Married, on Wednesday, in the parlor of the Allen house in this city, by Rev. E. M. Patterson, pastor of the Christian Church, Mr. L. L. Stillwell and Miss Katie Gardner. After the ceremony the happy couple were congratulated by their friends, and the same evening one of the largest serenading parties this city has ever seen, accompanied by the Tillamook brass band, gave Pinky and his bride a right royal serenade, when again the happy couple were congratulated and the best wishes expressed for their future happiness.

Mrs. Larson met with a bad accident on Friday, which might have proved much more serious. M. H. Larsen was working on the third floor of the hotel, and as Mrs. Larsen stepped out at the back to call him, he was in the act of throwing an empty cracker box from the window, and not noticing his wife, let it drop after saying "Look out below." The box struck Mrs. Larsen on the head and felled her senseless to the ground. She was picked up and carried into the hotel and Dr. Smith was sent for, who found that Mrs. Larsen had received a wound on the head. What saved Mrs. Larson's life was a clothes line, which broke the force of the fall of the box previous to striking her on the head.

While Ira Tomlinson was bringing a fine three year old steer to town to be butchered for Leach's meat market he thought sure that an earthquake had occurred, for the animal suddenly disappeared. He had the animal roped, and in coming down the side of the hill between Silas Morton's and West Day's it pulled at the rope, and Ira let the steer go at a good gait. Not noticing a deep gully, the animal went into it head first and disappeared sixteen feet into the bowels of the earth and was dead in a few minutes. Ira dismounted, and seeing that it was impossible for him to get the animal out by himself, cut the rope, as far as he could reach down and then rode to the city. The loss falls upon Mr. Leach.

Henry M. Parmer, who came to this county 16 years ago with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morton, died suddenly, after only a few hours' sickness, at his home near Bay City on Saturday. Deceased was 74 years of age and lived with the Mortons since he came to Tillamook. He was born in Clay County, Mo., on April 3rd, 1831, and resided in Holt County, in that state, until 1843. In 1849 he crossed the plains and went to California, and from there he came here 16 years ago, and meeting Mr. and Mrs. Morton on their way into Tillamook, they became staunch friends. Deceased was a member of the I. O. O. F., and the funeral took place on Sunday under the auspices of that order, the interment being in the Bay View cemetery. A large number of neighbors and friends attended the funeral, for deceased was highly respected. A brother, M. V. Parmer, resides in this city.

A divorce suit has been filed by Jennie E. Perry against her husband, Daniel Perry, in the circuit court. These parties were married on August 16th, 1887, and from which time they lived together in Tillamook county. The grounds upon which Mrs. Perry base her complaint is that her husband frequently assaulted, abused and beat her and the children, and about January 10, 1905, defendant, with intent to annoy and distress his wife, told her that she was not his legal wife, and at the time of their marriage defendant said he had a wife living, from whom he had not been divorced, and that he had married plaintiff under an assumed name, but he refused to divulge to plaintiff his true name, and thereupon defendant left plaintiff and her children and has not returned to his home. Mrs. Perry prays for a decree dissolving the marriage and for the custody of the minor children, of whom there are seven, ranging in age from 15 to 2 years.

Circuit Court Cases.

Circuit court will convene in this city on Monday, April 17, when Judge Wm. Galloway will preside on the bench for the first time in this county. Forest Grove Saloon Cannot Open.

HILLSBORO, Or., April 3.—Judge T. A. McBride this morning over-ruled the demurrer of the defendants, C. N. Miller, Mayor of Forest Grove, and this practically decides that Forest Grove can have no licensed saloon under the provisions of the present charter.

The Pacific University is the plaintiff, and has been making a long fight to keep saloons out of the town.

The decision handed down covers the ground in the several legal aspects, and the only resources at present for the saloon-keeper, A. G. Watson, is to file a bond and appeal the case to the Circuit Court.

The decision delivered by the court is as follows, verbatim:

"That the institution was founded by Harvey Clark with the stipulation that no intoxicating liquors should ever be dispensed on the 200 acres deeded to the University. That there has never been a licensed saloon in the town, and that because of this fact many people bought property and resided there, and that because of this many endowments have been made to the University. That the Mayor and Council have passed a license ordinance, and that A. G. Watson is about to open a saloon within 300 feet of the University entrance."

Judge McBride said the important question was whether the authorities have the right to license a saloon. By the charter they are given the right to regulate. In this decision he reviews the amendments made to the Forest Grove charter at various sessions, and then says:

"Taking the charter by its four corners and seeking in its contents as a whole for light upon this question, I cannot read the word license into it. The Legislature did not put it there; the City Council, which caused this charter to be presented and wrote their approvals of its provisions upon its face, did not put it there—and the court will not put it there."

"I am satisfied that the legislature no more intends that the City Council should license the selling of liquor than it should license a bawdy house or a gambling hall. In passing upon this question the court does not consider what would be best for the citizens of Forest Grove. It is possible that the liquor traffic would be less dangerous to the public morals if conducted as required in the proposed ordinance, than it would be conducted secretly and unlawfully, but if that is true they have to go to the Legislature and secure the authority which in my power is lacking in the present charter."

"The ordinance set forth in the complaint are wholly void for want of authority in the City Council to pass it, and the demurrer will be overruled."

Mine Explosion.

ZENGLER, Ill., April 3.—Thirty-five miners were instantly killed and perhaps as many more injured, more or less seriously, some of them fatally, by a terrible explosion in the mine here at 7 o'clock this morning. The explosion came just as the night and day men were changing shifts and it has not yet been determined just how many men were entombed in the shaft. There is no hope that any of them will be found alive.

Although officials of the miners union insist that the explosion was due to accumulation of gas or accumulated dust, frequent causes for mine disasters, there is a strong suspicion that there may have been another cause. There is much talk of dynamite and the similarity between this disaster and those in the Colorado mines is much commented upon.
