The saw mill at Hobsonville is closed down this week owing to the tubes of the boiler turning out, which probably was fortunate and averted a much more serious accident on Saturday morning. It seems that the watchman allowed the water to run down in one of the boilers, which was discovered by the engineer. *
Hon. B. L. Eddy, of Tillamook, has been selected as register of the land office at Roseburg on recommendation of Senator Fulton. Mr. Eddy is a Washington county boy who has for years been a leading citizen of Tillamook and his many friends here will be glad to know that his worth has again been recognized.—Forest Grove Times. *
At a meeting of the city council Thursday evening, at which the water commission was present, it was decided to accept the offer of Handley & Thayer to defend the city in an action brought by the Tillamook Water Company in the federal courts to enjoin the city from selling water, for which they are to receive $300, to come out of the city treasury. It was the water commission that decided to employ Handley & Thayer, and out of the six members present two, Harrison and Goodspeed, voted against doing so. The city council, although it did not vote on the motion, agreed to file the bill for the attorneys. *
We will clean up at about Half Price. All broken lines of shoes, short lengths of dress and wash goods, etc., left over from our very successful "Unique Twelve Cent" Sale.

Will the city have to take water by the "water cure" process? We believe that is what the city will be advised to do before very long. But what a peach Tillamook City's bonded octopus is.
Hon. B. L. Eddy, of Tillamook, is slated for the registration of the Roseburg Land Office—so it is a little more than rumored. Mr. Eddy is one of Oregon's few big men who has not been indicted, and he can undoubtedly fill the office to the satisfaction of all concerned. We are at a loss, however, for a reason why a big legal light like Mr. Eddy should desire such a small plum.—Lincoln County News. *
The North Pacific Steamship Company has decided to make regular calls into Tillamook with their steamer Newport, which runs between Portland and Eureka. This will mean competition in the freight and passenger business again, for some of the business men have decided to patronize the new boat, which will give a ten days' service. She may call in at any time, but she will be due here about the 4th or 5th on her return trip, when the agent will be here to solicit business from the merchants. *
The steamer had a large passenger list when she left here on Saturday, which was as follows: H. H. Hathaway, Miss E. Macdonald, Mrs. Macdonald, G. Munson, Miss Armatage, B. L. Eddy and wife and family, T. J. Denehy, W. F. Harrison, Miss Vessey, Miss Jones, G. S. Yates, Alex. Turor, John Saug, Mrs. Heins and son, John Kangas, Joe Saug, A. D. Barnard, C. A. Barnard, C. F. Taylor, Mrs. Snuffer and son, J. J. Powell and wife, G. A. Seney, W. W. Curtiss and Captain Parker. *
N. P. Heisel died suddenly on Monday morning at the home of his brother, Hans Heisel, aged 43 years and 8 months. He was born in Bollersleben, Germany, on the 29th September, 1861, and came to the United States in the summer of 1889, and lived the greater part of the time since in San Francisco, Cal. His health failing him, his brother, P. Heisel, brought him to Tillamook, where he has since lived with his brothers. He leaves a father, who resides in Germany, two brothers and two sisters to mourn his death. His funeral occurred on Wednesday, the religious service being in the U.B. church, which was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends. The funeral was conducted by Rev. N. S. Hankins, pastor of the U.B. church, and the remains were laid to rest in the Odd-fellows' cemetery. *
The graduating exercises of the public school took place at the opera house on Friday evening, when the opera house was packed with patrons and friends of the public school. Everything was nicely carried out and the graduates from the high school were Misses Clara Watt, Sadie Watt, Clara Eichinger and Elsie Oliver and Ralph Moore and Edgar Munson. Mr. B. L. Eddy made a fine address to the graduates and presented the diplomas, as he did to the 8th grade graduates, who were Misses Maggie Wilt, Lulu Eddy, Blanch Smith and Ruby McGhee and Roy Anderson; also Tobe Smith from the Wilson school. All the graduates were recipients of beautiful flowers, and were congratulated at the close of the exercises. Prof. Whitney, who has been employed for another year, announced that the school will be resumed on the 11th September. *
Vote of Condolence.
Tillamook, Or., May 30, 1905.
To the officers and members of Tillamook Lodge, No. 94, I.O.O.F.
We, your committee, to whom was referred the duty of drafting resolutions of condolence on the death of Mrs. A. J. Brant, wife of Bro. Peter Brant, of this lodge, beg leave to submit the following: *
Whereas, the silent messenger of death has entered the home of our brother and taken from him his wife; be it Resolved, that in his great sorrow we as a lodge extend to him our sincere sympathy and commend him to the tender mercies of him who doeth all things well; *
Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of this lodge, and a copy, under the seal of the lodge, be furnished Bro. Brant, and copies to the local press for publication. *
S. A. Broadhead, Geo. Cohn and C. H. Woolfe, committee. *
Card of Thanks.
We desire to thank the many friends and neighbors who showed so much sympathy and kindness to us on account of the death of our brother, N. P. Heisel, and for the flowers they so kindly laid on the grave.—PETER AND HANS HEISEL. *
Sorrow prevails in the free trade camp, but it manages to get up a spurt of delusive sensation about twice a month. *
The Russian Baltic fleet did not know where it was at when it saw a few fishing smacks, and neither officers and men knew what to do in their fear and excitement. This was repeated when the Russians ran suddenly up against Togo, and before they knew what they were at Togo had them badly whipped before they realized they were at in their sudden confusion. Every officer and man ought to be court-martialed for putting up such a poor, bungling fight, which is a disgrace, not only to the officers and men who deserve to be disgraced, but to proud, boastful Russia. *

It was reported that Rojstevsky was a sick man. We believe it—directly he saw the Japanese fleet. *
The road, not the sidewalk, is the proper place for horses. Please quit walking your horse on the sidewalk. *
We are told there are to be five June weddings of well known Tillamookers. Gee! Is there going to be hard times or is this a sign of prosperity? *
The Czar says he is going to send another fleet to the East. We have thought all along that he was crazy in sending the Baltic fleet there. Now he talks like a madman. *
Two of our attorneys have tried tent pulling and have given it up. We always thought members of the bar would make excellent tent pullers, but we are mistaken in our idea. *
The Russian fleet gained one victory in its attack upon English fishing boats, so it cannot be said that it did not add some laurels to its fighting qualities before it went to Davey Jones' locker. *
It is an expensive and dangerous business for a night watchman to undertake the experiment of trying to get up steam with a "dry" boiler. That is carrying the local option law to extremes. *
Now that Mr. B. L. Eddy has left the county, we feel satisfied that a large number of our citizens regret his departure. Tillamook county has lost a good citizen, a gentleman who can fill most any position he may be called upon to occupy. *
Worse still! It was a banquet that Host Allen's bachelor boarders gave to the young woman who attended the dining room before she left the city. What the public did miss on account of the Headlight man not being there to take items. *
How many Tillamookers are there who are saving up their "dough" to go to the fair? Portland will be the center of attraction and amusement this summer, and it will not be surprising if people go there for a good time in preference to the beach. *
South Prairie school district is to consider the advisability of sending pupils to the Tillamook school. We have for a long time thought the neighboring districts ought to do this, especially with the advanced pupils, but somehow it is a trouble to get districts to break away from customs and to see the advantages of a graded and high school. *
When some of our citizens were howling for a bigger bonded indebtedness than the city could stand they never stopped to consider the effect it would have upon the population, the trouble to rent houses and the depreciation in the valuation of city property by plastering the entire city property with a 30 years bondage plaster. It is hard to tell what it will amount to before it is through with. *
The attorneys could just as easily have squeezed $500 out of Tillamook's City's Octopus as $300. Well, if the Octopus is that easy, heaven pity the poor taxpayers when they have to make up the annual deficit, not that we are blaming the attorneys for getting compensation for their service. Now let the physicians persuade the commission that it needs a doctor; the druggists, a chemist; the dentist, a tooth puller; the undertaker, a coffin, and so on, so that all the professions can get a fee out of the Octopus before all the money is used up. *
What a good thing it is for the other fellows there is no election on this year, seeing that Boss Harvey is out of employment and just aching for another political set to. Yet he is a wise politician. He sees the republican cyclone that will strike the county next June, so is going to take his departure. Say, Boss Harvey, as Rollie vowed up and down that he would not stay in Tillamook if local option carried, can't you induce him to go along? We are sorry that Boss Harvey is leaving, because he was a jovial, good tempered politician. *

Assessor Hare expects that the census he is taking will show a decided decrease in the population of Tillamook county. He is doing this alone, and should be fail to enumerate everybody, it will be on account of trying to save expense to the county. No one will be surprised to hear that the population of the county is on the decrease by the way people have been leaving on account of no work for those seeking employment. Until such time as Tillamook county can secure railroad connections, it is plain to those who have watched the situation that the population will not increase until that time, so the best thing to do for the county is to keep on agitating for a railroad. In 1900 Hood River had a population of 622, while today it has nearly 2000. Eugene has doubled in population in five years, and all the valley towns are on the increase. * We do not wish to be severe in our criticism of Attorney W. H. Holmes in his letter to Mayor Cohn regarding the suit filed in the federal court by the Tillamook Water Company to enjoin the city from selling water to the people. He, however, is inclined to be bombastic, for he makes an absurd threat: "I have the money, and will not hesitate to spend it, if the defendants are stubborn enough to demand it." Well, get in and spend it, Mr. Holmes, for no one over here cares a tinker's cuss whether he blows it in or not. He will find there are people in this county who will not be bulldozed by such absurd threats. Perhaps Mr. Holmes may compel the city to come to terms and force the city to compromise, but that is a point yet to be decided, and which we expect the attorneys for the city will recommend at some future date, when the smoke of battle is over and Mr. Holmes' bombast has taken a fall after blowing in the sack at his command. *

There is considerable talk going on in this city, some of which is exaggerated, about the local option law being violated in a few instances. We have every reason to believe that the law is being violated by a few persons, which could be put a stop to if the officials wanted to. If this is not done, there will soon be as strong a sentiment against the violators of the law and the officials as there was against the gamblers. And, besides, it is only furnishing the anti-saloon people with more evidence and weapons to defeat the saloon advocates, for if the latter will persist in breaking the law and defy the people of this county, then there is one thing, sure, the people will not only cast their votes for local option, again but for officials who will do their duty, for having wiped out the gambling curse they can also wipe out the curse of certain laws being broken by lawless persons. *
Why is it that Nehalem has not made the progress in dairying that the south part of the county has and the prosperity it is enjoying? Simply because county officials have not given that section of the county a square deal and in neglecting to bridge the Nehalem river. We hope the Nehalemites will pardon us for what we are about to say, but for several years it is plain to us that the politicians have been working them for this or that party or candidate on false political promises. No doubt, if the bridge is not put in before the next June election, the politicians will have the Nehalemites on the string again with false promises—to get their votes. After the election there will be no bridge because the finances of the county are in bad shape. But money is forthcoming for most everything else, to paying a fancy price for toll roads, the salary of a road master, which could be easily saved, paying other people money for doing work which should be done by county officials, etc.—yet no bridge for Nehalem river. If the Nehalemites will put on their considering caps they will see they have been worked on political promises too long and with no results, and they will have to adopt different methods if they expect to get the bridge across the south fork. The population of the north end of the county will increase as soon as that bridge is put in, for there is valuable land which will soon be turned into dairy farms when there is a way to get the products to market. We say this, and we say it emphatically, build the bridge across the Nehalem this year and get through with it without any more political tomfoolery and humbug.
