I have a regular curiosity shop. Revolvers that shoot six ways at once and razors that are sharp enough to shave a lawyer, or cup a disagreeable, or a poor relation. Just put the razor, strop and soap under your head at night and wake in the morning and you are clean shaved. Call on Page.
The steamer Sue H. Elmore had the following passengers on board when she came in on Friday: Rev. J. Looser and wife, C. Schlappi, Jr., and wife, A. Tembler, Mrs. Blake and wife, Mrs. J. Richardson, Mrs. J. S. Sturgeon, I. Paquet, Mrs. A. Campbell, Al. Smith, Mr. Overbaugh, Oak Nolan and R. L. Wade.
Mrs. Mary E. Monroe, who lived alone at Bay City, and whose husband died a few years ago, was found dead at her home on Wednesday morning. When the deceased was found she was in her night dress lying dead on the floor, with the lamp broken and the chairs turned over. It is supposed she must have been taken sick and died suddenly. The remains were buried in the Bay View cemetery on Thursday. She was 68 years of age, and was a woman much esteemed by those who knew her.

It is reported to us that there are two bad boys living on South Prairie who shot one of the dogs belonging to Mr. Squires in his own place, that the same boys are under age and should not be allowed to carry guns anywhere, much less all over the neighborhood. If, as our informant writes us, these boys are a menace to the neighborhood, then the proper thing to do is to swear out a complaint against them.
Although the weather was inclement, a good crowd attended the theatrical performance given by the Grangers at their hall at Fairview. The play of the evening was "The Corner Store," in which the Grange amateurs did justice to the play and their performing caused the audience to be highly pleased with the entertainment. The music furnished by the South Prairie band also brought down the house, and, on the whole, the Grangers are to be congratulated for the good entertainment given by them on Thursday evening.
Surely, if anyone is to be censured, it is the postal authorities or the superintendent, for not ordering all the delayed mail sent in by way of Sheridan. There is no sense in keeping a week's mail bottled up on the other side of the mountain when there is another route open to bring it in, and the matter should be reported to Washington so as to prevent another unnecessary delay and annoyance to the people of Tillamook City. As it was a physical impossibility for the mail carrier to get through over the North Yamhill route, no time should have been lost in sending it in by way of Sheridan. And why mail that should have reached Tillamook City twelve days ago continues to be held up is enough to cause righteous indignation.
Mrs. A. Campbell, of Bay City, an old resident of this county, returned to this city on Saturday from attending the hospital in Portland, where she had been pronounced incurable. She came in on the Sue H. Elmore, and while the steamer was laying at the dock Mrs. Campbell expired. The remains were taken to Bay City for burial, which took place on Monday. Deceased was born in Winchester, Virginia, and married Alex. Campbell, at Alton, Ill., on October 3rd, 1858. She was 62 years of age and has lived at Bay City for 15 years. Besides her husband she leaves five children to mourn their loss. They are Mrs. Schlappi, of Portland; Mrs. Powers, of San Francisco; and John, Bert and William Campbell. The deceased was highly respected and was a member of the Eastern Star Chapter, of Bay City.
The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Queen, from San Francisco to Seattle, caught fire early Monday morning of last week when off Tillamook, and fourteen lives were lost. When the conflagration was first discovered, the life boats, containing the women and children and many men, were launched, but three of these, owing to the heavy seas, were capsized, spilling the passengers in the water and causing the loss of their lives. Three men, waiters on the vessel, were suffocated before they could reach the outer air in safety, and one woman died from exposure. The fire raged for three hours before it was got under, and fourteen lives were lost. A reward of $500 is offered for the recovery of the body of Miss Maude Steiner, one of the victims. She was on board the first boat launched by the captain and lost her life when that boat overturned. She was formerly a resident of Prineville, Or., and was returning to her home in Cle Elum, Wash., after a visit in San Francisco, when the unfortunate fire broke out.

Warning—To Poor Homeless Dogs.
We are a peculiar and inconsistent lot of people in Tillamook City. The city ordinance says the owners of dogs must pay a license, and should some poor little devil of a canine stray into this man's town without a owner and in the hope of picking up a stray bone once in a while, the minion of the law, with shot gun in hand, goes after the brute and fills it with lead. The poor, friendless little animal had no right to be in Tillamook City, so was run down and put to death, and the city council allowed $1 for the lead that plugged it and to give it a decent burial. Here is the question we want to raise: If a lot of gamblers can openly violate the law, why can't a poor little friendless dog enjoy the same privilege? As we have repeatedly said, if one class of persons are allowed to violate certain ordinances, then other persons should be allowed to violate other ordinances, and a poor little hungry dog should enjoy the same right. So under these circumstances, and as long as the people want and vote for a "wide open" town, let it be equally "wide open" for a homeless dog as a lot of gamblers and slot machine agents. But this is not the only peculiarity of the people in Tillamook City, they vote for a "wide open" town and then go down in their jeans to the tune of $540 a year to pay a peace officer to enforce city ordinances—we beg pardon, would it not be more truthful to say, protect gamblers, slot machines and slot machine agents? This is written to warn poor little homeless dogs what to expect if they stray into this special privilege city.

Tragedy Averted.
"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played and havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by Chas. I. Clough, Druggist. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly trying to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Salem Will Be a Closed Town.
SALEM, Or., March 3.—As a result of the action taken by the City Council at its meeting on Tuesday evening, in passing an ordinance defining the duties of the City Marshal and adopting a resolution which carried with it definite instructions to that officer, Chief D. W. Gibson, last evening took the initial step toward the enforcement of all city ordinances, and Salem is now strictly a "closed town." As ordered by the Council, City Recorder N. J. Judah yesterday afternoon delivered a communication to the chief, the text of which was as follows:
"Under instruction of the Common Council of the City of Salem, Or., I beg to notify you that an ordinance has been adopted and passed, making it the duty of the Marshal to enforce the ordinance of the city, and that as soon as this ordinance is approved by the Mayor and becomes a law the Marshal will be expected to perform his duties in the manner prescribed by law and the ordinances of the city; and that said ordinance has been duly approved by the Mayor of the said City of Salem and is now in force. Done by order of the Common Council of Salem, Or."
Chief Gibson was satisfied with the instructions, as he had at all times signified his willingness to perform his duty as an officer, providing he received official assurance that the Council would back him up if he properly enforced the city's ordinances, and it did not take him long to make up his mind how to proceed.
Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening he made a tour of the city, closed up all gambling games and served notice on the proprietors that the city ordinances must be obeyed in the future. He also notified the saloonkeepers that hereafter their places of business must be closed promptly at 12 o'clock on Saturday nights, and must remain closed until 12 o'clock the following night, and that no dice, card or other games shall be carried on in the saloons at any time. He served a similar notice on all cigar and tobacco dealers in the city with reference to games.

Kill His Father.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—An inquest into the case of Joseph Buttenbach, the millionaire porkpacker, who was shot dead in his office on Third street, shows that the deceased had been shot through the top of the head the ball ranging downward and lodging at the base of the skull at the back, indicating, the surgeon thinks, that he was seated in a chair when some one in a standing position puz a pistol to his head and fired. The importance of this revelation is that it conflicts with the story told by his son Albert, who said that his father had been shot while struggling with a foot-pad.
Albert Buttenbach and the bookkeeper, Louis Brune, are held under suspicion. Evidence is at hand that Albert Buttenbach was indignant because his father paid him only $12 a week and that he had many violent quarrels with his parent.
"Resolved, That it is the sense of this body that no minister of the gospel should marry persons who have been divorced for other causes than desertion or adultery." Thus did the Portland Ministerial Association go on record at its meeting Monday morning. After an exceedingly animated, not to say heated, debate. The adoption of the resolution was not unanimous; in fact some members of the association expressed views directly opposed to those set forth in the report. But the Association as an organization is on record as setting up ministers of the gospel as judges of the fitness or unfitness of divorced persons to remarry.

SHELL THE CITY.
Japanese Bombard Vladivostok.
VLADIVOSTOK, March 6.—A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off this place at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon and bombarded the town batteries for 55 minutes.
The fleet approached from the direction of Askold Island, at the east entrance to Ussuri Bay, and about 32 miles south-east of Vladivostok. Entering Ussuri Bay, the enemy formed a line of battle, but did not approach to a closer range than a mile and one-third. They directed their fire against the shore batteries and the town, but no damage resulted, as most of their 200 lyddite shells failed to burst.
The Japanese fire ceased at 2:20 P. M., and the enemy retired in the direction of Askold Island. Simultaneously two torpedo-boat destroyers appeared near Askold Island and two more near Cape Maidel. The Japanese ships were covered with ice.
The attack resulted in no loss to the Russians, but cost the Japanese 200,000 rubles ($100,000) in ammunition. Most of the projectiles were six and 12-inch shells.
The population of Vladivostok was warned this morning of the presence on the horizon of a hostile fleet and the prospect of attack during the day, but it remained tranquil.

JAPANESE IN WAITING.
When Russian Squadron Attempts to Return, Battle is Probable.
ST. PETERSBURG, March 8.—The whereabouts of Captain Reitzenstein's Vladivostok squadron is carefully guarded by the military authorities, but there is a strong impression here that when the seven Japanese warships appeared off the harbor Sunday and yesterday the Russian Squadron was outside, perhaps down the coast, operating with the Russian land force near the mouth of the Tumen River. If the Russians were outside and the Japanese definitely ascertained that fact, a big sea fight is probable imminent, as it is considered certain that the Japanese in that case will lie on and off Vladivostok to prevent the return of the Russians, giving battle if they are caught in the open sea.
All the harbors along the coast in which the Russians might seek refuge are frozen over and the squadron must eventually be forced to return to Vladivostok for coal.
All hold the Japanese squadron is superior in number and guns, consisting of a battleship and four armored cruisers, two of which are believed to be the Idzumi and the Yakumo and two unarmored cruisers.
The four armored cruisers under Captain Reitzenstein, the Rossia, Gromohoi, Rurik and Bogatyr, are among the finest vessels in the Russian navy, consisting as sister ships a homogeneous fighting unit, and experts here are not certain that they could not take the measure of Rear-Admiral Urii's ships.
The landing of Japanese troops continues near Won San (Gen San) Korea. Most of the forces are proceeding to Ping Yang. It is expected that the Japanese will take the offensive as soon as they have concentrated their troops. The Russian tactics will be strictly defensive for some time. The Amur and other streams will soon be used, as soon as they are free of ice, for carrying military supplies.
A naval-service organ here argues lengthily that the present Japanese naval disposition presages a movement on a large scale in the sea of Japan, and the paper accounts for all the Japanese ships the Yashima and the armored cruiser Tokiwa, and the first-class protected cruiser and five second-class, reckoning the battleships Fuji and Shikishima and armored cruisers Iwate and Asama and the protected cruiser Takashio as being injured.

Notice.
I desire to give notice that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Mrs. Ella Osburn, after this date.
Tillamook, Ore, Feb. 18, 1904.
OLLIE OSBURN.

Daniel Cushing, brother of E. B. Cushing, of the Southern Pacific Company, was taken from the station-house at Del Rio, Tex., by a party of men. A notice on the door in Cushing's handwriting said that he had been taken away, and would be held for a ransom of $10,000. E. B. Cushing has received a message from Del Rio saying that his brother had returned to a section-house near that point in a dazed condition, and that he would be taken to Del Rio on a special train. He said that after he had been with the men all night he was released early the following morning and told how to make his way back to Del Rio. E. B. Cushing has no for the scene. The Texas Rangers have been notified to help Mr. Cushing.
