 At the M.E. church next Sunday, the subject for the sermon in the morning is "Bond Slavery—To whom?" In the evening, "What chance will you give your soul?"
 Owing to Mrs. Lindsey's spring millinery being destroyed by fire on the steamer Oregon, her spring opening will be delayed until she can get another consignment of goods.
 At a meeting of the Tillamook Dairy Association on Monday it was decided to shirk the money on hand amongst the stockholders and H. P. Holden, G. T. Jenkins and Claude Thayer were elected directors.
 School district No. 3 has been divided, the western portion being attached to district No. 38, and it is expected that a new school building will be erected on the Wilson river at the Illingsworth bridge.
 Mrs. Sturgeon is able to be at her millinery parlors again and will be pleased to greet her patrons and show them the latest in spring millinery. Thanking them for past favors she solicits a continuance of their patronage.

The next time the city does any street grading it is to be hoped that it won't pile the dirt up in the middle of the road again, but will make a gradual grade so that people can drive off the grade without danger of turning over.
 The steamer Sue H. Elmore came in on Friday morning, her passengers being Howard Edmunds, Preston Marolf, T. Emmenger and wife, L. W. Hef, H. Anderson, H. Goldstone, Messrs. Bogart, Pierson, Cottins and Smith.
 The Grange Band had a very pleasant time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Bibby on Friday evening, when some fine music was rendered for their benefit. The new members are advancing rapidly under the tuition of F. L. Buell.
 Tillamook has been enjoying a spell of bright, fine weather, which started the grass to grow somewhat earlier than in previous years, and most of the dairymen will have hay left over on account of the early spring and fine weather.
 The hose company was called out on Wednesday morning owing to a fire in the roof of C. O. D. laundry, but a few buckets of water and the chemicals soon put the fire out, the only damage being to the shingles, which were burned.
 The passengers who went out on the steamer on Monday were M. Hawthorn, H. Miller, Sidney Moon, O. E. Farmer, E. Bogart, H. Goldstone, L. Smith, C. M. Hollingsworth, James Wilson, Mrs. Buttz and children, Mrs. Kimball and C. A. Vogler.
 Mrs. Georgia Glick, wife of William Glick, of Cloverdale, was declared insane this morning by Judge Conder. Her mania is of a religious and hysterical character. She was sent to the asylum in charge of her husband, Mrs. A. C. Gist and J. A. Jenkins.
 The High School Orchestra will give a concert at the opera house on Saturday evening, which will consist of orchestra, vocal and instrumental music. A good evening's entertainment is promised, the proceeds of which will go towards defraying the remaining debt on the piano.
 The only other business that the board of county commissioners transacted after we went to press last week was to call for bids for the erection of a court house, the construction of a bridge across the north fork of the Nehalem river and for supplies, and the board adjourned until the 10th April, when the contracts will be let.
 Assessor A. M. Hare will start out on Monday to prepare his next assessment roll, and as this is the year when the assessor has to take a census of the county he will have his hands full the remainder of the year assessing property and taking the census. Mr. Hare will try and do it all himself, but it may be that before he is through he will need a little help.
 Fred Forslund had a consignment of tin on the steamer Oregon, which caught fire after she left San Francisco and had to be beached at Eureka. The tin was for a number of milk vats he has orders for, and he had to wire to duplicate the order, for in all probability the first shipment is destroyed. He was fortunate in taking precautions in having it insured, so he will not be at a loss, only in the delay in getting the vats completed.
 A meeting of those who subscribed to the money that is being raised for a subsidy for a railroad is called for Saturday afternoon at the opera house in this city, when a committee will be elected to confer with Mr. Simmons, who made the proposition a little over a month ago to build a railroad, provided the people of the county raised a subsidy of $35,000 and provided a right of way. This the people of Tillamook will be prepared to do at the proper time.
 Died, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary A. Tooze, at McMinnville, Or., on Saturday last, Japha Walling, one of the early settlers of Tillamook county, aged 73 years. He went outside last December, and about two weeks ago he was taken down sick, from which he did not recover. The remains were brought to Tillamook for burial on Monday, and the next day they were interred in the I.O.O.F. cemetery, the religious service being conducted by the Rev. E. M. Patterson, pastor of the Christian church, which was attended by a number of relatives and friends. Deceased crossed the plains in 1847 and located in Amity, Oregon, and about 42 years ago he came to Tillamook, where he made his home. He married Miss Tye Trask, who died 20 years ago. Ten children were born of this union, viz., Jerome Walling, who is in the state of Washington; Mrs. Mary A. Tooze, of McMinnville; William, F. M. and N. S. Walling, and Nora, Ida and Rose Walling, of Tillamook; and Mrs. Martha Gould, who died in this city a few months ago, and a child who died in infancy.

 Mr. P. S. Brumby, representing the Blodgett Co., was in the city on Wednesday to pay the taxes for that company. In speaking of the Simmons railroad proposition, Mr. Brumby places but little confidence in it, for he argues like this. The first thing that a person, who contemplated building a railroad of that character, would be to see the timber syndicates and ascertain what amount of business could be obtained from them, for unless they commenced to lumber, there would not be enough business to pay a railroad. Mr. Brumby says that whenever the condition of the lumber market justifies lumbering at a profit, Tillamook will get a railroad and will not have to put up a subsidy either.
 The regular meeting of the city council was held on Monday, with Mayor Geo. Cohn and Councilmen W. O. Chase, M. F. Leach, H. Mason, A. T. White and L. Huer present. Bills allowed were:
 Water rent.....$30 00
 Recorder's salary and stamps 17 25
 Herald, printing..... 10 00
 F. Brown..... 7 50
 R. L. Wade..... 12 20
 I. H. Smith..... 2 75
 Telephone..... 2 50
 Eddy & Botts..... 15 00
 H. Mason, telephone..... 3 00
 A letter was read from the bond buyers asking when the city was going to take them up, which are now bearing interest. As the city council has now no jurisdiction in the matter of the proposed water system, the recorder was instructed to write to the effect that a water commission would attend to it in a few days. An ordinance to repeal the occupation tax ordinance passed to its final reading, and the recorder was instructed to refund the money to those who had taken out licenses. Councilman Chase's ordinance, to prohibit washhouses and public laundries within the city limits, went to the graveyard, for he was the only city dad who had the gall to vote for a revengeful ordinance of that character. Recorder Coates complained about the wagons hauling slab wood from the saw mill cutting up the streets, but the city council came to the conclusion that it had no right to stop the wood wagon traveling the public streets. Quite a discussion followed about the dog license, which the city treasurer was instructed to collect, and in regard to appointing a city marshal.
County Court Cases.
 Seth Moon, plaintiff, vs. R. M. Dingess, defendant. Action for money. This case was tried at the previous term, but the jury was unable to agree. The case grew out of a misunderstanding as to which of the parties had to pay the real estate agent's commission in a deal that fell through between them. The jury on Monday gave Moon a verdict in the sum of $141 40.
 T. B. Handley, plaintiff, vs. T. Graves, defendant. Action for money, which was continued.
 George W. Kiger, plaintiff, vs. W. S. Cone, defendant. Action for money, the case being settled and dismissed.
 Geo. Benz and sons, a corporation, vs. John Lavin, defendant. This was an action for money, in which the plaintiff was granted a default and judgment.

Editorial Snap Shots.

Creamery stock of a valueless character must come much cheaper than whiskey at city elections.
 * * *
 One of the parties who had creamery stock given him to vote upon, when asked who gave it to him answered like this: "The Deputy God has creamery stock for everybody who wants to vote."
 * * *
 Tillamook City is now a full fledged bonded city, paying interest on a $45,000 mortgage plaster six months before that money is required. The Portland bond buyers must think that Tillamook City people are "easy."
 * * *
 We move that no one be allowed to occupy the side walks in the business portion of the city with chairs and seats for the inconvenience of pedestrians and annoyance of ladies who have to walk over a lot of tobacco juice.
 * * *
 C. B. Hadley sent a letter to J. E. Simmons, the man who proposed constructing a railroad into Tillamook, twelve days since, but no reply has been received. Peradventure the gentleman is on a long journey, is sleeping, or has gone to Europe to buy the rails.
 * * *
 Everything points in the direction that if Binger Hermann had not been elected congressman, no investigation would have been made into the land frauds in Oregon. It was after Hermann's scalp that Hitchcock was dead set on getting, but in doing so he has roped in lots of others.
 * * *
 Councilman Chase mania for introducing ordinances received a back set when he undertook to run the whole show. His absurd ordinance to prohibit washhouses and laundries within the city met its doom on Monday. Harvey was one too many for the councilman from No. 1 ward, but the fight is not over with, for the laundryman may yet air some of the fisherman's acts.
 * * *
 The river and harbor bill contains an appropriation of $10,000 for Tillamook bar and bay improvements. That is but a small appropriation when one considers the many millions of undeveloped resources there are in the county only waiting for improved harbors or a railroad so as to be able to reach the markets. The appropriation couldn't have been much smaller.
 * * *
 The Headlight man is not inclined to be bloodthirsty, but, by jehers, the next man who comes to Tillamook county with a "hot air" railroad proposition we shall have no hesitation in organizing a lynching bee, and we are sure every able bodied man in the county will be only too willing to yank onto the rope for the purpose of gibbering those "hot air" railroad procrastinators, for our patience is exhausted.
 * * *
 Those who reside in the Sandlake district are complaining about the road at Hays' place being in a bad condition. As the Sanklakers have done considerable free work on the public road so as to enable them to get their products to market, we hope the county court will this summer fix the road at Hays' place, and thus put a stop to further complaints from people in the Sandlake district who think they are justly entitled to a kick because it was not fixed before.
 * * *
 The last grand jury in Tillamook didn't do a thing to the gamblers, and from all appearance the next grand jury will have just as big a cinch on those who are violating the local option law as those who violated the gambling laws. Well, a few hundred dollars in fines put into the county's treasury won't come amiss again. Anyway, it will help to pay the salaries of the county officials who are paid to enforce the law and will show up those who think they can defeat the will of the people.
 * * *
 What a fuss a few of the politicians are kicking up about the expense the Normal Schools are to the state. It was the politicians who grafted these schools onto the taxpayers, anyway, and now they are playing to the galleries to get the graft off. Some of the politicians are sick as grease when they see public sentiment flop first one way and then another. Two normal schools, one in Eastern and the other in Western Oregon, are sufficient for all purposes. Reduce them by the popular vote of the people.
 * * *
 Pity the sorrows of a congressman when the administration is after his hide. Congressman Binger Hermann is up against another indictment, charged by a Washington, D. C., grand jury with destroying 36 books of correspondence when he was commissioner. How Binger is going to pull out with his tassel with Uncle Sam no one can tell, but, no doubt, down in his heart Binger wishes Uncle Sam had jumped onto the other fellows first and not made him the scapegoat. The railroad land steals will never come to light.
 A taxpayer in No. 12 school district sends us a snappy letter and asks us sever

ral pertinent questions in relation to the disturbance in that district. We are sorry that our correspondent took exceptions to what we said about the district being badly advised. In justification of that we can only point out how badly things turned out for the district. As to whether Judge Conder, being a salaried officer, had a right to witness fees is a question we must respectfully decline to answer and discuss until after the next term of the circuit court.
 * * *
 The trouble with a good many people in Tillamook City they are not content to let well enough alone, but who want to pull down. The city had a representative body of business men on the first water commission. Because it could not be "worked" like a lump of putty and did not bear the "ear marks" of those who have an ax to grind, the city's interest was sacrificed in behalf of a factional "slate." We must confess that this tendency not to let well enough alone has not improved the water commission, for there are quite a number of men who would not allow their names to be used on account of the meddlesomeness of a few persons who never will let well enough alone.
 * * *
 Editors have to do considerable missionary work without pay. We do not know whether this is missionary work or piracy. The whole of the time that the Independent was published it copied the board of commissioners' proceedings from the Headlight. The Herald is doing exactly the same thing, for since Rollie has been a newspaper man in this city he has not gone to the records more than once or twice for the purpose of writing up the proceedings. It is the Headlight man who has given the citizens a full and complete account of the commissioners' proceedings, and he has never committed an act of piracy to swipe it from other newspapers.
 * * *
 What is the matter with the people in Yamhill county, anyway. Before they demand a referendum on the $1,000,000 bill they might inquire why, if the bill wasn't exactly drawn up as it should have been, was it that Governor Chamberlain did not veto it? It looks to us as if Yamhillites have become "knockers" for the governor, who shirked his responsibility because he lacked the grit to veto the bill. If a special election is called for next June, that will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, whereas if the election is not held until 1906, then bankers and money lenders will scoop in large sums of money for interest on state war-warrants, while the State Treasurer will have all the state money on hand for two years if the appropriation bill is voted down by the people. Therefore, it looks as though Yamhillites must be feeling gay, but they won't after the votes are counted.

The "Astorian" Lies, Infernally.

Some newspapers chew scandal as a man does tobacco. The Tillamook Herald contains a three-column article on the life of Senator Mitchell. Although it was published in the Oregonian 20 years ago, the Herald publishes it as "the latest news." Civilization has not penetrated very deep in Tillamook county.—Astorian.
 When Bro. Dellinger wilfully publishes the statement that "Civilization has not penetrated very deep in Tillamook county," he lies and he knows that he lies, and we have no compunction in saying that the Astorian is a sanguinary perpetrator of the truth when it publishes lies about Tillamook. Civilization has penetrated very deep in Tillamook county, for as a class the people are industrious, thrifty, studious and sober minded, discreet and prosperous. And all this was brought about under trying and perplexing conditions through lack of railroad transportation and a steamship company that has crushed out or "bought off" opposition for the purpose of monopolizing the business. As to the intelligence and civilization of the people of Tillamook, we will refer to but one instance to prove that Bro. Dellinger lied. At the last county election, when it came to a question of morals and decency, the people of Tillamook, by an overwhelming vote, voted the saloons and their gambling joints out of business, and today many women, families and homes are blessed thereby, while Tillamook City, which was once a "wide open" saloon and gambling town, thanks to the civilization and intelligence of the people of the county, is a closed town and as peaceable, orderly and respectable as any city in the state, so much so that since local option went into effect the services of the city marshal has been dispensed with at a saving of $45 a month to the city. Will Bro. Dellinger cast his optics around Astoria and count the number of saloons, gambling halls, houses of prostitution, dance halls, etc., and he will have to admit that whereas civilization has penetrated very deep in Tillamook county, it has not done so in Astoria, where editors like Dellinger have lacked the moral courage to condemn the vice and shame and the uncivilizing influences that have, we are sorry to say, penetrated very deep in Astoria. The Headlight does not propose to allow the Astorian to lie, and damnably so, about Tillamook or its people, without resenting such base insinuations.

How to Stay Young.
 How old are you? The adage says than women are as old as they look, and men as old as they feel. That's wrong. A man and woman are as old as they take themselves to be.
 Growing old is largely a habit of the mind. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." If he begins shortly after mid, die age to imagine himself growing old he will be old.
 To keep one's self from decrepitude is somewhat a matter of will power. The fates are kind to the man who hangs on to life with both hands. He who lets go will go. Death is slow only to tackle the temerarious.
 Ponce de Leon searched in the wrong place for the fountain of youth. It is in one's self. One must keep one's self young inside. So that while "the outer man perisheth, the inner man is renewed day by day."
 When the human mind ceases to exert itself, when there is no longer an active interest in the affairs of this life, when the human stops reading and thinking and doing, the man, like a blasted tree, begins to die at the top.
 You are as old as you think you are. Keep the harness on. Your job is not done.

 At the door of the house sheltering his wife at Roseburg, Or., whom he had deserted some time since, Albert Willis, aged 34, shot himself in the head and was dead in an instant. Willis was a great sufferer from rheumatism and had tried every means of effecting a cure. Some time since he was separated from his wife, who has since been rooming at the house of J. A. Freeman. Willis called at the Freeman home and asked to see his wife. The family had retired for the night, and Willis was informed that Mrs. Willis refused to see him. "All right," he replied, and drawing a revolver from his pocket he fired the shot that killed him.
