Apart from being shaken up a little, the passengers were not hurt and proceeded on their journey next morning.
Mr. H. F. Young tried the new method of curing milk fever upon one of his cows this week and it proved a great success. The method is to milk the cow dry and then pump the udder full of air, leaving it there for eight hours. He used a bicycle pump and a glass tube to inject the air. He says in thirty minutes the cow was relieved and ready to eat. He had another bad case on Wednesday, which came out with the same results.

Do not forget the commencement at St. Alphonsus Academy next week, which takes place on Friday evening. These entertainments are always attractive and enjoyable, and the preparations that are being made for this commencement, we understand, are such that will insure a most pleasant evening's enjoyment and will reflect great credit on that institution and the Sisters.
Do you know about Jersey cattle? We offer a few choice bred yearling bulls from our famous Hazel Fern Jersey Herd, at specially reduced prices, to makeroom for next crop of youngsters. We will give you valuable pointers on Jersey stock. Better write us today on prices on bulls, and state the kind of animal you desire. Address F. E. McEldowney, Superintendent Ladd's Farm, 1260 Milwaukee ave., Portland, Ore.
The vote on the local option amendment was 566 for and 330 against in Tillamook, and the largeness of the majority is a great surprise to us, for we did not think it would carry on account of the conservatism of the people in previous elections where amendments to the constitution were submitted to a popular vote. We suppose, now that the prohibitionists have carried their point, the first opportunity will be seized upon to measure forces.
The steamer Sue H. Elmore left this city on Saturday with 700 cases of cheese and the following passengers: A. R. Gangloff, S. D. Vincent, W. R. Hollister, J. C. Specht, Miss A. Wallace, C. R. Cameron, P. Becker, Miss Bessie Hunt, Mrs. K. Edwards, J. C. Durawd, C. Morton, H. M. Wamzer, Miss Sadie Watt, Miss Florence Hudson, Miss A. Pickel, Miss Wagner, S. M. Batterson, Wm. Batterson, Mrs. Kimball, Miss Witherell, C. Gatlaiff, Messrs. Gambill, Vosburgh and Erickson.
The HEADLIGHT on Wednesday passed another mile stone with XVII. on it, for the first newspaper published in Tillamook was on the 8th June, 1888, and a number of our citizens have never missed a copy. During all these years the HEADLIGHT has persistently advocated what it thought best for the interest of the county. In doing so it has often antagonized popular opinion and often quite a sentiment has been created against it on account of its outspokenness. It has erred in judgment at times—who hasn't?—and yet for all that no one has been more true and loyal to Tillamook than the HEADLIGHT. And it is just as enthusiastic and ready to do yeoman service for the county as in previous years.
The commencement exercises of the public school at the opera house on Friday drew a large crowd. The program, which we published last week, was nicely carried out and those who took part in it deserves great credit. The graduates from the high school senior class were Mary White, Frankie Drew, Herbert Cooper, Edward Weston and George Eichinger. Owing to the sickness of Miss Drew, she was unable to take part. The eighth grade pupils who received diplomas were Helen Hayes, Bethel Todd, Carry Hathaway, Jessie Daniel, Elizabeth Gohar, Jeans Pierre Peters and Paul Hanson. Mr. B. L. Eddy made an excellent address and then presented the diplomas. The Tillamook brass band played several pieces previous to the commencement of the exercises.

TILLAMOOK UNGRATEFUL.

In a Fit of Fanatism Turns Down Her Favored Son and Gives the County a Back Set.

The defeat of Mr. Eddy is a more serious injury upon Tillamook county than most people imagine. It is a well known fact that while Mr. Eddy was joint representative his aim was to get a political pull with the Oregon delegation in behalf of Tillamook, and he succeeded to a large extent. By the citizens turning him down it has practically severed that pull he worked so hard to gain for the county, thus pitching overboard the interests of the county so as to satisfy the spleen of a few of his political and personal enemies. They have gained their point, but mark what we say, it is one of the most serious setbacks that the county could have experienced, as the citizens of this county will realize when it needs a friend who has some influence and pull when the proper time arrives to set aside the engineer's report and secure an appropriation for the improvement of Tillamook bar. It is too late to change the result now. The people of Tillamook county have made a number of political mistakes in the heat of a campaign, but they never made a graver and more serious blunder than they committed on Monday when they failed to give Mr. Eddy a rousing majority, for of all our public men in this county there is not one who distinguished himself as he has that can step into his place and have the political influence that he wielded. That was all cut out this week when the voters thoughtlessly voted against the interest of the county to satisfy the fanaticism and whims of those who are altogether too ready to tear down but never build up a community. We must admit that the feelings and the prejudices of a number of voters must have been most cunningly worked upon by those who circulated false reports. The mischief is now done, so let the blame fall upon those who are responsible for bringing about such results, and which are of a damaging character to the best interests of the county. There is not a man in the county to step into Mr. Eddy's place, and even if there were it would take him years to obtain the same amount of influence that he possessed with the republican administration. This article is not written to scold the voters for what they have done, but to appeal to their better judgment and intelligence now that the excitement of the election is over, and to ask them this straight forward question: "Did the voters act wisely or unwisely, when the interest of the county is taken into consideration, in turning down Mr. Eddy?" In the judgment of the HEADLIGHT it is our conviction that Mr. Eddy was justly entitled to the same majority that Congressman Hermann received, so without mincing words we only express the sentiment of some of our best citizens when we say that Tillamook people were exceedingly ungrateful to Mr. Eddy for his efforts in behalf of the county and for bringing it into such prominence, which we believe, they will regret doing before very long; in fact, it is dawning upon the voters quite rapidly that they have been ungrateful to Mr. Eddy, and have placed the county in a wrong light. Judge Galloway is a nice gentleman and a "good fellow." Has he done anything for Tillamook? Can he do anything for Tillamook? He has done nothing for the county nor will he be able to on account of being opposed to the republican administration. So where has Tillamook gained anything? Another thing, in turning Mr. Eddy down, the voters have shown that, no matter how hard a man may work for the interest of the county, they do not appreciate it. Even from this standpoint, it is discouraging to others to try and do anything when a large number of voters fall in line with the whiskey ring to down one of our best citizens. There is no just reason for the voters to have acted so indiscreetly, but with some, who care not one iota about the interests of the county, it was pure cussedness which made them fight Mr. Eddy and circulate so much falsehood. We are sorry to see Tillamook county drifting back to whiskey ring politics, for it is rule or ruin with it, as can be plainly seen in the recent election. The vote is no reflection upon Mr. Eddy. He stands head and shoulders above his traducers for ability, honesty and integrity, for he is one of the most upright and conscientious citizens in Tillamook county and was eminently fitted for the position for which he was nominated by the republican state convention. If the people had enhanced their own interest, and that of the county, there would be some excuse. The reverse is the case, for they have not only done Mr. Eddy an injustice, but they have done themselves and the county an injustice as well. It will be a long time before Tillamook will attain the prominence and recognition that Mr. Eddy brought it into. The voters on Monday, not recognizing the importance of all this, have swept it aside as if it amounted to nothing, and turned down their own county to satisfy the spleen of a few of Mr. Eddy's political enemies and those who form the whiskey ring and the political turncoats. wonder, on sober reflection, that some of those who were instrumental in bringing this unsatisfactory state of affairs about are beginning to see what an injury they have done the county, and how they were imposed upon by false and scandalous reports. No one has been more loyal to Tillamook county and the republican party than Mr. Eddy, but do not suppose for one moment that this will check his professional and political career. His staunch friends will remain true to him, and it will not be long before he will come into prominence again, for those who are trying to do him down have a big job on their hands.
Touching upon the whims of the voter the Oregonian pointedly remarks:
"The extent to which fanaticism rules the masses is enough sometimes to make one sick of popular government. This curious streak of fanaticism in the body politic is one of the things that make politics so fascinating an object of study and field of action; but it is also the reason why good government is so hard to realize. To get good men and fit into office it is not requisite to nominate good men and fit for office. It is necessary to discover or manufacture some popular fancy of the passing moment and cunningly play to take advantage of it. The recklessness with which voters subordinate their judgment to their feelings is the bad man's opportunity and the honest man's despair."

Fought the Wrong Party.

While the saloon people were fighting the republican party in this county last Monday, by the look of the vote on local option the people were preparing to give the saloon people a real scare. As the saloon element have seen fit to oppose republican candidates in recent years for the purpose of defeating the party, it is not unreasonable to expect that a large number of republicans, who may not be in favor of it, will retaliate when it comes to taking a vote on local option, and although the saloon people may be in high glee that they helped to defeat some of the republican candidates, they probably will wake up to the fact before long that a large number of republicans, who would never have voted for prohibition under ordinary circumstances, will be glad of the opportunity to do so since the saloon people have taken to defeat republican candidates. The republicans kept their hands off and did not make the local option law a party issue, but as it carried it places a good weapon in the hands of the people to retaliate where the saloons array themselves against a political party. We are not very much in favor of a "dry town," and if it ever comes to that in Tillamook, it will be because the saloon people antagonized one or the other of the political parties, in the same way that the saloon people antagonized the republican party in the election on Monday.

Dragged to Death by Horse.

EUGENE, OR., June 7.—Alvin Lane, a 13-year-old boy residing near Walterville, 20 miles east of Eugene, on the McKenzie River, was dragged to death by a horse Saturday evening. The boy and his older brother went out to catch a horse which had jumped out of the pasture into the county road. The horse had on a long rope, and the boys succeeded in getting hold of it. The animal started to run, and the older brother let loose the rope, but in some manner the rope had taken a half-bitch around his leg and he was unable to free himself.
At break-neck speed the horse tore down the road, dragging the boy with him. His brother mounted another horse and took after the runaway animal, and succeeded in stopping it about a mile from where it started. The boy was dead before his brother reached him. The back of his head was almost completely torn off by striking on the rocks and hard earth, and his back and limbs were badly lacerated. The boy was an orphan and was a son of the late Al Lane, a well-known resident.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
