

How About It?

About three years ago a company was organized in Astoria for the purpose of purchasing coal lands in the Nehalem and developing the same. About $75,000 in stock was paid for in cash. Of this amount it is claimed that only about $12,000 was used in buying land. What the stockholders would like to know is, what has become of the remainder of the money. The coal mines have not been developed, no machinery purchased, no directors' meeting held, and the stockholders are becoming anxious. They insist that a meeting of the stockholders be called and that an explanation from the officers of the company be made so that the stockholders who have put their good, solid cash into the enterprise, will know if it is a bunco game, or if they are still owners of the stock and have any interest in the mine. Up to the hour of going to press the officers have failed to throw any light on the subject and the stockholders threatened to make it tropical for someone. Perhaps it is like a number of other stock companies organized in Astoria where the promoter swipes the swag and the sucker has a certificate of stock to remind him that he has been played for a sucker.—Astoria Herald.

Should Have Cheese Graded.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. DEAR SIR.—In regard to an article by Mr. J. W. Bailey in your last issue, I consider that he is quite correct, but at the same time there are other causes that have as much to do with the influx of Eastern cheese, and I claim that the principle one is different qualities of cheese that are shipped as the one grade. Now, I have tasted as good a quality of cheese in Tillamook as could be made in any country, and I have also tasted some that was not so good. Now that is the kind that is bringing this invasion from the East upon us and causing their cheese to sell at a price away above ours. I do not know if it can be done, but if so, I would favor a law making it compulsory that all cheese made in Tillamook be graded by an expert before it could be shipped. I would like to hear some one else give their opinions on this subject and also if such a law could be made. Yours truly, JACK JENNINGS.

Ventilating Cow Stable.

The ventilation of the stable is quite simple when we understand what it really is and what methods are necessary. The air we want to remove from the stable is not the warm, dry air from overhead, but the damp, breathy air, and possibly heavy gas that lies near the floor. A cow, it has been found, will throw off in her breath and the evaporation of the skin alone, not to mention other sources, full seven pounds of water in twenty-four hours, and this multiplied by the heard amounts to a fair rainfall, and tells the story of damp even wet stables, if close, and why the unexplained chill in the stable air. If there can be a gradual removal of the air in a stable to the amount of about four times that actually used by the cow, and fresh air substituted, we have made the cow warm, the stable ventilated, and still suffer no loss of heat. As a cow actually needs about 500 cubic feet of air, and space in which to stand, a little figuring shows that a shaft with a fair "pull" will carry out not far from 25,000 cubic feet of air in twenty-four hours, if it has the capacity of fourteen inches square inside measurement, and about forty feet in height, and such an air shaft for each twelve cows. This shaft should be made of lumber well jointed, and should have no bends, or angles, if possible to avoid; as such are detrimental to good draught. This air shaft should come to the floor of the stable, and the air admitted into it from a door at the side reaching the floor rather than at the bottom, and this door should be about ten inches wide, by twenty high, and made to close if needed. This shaft should go to the height (or above) of the ridge of the barn and have a weather cap over it, but not close enough to choke in any way. If the stable is well ceiled, there will be a strong current of air going up through it, all the time, and will take out the moisture of the stable as fast as thrown off, and before it has a chance to condense and frost along walls and ceiling. The intake should not be to exceed half of the capacity of the shaft. The air should be taken from near the ground on the outside, and piped into the top of the stable at the corners where it will be diffused with the warm air and there will be no suspicion of draughts of cold air. The temperature will be pretty nearly maintained if the doors are kept closed.—National Stockman.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown, of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c., and $1.00. Guaranteed by I. Clough, Druggist. Trial bottles free.

BLAINE.

Vote her straight. Stand by the republican ticket, boys. The sun shines bright at Blaine. J. H. Woods made a business trip to Beaver Monday. Without self sacrifice, true friendship cannot exist. The dog stops, as usual, and Hare run home on the first ballot. When Prof. W. W. made his appearance, the convention fairly went Wiley. Henry Thun went to Sheridan this week on horse back, going out over the Nestucca trail. He reported no snow. Bury all personal difference; get in line and help to elect the republican ticket; be a booster and not a knocker. F. R. Beals, W. Rush and F. L. Spapington tarried at the Houser house during the noon hour Tuesday. Dee Jones went out over the Nestucca trail to visit his girl at Sheridan and also to transact business. Stanley is a dead shot and a hard hitter at long range. We will be good, Stanley, and vote her straight. There was a special meeting called by the officers of the Blaine Claitt Bark Association last Saturday evening. After transacting some important business the meeting adjourned to meet the last Saturday of this month at 1.30 p. m. We are enjoying the finest kind of weather at present. Everybody is making garden. The hens are cackling, the ducks a quacking, the flowers a blooming, the birds a singing, the bees a working and the cattle has left their hay and taken to the woods. J. J. Houser went East, Charley Ray went South, and the nomination went West. So be it, W. T., here's my hand, my vote and my support until the sun goes down on election day. John Sales returned Tuesday from Portland, coming in over the Nestucca trail. He reports quite a stir in and around the big city. All the trains coming in from the east are loaded with home seekers. Dave Martin and John Alexander came in from Sheridan last week and have taken charge of M. Cady's ranch and cows for the season. They are now delivering milk at the Moon factory, which is running at full blast. The Welch Bros., of the High Peak ranch, are making many changes and improvements on their place. They have just got through putting in a large field of oats. They have built quite an addition to their house and are now bridging East Creek at their place. Francis Welch has taken up a homestead joining there, deeded land, which now makes them 320 acres in a body. The Welch Bros. are a credit to the Blaine district, if they are democrats.

NETARTS.

Frank Easter, the Tillamook liveryman, drove over to Netarts last Sunday. Miss Grace Spaulding, of Tillamook, is teaching the Netarts school, commencing on the 11th. Miss Pearl Farmer came home from Tillamook on Sunday, where she has been attending school the past winter. Miss Ruth Easter, of Tillamook, is attending the school at Netarts this summer. Mr. C. B. Wiley commenced operating his cheese factory the first of the week. Geo. and M. Hodgdon went to Tillamook, Monday, on business. Elmer Hall will move to Pleasant Valley one day this week, having rented the John Theiler place.

NEHALEM.

Miss. Vida Lewis closed a six months' term of school in the Onion Peak district Friday with appropriate exercises. The church was crowded Sunday to listen to the Easter exercises tendered by the Sunday School. Matt Morrison has a crew of men at work on the road near the cheese factory. Rev. W. J. Rohmer is raising money to build a Lutheran church. Rob Crawford and Dan Handy fell overboard while crossing the north fork Monday. They learned by experience that canned pairs sink, that rolled butter swims and the water is very cold. T. J. Balentine and Emil Larsen went to Tillamook Friday with the delegates and took out their intention papers. S. Lundburg made a business trip to Portland and Oregon City last week. O. A. Lommen and family, of Eugene, arrived on the Elmore by Garibaldi Saturday and went on their place, formerly owned by P. D. Newell. Johanna Long and Alvina Tohl arrived home Saturday. The fierce wind and rain storm on the 5th kept your correspondent away from the postoffice, hence news is a little old. The Vosburg came in Wednesday with freight for our merchants and took out four hundred cases of cheese for the Nehalem Dairy Association. Miss Lewis and H. V. Alley were passengers out on the Vosburg, the former to her home in Sellwood, the latter to negotiate a sale for cheese. We learn that Mrs. Ellen Melson died March 26th at her home in Portland. Mrs. Melson was one of the early settlers of Nehalem, having resided here until about seven years ago, she was 82 years of age. Elsie Scovell is laid up with a fierce attack of ear ache. The democratic primary elected these delegates to the county convention: S. Lundburg, Wm. Smith, M. Morrison, E. K. and W. K. Scovell. The schooner Gerald C. came in last week and took out a load of canned salmon on Saturday. John Mansinger is in from Clatskanie to make improvements on his homestead.

BEAVER.

Ninety in the shade. Pretty good for April. Mc's. factory commenced running Monday morning and is running wet. A. W. Bunn is doing some improvements on the road between his place and town. The hall given at Bixby's hall on Friday night was well attended, and everybody reported a splendid time, except a few of the boys who ate too much of the sumptuous supper which was served at the cafe by the old maids of the town. Carrie and Harold Wells, of Ocean Park, were visiting friends at Beaver last week. Eva Bunn has returned from a business trip to Tillamook. Leap year. See! Lena Bunn is visiting friends at Ocean Park. Quite a number were out to hear the special sermon by Rev. Smith Sunday. Quite an enjoyable time was had. Mr. Hiner and family visited Mr. Bunn's Sunday. Albert Kinnaman, of Spruce, visited at the Parson's Sunday. Two of the Beaver citizens began peeling chittim last week, several tons of the precious bark being ready for market now. Mrs. Bunn visited Mrs. Tucker on Monday last. As Ame Kirk failed to get the nomination for Justice of the Peace, he is thinking some of running for President in the fall, and if he does he will sure give Teddy a warm race. Oran Wallace is working for A. U. Bunn for a few days. Bob Richards, of Blaine, was seen on the streets Sunday. Owing to the good weather of the last few days everybody is busy and there hasn't been much visiting. Therefore items are scarce. Mr. Bixby has gone home and he took out two passengers, Mrs. East, of Beaver, and Mr. Baker, of Blaine. The infant of Mr. and Mrs. Coulson was buried Saturday. Miss Lena Bunn is visiting Miss Wells, of Woods. Mr. Potter, the mail carrier, is on the sick list. Mr. McIntire is the cheesemaker at McIntosh's factory. Miss Eva Bunn returned from the city last week, where she had been for some time. Mr. Brown and wife were visiting at the home of Mr. Hyatt last Sunday. Mrs. Hyatt and daughter Frankie were visiting Mrs. West Monday.

BOULDER CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Kinnaman Sundayed at the home of H. L. Jensen. Dave Hess and one Borba took a load of fresh meat to Tillamook last week. Elder R. Y. Blalock and family visited at C. A. Smith's last Sunday. H. A. Chopard went to Beaver the first of the week. Our school is flourishing under the rule of Mr. Borsemann, of Monmouth. R. M. Dingess returned from Dolph Saturday with a small bunch of cows. Mrs. Grace Chopard and son Norman visited friends on Bay's creek a few days last week. Some of our fellow townsmen attended the bark meeting at Blaine last Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Kinnaman went down the river Monday. The snow is going out of the mountains under the hot sun, and is causing the river to rise.

Now for the Canal.

The French court has decided that Colombia has lost all sovereignty over the property of the Panama canal company and consequently has forfeited all right to oppose the transfer of the company's concession. This ends the case, so far as regards France's possible connection with it. Colombia, as a last desperate attempt to block the way of the United States toward getting possession of the canal company's property, appealed to the French court to stop the transfer. The court's answer has now been given, and it is against: the contention of the Bogota authorities. Thus the last legal obstacle in the way of the handing over of the canal company's property to the United States has been removed. The United States, through its representatives, who have just arrived in Paris, will promptly get possession of the property, and the actual work of construction can soon begin. The American interests which have been opposed to a canal at any point on the isthmus are still at work on this end of the line attempting to throw obstructions in the way of the building of the canal, but all will fail. Colombia, of course, is out of court altogether now. The same thing is true of the transcontinental railway people who are trying to delay construction. Senator Kittredge, of South Dakota, has just introduced a revised bill for the government of the canal zone, which will be passed before Congress adjourns. This is well. The practical task of controlling the territory through which the waterway is to run, which territory has been ceded to the United States, must now be attended to. This is one of the most important pieces of legislation which is before Congress. The bill provides that the laws of the republic of Panama which were in force on February 28, 1904, so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of the measure, will continue in force until repealed by Congress. The canal commission is to be the governing body in the United States' territory on the isthmus, and the commission is already on the ground. The country looks to Congress to pass a well-considered measure for the government of the canal zone, and wants this enacted at the earliest practicable hour.
