

Chas. Howard Milley is Dead.

Our readers will be sorry to hear of the death of Charles H. Milley, who left this city about a month ago and contracted a cold while crossing the mountain. He went to California, where he died.

Charles Howard Milley was born July 2nd, 1863, at Port Laramie, Nebraska, while his parents were crossing the plains from Illinois to Oregon. They were seven months in making the journey with ox teams. Upon arriving his parents settled on claim near Amity, Yamhill County, and when 13 years of age came with his father's family to Tillamook county, where he has resided almost continuously since, making him a resident of Tillamook County 38 years. When 19 years of age, he suffered a severe stroke of paralysis, which made him unable to walk. This was brought on over exposure in saving a large stock of goods belonging to his father (then a merchant of this place) from a wrecked vessel at the mouth of Tillamook bay.

His life has been one long record of patient suffering and sorrow and upright manhood. His quiet, unassuming manners won him friends where ever he went and with all he chanced to meet. He was a dear lover of music and his cherished violin (his father's gift) was a source of great comfort and pleasure to him.

In November 25th, 1879, he was married to Miss Minnie Watkins, and to them were born four children, Clyde, Cecil, Myrtle and Maude, all of who survive him, except Cecil, who was drowned off Tillamook bar, a few years ago.

His fatal illness was caused by crossing the mountains in a heavy storm, when he left this city about a month ago and went out to Forest Grove with John McNamer, from which he contracted a severe cold, that terminated in congestion of the lungs.

He leaves three sisters in Tillamook City, to whom the news of his sudden death was a crushing blow, Mrs. T. M. Trout, Mrs. H. F. Goodspeed and Mrs. E. B. Stewart.

At the time of his death he was in Rodeo, Contra Costa Co., California visiting with his daughters. He was accompanied by his son Clyde, who never left his bedside till the dread messenger bore his weary spirit to the land of rest.

Dear cherished brother, farewell. The angel has opened a door through the sky. That your spirit might break From its prison and try Its voice in an infinite song.

Last night as I wept, the slumbers of night, Come o'er me, with peace giving breath, And the curtain hall lifted Revealed to my sight, those windows, Which look on the kingdom of light, That borders the river of death.

And a vision fell solemn and sweet, Showing gleams of a morning lit land; And I saw the white shore, Where the pale waters beat, And heard the low lull, As they brake at the feet Of those who walk on its beautiful strand.

Dear brother, farewell, should the grief That has fallen over us now, ever be Too heavy and dark for our faith, We will remember, dear brother, The journey though lonesome is brief, Over lowland and river to thee.

Old Fashioned Singing.

Why can't we have an old fashioned singing school? But few people are aware that the scale used in music is simply a fraud on music.

The natural scale has three kinds of intervals, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, that is while the lower sound is making 8 vibrations, the upper makes 9, thus it C makes 512 vibrations in a second of time, D would have 9.8, as many which is 9.8 of 512-576 E is 10.9 of D, F is 16-15 of E, G 9.8 of F, A 10-9 of G, B 9.8 of A, C 16-15 of B. The human voice, slide trombone or slide instruments and violin are the only ways that natural music is possible. Our music was changed to accommodate keyed instruments, and is called temperament. If the piano was tuned by the laws of acoustics, any player could detect the discord, and tune without always being at the mercy of the tuner, who understands what I am writing about.

The changing of the register of the scale has thrown the whole musical proposition into a chaos or discord. Sight is to the eye what music is to the ear. If you look into a cheap looking glass you may recognise yourself, but how your features are distorted, so it is with the chords in music with the false register, but you can get used to looking into the cheap glass. Just as you have become used to temperament in music, but does it follow if we are used to anything it is satisfactory, people who have been raised in vice and squallor are used to it. It is those who see the folly of such an argument, that strive against it. It is temperament that has closed the old fashioned singing school. J. C. GOVE.

School Report.

Report of Hebo school, Dist. No. 13, for the month ending Nov. 25, 1904. Whole number of pupils enrolled 64; average daily attendance, 36; cases of tardiness, 2.

The following named pupils have been neither absent nor tardy during the month, viz: Russell Yates, Orval Kellow, Wrennie Kellow, Lloyd Kellow, Roland McGinnis, Web McGinnis, Frank Nelson, Harold Cross, Ollie Cross, Mabel Hansen, Roy Hansen, Rex Connor, Wiley Compton, Inez Lowrance, Mammie Lowrance, Myrtle Sherwood, Olga Anderson and Ruby Hill.

I have found this school considerably above the average in many respects, the pupils are all well disposed, obedient and respectful and take a commendable interest in their studies. The parents also seem deeply interested in the work, which is most gratifying to the teacher, and we speak unbounded success for the school.

Local Option Lost in Coos. CORVALLIS, OR., Nov. 28.—The Coos County Court was today enjoined from issuing an order declaring local option in effect over the county after January 1st, in accordance with the recent vote which gave a majority for "dry." The decision was rendered by Judge Hamilton, and was a result of the suit brought by James Marsden, a resident of Marshfield, to enjoin the court. The decision had been waited with intense interest. Trial of the case closed Saturday. Attorney Seabrook, of Marshfield, presented 21 counts on which the injunction claim was based. Among them were that only 260 names of registered voters appeared on the petition, whereas the total registered vote for Supreme Judge last June was 2659, the necessary one tenth thus being five short.

It further appeared that the order calling for the election was not made out during a regular or special session of the County Court, but after adjournment. The Judge signed the order at Marshfield October 20, mailed it to one of the Commissioners at Myrtle Point, who signed it October 21, then mailed to another town, where it was signed by another Commissioner October 22. It further appeared that it was not till October 23, 15 days before the date of the election, that the County Clerk issued notices of the election to the Sheriff, whereas the local option law makes it mandatory for the notices to be posted at least 20 days prior to said election.

VICTIM OF GALE.

Barkentine Quickstep a Derelict off Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Somewhere in the northern seas the old barkentine Quickstep, waterlogged, deserted and rudderless, is drifting a derelict. Her crew of ten men has been landed in this city by the steamship Homer, after undergoing nine days of privation and hardships and losing all their personal belongings.

The Quickstep's crew was taken from the disabled vessel by the Tampico, Captain John Roberts, bound from Seattle and Tacoma to San Pedro. When off Gray's Harbor Captain Roberts, transferred the crew of the shipwreck vessel to the steamship Homer.

Thursday Captain Roberts sighted the Quickstep flying signals of distress. Her sails were in rags and she rolled heavily. The captain of the barkentine signalled a request for a tow to the nearest port, but Captain Roberts replied that he could not possibly tow him in, as he did not have a hawser strong enough. He offered to take off the crew before sundown, and his offer was accepted.

Captain Johnson, of the Quickstep, made preparations to take off his crew, but while doing so his foretop sail blew away and the barkentine was left in a worse position than ever. The Tampico lay to for an hour, and as no further attempt was made by the Quickstep to launch a boat one was sent out from the Tampico in charge of Second Officer Genereux with four seamen.

An attempt was made to get the men off the lee quarter of the disabled vessel, but as the sea was running high this was found to be impossible. The boat was then brought around and the men loaded themselves into it by sliding down a rope from the end of the ship's boom. They managed to take their dog with them, but left behind every stitch of clothing save the oilskins they wore, and also lost what personal belongings they possessed.

Captain Johnson says the Quickstep first got into trouble November 15, and from that date she had been in a waterlogged condition, with the foremast and aft cabin stove in, the boats smashed and all the provisions wet. The steering gear was washed away and the vessel opened fore and aft.

The members of the crew were in a sorry state, worn with long watches and hard work without sufficient sustenance.

Angry at Judge's Ruling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Rev. Isaac Selby, of Australia, shot at Superior Judge Hebbard today while the latter was on the bench. The bullet came within an inch of the Judge's head and lodged in the back of his chair. The would-be murderer was at once removed from the court room to the city prison and charged with an attempt to commit murder.

Selby was recently sued for divorce by his wife. He conducted his own defense, but was unsuccessful, a decree against him being granted. He then sued a man named Donald MacRae for damages for having alienated his former wife's affections. The case came up in Judge Hebbard's court today, and Selby again was his own attorney.

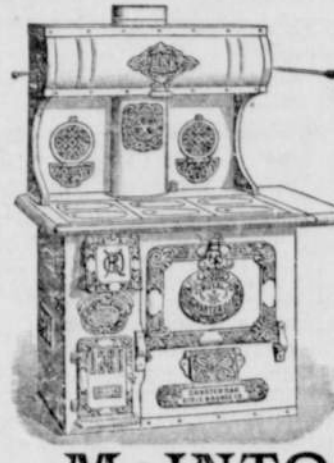

When a ruling against him was made he quickly drew a revolver and fired point blank at the Judge, who heard the bullet whistle past his ear. Selby was immediately seized and prevented from discharging another chamber of his pistol. For a time there was great excitement among the spectators, but quiet was restored when it was found that the Judge had not been injured.

Official figures issued in Australia concerning the population, show that whereas in 1861 there were 1,165,183 inhabitants, the number is now only 3,926,622 exclusive of aborigines. This means that the population has little more than trebled in 42 years, and the Sydney papers are asking if the immigration regulations have not had a good deal to do with keeping away desirable persons. They say obstacles are placed in the way of attracting population.

Charles Hendricks, liontamer at the Chutes, San Francisco, has had a close call. During his Sunday performance he entered the cage of a lion and a few minutes later accidentally slipped to the floor. The watchful brute sprang on his prostrate body at once, clawing him severely on the leg, tearing the flesh open almost to the bone. Hendricks would unquestionably have been most seriously injured had he not drawn his revolver and fired several blank cartridges in the face of the lion. During the animal's momentary astonishment the tamer crawled to the door and escaped. While badly shaken up, Hendricks is not likely to suffer any serious consequences.
