Clean up the town and clean off the moss from the roofs of the old shacks.

Clean up the town, by all means, but don't forget the thistles and dock weed in back yards and on the streets and in vacant lots.

The "outs" can console themselves by the fact that in a few years time the "ins" will be in the same boat as they are today.

We noticed that upside down, inside out, tail before the horse, appearance of our contemporary again this week, but, then, it is not surprising, anyway, for it is characteristic of Rollie to get tangled up in that way.

The West Side Enterprise gives this bit of advice, which is not out of place at this time: "Don't sign a right of way to any railroad project except on condition that the road be built and put in operation within the next 100 years."

Appropo of the hot weather on Monday, a person remarked to the editor the next day, "Why, it puts me in mind of the weather back home." The editor could not help remarking, "Then you must have come from the hot place."

Under the "dry order" of things next Saturday will be closing day for the Lincoln county saloons. Well, there's lots of "salt water" in the Bay, and its better for the health of the "wets" than the rotten stuff they were continually filling up on.—Yaquina Bay News.

Of course, no one knows how so many votes were counted for Word in Bertha precinct, for that must be kept a profound secret, but it looks significant to most people that should Stevens need a few votes at the tail end of the recount, it was "fixed" that way. Yet everybody is perfectly innocent, it seems. But don't it look rotten, anyway?

If you don't register 30 days before an election, you ought not to be allowed to vote. Anyway, this is how the next state legislature ought to fix it to prevent the colonisation and illegal voting of "floaters." This may be tough on the "floaters" and the politicians who have been in the habit of running in illegal voters, but this must be put a stop to.

The town cows won't be allowed to see the county fair, as the city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting them from being at large from the 15th to the end of August. We move that the city council offer prizes at the fair for the best city cows, for although they are a nuisance in some few respects they keep the grass down and clean up the city in other respects.

Walter L. Tooz has had his mustache cut off since the election, adding remark ably to his youth. Mr. Tooz is bound to be heard from, and is not a has-been by any means.—Albany Democrat. If Bro. Walter had followed Bro. Jonathan's example before the primary election, the result might have given him the nomination, for there was nothing beautiful about Bro. Hawley's mustache.

Do not get excited about rights of way for the proposed railroads. Tillamook will get a railroad before long. But cast your optics in the direction of Seaside, and when they make a start from that point the company will not beg a right of way, but will pay a reasonable sum to the people over whose land their survey run. This seems to be the opinion of those who claim to know the exact railroad situation.

We learn through the Oregonian that Francis J. Hevey is scheduled to arrive in Portland, Sunday, July 1. Let's take to the woods, boys.—Lincoln County News. Say, Bro. Soule, don't "squeal" on your self, even if you have a conscious stricken soul that is worrying you. Better not take to the woods, either, for no sooner would your angelic soul have taken to flight than Bro. Hevey would spirit away Bro. Barnes on the spirit's tracks!

The freeholders who signed the form for persons to swear in their votes and did not know the persons or whether they were residents of the precincts where they propose to vote, commit perjury. Several persons have been indicted in Portland for perjury and for signing the form when they were not freeholders. It may be that some persons in this county have perjured themselves, who would feel mighty uncomfortable if an investigation was made.

The Astoria Herald wants the corner loafers abolished. They are, certainly, a nuisance, and what with the filthy language and the filthy expectation that comes out of their mouths and deposited on sidewalks to be gathered up by lady's dresses, it would be a wise sanitary move for every city to cut out the loafers' corner. But the Herald does not say what is to be done with the boxes of society after the loafers' corner is brought under sanitary conditions. Wonder whether the pork barons could use them?

The new court house is finished and Mr. Snook, the contractor, is entitled to a word of praise for the splendid manner in which he constructed the building and put the finishing touches on it. It was a good job, for the new court house is well built throughout by mechanics who understood their business, for which Mr.

Snook is entitled to credit. He has done quite a number of jobs which the contractor did not call for. It is a convenient and commodious court house, well heated, lighted and ventilated, with cement walls, and will answer all purposes for a number of years. A word of praise is also due ex County Judge Conder and Commissioners Bodyfelt and Loerpel for the pains they took in selecting suitable designs and constructing a building that did not burden the taxpayers, and we are glad to congratulate them now that the building is finished.

It is beginning to dawn upon those who run blind pigs that it is an expensive affair, after all, for Judge Benson, at Albany, fined G. B. Hansard, of Lebanon, $300, and imposed a jail sentence of 20 days, as well, for violating the local option law. The same fine of $300 was imposed upon several men in Florence last week for like offences. It is well to point out what officials are doing in other counties. A few fines like that in Tillamook soon put a stop to the traffic and add money to the county's treasury. It might be well now to ask, how much money ought to have been collected in fines in this county had the officers raided the joints and enforced the law the past 18 months.

The most popular man in Oregon today is Tom Word, ex sheriff of Multnomah county, and his popularity was all brought about because he had the sand to enforce the law. Although defeated by only 25 votes, the support that Word obtained was something he has reason to be proud of, considering the opposition he had to contend with, for he had the republican party, the liquor and gambling interests, as well as a strong and well-known candidate arrayed against him. Word has shown that a sheriff with backbone can enforce the gambling and other laws and is respected by persons of all political faith for doing so. He has set a precedent for other sheriffs, not only in Multnomah, but in other counties, to follow.

Several other counties went into the "dry" column on Sunday, now numbering eight, with numerous precincts in other counties. It seems to be the idea in the counties that have recently gone "dry" that after two years' experience the people will vote "wet." This was what people thought 18 months ago when Tillamook county went "dry," but they proved false prophets. So will those who are prophesying today in counties as to what the result of the election will be two years hence. No one can deny but what a "dry" county is a good thing for quite a large number of persons, and instead of billing business as the saloon people predicted, experience of business men say it is the opposite of that. No matter whether a county is "dry" or "wet," it is the mandate of the people of a county, and the next thing in order is to enforce the local option, and as there are those who think they are smart enough to violate the law, if towns which have lost saloon license money will only get smart soon, they can get quite a bit of money if they enact an ordinance to catch and fine the "blind pigs," for there is such a tendency amongst the saloon keepers who have violated the licensing law in the past they have an idea that they can do the same with the local option law.

Notice is hereby given that the county court of Tillamook county will receive bids for 50 cords of Fir Wood for the courthouse. Wood to be cut in four foot lengths and delivered and placed in the cellar of the courthouse. Wood to be delivered not later than September 1st, 1906. All bids must be filed with the County Clerk on or before August 1st, 1906, at 10 o'clock a.m. By order of the County Clerk, G. B. LAMB, County Clerk.

CLOUGH'S PLAIN TEAT BISTOURY For Cutting Obstructed Teats. Illustration shows instrument both open for cutting and closed for inserting. This obstruction may be a stricture or other growth of a tumorous nature, which is often the result of the bite of a dog, a kick or a bruise caused by going over a fence or through a dense underbrush, or the cow may have had some trouble with that quarter of her bag, and in milking and forcing the thickly curdled milk out, a small rupture had resulted, so that when the scar tissue formed, the opening became smaller. I also carry of German silver milking teats, four different lengths. Improved Instruments for opening obstructed teats without cutting. Feed Probes or Sounds. Clough's Drug Store.
