has been "joshed" a great deal by men who served with him in Congress before, and one and all take occasion to make some reference to his well-known ability to secure funds for Oregon river and harbor improvements.

At Senator Mitchell's Lewis and Clark dinner a number of references were made to Hermann's art of collecting Federal funds for expenditure at home, and among other who took a turn at him was Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio.

Worship.

Modern worship consists of preaching, praying and singing. The highest art for preaching and praying is Christ, who said: Go thou and preach the kingdom of God, and to enter the closet and pray in secret.
