

PLOT OF FIENDS.

Colorado Miners Blown to Death. CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 6.—A concealed assassin, by merely pulling a wire, exploded an infernal machine, thereby instantly killing 12 miners and severely wounding 11 others, one of whom has since died, at Independence to day.

The men had quit work at 2 A. M. and were waiting to board the suburban train on the Florence & Cripple Creek Railroad and return to their homes in Cripple Creek and Victor. Just after the engineer of the approaching train blew his whistle as a signal to the miners, according to custom, a terrific explosion occurred underneath the depot platform, on and near 26 men were gathered.

Bodies Hurdled Five Hundred Feet. Fragments of bodies were hurled through space for several hundred feet, and later were picked up still quivering. Some of the bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, hands, ears, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found on buildings 500 feet away, and bloodstained everything within a radius of 50 feet.

The force of the explosion was felt all over the camp, and the crash awakened everybody. The approaching train was stopped, and the members of the train crew were the first men to reach the scene of the disaster. They were joined in a few minutes by hundreds of persons and relief work was begun at once. A special train was sent from Cripple Creek, carrying physicians, nurses, officers and many others, but when it reached Independence the injured had already been placed on board the suburban train and removed to hospitals in Victor. The mangled bodies of the dead, pieced together as well as possible, were removed to the Coroner's office.

Revolver Used to Explode It. The infernal machine with which the diabolical work was done consisted of a quantity of dynamite estimated at 150 to 300 pounds; a loaded revolver and a long, slender steel wire attached to the trigger. The revolver was fastened so that the pulling of the trigger would not draw it away. The wire ran from under the depot to the cribbing of the Delmonico property, about 400 feet away, where its end was fastened to the rung of a chair. The dynamite was placed close to the muzzle of the revolver, which was discharged by pulling the wire when the engineer blew his whistle. The ball from the revolver exploded the dynamite.

Bloodhounds Trailing Assassin. A man was seen running down the hill from the Delmonico after the explosion. The Victor troops, who were ordered out by Mayor French, were so stationed as to keep people from passing over the path taken by the assassin.

The infernal machine used today was similar to the one exploded in the Vindicator mine on November 21, 1903, killing two men.

By order of Mayor H. A. Naylor, of the National Guard, the bodies were removed from the Coroner's establishment to that of another undertaker. This action was taken on request of J. S. Murphy, superintendent of the Findley mine, because it was alleged that coroner James Doran had remarked before the discovery of the machine that the death of the men was due to an accident. Later, Coroner Doran explained that although he had spoken of the disaster as an "awful accident," he was convinced a terrible crime had been committed.

Amputation has been performed upon a number of the injured, but it is almost certain several of them will die. A majority of the dead and injured were single men, but several had families living in the district.

Soldiers have already arrested a trio of editors and printers of the Daily Record and City Marshal O'Connell, and put them in the bullpen. All the wealthy mineowners are carrying guns.

Victim, Colo., June 6.—Rioting broke out in this city this afternoon while a mass meeting was being held to discuss the murder of 13 nonunion miners by means of an infernal machine at Independence. Forty shots were fired into a crowd in the street. One man was killed, another died in the hospital, and eight persons, at least, injured.

SOUTH PRAIRIE.

The election passed off very quietly here, with most of the voters of the precinct casting their ballots. Each one having the privilege of selecting a cigar from the bounteous supply furnished by the various candidates.

The recent rains have benefited the meadows and grass and gardens considerable.

Charles Wells, Edd Leach and Lloyd Powell have killed several bear and wild cats lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Billings visited Mr. and Mrs. Dwight West last Sunday. Charles Wells' house had a narrow escape from fire through a defective flue Mr. Powell seeing the flames succeeded in putting the fire out.

Mr. John Maroff is preparing to build a fine large dwelling on his dairy ranch. Real estate agent Mills was on the prairie looking after his real estate interests.

STARVED IN WOODS.

Young Germans Lost From Their Quillayute Ranch.

HOQUIAM, Wash., June 6.—The remains of Martin Ertle, sitting bolt upright against the root of a hemlock tree, were three months before, in the desperation of hunger and exhaustion, he had sat down to die, was the ghastly find of a fisherman on the banks of the Dickey River today.

The disappearance from home of Martin and Mathias Ertle, young Germans, brothers, who resided on a ranch near Mora postoffice, in the Quillayute Valley, was reported two months ago. Then the fact was ascertained by the neighbors of the missing men that they had been gone from home for 30 days without any one having knowledge of their whereabouts. Search was organized and maintained as long as there seemed hope of finding the men. It failed to reveal the slightest trace of them, and opinion finally settled down to the belief that they had become lost in the forest and were long since beyond human aid.

M. T. Jones, a resident of the vicinity, while fishing noticed the peculiar actions of his dog. He followed the animal into the woods a few yards, where he came upon the body of a man in the position described. Reporting the find to the nearest neighbors, they got together a party and visited the locality. It was suspected the remains were those of one Ertle brothers, and they were fully identified as those of Martin by the clothing and the mustache.

Strange to say a safety pin was the only article of any kind found in the clothing. At the feet of the corpse was a walking stick which had dropped from the dying man's hands, and near by, under a windfall, was a cave scooped out by hand, in which Ertle had evidently spent the last night that he was alive.

No trace whatever has yet been found of Mathias, the other missing brother, and the supposition is that he and Martin separated after becoming lost in the woods and that Mathias met the same fate as did Martin, and further that his remains will some day be found as were those of his brother.

Preaching.

TO THE EDITOR OF TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT

Preaching is contrasted with talking. The preacher is sent, he does not come of himself, besides he has a specified message to preach. Noah preached the flood, Jonas the destruction of Nineveh, John and Christ the kingdom of God, Paul knew nothing but Christ and him crucified.

One of the hardest things in this world is to try to preach without being sent of God. There was a man sent from God whose name was John. How shall they preach except they be sent? Pray ye therefore that the Lord of the harvest will send reapers.

My preacher said that he went to school with other young men, some became doctors, some lawyers, etc., and he chose to be a preacher, and he could not see why he should not live just as well as any of them. He had no more sense of being sent than a Chinaman, nor did he ever have anything to preach. How should the preacher be supported? The principle of the Christian religion is free gift. God gave his son, the gift of God is eternal life, the gift of God's love. If the preacher preaches a reward to the righteous, he can't reasonably expect a free gift from those whom he neglects to prefer the gift of God to.

The preacher is governed to a great extent by the law of supply and demand, he has to cater to his audience. If I demand that he hold up the Christ who died for me, he has to do just as far as my influence goes. I would never make a preacher because I say what I think, the preacher is paid to say what others think.

The truth is hard to tell, while we are children, what we eat goes to build up our body, brain and heart, but when a boy comes to puberty, an unnatural waste begins, the loss of vitality, brings the sense of lost manhood, it appears that it is for something we have done, but every man has had this same evil to contend with, stimulants being a temporary relief, such as liquor and opiate, but they soon lose their effects if we rely on them. A natural cause requires natural remedy. The preaching of Christ the Saviour is, a never failing cure to change our hearts from wasting our virtue to the natural secretion of a child. I. C. GOVE.

NEHALEM.

Henry Tohl and Joe Effenburger made a business trip to Tillamook Friday. E. K. Scovell is laid up with a fierce attack of rheumatism.

Ghym Alley and wife paid a brief visit to relatives on Nehalem last week. Rob. Crawford assisted by Geo Ludtke and Cad Doughney drove a small band of cattle to Astoria the first of the week.

Born, June 2nd, to Mrs. Matt Olson, a son. Meritt Batterson took his father to Portland for medical treatment Saturday, the old gentleman is quite poorly.

The election passed off very quietly Monday. When you want a nice meal go to the Model Restaurant. Everything first-class and up-to-date. Those who are boarding should give the Model Restaurant a trial.
