About 50 timber claims in this county, which have been held up since December, 1902, by the Oregon City land office, pending the action of the special agent, are now being passed upon and the entry men are now receiving notice to send the money for the claims.

The weather the first part of the week was decidedly of a wintery character, with a number of hail storms that covered up the ground. This is somewhat unusual for Tillamook at this time of the year, but Old Sol soon played havoc with it. If Captain Dawson would switch the weather round some, how pleased we all would be.

For a Water Commission.

At the regular meeting the city council on Monday evening, a vote was taken to turn over the matter of a new water system to a commission, which carried, a petition to that effect being presented at the previous meeting of the city council. The matter came up in the form of a resolution, Councilman W. O. Chase, A. T. White and G. Munson voting for it and Councilmen C. E. Reynolds and W. H. Cary against. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas, the Mayor of Tillamook City, Oregon, in his annual message to the Common Council of said city has called attention to the pressing need of a water commission; and

Whereas, the people of Tillamook City have declared their wish for the appointment of a water commission by petition to the Mayor and Common Council; and

Whereas, the majority of the Common Council are also in favor of the appointment of a water commission; and

Whereas, the present council will be in power only until January 1st, 1905, and it is deemed desirable and necessary that the work of erecting and completing of a water system once started should be carried to a successful completion;

Therefore, be it resolved that we, the common council do hereby appoint the following named citizens and taxpayers of Tillamook City, Oregon, to become the members of the aforesaid water commission as follows: Clark Hadley, Morris Leach, Geo. Cohn, Geo. Edmunds, F. S. Whitehouse, B. L. Eddy, M. W. Harrison, C. I. Clough, Claude Thayer, Carl Patzloff, F. R. Beals and Homer Mason, and to relegate to said water commission power to have charge of all matters pertaining to the location, kind, erection and maintaining of a water system in and for the city of Tillamook City and the issuance of bonds to carry out such plans, as may be promulgated by said water commission; and be it further

Resolved, that the Mayor and Common Council take such steps as necessary to make said water commission a permanent body, to have full charge and control of all matters pertaining to said water system proposed to be installed.

The Successful Kicker.

There is no better way to judge the character of a man than by the way he kicks. In every business of any magnitude, where the work must be done by many hands, some errors will occur. And in rectifying these errors there is an excellent opportunity to get a few glimpses at human nature. The narrow-minded man always kicks as if the mistake in his case had been made intentionally, with the object of cheating him or discriminating against him. He often makes foolish threats, indulges in some unnecessary talk about honesty, etc. The broad man treats a mistake as a mistake and politely asks that it be corrected. It is not necessary to say that if anybody has to wait awhile for a correction it is not this man. His politeness and good nature are appreciated and his affairs are nearly always made satisfactory without any trouble. It should be understood by all that reputable business houses are more anxious than their patrons are to avoid mistakes. They use every possible means to prevent them. It takes time and work to straighten them out; and besides it is the policy of every good business man to please his patrons. If there is any moral to all this it is: Deal with good business men; and when anything goes wrong kick like a gentleman.—National Stockman.

TRADING IN FURS TO-DAY.

Some Interesting Particulars of the Business in the Hudson Bay Country.

First of all, when an Indian arrives to trade at a Hudson Bay post, then, furs in the pack must be sorted, silver f.x worth $500 separated from cross fox and blue and white worth from ten dollars down, according to quality, and from common red fox, worth less. Twenty years ago, says an article on Hudson Bay company, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, it was no unusual thing for the Hudson Bay company to send to England yearly 10,000 cross fox skins, 7,000 blue, 100,000 red, half a dozen silver. Few wolf skins are in the trapper's pack, unless particularly fine specimens of brown arctic and white arctic, bought as a curiosity, and not for value as skins. Against the wolf the trapper wages war as against a pest that destroys other game, and not for its skin. Next to muskrat, the most plentiful fur will be that of the rabbit or varying hare. Buffalo was once the staple of the hunter. What the buffalo was, the white rabbit is to-day. From it the Indian gets clothing, tepee covers, blankets, things, food. From it, the white man who is a manufacturer of furs gets gray fox and chinchilla, and seal in imitation. Except one year in seven, when a rabbit plague spares the land by cutting down their prolific numbers, the varying hare is plentiful enough to sustain the Indian.

MEMORIAL BELL FOR AUTHOR.

Maine Pastor Who Wrote Memorable Lines Remembered in a Unique Manner.

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die," said the poet most truly. It is an immortality which comes in larger measure to but a chosen few. One of these lives in the heart of every school boy who has declaimed from the rostrum on Friday afternoon the stirring words of "Spartacus."

He may not know whose brain fathered the lines he is making embryonic oratory out of, but the author lives on, nevertheless. The late Rev. Elijah Kellogg, for 50 years pastor of the Congregational church in Hallowell, Me., was the writer of those oft spoken verses, says the New York Herald.

In recognition of his writings, as well as his long pastorate, a memorial bell to his memory has been recently hung in the belfry of the house of worship whose pulpit he filled so long with his kindly presence. His ministry extended over a wide field in the pastorate along the shore of Casco Bay, and many out on the deep, as well as those safe in the harbor of refuge, will hear the far sounding deep tones of the new bell and glow with remembrance of a good man gone to a well-earned rest from his labors.

COSTLIEST DRINK ON RECORD.

One That Queen Victoria Took When She Conferred the Title of Duke on the Earl of Fife.

What is probably the costliest drink on record, cost its recipient $1,750, says the Philadelphia Press.

When the earl of Fife—as he was then—became the husband of Princess Louise of Wales, Queen Victoria, at the wedding breakfast which followed the happy ceremony, drank to the "health of the duke of Fife."

The drink cost the semi-royal bridegroom the amount of his letters patent confirming the dukedom.

Letters patent accompany the conferring of a title on an individual.

They take the form of a royal mandamus, and the issuing of the documents is a costly matter, which has to be borne by the ennobled; $500 is practically the amount of the fee a new knight has to pay for the letters patent conveying the royal authority. A baronet's liabilities are about the same.

When a "Mr." or "Sir" is advised of the royal intention to elevate either to the dignity of baron, the letters patent conveying the royal authority carries with it a fee of $750; of a viscount, $1,000, an earl, $1,250, a marquess, $1,500 and a duke, $1,750.

The New Field Gun.

It has been decided by Secretary Root that the new field gun to be supplied to the artillery of the army will be a combination of the best points of the field guns designed by Herr Erhardt, the German expert, and Capt. Wheeler, of the ordnance department. The chief feature of the Erhardt gun which will be incorporated in the new gun to be manufactured is the breech mechanism. The chief distinguishing characteristic of the new gun from the old is the three foot long recoil. This prevents the kicking of the gun carriage from its original position when the gun is fired.

A Trick of Sailors.

Sailors have a very simple, and what is said to be a very effective way of determining the edible or nonedible qualities of any new varieties of fish they may happen to run across. In the water in which the fish is boiled is placed a bright silver coin. If the coin retains its natural color during the boiling process the fish is good to eat. But if it turns dark, the food is rejected.

Scotland's Wedding Day.

A favorite wedding day in Scotland is December 1, so that the young couple can leave their old life with the old year and begin their married life with the new one.

Jews at Brooklyn Bridge.

Twenty thousand Jews visited the Brooklyn bridge recently, where, Testament in hand, they prayed over the water that their sins be forgiven.

REAL ESTATE.

MILLS & RICHARDSON—Bargains. 130 acres, good Four Roomed House, barn, henery, orchard, garden and house. Lots neatly fenced, four acres meadow, 15 acres cleared and fenced in grass, 50 acres more or almost cleared and in pasture. Fine out range; can drive to it with buggy. Settled all around. Owner removed, a snap, $700. Creek runs through it. Four or five hundred dollars worth of chittim bark on this claim.

120 Acres, 100 level, mostly good bottom. All good land. Small house, good sized barn, fine orchard, no long narrow strip, but in square body, 65 acres cleared. Well kept 20 cows. If sold at once $2000. $1000 cash, balance in one or two years. This ranch is only six miles out, only offered this week at above price. Be quick.

160 Acres. — Price $1600. Schoolhouse on land. Good comfortable house, four rooms, good barn, orchard, 15 acres sowed in oats, 40 to 50 acres cleared on the main road in county. An ideal home. $1600. Better look this up.

One eight Roomed House and five lots, dead town, but commencing to boom now. Quick if you want it. Title perfect.

We have town lots—Blocks, businesses, rental properties, houses and lots ranging from $235. Three roomed, up to the most palatial residence. Ranches from four acres up to 950 acres. Town sites. Also would be pleased to correspond with any outside parties getting up colony. Just at present this county has no railroad, but are coming, and don't you forget it. Eight foot coal vein just discovered—also coal in other parts of the county known a long time; also our immense timber, universally acknowledged the best dairy county in the state. Rivers streaming with the finest of fish. Needs no irrigation. Grass green the year around. No healthier place to be found. Ice cold springs bursting from every hill side and mountain slope. Willamette people drive over every summer to get a good drink. With the Pacific ocean to ship our produce to the markets of the world. Do we really need railroads is a question? Steamers twice a week, weather permitting, via Astoria.
