Owing to the death of Mr. Sander, the entertainment could not be carried out as advertised at St. Alphonsus Academy on Tuesday evening, which was turned into a basket social, at which there was a good attendance.

It is reported that Mr. Ira Latimer and Miss Calla Young were married on Sunday at Clatskanie and that the happy couple will return to this city on the next trip of the steamer, when congratulations will be in order.

Representative Beals is certainly looking after the interest of Tillamook in the state legislature. Notwithstanding the opposition of the timber men, he succeeded in getting his assessment bill through the house, also for a dairy and cheese inspector.

The steamer Sue H. Elmore came in on Sunday, her passengers being Mrs. Morton and daughter, Miss Blanch McNeil, Miss Holmes, Mrs. Melson, Mrs. Tillet, Mr. Fowler and wife, Messrs. Knight, Holtz, Fursey, Dingman, Hollister, Blue and Coates.

The Tillamook Creamery elected Geo. Williams for a term of three years as director; M. Melchior for two years and E. W. Stanley for one year. M. W. Harrison was elected treasurer. The Creamery is in fine condition and declared a dividend of 10 per cent on stock.

The monthly union temperance service took place on Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church, which was crowded, the address being made by Rev. D. L. Schrode, pastor of the M.E. church, who gave a good discourse, which was attentively listened to by the large congregation.

Dr. Ross was called to Hobsonville on Thursday to attend to the injuries sustained by W. L. Ducey, superintendent of the Miami Lumber Co.'s saw mill, who had his foot caught between some cog gearing while he was crossing it, crushing it so badly that a doctor had to be sent for.

The passengers who went out on the Sue H. Elmore on Wednesday were Mr. Northrup and wife, Rose Walling, E. W. Dingman, J. Stanfield, W. M. Stratton, P. Metcham, H. A. Metcham, W. E. Grace, O. I. Edwards, F. Hannenkrat, Homer Mason, W. G. Dwight and W. R. Hollister.

Sim Earl brought suit in the circuit court Saturday against Fred C. Baker, editor of the Tillamook Headlight, for libel, and claims $5,000 damages. The cause of action is that the Headlight printed in a paragraph the name of Sim Earl, where the name of Jesse Earl should have appeared.

The Grangers of Fairview will give a basket dance at their hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 21. Come everybody and a good time is promised. Baskets to be sold to the highest bidder. The auctioneer to be one of Fairview's old maids. Good music, good prompter and a good old fashioned time.

One steam schooner, the Coquille River, and three wind jammers, the Queen, Ida Schnauer and Gotama, have loaded at the Miami Lumber Co.'s saw mill at Hobsonville. The Coquille River sailed on Thursday and the Queen on Sunday, and the Gotama was towed in on Thursday and the Ida Schnauer on Sunday.

A drama, "Among the Breakers," will be given by the students of the High School, on Feb. 22nd, at the opera house. A strong cast has been selected and with the hard work which is being done in preparation, the play should be one of the best local talent entertainments ever given in Tillamook. Tickets on sale at Clough's Drug Store.

A suit was filed in the circuit court on Wednesday against Tillamook City by W. B. Stephens, who claims $500 damages. Stephens fenced in part of the street opposite his property on Sunday, which had never been dedicated to the city, but which appears to have been used as a street for a number of years. The city officials had the fence removed, and as a result Stephens is wanting the city to pay him $500.

A bill has been introduced by Representative Beals to increase the salary of the deputy clerk from $600 to $900 a year. If we may be allowed to make a remark, $900 a year is small enough pay for a job with so much work and which requires so close attention, and, besides, one must be a stenographer to fill the position as it should be.

Mr. Carl Haberlach, in correcting two errors in the reports which we published last week, makes these corrections: Report of Clover Leaf Creamery: Should have read 13 cents per pound instead of 1/2 cents more than at 2 cents for making. Report of Maple Leaf Creamery: Total amount was $45,884.20, making the average received for cheese 11.85 cents per pound.

Lloyd Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell, who had undergone a long spell of sickness, died on Sunday at the home of his parents at South Prairie. The funeral took place on Tuesday, the religious service being in the Christian church, conducted by the Rev. G. P. Zimmerman, and the burial was in the Odd-fellows cemetery, which was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends.

The regular semi-annual teachers' examination is now in progress in this city. The examination is being held in the High School building. The class is an unusually small one, there being only ten applicants in attendance. Those attending are Mr. G. A. Hoover, Mrs. Nina Hoover, Woods; Miss Mabel Noyes, Miss Osie Grace, Oretown; Miss Maud Dant, Miss Grace Spaulding, Miss Rachel Fletchall and Miss Pauline Walton, Tillamook; Miss Blanche Ripley, Balm; and Miss Lillie Schollmeyer of Nehalem.

Rev. A. E. Wingert, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Cloverdale, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Dr. Baird, of the Presbyterian church in this city, on Sunday next. We are sure that the people in the south end of the county will be glad of the opportunity to hear Rev. Dr. Baird, who has the respect and admiration of the people of this vicinity. And as Rev. Mr. Wingert has the reputation of being a good speaker, the citizens are cordially invited to hear him preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, morning and evening.

General Manager Talbot, of the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Co., made the announcement in Portland last week that the extension of that company's line from Seaside to Tillamook will be along the Coast survey in place of the inside route, as at first contemplated. He stated that the board of directors has formally accepted the Coast survey between Seaside and Nehalem, and that beyond that point the Coast route affords so much better grades and easier curves than does the inside route that its acceptance is practically certain to be decided upon.

It is with regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Joseph Sander, which took place at Ashland, Ore., on Friday last, the cause of death being cancer, which he was suffering with before he left Tillamook last July with his wife, two sons, Leo and Louis Sander, and daughter, Miss Mary Sander. Previous to leaving this county he underwent two operations, one being performed by Dr. James Wiley, of Portland. Mr. Sander was a man who was greatly respected, and his friends here were sorry to hear of his death and express their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Cloverdale School Officers Meet.

Another school officers' convention was held by Sup't. Wiley last Saturday, this time at Cloverdale. About seventy-five persons were present. This was a very good attendance when one takes in consideration the fact that no such meeting had ever been held before in the south end of the county.

The meetings were held in the Nestucca Presbyterian Church at Cloverdale, and dinner was served to all present in the Grange Hall.

The program consisted of many very timely topics in reference to school matters.

SCHOOL APPARATUS.

The county superintendent led the discussion on needed school apparatus, in which he made a plea for better furnished schoolrooms. The subject was discussed much further by several others.

BETTER SCHOOL GROUNDS.

This subject was discussed by Mr. G. A. Hoover, of Woods, in which he urged all school boards to improve their grounds, have the same fenced, and then plant trees and otherwise improve the appearance of the premises.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS' DUTIES.

Mr. A. Arstall opened a spirited discussion on duties of school boards, in which he urged the school directors to first employ good teachers and then stand back of the teacher and give them proper support.

LIBRARIES.

Mrs. Ethel K. Brown addressed the association on the value of libraries, and urged the parents to encourage their children to read the best of books.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

A declamatory contest was held in connection with the meeting in which twelve of the children from the different schools of that community took part. Miss Zuretha Gage, of District No. 42, was awarded first prize, which was a year's subscription to the "Youth's Companion." Second prize was awarded to Miss Etta Wilson, of District No. 22, who received a gold fountain pen awarded by the Tillamook Headlight. Harry Hogan received third prize.

LOCAL ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED.

A local school officers' association was organized and regular meetings will be held in future. The officers chosen were as follows: President, Mr. W. A. Gage, of District No. 42; Vice President; Mrs. Jane Gist, of District No. 4; Secretary, Mrs. Ethel Kety Brown, of District No. 22; Executive Committee: Frank Worthington, J. J. McGinnis, Grace Wilson, W. W. Wiley. The next meeting of the association will be held on April 6. Sup't. Wiley announces that the Nehalem School Officers' Association will meet again on March 2 next.

Editorial Snap Shots.

Chapter IV.—"And," continued Mr. —, "the $10,000 was divided amongst four persons."

How peaceable it is amongst the dairy associations since the dairymen have succeeded in running their own business.

Talk about the cow nuisance, it is not half as bad as the dog nuisance, with their incessant barking night after night.

The speaker at the union temperance meeting on Sunday placed the violators of the law and the anarchists in one class.

W. B. Smith gave the snap shot man the glad hand on Saturday. He must have come off his high horse to want to shake hands with such a bad man he tried to make the snap shot man to be.

We begin to think that "Bricktop" is a prince when compared to the bootleg contingent of the whiskey ring which sold a concoction of poison to a lot of boys. No wonder that the citizens are getting highly indignant again when boys and men's lives are placed in jeopardy by the law breakers.

It seems to us that a grand jury ought to be called at the next term of the circuit court to inquire into the matter of manufacturing whiskey, for it is time that that faction of the "whiskey ring" ought to be brought to justice and put out of business when the stuff they are manufacturing are bringing boys and men who drink it to premature graves. But, then, the "whiskey ring" don't care a whoop how many boys and men it kills off.

The Telegram says: "When you live in a locality where you can make a cow return a revenue of nearly $75 a year there is justification in the boast that you are in a Simon-pure dairying country." If the Telegram had written that way some years ago, people would have imagined Tillamook was full of politicians of the Simon-pure brand. But we wish to thank the Telegram for the editorial comment on the creamery reports, for it appears in the best and we consider the newsiest newspaper in Portland.

As a result of the "whiskey ring's" defiant determination to violate the local option law, and the effort to override the will of the people of Tillamook county, the violators of the law are forcing the citizens to line-up with the anti saloon advocates. If the "whiskey ring" has hopes of carrying the county next year, it is going to be fooled again, for the recent violations of the law by the bootleg contingent of the whiskey ring made so many persons disgusted that they will keep on voting for local option, for anyone can see that the sentiment is becoming stronger and more pronounced against those who violate the law. The Oretown Grange has gone on record, so has the Ministerial Association of this city, but the two elections on the local option law in this county was as pronounced as anything could be that the people wanted the law enforced, and they are of the same opinion today. But it is the whiskey ring that is defying the law and the people, as the recent raid by Sheriff Crenshaw plainly proves. Under these circumstances it is not surprising that the anti-saloon advocates are becoming still more aggressive and that the whiskey ring is losing ground because of their determination to violate the law.

The dairymen who live on the Wilson river and others whose lives are endangered when they come to town as a result of the high water in the roads that is caused by the jam of logs in the Wilson river have just cause of complaint and are entitled to consideration and redress. There are two ways in which this can be done. First, to compel Mr. Hadley to remove the logs, and second, for the county to build a trussel where the road runs near the Goodspeed place. The latter appears to be the right thing for the county to do, for whenever there is high water that piece of road is dangerous to the traveling public and cuts off travel in that direction. As to whether the jam of logs in causing injury to people's land, that is a different matter and for the parties themselves to fight out, but when it endangers people's lives on the public highway and stops travel, as it did last week, something ought to be done to right away to remedy it. It is not only necessary that the trussel should be put in, but Mr. Hadley ought to use as much expedition as possible in removing the logs, and if he does so in a reasonable length of time the difficulties will soon be overcome. In the meantime, the jam is inundating a number of farms along the Wilson river and making travel on the public highway dangerous whenever the rain descend copiously enough to cause a freshet, which are of frequent occurrence at this season of the year.

A Correction.

In our issue of January 31 we made a mistake (in giving a list of the cases and the names of the jurors who tried the local option cases) in saying the "Sim Earl case" instead of the "Jesse Earl case." This was simply an error on our part, and had Sim Earl called upon us, or had our attention been directed to it, we would have gladly corrected the mistake in our last issue. We do so now, however, and in expressing our regret to Mr. Earl, we can assure him with all sincerity and candor that we had no intention whatever in printing his name in the case. These and similar mistakes find their way into newspapers occasionally, both in the country press as well as the large daily newspaper, so we adopt the general custom amongst newspapers to correct the trivial error.

This is how we intended and how the paragraphs should have read:

Jesse Earl case, first trial—For conviction: M. W. Harrison, F. S. Whitehouse, B. F. Durfee and W. S. Hays. For acquittal: S. A. Brodhead and J. P. Allen.

Jesse Earl case, second trial—For conviction: G. Munson, F. R. Beals and L. L. Stillwell. For acquittal: Ben Turner, Thos. Lyster, Eli Olds.

A few weeks ago we were misinformed and placed Dr. Sharp's name in the place of another person. The Dr. called upon us and pointed out the error, and we informed him that we would correct it in our next issue. The Dr. said, in a gentlemanly manner, "That's all right," and with a smile on his countenance left the office. Only last Monday, Carl Haberlach asked us to correct some trivial mistakes he made in his reports which we published last week, so make the corrections for him in this issue. The smokes would have been on Carl, but we took compassion on him, for he blowed in a lot of cigars in trying to become county treasurer. In Monday's Oregonian that newspaper conveyed the impression in the headlines of an article from Tillamook that one, instead of the whole band of W. B. Alderman's bovines, averaged nearly $75 per cow. But, to cap the climax, Tuesday's Oregonian said it was "Sam" Earl who had brought suit for damages against the editor of this newspaper, and in its news report of the same day in giving an account of the interview between the President and the California delegation on the Japanese question, made this break: "The delegation refused to be influenced by a more indefinite promise. The members declared that there must be something conclusive in sight before they receded from their position. A deadlock followed the exchange of wives, which consumed nearly two hours."

But no one believes that the President and Californians exchanged "wives" for two hours, but they do believe that they exchanged "views."

At Nehalem.

I will be in Nehalem, Saturday, February 23rd (one day), to do optical work.

Anyone having trouble with their eyes will find it to their advantage to call early in the day.
