Quite a number of the friends of Mr. A. J. Cohn tried to induce him to run for joint representative for Tillamook and Yamhill counties, and although he appreciates the confidence of his friends and would have liked the honor of representing his home county in the state legislature, he had to decline on account of being unable to get away from business. A petition is being circulated to ask Mr. Botts to run, but in all probability he will decline for the same reason.

At a meeting of the Pairview Dairy Association on Monday, which will incorporate with a capital stock of $2,000, at $100 per share, Albert Marolf, William Maddux and W. Tinnerstet were elected directors, and William Maxwell and J. S. Diehl treasurer. There was such a demand for stock all who wanted to were unable to get in on the ground floor, and when it came to a vote being taken as to where the association's money is to be deposited, a unanimous vote was cast in favor of the Tillamook County Bank.

Mr. P. S. Brumby, representing the Blodgett Co., came in over the Wilson River road on Wednesday and left the next day. He informs us that Mr. Blodgett has not given a right of way through his property on the Wilson river road, but is ready to do so whenever a railroad company means business, and all the other timber owners on the same road are willing to do so, but they have no rights of way to give to railroad promoters for them to speculate with. The timber men want a railroad built into Tillamook, and Mr. Brumby thinks that within two years one or more railroad will be built.

The funeral of Mr. James McGhee, who died suddenly in this city, took place on Thursday of last week, the burial being in the Oddfellows' cemetery. Deceased was born at Essex, N.Y., in the year 1858, and at the age of 30 he went to Wisconsin, where he remained two years, and then went to Colorado and engaged in mining, where he remained five years. In 1880 he returned to Wisconsin and on Christmas day of that year married Miss Jennie Curtis. They remained in that state two years and then moved to Minnesota, and in 1880 came to Oregon. Several years he worked in the mines at Sumpter, Or. Deceased leaves a wife and two children to mourn their loss, as he was a kind and loving husband and father, as well as a respected citizen.

Springtime at Haltom's.

There appears to have been a plan concocted by certain parties whereby some of the tough boys were to throw eggs at people after they came out of church on Sunday evening. As Rev. J. E. Connor was on his way from church to visit a sick person that night the boys pelted him with eggs and then hid themselves to the White Corner. No wonder that there is strong talk of a vigilance committee to handle the tough element and those who are at the back of them. It is time to do something as the sheriff, constable and marshal are doing nothing to protect people or property. This is a rotten state of affairs and somebody is liable to be killed before long as a result of the fight the saloon advocates have started in to obtain their object. Public sentiment ought to be aroused against the saloons when they incite a lot of boys to throw eggs at a minister of the gospel while on his way from his church to visit a sick person.

The attempt of Judge Conder and the attorneys, Thayer & Johnson, to remove Mrs. Edith M. Alderman as administratrix of the estate of the late H. H. Alderman, was frustrated when Attorney Danway obtained a temporary injunction from Judge Galloway. The grounds for the injunction are set out in 45 pages of type written matter, which cites the numerous suits brought against Mrs. Alderman, and claims that Judge Conder and Handley & Thayer "have entered into a conspiracy to deprive said estate of any defense in said suit and action, and also to prevent said estate from defending said persons who are sued as bondsmen of said H. H. Alderman, and also to cause said illegal and unjust demand of Tillamook county to be illegally allowed against said estate and said bondsmen. In pursuance of said conspiracy, said defendants have together agreed that said attorneys shall file false charges of mis conduct against Edith M. Alderman, as administratrix of the estate of H. H. Alderman."

Social Dance at the Opera House, Saturday, March 10th, 1906. Good music and good management. Tickets, 75c.

Lost and Died from Exposure.

James S. Gray, who had lived at Nehalem for a number of years, left Seaside on Wednesday of last week to walk in over the trail. He had given his grip to the mail carrier to bring in, who had passed him on the road. After leaving the Short Beach and taking the trail he missed the road and became lost in the brush. For three days and nights he wondered about in the brush and unable to find his way out, when cold and exhaustion overtook him. Finding that Gray had not returned to Nehalem when he was expected, and the mail carrier could give no tidings of him, a search party was organized. He was traced into the brush, which had been tramped down in his effort to get out, and Saturday afternoon, about one o'clock, he was found, face down and near a log, barely alive. He was taken in a wagon to Nehalem, but died on the way about seven o'clock the same evening. The unfortunate man was over 60 years old, has a son living at Nehalem and was a pensioner.
