The steamer Sue H. Elmore left Saturday, her passengers being Mrs. Claude Thayer and daughter, Mrs. Mahler and children, Mrs. Frank Fowler, L. P. Gray, P. F. Brown, Ludwig Hoerd, Mary Maurer, J. C. Hagen and G. Hagen.

Dr. Paul Rader, Superintendent of the Oregon Anti Saloon League, will address the union temperance meeting at the Methodist Church next Sunday evening. Good music will be prepared for this service and a cordial invitation is extended to all to come.

M. R. Hannenkrat is round with the subscription list which is to raise money to procure the free right of way for Mr. Lytle's railroad. Up to the present only $14,000 is subscribed, and as it will probably require another $10,000, this sum ought to be raised right away.

Sunday services at the Christian church, subject of morning sermon: "In the Sphere of Love." All members of the church are requested to be present at the morning service as important business will be brought before the church. A cordial invitation extended to all.

Married, on Sept. 26th, at the home of Chas. Nelson, Elder R. Y. Blalock officiating, Everett Landingham and Miss Mary E. Ward. Both are well-known and highly respected young people of the south end of the county, who have many friends who wish them a long and happy life.

Judge W. Galloway has set the date to hear the arguments in the injunction case wherein John F. Kecher enjoined the Wilson River Road Company from collecting toll, and the date is to-morrow (Friday) at McMinnville. In the absence of Attorney H. T. Botts, who is in Missouri, Attorney Ralph Daniway will argue the case for Kecher and Attorney Tongue for the road company.

For tick-taking the United Brethren church and adjoining congregation on Wednesday evening, a number of boys and girls have got themselves into trouble now that the strong arm of the law is after them, the first to be arrested are Toby Smith, Wm. Catterlin and John Aschim. It is to be hoped that the window smashers will be pulled also, for they should not escape if the smaller fry is to be prosecuted.

Engineer Davis, of the Pacific Railway and Navigation Co. R.R., left for Portland on Saturday. He returned to the city today (Thursday) and reports that Mr. Lytle has accepted the modified proposition and the bond signed by him, and to make good his part of the agreement, Engineer Davis has instructions to get his surveys completed as soon as possible, after which work on the road will be commenced and rushed to completion.

A Window Smashing Mania.

For some time past a gang of young men have had a mania for smashing windows in Tillamook City and it is time the city and county officials brought the culprits to justice. Property owners pay taxes for protection, and they are entitled to it and should demand it. For several weeks windows have been broken in different parts of the city. The Presbyterian church has suffered, Cohn & Co.'s building opposite the Allen house had another window knocked in last week J. C. Bewley had a sign pulled down and a window smashed in his office. D. T. Edmunds was a victim on two occasions and had windows smashed. Alex. McNair & Co.'s window was defaced by a filthy word being cratched into it. J. W. McMillan had the glass in his show case smashed to atoms. Early Sunday morning the gang again attacked the Headlight office and did damage to J. S. Lamar's property to the extent of two large windows. In the old school building, every window is smashed with the exception of two or three. Probably they are damaged to other property, but there is a stop to it if the city and county officials should round up the gang that was out early Sunday, for if this is not done there is no telling when they will start in smashing plate glass windows and committing worse crimes.

GUARANTEE RIGHT OF WAY.

Mr. Lytle's Proposition is Modified and Bond Turned Over.

At a meeting of the business men Friday evening at the rooms of the Tillamook Development League, the question of the free right of way came up and was further discussed, and as it was time to either hold over the glad hand and accept Mr. Lytle's proposition or reject it, the time had arrived when something had to be done so that Mr. Lytle could make his plans to commence work. Engineer G. Davis was present, and it was ultimately decided to guarantee a free right of way, but somewhat modified from the first proposition. This is the essence of the new agreement: Free terminal grounds at Tillamook City, free right of way 100 feet wide between Tillamook City and Nehalem, and from there to the county line it is not to cost the citizens more than $10,000. Mr. Lytle is to obtain the right of way from the county line to Buxton, in Washington county, at his own expense. Claude Thayer was the first to sign the bond with a subscription of $2,000 and next day it was circulated amongst the business men and others, most of whom signed it, and was then turned over to Engineer Davis, who left with it on Saturday evening for Portland. Thus closed the best railroad proposition ever offered to Tillamook county, and now the deal is closed people will have confidence that a railroad is to be built in the near future. As to the cost of the free right of way, it is thought that $24,000 will be sufficient, and with everybody subscribing as liberally as possible, there ought not to be any trouble in Tillamook holding up her end of the bargain if everybody will do their part and give the subscription list a boost, for this is no time to stand back and knock.

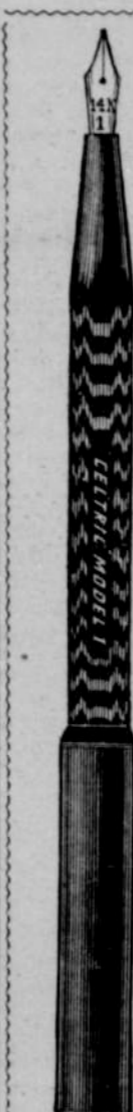

BEAR CHASE AND FIGHT

Mrs. M. J. Cone Shows Remarkable Courage and Pluck.

Mrs. M. J. Cone, who lives at Netarts with her husband, and who has leased the Maxwell place near the rocks at that favorite summer resort, had an highly exciting bear chase on Saturday, which required courage and proved Mrs. Cone a plucky and determined hunter, the events of which would have scared many a man and made him beat a hasty retreat. Mrs. Cone and her husband went down to the Maxwell place together, and Mrs. Cone returned alone. She was horseback and was packing a lot of garden truck. She was well on her way to her home when she encountered a large black bear, one of the largest seen for a long time in that neighborhood. Being unharmed, she succeeded in passing the bear, when she drove at a gallop to her home. Here she armed herself with a 32 40 Winchester and took along with her a sheep dog, and with these returned to wage war to the death. Mrs. Cone located the bear at the sheep corral, and coming within close range, took her first shot at the big brute. The shot took effect and broke the bear's fore leg, and another shot entered its nose and came out at the side of the head. Finding it too tropical, the bear took to cover and wallowed around in the brush. Mrs. Cone continued on its trail, when the bear took to the thick brush. Still undaunted, she followed the bear, although her clothes somewhat retarded her progress, some of which she discarded while in pursuit in the thick brush. For over a mile she followed the bear, and managed, whenever she had an opportunity, to take a shot. During that part of the chase Mrs. Cone plugged the bear four times with lead, which made it desperately savage. It stopped and showed fight. Taking a position upon a log, where it had been driven by the dog and Mrs. Cone, the dog commenced attacking it. The bear at first succeeded in lancing the dog off with its paw, when a fight ensued. This did not last long, for stepping up to within fifteen feet of the bear she took aim at its breast and fired. The bear fell from the log, still in a savage and threatening mood. The dog was just as game, for no sooner had the bear fallen off the log than the dog pounced on top of it. Here the bear and dog got into a desperate fight, in which the dog got the worst of it. Catching the dog by the mouth, the bear broke its jaw and succeeded in holding it down and would have killed it had not Mrs. Cone come to the rescue. Coming right up to the bear she placed the barrel of the Winchester on the back of the neck of the bear and for the last time pulled the trigger. The shot proved fatal, for the bear lay at her feet in its last agonies and the dog was rescued from the bear's grip. Mrs. Cone retraced her steps and advised her husband and neighbors, who went into the brush and brought the bear out, which proved to be a large one and had a fine skin with heavy fur. When dressed it weighed 337 pounds and was very fat. Mrs. Cone rendering it down and filled several buckets. During the chase and fight on Saturday Mrs. Cone fired nine shots, seven of which took effect.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an anti-septic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Chas. I. Clough's Drug Store.
