

A WILD AMERICAN.

Eccentric Millionaire Shocks Japan with His Queer Ways.

Lives with Grave Diggers and Outcasts. Surrounded by Every Form of Vice—Buys Boys and Monks to Fight.

In a paper on defectives, read by Dr. Martin W. Barr, chief physician of the Pennsylvania school for feeble minded children, before the summer school of philanthropy at the charities building, a remarkable instance was mentioned by him of eccentricity that has caused comment in scientific circles.

According to Dr. Barr, this man is a neurotic. It is estimated that his fortune is in the neighborhood of $10,000,000, but no attempt has been made by him to declare incompetent; he is left free to run his course.

He was a physician, rich, handsome, cultured, of aesthetic tastes," said Dr. Barr in his paper, "a graduate of one of the most prominent medical colleges in America, and a man who had made a pronounced hit as a specialist.

His fortune enabled him to secure every medical appliance known to science and for some years he enjoyed phenomenal success. Wine and women proved his bane. He sank lower and lower. His peculiarities no longer tolerated at home, he drifted from capital to capital of Europe, and finally established himself in Japan.

Returning to Japan, he bought a performing bear and wandered from place to place clad in the garb of Hanin, exhibiting himself and his bear, and distributing photographs of each and all in endless variety.

"This master of eccentricity," said Dr. Barr, "shocking both Europe and America, and astounding even Japanese next hired a squad of Japanese boys, practically buying them outright from their parents, who, attired in full uniform, are trained in military exercises.

AN EXTRAORDINARY COW. Josephine's Remarkable Display of Intelligence Greatly Pleased Her Proud Owner.

"It does me good to ride downtown with Slick in the morning," remarked a middle-aged citizen, according to a story in the Detroit Free Press. "He lives out in the suburbs and there is always something doing out there.

"Hello, Dick, how are you? How's the farm? How's your cow?" asked the man man, who went over to sit by the farm novice.

"Oh, the farm's all right; and the cow," replied Dick; "well, she ought to be teaching school—that's a fact. She's the smartest cow I ever saw.

"But Josephine acted strangely. We couldn't get her in the barn at all; she stood in the lane looking toward the pasture and bawled and bawled and bawled. We thought she was only calling Daisy to hurry up and come home. Still she wouldn't go in and still she kept on bawling.

"She stopped bawling as we started down the lane, and, sure enough, at the farthest corner of the pasture, in a little triangle of land where three wire fences cross each other, making a queer little pen, was Miss Daisy. She had got in, out of girlish curiosity, and couldn't get out. We had to pull down a piece of fence to get her out. Now, wasn't Josephine smart? I think so."

The other men all said that Josephine ought to have a telephone out in the pasture so she could call up the house when Daisy got in trouble.

NEW YORK'S CITY HALL.

More Than $250,000 to Be Expended in Making Extensive Alterations in the Building.

The municipal art commission has approved plans for alterations in New York's city hall which will very much change the appearance of this well-known downtown building. The plans call for an expenditure of more than $250,000.

On the second floor the walls and decorations in President Cantor's offices will be treated similarly to those of the mayor's office. White enamel decorations will be used in all cases, and in every way possible the colonial appearance of the original building will be revived.

NAVAL ENGINEERS ELATED.

Experiments with Oil as Fuel on Warships Prove That It Can Be Successfully Used.

Naval engineers are elated over the results of the liquid fuel experiments on board of the Pacific ocean steamer Mariposa. Some time ago Lieut. W. F. Winchue, passed assistant engineer, was detailed to take a trip of several thousand miles with the Mariposa, the object being to acquire technical information bearing upon the use of oil as a substitute for coal on board ships of war.

In the meantime experiments are being conducted in Washington at an elaborate plant, equipped with boilers, a board of naval officers has been detailed to conduct these local experiments. It has already been found that results of a most promising character are assured. There has been much difficulty, however, in obtaining oil. Some sources of supply, notably those in Texas, have not been regular, and the price of the material has greatly increased.

FIGURES ON MINERALS VAST.

Geological Bulletin Shows Production for Year in This Country is Valued at Over $1,000,000,000.

The United States geological survey has issued its annual statistical summary of the mineral products of the United States for the calendar year 1901. It shows for the entire country a grand total of $1,092,224,380, as the value of minerals produced in 1901, against $1,064,408,321 in 1900. This comprises $566,351,096 worth of non-metallic mineral products, $524,873,284 metallic products, and $1,000,000 (estimated) of mineral products unspecified, including building sand, glass sand, iron ore used as flux in lead smelting, tin ore, nitrate of soda, carbonate of soda, sulphate of soda, and alum clays used by paper manufacturers.

DOCTOR REWARDED.

Dr. Schwinger Appointed to the Chair of History of Medicine at Berlin University.

Dr. Schwinger, who treated Prince Bismarck to reduce that statesman's flesh, has been appointed professor of the history of medicine at Berlin university. Prince Bismarck was so grateful that he tried to have Dr. Schwinger appointed nearly 20 years ago, but university circles raised a protest. Dr. Schwinger was Bismarck's physician up to the prince's death, living at Friedrichsruhe. Medical professors of a number of universities are circulating a protest to the government against the appointment, asserting that Dr. Schwinger has never written or taught on the subject of medical discovery.

French Water Power Project.

A prominent electrical concern of Paris, which is closely connected with the General Electric company of New York, is now securing all the water power available in the department of the Alpes Maritimes, with the object of supplying light and power to towns on the southeastern coast of France. The company also hopes to supply power for the electric locomotives which the Paris-Lyon-Mediterranean railway proposes to test on the Cannes-Monaco railway during the winter.

Prefer White at Meal Time.

Experimenters at the University of Chicago have found that mosquitoes have a strong preference for dark red and blue, says the Chicago Record-Herald. They still seem to be able, however, to find the white spots now and then.

A Fatal Mistake.

Prince William made a fatal mistake when he offered to renounce his title for the girl. That, says the Chicago Record-Herald, left no inducement for the latter.

THE CODFISH CAKE.

After a Visit to Gloucester a Person is Likely to Have Increased Respect for It.

It is all interesting to the last degree to watch and see how the ingenious cod, which a few weeks ago swam happily in his native waters off the banks of Newfoundland, is transformed before your very eyes—some of him into codfish cakes (they call the little squares, which are cut to fit the small boxes, "cakes") and the rest of him carefully preserved to make oil, glue and fish guano. Verily, as a witty summer boarder remarked, "every part of the cod is used except the smell."

Certainly, after a visit to Gloucester you have increased respect for the fish cake. You realize the part it has played in the world's history; how it has brought about treaties between great nations—for American fishermen had to get from England the right to fish off the banks—how it has erected lighthouses and placed buoys all along the cruel shore, says Leslie's Weekly. You realize, too, the tragedies it has caused, the widows and orphans it has made, the loving hearts it has broken—for the cruel reef of Norman's Woe, where the wreck of the Hesperus occurred, lies in plain sight just at the entrance to the harbor; and you hear heart-breaking stories of boats that have gone down with all on board, in the very harbor itself, before the eyes of loving ones on shore. Truly, the romance of the codfish cake is no idle sound—after you have been to Gloucester. But all the same after you have made the acquaintance of the cod in the processes of its evolution, and with the recollection of its odor still in your memory, you are quite, quite sure that you will not want any codfish cakes for a very long time.

FRENCH WOMAN A POWER.

Comtesse de Loignes Wields as Great Political Influence as Did Mme. de Maintenon.

Mme. la Comtesse de Loignes still keeps up the only great political salon in Paris. She has a gorgeous home in the Avenue de Champs Elysees and her political power is as great to-day as ever was that of Mme. de Maintenon. Count de Mun is the only member of the chamber of deputies who can afford not to attend her receptions. Ladies leave her severely alone, but men of power are forced to file before her every Thursday from four to seven and to offer incense to this political goddess.

Mme. Adam once wielded a similar power, but she has been politically deserted since Gambetta said he could not be seen in her salons again; and yet she retained her power for years.

But Mme. de Loignes controls them all. Waldeck-Rousseau consulted her before retiring; she told Paul Deschanel not to contest the presidency of the chamber of deputies. She advised the three Castellane brothers to stand for the chamber.

Such is her power that President Loubet calls upon her, to the great chagrin of Mme. Loubet, who is an excellent housewife but not a politician.

Frenchmen are superstitious about the political power of women, says the Detroit News-Tribune. White-haired senators fear her, with the possible exception of Mr. Clemenceau. With her will lie the political influence of a French salon.

YOUR SHARE OF MONEY.

The Amount of Cash Each Person of Our Population Should Have to Be Even.

Have you $28.66? If you have not you are short your per capita share of the money circulation of the United States, and some one has what would be coming to you if the money that is in circulation were equally divided. This statement is made without reservation, on the authority of the latest report of the treasury department, says the New York Herald.

Another thing; you are entitled to seven cents more than you were one year ago, according to this same report, even though there has been allowed for an increase of 113,000,000 in the population, for in that same time there has been an increase of more than 65,000,000 in the money in circulation. So you see you are better off than you were a year ago—if you get your dues.

In fact, you are getting better off all of the time. What has happened since 1879? The population has increased 58 per cent., and the money in circulation has increased 176 per cent., and more than one-half of that increase in circulation has been in gold or in gold certificates.

Smelt the Mastodon.

A correspondent writing to the Chicago Tribune says: "A number of years ago the bones of a mastodon were found in a swampy farm near Three Oaks, Mich. The university was notified, and some men came to disinter the 'relics.' I was standing next to the old farmer who owned the land, when it suddenly occurred to him that he could throw light on the subject, and he remarked: 'Waal, now, I thought I smelt somethin' last summer when I was down here plowin'!'"

A Minister's Busy Life.

An Ohio minister traveled 300 miles to get home to vote at the local option election recently. He went 146 miles by rail, 17 miles by carriage, 130 miles on a bicycle and 7 miles afoot. He led the prayer meeting jollifying over the result.
