

More Railroad Gossip.

That Hillsboro is to be the terminal point for the new Nehalem and Tillamook railroad, is now an assured fact. Wm. Reid and Eng. Davis, were in town Wednesday, conferring with the board of trade in regard to preliminaries, and stated that the contracts have been arranged, and work will commence as soon as the survey over the right-of-way has been completed. The following committee was appointed by Mayor Cornelius, to determine possibilities for the desired right-of-way: B. P. Cornelius, H. Taylor Hill, Sam Raferty, F. J. Bailey, G. A. Morgan, John Milne, Joseph Schulmerich, John Connell, W. V. Wiley, F. M. Heidel, J. A. Imbrie, James Sewell and John Dennis. This committee has tendered a very favorable report on securing the necessary road-bed and have put in the past week in hard sincere work. They deserve thanks from the entire community. The new Railway Company agrees to have trains running by October 15. An effort is being made to make use of the old road-bed constructed several years ago for a similar project. The survey will strike this out north of town. Part of this road-bed has been filled in, but it is thought that most of it can be used. As we go to press a big mass meeting is in session and several new developments have been brought up. A complete report will be given in next week's issue. It has been rumored that E. W. Haines and Postmaster Atwell of Forest Grove were a committee sent to Portland to ask the company to consider whether they could make that place a starting point. -Hillsboro Independent.

Money Is No Shield to Guilt.

The country will observe from the promptness and the severity of the punishment which has been imposed on Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting Milwaukee banker, that wealth and influential friends cannot cheat justice. Bigelow embezzled $1,500,000 and received a sentence of ten years to the penitentiary for it. He has already started on his prison service. The trial and the penalty followed with remarkable speed the discovery of the crime. Almost before the general public had time to realize that the trial had begun the criminal was behind prison bars.

On the surface of thing the sentence seems inadequate to the amount of money involved in the crime. The sentence, however, was the maximum allowed by the law. If a twenty-year sentence had been provided for in the statutes it undoubtedly would have been inflicted. This was one of the cases, however, if the cant of the day were true, in which no punishment at all could be imposed. It is often said that a man who steals large amounts and who has wealthy and influential friends will escape punishment. Such a man was Bigelow. His theft was among the largest ever committed. He confessed the theft and thus excited a certain sort of sympathy. Many rich friends cling to him to the end.

But in these days in which bigness of all sorts commands respect, regard less of its character and of the person who stands behind it, this biggest of the transactions in the financial crookedness of recent times meets prompt and severe punishment in the courts. If there is any power as a deterrent in swift and drastic chastisement by the state, the Bigelow case ought to furnish it in a very large measure. Many things in this instance were calculated to mitigate the punishment. The offender was old, he had led an exemplary life until recently he was benevolent and personally popular, and, measured by the ordinary tests, he was a good citizen. Yet these claims were swept aside by the court and the culprit gets the maximum penalty prescribed for his crime. The Bigelow case is as striking an illustration as legal annals afford of the elemental truth that wealth and poverty, prominence and obscurity, are on a precise equality in the eye of American law.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, it causes a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation is taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHERNEY & CO., Toledo, O. LIGHT FOR THE FISHES.

Bass Caught at Dusk by the Aid of a Phosphorescent Bob Made of Cork.

For catching bass at dusk the following plan is sometimes tried in the upper part of the state. The fisherman anchors in comparatively deep water outside the lily pads. He rigs an extra rod and attaches a nine-foot leader to the end of the line. At the end of the leader he ties a heavy sinker, and about five feet above the sinker a large bob or piece of cork, which has previously received a heavy coat of phosphorus, says the New York Sun. Without hook or bait he casts this line well in toward the pads, the line being held in place at the surface by a second cork.

The line is reeled out, and the rod laid on the side of the boat. Then selecting a lively minnow he baits his casting rod and drops the minnow within a foot or two of the other line. He then lights his pipe and awaits developments. From time to time as the minnow swims away from the lure a new cast is made.

The explanation of the success of this plan of catching bass is that the fish are attracted by the phosphorescent bob and in swimming around it find the bait. The plan has proved successful when small frogs or crawfish were used instead of minnows.

An inventive genius, who first saw the lure in use at Upper St. Regis lake, sent to New York for a battery, waterproof wire and ground glass electric bulbs. For some reason the elaborate apparatus was not a success.

Those who made the experiment say the lure is equally effective when used in trolling. For this purpose the lure is made of cork or light pine. It is attached to the line about ten feet in front of the hooks.

PENGUIN PUGILISM.

The Birds Quarrel Over Purlined Pebbles and Show Science in Fighting.

It was curious, says Prof. C. E. Borchgrævin, writing of penguins in Leslie's Monthly, to see how some of the lazy birds would quickly make off with the pebbles with which they build their nests, and which through great care and work, had been accumulated by one of the band, the moment the owner happened to turn his back. The ostentatious attempt of the culprit to look innocent when caught in the act amused us mightily. The rightful owner of the pebble was sure to pursue the thief and then the two would fight desperately till blood covered their flippers. Sometimes they stood up to each other like pugilists, giving and taking punishment like men, and they exhibited surprising efficiency in the art of hitting. Sometimes they seemed to remember the pebble, the cause of the quarrel, but I noticed that the one who first gave in generally walked off with the pebble, while the other, blinded by success, was left with the honor. Meanwhile the conqueror would return to his nest and find that his kind neighbors had used the opportunity to pebble their nests from his possessions while he had been away struggling so valiantly to catch the thief of one single pebble.

AN UNINHABITABLE LAND.

Boundary Between Utah and Arizona a Desert from One End to the Other.

A well-known civil engineer, H. B. Carpenter, who has recently completed the survey of the southern line of Utah, says the boundary between that state and Arizona does not cross a foot of cultivated land. It traverses a desert, which is cut up by great canyons that are almost impassable. The length of the line is 277 miles. Landmarks along the line will make it possible for the boundary to be located without any difficulty in the future. Just east of the Colorado river a sandstone butte rises 1,600 feet above the plain, and is the very peak of this butte is exactly on the boundary. Mr. Carpenter named the peak State Line butte. Not far from this butte is another, which stands 1,300 feet above the plain, and was named Tower peak. These two gigantic stones will always be a guide to anyone who has enough curiosity to penetrate the desert in search of the state line.

Lived Down His Reputation.

The king of Italy was unpopular at the time of his coming to the throne, because of the stories of his extreme economy, but has lately shown that, though he is circumspect in his expenditure, he is liberal and benevolent. He gives largely to charity, both organized and individual, and in his social life seems ready to make an outlay that is necessitated by his position. Among his recent benefactions was a gift of 100,000 lire to the town of Palermo, to be distributed among the poor and three charitable institutions. Of this sum 50,000 lire is to go to the poor, 30,000 lire to the town hospital, 10,000 lire to the marine hospital, and 1,000 lire to the Red Cross society.

FISHES' FACES DECEIVING.

One Cannot Always Tell by Their Expression What Their Characters Are.

"Fish are a good deal like people," said Superintendent Spencer, of the New York aquarium. "You can't always tell by their countenances what to expect of them. Look at that fellow there, now!"

He pointed to a tiger fish which was butting its nose against the glass of its tank. No more villainous face of the pugnacious sort could be found in a day's search in the haunts of the third-rate pugilists.

"Looks as if he would fight at the wriggle of a tail, doesn't he?" the superintendent continued. "See those jaws! Bad eye, too. Well, sir, that is the most gentle fish in the aquarium—one of the clinging kind, that seeks affection in and kindness. Now over there is a lady fish. Just observe those brilliant eyes, that dear, sentimental nose, and the coaxing, graceful movements of its tail. You'd think it would eat out of your hand, and droop if you scolded it."

"On the contrary, it's the most unduly like fish in this collection; its temper is shrewish, and its habits are bad, and if you give it a chance it would bite you like a savage bull pup. It's a vicious fish, and doesn't deserve all those fine airs it has."

Mr. Spencer put his hand near the glass front of the tank, says the New York Mail and Express. There was an instant commotion; the insinuating tail lashed the water, and that angelic mouth bumped sharply against the barrier in a swift effort to nip the tip of the superintendent's finger.

"Would you ever think it?" said Mr. Spencer. "Lady fish, indeed!"

SHOE TRADE OF CUBA.

Shipments by American Manufacturers Have Been Very Largely on the Increase.

From statistics relating to the boot and shoe trade of Cuba, while under United States control, as shown by the last commercial summary of the island for May, 1902, published by the bureau of insular affairs of the war department, it appears that for the period mentioned purchases, including sandals, were made to the amount of 9,545,098 pairs, valued at $6,812,017, the imports coming chiefly from Spain and this country in the ratio of 73 per cent. for the former, against 26 per cent. for the latter, though a comparison by years discloses the fact that under an equitable adjustment of the tariff rate on merchandise of this class, in effect prior to United States intervention, American manufacturers of boots and shoes have largely increased their trade with Cuba.

In connection with this statement the fact is mentioned that during each month of the three calendar years, 1899, 1900 and 1901, the total importations of boots and shoes into the island were $680,621, $335,943 and $467,778, respectively, considerably in excess of the shipments from our customs houses destined for all Europe (excepting the United Kingdom), the exportation from the United States for this trade being $212,935, $285,172 and $400,431 during the periods mentioned.

DAINTY WOMEN OF JAPAN.

The Picturesque Little Ladies Certainly Cannot Be Accused of the Sin of Overeating.

The almond-eyed, dainty little female of Japan is easily satisfied in the matter of food. She begins the day by eating when she wakes a couple of little green plums pickled in vinegar and rolled in sugar. This traditional breakfast of Japan is completed by a cup of tea. The dinner, which is brought on a red lacquer tray, is the drollest affair. The viands are in tiny cups with covers and among them are such dainties as a hashed sparrow, a stuffed prawn, a salt sweetmeat, seaweed with sauce and a sugared chill. After these dishes, which are mere "frills," the substantial part of the meal is begun. A wooden bowl, bound with copper, is brought in filled to the brim with rice plainly boiled in water. From this the flower of Japan fills her bowl—a capacious one—and, having mixed it with a black sauce flavored with fish, she then lifts it to her mouth and crams it down with the aid of her chopsticks. Thus ends her dinner.

AUTO CLIMBS A TOWER.

Two Hundred Pound Machine in Copenhagen Performs a Most Remarkable Feat.

A curious performance was lately accomplished by an automobile in Denmark. Copenhagen possesses a circular tower 100 feet in height, which was formerly used for astronomical purposes. Its top is only reached by ascending a spiral passage 12 feet broad which winds between the outer wall of the tower and an inner circular wall. From the base to the top it is entirely without steps, and the gradient is seven inches per ell. An automobile of five-horse power, weighing 200 pounds, and carrying three persons, ascended the tower the other day, taking one minute for the journey, and afterward making the much more dangerous descent with equal success. It is of interest to recall that the czar Peter the Great, on visiting Copenhagen in 1716, made the same ascent and descent in a carriage drawn by four horses.
