County Clerk Lamb had a man's job on his hands on Tuesday moving into his new house. This is one time in a man's life when he wishes he did not possess so much household truck, especially if he is "green" in the furniture moving business, and the editor would have offered his assistance, but one "green" hand was enough moving George's belongings.

Wm. S. Walton, of Salem, and James Walton, jr., of Portland, came in on Sunday, and will have positions in the bank of C. & E. Thayer when that institution is turned into the First National Bank of Tillamook about the 15th Jan. They have been in the employ of Banker Bush, of Salem, who will have an interest in the bank.

We understand that it is the intention of the Tillamook County Bank to increase its capital stock in the near future, and as a number of local people have wanted to become interested in the bank there is not much doubt but what all the additional capital required can be raised at home, which we have since learned have been done to the extent of $30,000, M. W. Harrison retaining controlling interest in the bank.

Seth Moon was in the city on Monday from Blaine, and he informs us that the roads in that section are dangerous and almost impassable, and to overcome this unsatisfactory state of affairs another year, the settlers are wanting the court to build them another bridge. If the county court will consent to this the settlers will build over a mile of road right away and will agree to haul the lumber for the bridge as well. That appears to be a fair proposition, for whenever the settlers in any section show a disposition to take off their coats and help out, we think it is a good thing for the county court to encourage and sanction propositions like that of the Blaine settlers, who ought to have had a good road before this.

At the city caucus on Saturday evening the attendance was small compared to previous years, there being very little interest taken and no slate previously fixed up. Mayor H. T. Botts was re-nominated, as were also Recorder J. C. Holden and Treasurer J. S. Stephens. No one would consent to run for city marshal, hence there was no nomination for that office. As the mayor can cut the city marshal off at the pockets if he fails to perform the duties, and better wages to be obtained elsewhere, may have had something to do with lack of aspirants. For councilmen, the nominations were: First ward, A. K. Case; second, J. P. Allen; third, G. Munson; fourth, A. T. White; fifth, W. C. King. Water commissioners: At large, S. A. Brodhead; second ward, A. McNair.

The friends of Mr. A. P. Wilson will be pleased to hear that he is doing well. He was a former resident of this county, and is now engaged in mining at Grass Valley, Cal. He writes: "We are all in our usual good health and able to read the Headlight, which arrives every Tuesday. I am glad to note the prospects for a railroad to Tillamook in the near future, for with it Tillamook should surely become the most prosperous county in the state. I am still in the mining business, so am busy all the time. Our mine, The New York Grass Valley, is now down 1,400 ft., with a good strong four foot ledge. There have been taken out of it so far nearly three-fourths of a million, and we hope to make it one of the big producers of the camp." In closing, Mr. Wilson wishes to be remembered to all old Tillamookers.

The program Tuesday evening at the musical given by the pupils of St. Alphonsus Academy was good and was rendered, the vocal solos all deserving a word of praise, showing that the pupils had been well trained. The drill and pantomime, given by the senior and junior classes, were special features of the evening's entertainment, which also deserve commendation. The program was as follows:

"Again we Meet"..... Opening Chorus.

"Every One you meet has Troubles"..... Vocal solo, by Miss Theresa Durrer.

Sheriff Crenshaw returned from Salem last week where he had taken A. I. Hembree, the Sandlake murder. In going over the Wilson road, they encountered numerous trees across the road. At first one of the party watched Ab, while the others cut their way through, but as they required more help, the sheriff made Ab lend a hand. He objected at first, for he was feeling sore that he had been shackled, but he eventually consented to do so, after the sheriff had given him the hint, for Hembree was afraid of Crenshaw. Arriving at Forest Grove after train time he felt again sore that the sheriff did not take him to the hotel for the night, but locked him up in jail, where he spent the night in durand vile. Next day he was taken to Salem, arriving at the penitentiary in the afternoon. He was told to partly take off his clothes, and when he came to his suspenders he asked the guard whether he really meant it. The guard's convincing answer satisfied Ab that he was up against it and he had to obey. When it came to having his beard cut off and his head shaven, Ab raised a big objection. He was told that the penitentiary was no place to raise objections, so had to submit. He was given a bath and put into prison clothes, assigned a cell and put to work in the factory. The last that the sheriff saw of him was in that costume. Sheriff Crenshaw thinks that it would be a good thing if more people could visit a penitentiary and see what prisoners are up against who are sent there, for it would have a restraining influence upon a great many men if they thoroughly realized what await them in committing crime.

THE OCEAN BEACH IS CHANGING HANDS.

Great Activity in Real Estate in Vicinity of Tillamook and Netarts Bay.

(From the Oregon Journal.)

Practically the entire ocean beach in the vicinity of Tillamook and Netarts Bay is changing ownership, in anticipation of the developments attending the building of two railroads connecting with Portland. It is believed in various quarters that Tillamook beaches, with railroad transportation, will become the most popular beaches on the north Pacific coast.

There is great activity in building a realty at Tillamook City. The building of about 40 houses is now contracted for and construction will be carried on this winter.

"Tillamook is one of the most active business points in Oregon today," said B. O. Snuffer at the Imperial hotel yesterday. Mr. Snuffer, who is in Portland on real estate business, is an old-time merchant and one of the best known men in Tillamook county.

"The Astoria & Columbia River railroad is surveyed from Seaside to Tillamook City, and about one half of the right of way has been secured. Condemnation suits for a third of the remainder have been started. The survey of the Pacific Railway & Navigation company is completed to Tillamook City, rights of way are purchased excepting five tracts on the route, and terminal grounds are bought at Tillamook. Ground has been broken in the city, and grading is under way. The tunnel at Hobsonville has been opened and work in it will be carried on all winter. Tillamook City is sure of two steam railroads and there is strong probability of an electric line from Portland. You can just say that things are moving out Tillamook way."

Land Changes Hands.

More than 1,000 acres of beach lands have changed hands in the last 30 days. The prediction of a German visitor, Count Von Lauterbach, who hunted bear in Tillamook county six weeks ago, is coming true much sooner than was expected. He came all the way from Germany to hunt bear in Oregon, and spent nearly two weeks in Tillamook county. He took three bear and a number of cougar and was delighted with the country. It is said he has five men at $5 per day each to wait upon him, and his display of wealth fairly dazzled people on the coast. He was much embarrassed by the lack of accommodations, and declared that within the next year he would return and build a $5,000 hotel on Netarts beach. He predicted that this beach would become the most popular beach on the coast, and said he would return once a year with a party of German friends for a season of hunting big game. His first bear in Tillamook county cost him $5,000, counting the money spent from the time he left home in Germany.

Syndicate to Build Hotel.

A syndicate of Portland men will beat the county's time on the hotel proposition. They have organized a company and purchased a tract of 4.2 acres on the peninsula, with the ocean in front and Netarts bay back of it. In the syndicate are W. W. Cotton, Louis G. Clark, William W. Woodward, Phil Metschan Jr., W. H. Morrow, Chester G. Murphy, Ben Alberts, John Manning, H. M. Adams, B. E. Haney, C. G. Moser, all of Portland; B. O. Snuffer, Tillamook; W. Ferguson, Astoria; Judge Hamilton, Roseburg. It is proposed that a complete ocean beach resort be laid out, and a hotel of 400 rooms will probably be built by Phil Metschan & Son.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1906 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Cold, at Chas. I. Clough's Drug Store, Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
