 Two foreclosure suits have been filed in the circuit court, viz., Albert Marolf vs. William E. Eason and Nels. Thompson vs. A. E. and Mattie S. Imbler. H. T. Botts is attorney for plaintiff in the first case and T. B. Handley for the plaintiff in the latter case.
 Don't drink water before it is filtered. This can be done by buying a neat little device from Mrs. Lynch which is attached to any faucet and which purifies the water. Every house should have one of these filters. They only cost $2, and Mrs. Lynch is the agent for them in this city.
 Miss Frances Drew returned home from Monmouth on Sunday. She graduated from the college with high honors, and is the first student from this county who has completed the course there in one year. She was accompanied home by Supt. W. W. Wiley and Howard Drew, who attended the commencement at the state normal college.
 The suit filed in the federal court by the Tillamook Water Company against Tillamook City, is set for next Monday, when the city will be represented by Handley & Thayer, assisted by the attorneys for the bond buyers and contractors. The company seeks to enjoin the city from expending any more money upon the new water system and restrain it from selling water.
 P. S. Brumby, representing the Blodgett Lumber Co., was in the city Friday for the purpose of having Wm. Illingworth appointed fire warden on the Wilson river road this summer, in which capacity he acted last year. He is of the opinion, after talking with the engineer of the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railroad Company, that the road will be built, a branch of which will first come down the Wilson river route.
 A divorce suit has been filed in the circuit court by B. J. Stephens against his wife, Nellie B. Stephens, the cause being desertion. These parties were married at Spokane, Wash., on the 10th January, 1899, and in his complaint the plaintiff sets out that on the 16th October, 1903, his wife deserted him without his consent and remained a way from him ever since. One child was born of the marriage, Vida G. N. Stephens, now five years old, and with its mother. C. W. Talmage is the attorney for plaintiff.
 Captain J. B. Wetherell and E. S. McCoy, the men who are going to bore for oil on the Hauenkrat place, are in the city, and feel confident they are going to strike oil. Five hundred feet of pipe was brought in last week and the rest of the machinery came in on the steamer yesterday. Some little trouble is being experienced in getting the timber sawed out and the plant hauled out right away, which will be overcome as soon as possible, when work will begin and the fact demonstrated whether Tillamook county has undeveloped oil resources in the bowels of the earth, which, if found, will mean untold wealth to the county. It is the hope of everybody that the experiment in boring for oil in this county will prove successful, for Mr. Hauenkrat has kept the matter going and will not be satisfied until the experiment is over.
 There was a meeting of the directors of the co-operative factories and dairymen in this city on Monday to devise means to prevent the R. Robinson Cheese Company and the Hazelwood Cream Company and the price of cheese, which was plainly pointed out they were doing. There appears to be considerable indignation amongst the co-operative factories, but what they intend doing to prevent this cut and slum in the cheese market by these two companies the co-operative people have not given anything out for publication. It has been intimated, if no other way out of the situation can be found, a boycott will be started against the factories and those who have anything to do with knocking down the price of cheese. Having obtained control of a large quantity of cheese from Tillamook county it looks as though the R. Robinson Cheese Company and the Hazelwood Cream Company are wanting to control the market, and in their attempt to knock out the commission merchants from handling the cheese they have cut the price and the dairymen of this county will have to suffer, for they are simply in the hands of the strangers whom they lately took up with and now see the bitter pill they have to swallow by entrusting the manufacture and disposal of their products to middlemen and "knockers."

The cases of Charles J. Rust, John E. DuBois and C. H. Wheeler and other owners of timber lands in Clatsop, suits having been brought last year to enjoin the county from collecting the taxes assessed against them, on the claim that the assessments were excessive, will not be for trial, as was announced in the circuit court at Astoria last week. The timber owners will pay the taxes. The timber lands in Clatsop county were assessed at eight dollars an acre, but the owners refused to pay the assessments. The cases were argued at the last term of court and a temporary injunction issued and were to be disposed of at this term. It has developed since that the owners have been offered as high as $125 an acre for some of the land and refused it. This sustains the action of the assessor in raising the assessment of timber lands in Clatsop county.

In a Railroad Collision.

Mrs. J. P. Allen and Elmer, who were returning from a visit to friends in California, were in a railroad collision on the Southern Pacific railroad at Morley on Monday, and although not injured, had a bad shaking up. They arrived in Portland on Tuesday and will be home on Sunday.

The section of northbound overland train, No. 6, the Oregon Express, came in collision with a southbound freight train at Morley. Engineer Milner, of the express train, was injured, but none of the passengers were hurt. None of the cars were derailed, but the engines were damaged considerably. The accident is believed to have been due to miscalculation by the freight train of the time it would take them to reach the switch at Morley. The southbound California Express was delayed several hours on account of the collision. Each train was drawn by two locomotives. The two passenger engines telescoped, showing both of the freight engines sidewise off the track. The crews of both the freight engines jumped after reversing the levers. When the first engine of the passenger train struck the freight train, the second passenger engine piled on top of it, sending wreckage and steam in all directions. Engineer Tom Milner, of Dunsuir, was pinned between the top of the first engine and the coal box and was badly crushed. Milner's fireman was hurled against the pilot of the freight engine with sufficient force to rebound, which saved his life.

Commencement at St. Alphonsus.

There was a fairly good attendance at St. Alphonsus Academy commencement, which were up to the average of previous years. The stage had a gay appearance, the front being nicely arranged with choice flowers, which gave it a pretty effect. The opening march was nicely played by Misses Eva Wheeler and Mary Sander, which was followed by the greeting glee, in which all the pupils took part, followed by a piano trio, "Harvest Home Waltz," which was likewise nicely rendered. "Our Alphabet and Song" was performed without a fault, and then the orchestra played "The Village by the Sea." The duet, "Bauernmarsch," by Misses Nellie Chase and Lily Anderson, and the violin solo, "The Robin's Lullaby," by Mike Melchior, deserve a word of praise. "Mother Goose Reception and Drill" pleased the audience, as did also the trio, "Under the Palm Trees," played by Misses T. Elsen, S. Guptill and B. Terwilliger and J. Melchior, Pete and Jacobs and Leo Sander. Mrs. D. Murphy came in for a good round of applause for the nice manner in which she sang the solo, "When the Leaves Begin to Fall," with Mrs. Carl Patzloff accompanist. Another nice piano trio, "Primrose Waltz," was rendered by M. Sander, M. Bernard and E. Wheeler; as was also a duet by Misses Jeanie Lynch and Melva Wade; followed by "Lewis and Clarke March," by Miss Nellie Chase; duet, "Twilight Ramblings," Paris Lamar and Howard Wolfe; string quartette, "Jolly Boys," by Peter and Pius Jacob, Henry Sander and Nick Melchior, with Miss V. Melchior accompanist; violin solo, by Peter Jacob, with Miss Sadie Guptill accompanist; following which was a string quartette.

The dramatic club gave three short sketches during the evening, which were a credit to the performers and amusing to the audience.

The graduates were Misses Anna Fitzpatrick and Bessie Terwilliger and Robert Maxwell, Joseph Guptill and Pius Jacob, and in presenting the diplomas, Father Le Miller made a few, but appropriate remarks to the pupils. It was during the valedictory, which is always one of the pleasing features of such occasions, the electric lights blinked and there was an exodus of a large part of the audience, and despite the interruption, Miss Anna Fitzpatrick kept to her piece and deserve considerable praise.
