Tillamook City is to have another meat market, Powell Bros. having rented the store next to Beals' office for that purpose and will open up next week. The boys appear to have plenty of backing and a large number of persons have promised to give them their patronage.
County Clerk Lamb and his deputy are kept busy issuing fire permits, at the rate of 300 a day, and to save so much red tape and inconvenience, the settlers ask for permits for three months, so the county clerk and his deputy won't be kept so busy after they get everybody loaded up with permits.
Attorney C. W. Talmage had his nose broken in Hadley's saloon building on Friday, by Charley Handley, who was under the influence of liquor, and it was while he was swinging his arms about, as he usually does when in that condition, that he accidentally hit Mr. Talmage on the nose and dislocated the nasal organ.
The visitors to the city who registered at the Allen house on Wednesday were Editor R. J. Hendricks, of Salem; A. B. Clominger, of Canby; G. Collins and A. Olson, of Astoria; G. T. Backus and H. T. Gust of Portland.
C. A. Vogler, who was a saloon keeper and gambler in this city previous to the vote on local option, returned to the city on Friday and left again on Monday. He will be back again, to open up a joint, if the people would only vote to allow joints of that character to run again. The county is better off without a lot of gamblers, who will not work, but whose aim and object is to fleece those who do

The new water system is nearing completion, and in about three weeks the water will be turned on. Connecting up with the new system is going to take some time, and which will be expensive, for it is reckoned that it will cost, every time the main is tapped, $7. So as to equalize this expense, the water commission has decided that the owners of property are to pay $5, half of which will be refunded in water rent, provided application is made before the 1st September.
J. S. Stephens met with a bad accident on Sunday evening in a runaway. He had just returned to the city with Carl Grayson, when the shaft broke, and the rig running against the side walk, broke the wheel, which scared the horse and it bolted. Both Grayson and Stephens were thrown out of the rig, which capsized. Grayson managed to escape injury, but not so with Stephens, who had his shoulder dislocated and received several gashes on the head. Dr. Upton was called and attended to the injuries, and his patient is getting along as well as can be expected, and is able to be out again.
The steamer Sue H. Elmore had a large passenger list when she left on Saturday, viz., W. T. West, Miss V. Melchoir, V. Jacobs, F. W. Hanes and family, B. McNairy, E. M. Harvey and family, Thos. Poulson, Mrs. M. Reynolds, P. Jacobs, Helen West, F. Webber, P. W. Todd and family, Duncan McIntosh, Jos. Boxler, E. T. Newmeyer, J. N. Davis, Ed. Boxke, W. A. and H. C. Kirk, Guy Bunn, John Imbun, J. How, Mr. Swickey and wife, Mrs. Otto Johnson, Miss J. Grey, M. Munson and wife, J. Svenson and wife, Mr. Gilbert, Miss Witherel, Miss V. Jenkins, Mrs. Murphy, C. Thayer and W. W. Curtiss.
The steamer Sue H. Elmore brought in a number of passengers on Wednesday, including E. F. Kelso, W. French, M. J. Clair, J. Baltron, J. Perry and wife, Miss Perry, Mrs. Murphy, Miss Vine Jenkins, Miss Witherel, W. J. Palmer, J. Saunoe, E. W. Dingman, M. Goldstrom, Mrs. Effenberger, W. J. Roehmer, A. Kline and wife and child, Sam Hazlett, C. Thayer, E. T. Haltom, A. Fauson, H. A. Smith, Miss Van Patton, A. L. Anderson, Rev. J. Johnson, Miss Hazel McNair, Misses W. and K. McNair, M. P. McKimmons, Mrs. Ponett, Mrs. Plank, Mrs. and Miss Faulk, Mr. Carter, W. T. West, G. T. Taylor, H. V. Alley, A. H. Kelso and P. Jacobs.
Some time ago a meeting of the stockholders of the Nehalem Coal Company, of which W. J. Cook was promoter, was held in this city. Charges of fraud and misrepresentation were made and proven. In order to appease the stockholders, Mr. Cook stated that they had an opportunity to dispose of the coal fields to a syndicate and all they asked was nine months in which to complete the deal. The nine months have elapsed and no effort has been made to dispose of the property and the proposition was as mythical as the coal fields. Two sensational suits were filed in the circuit court Thursday in which fraud and false misrepresentations are alleged. The defendants are W. J. Cook, M. S. Copeland, W. H. Copeland and R. V. Jones, the plaintiffs being Charles Robitzsch and Frederick Robitzsch, who were induced to dispose of their lands, consisting of 480 acres.—Astoria Herald.

What came near being a serious shooting affair occurred at the post office at Woods on Thursday of last week. It appears that A. B. Pollard got into an altercation and became very abusive to W. R. Robedece, and the latter thinking that Pollard had a slug in his hand did not propose to take any chances of being knocked out in that way, so he grabbed Pollard and backed him out of the store, and as he did so he closed the door. Pollard ran to his wagon to get his revolver, and taking aim at the door fired two shots. Both bullets went through the door, just missing Robedece, one passing him a few inches on the right side and the other a few inches on the left side.
A quiet wedding took place on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooper in this city, when their daughter, Miss Ruth A. Cooper was married to Mr. Edgar H. Whitney, by the Rev. A. S. Foster, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Only a few intimate friends were present to witness the ceremony, which was impressively conducted by the rev. gentlemen, after which the happy couple received congratulations and best wishes. The bride is one of the best educated young women in the county and highly respected by all who know her, and as a teacher in the public school she was very popular with the pupils. She received her education in the public school of this city and at the State Normal College at Monmouth, where she graduated. The groom is the principal of the public and high school of Tillamook City, and one of the most successful educators this district ever had, and in consequence he has a large number of friends of all classes, who wish him and his bride a long life of happiness.

Watch the yellow weed grow next year if something is not done to prevent it.
Now that most of the hay is cut, some of the farmers find that they have not the heavy crops they had in previous years, which have set them to thinking upon different methods of pasturing.
There is some difference of opinion as to the value of manure to cope with the yellow weed. We have been told that several parties say by spreading manure on their meadows that it causes the yellow weed to grow.
The only persons doing a land office business is the county clerk and deputy—issuing fire permits. They haven't time to play ball with their ink stands at the Headlight man's head for this rush of business, though the deputy claims she can pitch a curve.
Mr. Henry Kunze says that the yellow weed is a blessing in one particular, for those who do not know how to look after their farms will have to quit farming and those who do will eventually get hold of them, and in that way the county will be better off with a better class of farmers.
The Pacific Ocean on the west of us, toll roads on the south of us, the Coast range and toll roads on the east of us, and a bridgeless river on the north of us, is there any wonder, with these conditions, that Tillamook is not attracting any of the thousands of home seekers who are pouring into Oregon?
Attorney T. B. Handley, who is thoroughly familiar with the country over which the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railway Company is building its road from Hillsboro, cannot understand why it should be building away from and not towards Tillamook. Yet this is only one of the mysteries connected with that company.
The Cloverdale Courier is the name of a new paper that made its appearance last week, no doubt, to boom the business of the Cloverdale Mercantile Company. We predict it will be up-hill work and small pay to its editor, who is Merle D. Nelson, but if it can do anything to build up the south end of the county it will do some good.
The Headlight man, in writing a brief description of Tillamook for the pamphlets which are to be sent to the Lewis and Clark fair, and which appeared in this week's Herald, was confined to a limited number of words, hence it was necessary to boil it down, so much so that it does not do the county justice, yet for a pamphlet to be used in that way, brevity is what is required.
Rollie has butted in on the yellow weed question and has turned "knocker"—"knocking" the manure pile and brome grass before it is demonstrated whether that grass is suitable or not. But, then, Rollie knows all about it in his own mind, so it will be almost impossible for the Headlight man to get in a word edge ways now that Rollie has been wound up with yellow wheels in his head.
Said U.S. District Attorney Heney at the land fraud trials in Portland: "Graft is ruining Russia today; graft ruined Rome, the ancient empire of the world, and unless the juries of the Nation sustain the laws of the United States, graft will ruin this country." Those high in public life who used their offices for private gain and for the practice of illegal business were held up before the jury as men worse than thieves and robbers.
Mr. R. J. Hendricks, of Salem, editor of the Statesman, came in on Wednesday to get rid of some of the "hot air" he has generated over in the Willamette valley, in fact, he has made it so hot there that he had to come to the little kingdom of Tillamook to cool off. The Statman's staff can rest easy, for Host Allen, of the Allen house, has the pencil pusher in hand, and we are glad to say that all his "hot air" has evaporated, that he is now as cool as a refrigerator, and with an appetite as big as—well, it is frightening the natives and liable to give them a duck fit. We sincerely hope that Bro. Hendricks will enjoy his visit to the garden spot of Oregon, and that the Salemites, when he returns, will see that it was a good thing that he came to Tillamook to "cool off."
It was to be anticipated that the politicians would endeavor to clip the aspirations of Dr. James Withycombe, who is an aspirant for governor on the republican ticket and is the farmer's candidate. Before entering the race he laid the matter before the regents of Corvallis Agricultural College and a large number of them advised him to remain as director of the experiment station. Now the politicians, with the assistance of four of the regents, started in to do Dr. Withycombe political dirt by trying to create the impression that the doctor was using his office to promote his candidacy, and they further wanted to make it appear that he was neglecting his duties. The people soon see through such flimsy attacks, but as Dr. Withycombe is the most formidable aspirant they have to contend with, it must be expected from this on that the politicians will throw all the political mud at him they can scrape together.

There is a wide difference of opinion as how best to cope with the yellow weed, and which is the best grass to sow in this county, so much so that a number of persons hold to a theory or even with practical experience which next year's conditions may knock in the head. The rapid spread of the yellow weed this year and the outlook for next year is a matter of much concern to everybody, even to those who have bottom lands and who have an idea now that the yellow weed will never trouble them. It is easy enough to be deceived, for it will not surprise us much to see some of the bottom lands affected next year. Therefore, it is not so much theory that is wanted at the present time as it is to know how to cultivate the prairie land so as to get rid of the yellow weed and raise a crop of hay and provide pasture. We are perfectly aware that some advocate one thing and others another thing, but the point to arrive at is, which is the best and which will prove most effective over a space of a number of years.
Cardinal Gibbons thinks that the Press will become the most potent factor in exposing public men who use their offices to "graft." This "grafting" system has become so rotten that it has become a national abuse. It is found in the big corporations, in the national congress, in state and county, in incorporated cities and school districts; in fact, the body politic of the whole country is impregnated with "grafting." And as a solution of the problem, Cardinal Gibbons looks to the Press to expose the persons who "graft," for, he claims, but few public men would care to be mixed up with "graft" if they knew that the searchlight of the Press was going to delve into and expose it to public view. This is what a number of newspapers are doing and there is uneasiness amongst the "graters," not that the Press like to or want to expose public men. It has become a necessity, as Cardinal Gibbons views it, to stop "grafting" in the future. Most every municipality, no matter how large or how small, has to suffer on account of it. But what is the worse kind of "graft" is judges and peace officers taking bribes, and we don't have to go outside of Tillamook county to see the pernicious effect of bribery and corruption, for it was by that means the peace officers allowed gambling to flourish, because, at the same time, they worked a monthly "graft." That is the class of men Cardinal Gibbons wants the Press to show up.
Notice is hereby given that the directors of the McIntosh and McNair Company have filed supplementary articles of incorporation changing the name of said Company to "Alex McNair and Company," in pursuance of a resolution adopted by the stockholders of said Company July 19th, 1905.
Dated this 31st day of July, 1905.
Alex McNair, President.
Attest: Almeda J. McNair, Secretary.
