E. church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, at the Christian church at 3 p.m. and at the Presbyterian church at 8 p.m., which is to be a union meeting. All those who do not understand and require more light on the anti-saloon movement are cordially invited to attend one or all of these meetings.
James Stasek's team, while standing at Lamb & Long's saw mill on Saturday, became frightened and ran away, and in overturning the wagon the two fore wheels became uncoupled, and with these they dashed up Main street, round by Lamar's and Haltom's, coming to a stand still after dashing into Snuffer's scales, which threw one of the horses, and the only damage done was to the scales, and that was badly crippled.

Crawford of $100 while in the Portland Sanitarium, was taken back to Portland by an officer from that city on Saturday. Ross was taken before Judge Hogue in the municipal court of the city on Monday, and pleaded not guilty. As Crawford, and pleaded not guilty. As Crawford, the complaining witness, could not attend, the case was continued until Friday. Ross declares he is innocent.

Died, on Tuesday last, at his home at South Prairie, after a long illness, Mr. Michael Pelz. Deceased was about 45 years of age and was a son-in-law of Mr. J. Sanders. He owned what is known as the Frank Harris place, and he leaves a wife and two children to mourn his death. Deceased was respected by all who knew him, and he was an affectionate husband and a kind father. The remains were buried this morning in the Catholic cemetery, a large number of sympathizing friends attending the funeral service.

The music and elocution recital given at the opera house on Friday evening was one of the most enjoyable entertainments that have taken place in this city for a long time, and Miss Baker and her sisters, Misses Hallie and Una Baker deserve great praise. Miss Baker captivated the audience with her singing, and she readily responded to the encores. She has a nice contralto voice and well trained, which showed itself to good advantage, especially when she sang the Scotch air, "My Boy Tammy," and in the German, "Verwelkt." Misses Hallie and Una Baker are also deserving of a word of commendation for their singing and recitals, and some of their pieces were cute and acted out real well, especially the "Three Letters" and the recital of the "Death of Paul Dumbey" by Miss Hallie Baker.

An Interesting Lecture.

Rev. E. L. Tiffany, of New York, spoke in the U. B. church on Sunday evening in behalf of the anti-saloon agitation that is now before the people, and upon which a vote is to be taken next November. His lecture was logical and unique, showing that he had given the subject thorough consideration, and one pleasing feature about it was, no matter how much one may have differed with him, there was nothing in his remarks that one could take exceptions to. It was a logical lecture, embracing solid facts and illustrations, and being devoid of the usual denunciations and shocking pictures that so many temperance speakers dwell so long upon, Mr. Tiffany's lecture was well delivered and appreciated by the audience. He first took up the home, the public school, the church and the saloon, and showed what each of these did in the body politic of this nation. The boy was the product of the home, and the speaker said saloons took every sixth boy from the home and made a moral and physical wreck of him. The home, the school and the church were agencies for the boy's elevation, but the saloon was the opposite, for instead of elevating and arousing a boy's ambitions, they dragged him down lower and lower. In speaking of the United States drunk bill for one year, Mr. Tiffany said he could build and furnish 200,000 houses at a cost of $3,500 for each, place $10 in the hands of every man, woman and child in this country, raise the salary of every minister $100 and have $45,000,000 left every twelve months if he had the money that is spent for drink in this country. Mr. Tiffany ridiculed the notion that it was over production which caused trouble and depression, asserting that it was under consumption that was effecting the people. To prove this he showed that if the workingmen spent their wages in the saloons they had no money to patronize the local meat market or the merchant for things which were necessary for home and the family, illustrating this point by a saloon keeper going into a meat market, throwing down a five dollar bill and ordering two steaks cut thick and a roast, while the workingman, who recognized the money as part of his wages, called for five cents worth of liver, cut thin, to take home to his wife and family on Saturday night.

A Real Estate Snap.

On account of bad health, I offer to sell my place, which is situated one mile east of Pleasant Valley Cheese Factory, where there is school and church. The place comprises 480 acres, and includes what is known as the Munson's Falls, which can be converted into a water power station, with house and barn, and only three-quarter of a mile from county road. Has more than 70 acres of pasture and about 10 acres of meadow, and can be converted into a fine dairy ranch. Kept over 40 head of cattle on the place with plenty of pasture to spare. 10 Fine heifers, which will come in next spring, 15 good steers, 24 tons of good hay, and the tools and the household furniture to go with the place. The cedar and other timber and chittim bark on the place will more than pay for it, and is a fine location for a shingle mill and will make a good dairy ranch. Will sell the whole or part of the same at low price and on easy terms. This is a snap seldom met with. Do not miss it for it is only nine miles south of Tillamook City. For further information apply to the owner, B. Indorf, on the place; or to F. R. Beals, real estate agent at Tillamook City.

To Test New Law.

The constitutionality of the local-option law will be tested in the courts, and a bill of complaint will be filed soon by persons interested in defeating the law. It will take the form of a suit to enjoin County Clerk Fields from submitting the question to the voters at the election in November whether liquors shall be sold in Multnomah County, as petitioned for by I. H. Amos and 527 others, principally members of the Prohibition party. The petition filed demands that the Clerk shall place on the ballot the question of prohibition to be answered by the voters yes or no.
The attorneys who are preparing the injunction suit do not desire at this time to state what points they will make against the constitutionality of the law, any more than to say that it will be attacked from all sides. The matter of testing the law has been under consideration since the election in June.

It is always best to "look before you leap," to be conservative and careful about embarking in new enterprises. Many people act hastily and easily become prejudiced in favor of new ideas and schemes for making money. They act without careful investigation and often meet with disaster. The farmer must keep posted and up-to-date on all matters pertaining to his line of work, but if he change from one line to another without giving the matter more thought than that some one else is making it pay, he will fail nine times out of ten. When a farmer crosses a beef bull on dairy cows, or vice versa, he has not carefully considered the results. It is best to look ahead, think of future results, be conservative, but progressive.

There is an increasing agitation in favor of a federal incorporation law, as has appeared at recent meetings of bar associations and other such organizations. There is some question as to the power of congress to enact such a law, but the opinion was expressed at the meeting of the Commercial Law League of America last week that congress has the power to enact such a statute. Measures providing for such a law have been introduced in congress, but no progress was made in their consideration and it did not appear that congressional sentiment was generally favorable to legislation of this kind. At any rate the measures were permitted to rest in the committee to which they were referred.

Notice.

All my outstanding accounts will be placed in the hands of an Attorney for collection on the 1st of September. If you owe me anything please call and make arrangements for an early settlement.
