TILLAMOOK JOTTINGS.

Good musical program in connection with the contest at the Opera House, Saturday evening.

Tillamook's excellent orchestra will play at the High School Saturday night. Tickets at Clough's.

Wanted Timber Chims.—I will pay cash for timber. Don't sell without first seeing me. Ralph Ackley.

You will see a good, lively contest if you attend the High School entertainment on Saturday evening.

Fred Sappington has been figuring on going into business with a stock of groceries in the Olsen building.

Mr. B. G. Magoon, representing Sherman Clay & Co., of Portland, piano and organ dealers, is in the city.

You are behind the times if you don't use that stumping powder on those stumps. King & Smith have it.

Come and see the total eclipse of W. J. Bryan's reputation as an orator. Oratorical Contest at the Opera House. Tickets at Clough's.

S. Lundberg, Wm. Crawford, Albert Crawford, G. Knight, A. Zimmerman and S. C. Larsen were down from Nehalem the first part of the week.

We have money to loan on improved farming land. We pay par for county warrants and make no charge for cashing pension checks.—Tillamook County Bank.

George W. Grayson returned from The Dalles last week, where he had visited his wife and son. He brought four horses while there and brought them in to work on the stage line.

Wm. Mills, who sold out his interest in the hardware business, will open up a grocery business in the building opposite the post office with a new stock of goods about the first of the month.

Mr. M. F. Harrison, of the Tillamook County Bank, has shown his deep interest in the success of the High School by offering a set of historical works to the winning society in the Oratorical Contest Saturday evening.

At a meeting of the Tillamook Development League on Thursday evening it was decided to take 750 copies of the Salem Statesman, paying $75 for them, which is to contain a special write up of Tillamook county, with illustrations.

V. N. Perry has been doing the janitor's work at the court house while William Bodyfelt was out serving papers for the sheriff. He had to keep up steam with wet slab wood, so can sympathize with the women who have to cook with that kind of fuel.

Rev. A. E. Winger left on Monday to attend the meeting of the Presbytery in Portland and will be away from the city next Sunday. He is a splendid speaker, and the Presbyterians are greatly pleased that he succeed in inducing Mr. Winger to become their pastor.

A board of arbitration decided Thursday to give W. N. Vaughn $300 for the right of way through his farm. This was what the right of way committee thought was a liberal allowance, but as a settlement could not be obtained it was decided to arbitrate the matter.

The Headlight is a day late in making its appearance, but the editor has no apologies to make, for he has been working like a son of gun lately at job work, and it was Wednesday afternoon before he could find time to devote to the newspaper. But it so happened there were very little local happenings to report. Who said local option was going to kill business in Tillamook City? Rats!

A Store With REGULAR CUSTOMERS

It is always flattering to a store to have many regular customers. People who come again and again must have confidence.

A large percentage of our business comes from regular customers who trade here year in and year out. They know our methods are right and that they will always be used as we would like to be were we the buyer instead of seller. Why not make this your regular trading place for drugs and medicines.

CLOUGH

of the State of California, he always showed a marked degree of ability and legal talent, and this, combined with his keen sense of justice and impartial dealings, will make him not only an ornament but a very valuable acquisition to the justices' bench. His friends in this county will be glad to hear that Mr. Selph obtained the appointment.

Married, at Blaine, on Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McClay, by Rev. R. Y. Blainock, Mr. N. R. Moon and Mrs. Martha E. Roy. Only relatives of the contracting parties were present, who are well known and respected citizens of Blaine, where they will continue to make their home. After congratulations were bestowed on the happy couple a sumptuous dinner was partaken of which had been prepared by the daughters of the bride, Mrs. R. B. McClay and Mrs. S. W. Lucas. The next day another beautiful dinner was given at the home of the groom, where they again received and entertained friends and relatives.

The work which the government will undertake in improvements in Tillamook will consist in dredging and snag pulling with the present plant owned by the last in this county, viz., Mr. Man Sand, Groat, and work will start up in a few days. No part of the $10,000 appropriation will be expended on the bar, but a survey will be made as a preliminary to a project for the bar. The project will also propose straightening and deepening the channel. One of the important works the government will undertake this year will be the construction of a dredge for deepening the minor coast harbors of Oregon and Washington. For this dredge $100,000 has been appropriated. The dredge will be built and ready for digging next year. It will be employed on such harbors as Tillamook Bay and Bar, Yaquina Bay, Siuslaw River, Coos Bay and Harbor and Coquille River.

Another old settler, and who was at a ripe old age, passed away on Tuesday in this county, viz., Mr. Man Sand, aged 90 years, on Sunday, April 7, 1907. Deceased was born in Skene, Sweden, Nov. 30, 1816, and came to the United States in 1849, locating in Minnesota, where he lived until 1867, when he came to Tillamook, and lived in the county for 40 years, being a respected citizen. He was married to Christian Peterson in 1845. To this union two children were born, one boy, dying in infancy, and a girl, who became the wife of Peter Brant. She died in 1875. He lost his companion in 1893. His only surviving relatives are three grand children, Mrs. Mary Swanson, John and Alice Brant, and two great grand children, Mr. Sand was confirmed in the Swedish Lutheran church, of which he was a member when he came to the United States. After he located in Minnesota he joined the Swedish Methodist church, and was a member of the same until the time of his death. The funeral was held on Wednesday in the Methodist church and the interment in the Hill cemetery. Messrs. Peter and John Brant wish to thank their friends for their kindness and sympathy.

The New Hardware Firm.

The new firm of King & Smith, dealers in hardware, tinware, china and glass, paints and oils, bicycles and sporting goods, will aim to keep a first class and up-to-date stock of goods, who solicit a share of the patronage and promise their customers a square deal and fair treatment. Mr. W. C. King, being well known all over the county, has established a good business reputation in the county for fair dealing, and with his son-in-law, Ira Smith, as his partner, a young man with fine business qualifications, the new hardware firm of King & Smith will command a good share of the patronage. Their stock of hardware will be made complete as soon as possible, a large order having been placed with the wholesale houses for that purpose with a splendid stock of new goods, which will include china and glass ware, King & Smith will aim also to keep in stock the best paints, oils and varnishes, and those who contemplate doing any painting would do well to see them about prices. King & Smith will cater to the bicycle trade the coming summer, keeping only the best makes of wheels in stock, with a complete line of bicycle supplies, and will also be prepared to do all kinds of bicycle repairing, employing a skilled workman to do the work in the best possible manner and despatch, so that the firm of King & Smith will become headquarters for cyclists the coming summer. King & Smith will carry the most complete line of sporting goods ever seen in Tillamook county, and with the large growth in population the coming summer, the new hardware firm starts out under favorable conditions and with prospects of doing a large amount of business like the other business houses of the city.

A Challenge.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.

Last week the Editor of the Headlight made the suggestion that the "Old Maids of Fairview" come to Town, reproduce their play and use the proceeds in repairing the sidewalk from town to the cemetery.

Now, the old maids want to know what is the matter with the bachelors of Tillamook City? The old maids are contemplating on building a new sidewalk from Fairview Hall to connect with the one at the cemetery some time this summer. Come, bachelors of Tillamook City, the old maids will meet you there with a good four-foot walk and we expect you to meet us there with as good from town. What a happy meeting it will be.

PRESIDENT OF THE OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION.

Tillamook.

Tillamook is to have a condensed milk factory, thus adding one more agency for the marketing of its products. This will be of value to dairymen not only because it will add a new market, but because it means competition between condensing factories, creamery and cheese factories, and probably slightly higher prices. At any rate, producers can scarcely suffer from multiplication of buyers of their products.

ELECTRIC PROCESS OF TREATING FLOUR PROVES A BIG SUCCESS.

Increases Whiteness and Improves Bread-Making Qualities of Hard Wheat—Installed by Wasco Warehouse Milling Company for Making White River Flour.

Real Lightning Does It.
A flaming discharge of electricity, tearing air into ions—
The ionized air being pumped into the agitator of a flour mill so it reaches and treats every minute particle of flour—
This new process has so improved the qualities of hard wheat flour that it bids fair to revolutionize the milling of Oregon and Washington hard wheat.

First to Be Installed.
Hundreds of Tillamook housekeepers who have been making bread of White River Flour during the last few months will be interested to learn that every particle of that flour has been treated by electricity. The improved bread-making qualities of the flour, and its whiteness in comparison with any other hard wheat flour, are due mainly to the installation of a new electric process in the 2,000-barrel mill of the Wasco Warehouse Milling company, at The Dalles, Oregon, where White River Flour is made. This White River mill is the first of the kind to be installed in Oregon.

Has Whitest Bloom.
Hard wheat flour, made from Bluestem wheat, has long been recognized as superior in bread-making qualities to any other Pacific Coast flour, and the equal of Minnesota flour. The Minnesota flours, however, have had the advantage over the coast hard wheat flours, in that they have possessed a whiteness which the Bluestem flour has lacked. By this electric treatment, the whitest bloom is given to the Bluestem flour, and at the same time its bread-making qualities are so improved as to make it actually the superior of famous eastern flours, known the globe over for quality.

Increases Its Digestibility.
Exhaustive tests have shown that the digestibility of flour is increased greatly by this electric treatment. The ionized atmosphere seems to absorb certain oily properties which make starch less accessible to the digestive juices. Experiments have demonstrated that flour thus freed from these oily substances lends itself more readily to assimilation. This is one reason why some health foods have been found easy to digest.

Makes Health Food of It.
This electric process practically transforms flour into health food. Not only does extracting this oil leave the flour lighter in color, but gives it a liveliness and absorbent power which is impossible for flour which still retains its oil. This gain is without sacrificing anything that is a benefit in the wheat.

Rich in Gluten.—containing a higher per cent of this nutritive substance than any other wheat—our own Oregon Bluestem wheat has been the pride of the state. As a muscle-builder it has been without a competitor. In addition, it now can have that delicate whiteness of which housekeepers are so fond and of which in bread they are so proud—this by the same process which increases its digestibility and its absorbent qualities, or "bread-making" qualities.

Nutriments More Available.
The process in detail is somewhat as follows:
The kernels are first scoured and milled, by the usual roller patent process. The same purifying currents of air are in motion as in any other modern roller mill, keeping the flour free from dust particles and the machinery sweet and clean. The complete flour is then blown into what is known as an agitator.

Process in Detail.
Connected with this agitator is a pump, operated by a dynamo, which forces the flour into an aeriform fluid, the ionized air. This fluid, which looks like air but isn't, comes from a tank, through which are constantly playing actual flashes of lightning. The flashes operate upon purified air, literally tearing it to shreds with the force of galvanic action. The nature of the air is rationally altered.

Ironized Air Tastes Sweet and Rare.
This ironized air is so remarkable in its properties that breathing it is a delight. It produces an exhilarating effect akin to that produced by the administration of ozone. It tastes sweet and rare, like rich mountain air of limpid purity.

It is predicted that all the mills of the northwest which grind hard wheat flour will install this new process, the practical effects of which have been demonstrated and proven by the flour itself having been in actual household use for months, with results that surpassed the highest expectations.

Give White River Flour a trial. It is sold in this city by B. O. SNUFFER, who is the agent for it.

There is no better dairy country on earth than the region around Tillamook Bay. In a year or two a railroad will reach the coast at that point—perhaps two railroads—and then the valleys and fertile hills will be rapidly settled by families engaging in the dairy business. It is said that thousands of heifer calves are slaughtered every year in Tillamook County because dairymen see more profit in selling milk than in feeding it to calves. But when that region has once been opened up by completion of a railroad, there will be a much larger demand for cows and prices will be higher than at present. Tillamook's wealth lies in her forests and her dairy ranches. As the forests are removed, grass will spring up amongst the stumps, furnishing feed for the herds. The problem of finding a market will never be presented. Tillamook's only difficulty will be to find cows enough to produce the milk. It is almost a crime to kill a heifer calf in Tillamook, or in any other part of Oregon, for that matter.—Oregonian.

Editorial Snap Shots.

Watch Tillamook grow this summer—and the cows follow when they begin to lay the ties for a railroad.

The Sue H. Elmore will be in on Saturday, sure, but you don't have to believe this if you don't want to.

Rollie had another brain storm last week and issued a sheet exposing what he claimed to be one of the biggest grafts he ever ran up against. The same evening he took it all back. Rank discrimination.

"I would rather have the Headlight's good will than its animosity," was the remark made by one of our citizens. We will answer this by saying that we have no animosity against any one. We have adhered to certain policies, which we believed to be right and in the interest of the county and citizens. In doing so we had to buck up against some business interests and individuals, but we did so without fear or favor or animosity. Whenever the Headlight take up a fight it stays with it until victory comes.

We agree with the Portland Admen's League that the young women who have been chosen to represent Oregon at the Jamestown fair should not be dressed as Aborigines. It is a ridiculous dress for a lot of cultured young women to wear, but looking through the goggles of Col. J. C. Cooper, of McMinnville, who is a crank on Indian costumes, this is how it originated. The dress is not out of place for a country fair in Oregon, where the conditions are understood, but it is altogether different in the eastern and southern states, for there is an impression with some persons there that people in the Northwest are only half civilized, anyway.

The prosperity of Tillamook County is well shown by the statement of the condition of the Tillamook County Bank in this issue. From a small beginning a few years ago, this bank has risen to a place among the most prosperous country banks of Oregon. And when it is taken into consideration that this bank has 1,000 depositors, it can readily be seen that the people of the county, which has only a population of about 5,000, are prosperous and thrifty and have confidence in the men who are at the back of the Tillamook County Bank. There is another thing which stands out conspicuously and speaks volumes for Tillamook, and that is the large number of dairymen who have banking accounts in this institution. It is a good thing in any community to encourage persons to open a banking account, and if the young people would avail themselves of the savings department of the banks, instead of spending so much money foolishly, it would not take long before the average Tillamook young woman or young man had a respectable bank account. This ought really to commend with the boys and girls, for there is no greater incentive to thrift and industry, than for the young folks to possess a bank book and bank account, which every parent, where possible, ought to encourage. As a result of this advice we hope to see an increase in the savings departments of the banks of this county.

We haven't any kick if the Tillamook Development League spends a little money with outside newspapers to advertise the county. It is a good plan. There is this much, however, to be said about it, let the home papers first have the League's consideration and support, and if, after that, it is in a position to advertise in outside papers, well and good. Anything published in the home newspapers about the county will have greater weight than published in outside newspapers. We are free to admit that the League has not given the local newspapers a square deal, for when it had a few hundred dollars at its disposal it sent outside for a lot of printing which ought to have been done at home. Suppose, for instance, if the League required several hundred dollars worth of groceries, or hardware, or dry goods, or a loan, what would the business men of this city think if the League sent to another city for these things. Evidently it has forgotten the golden rule, because, probably, there was an oversight in not placing the newspaper men on advertising committees, and on that account the League has lost a lot of free advertising, for we have no disposition to butt in, nor do we intend to. We are conceited enough to think we know a little about advertising the county, and notwithstanding so many boastful promises to publish a descriptive and illustrated edition of Tillamook, we shall have great pleasure in doing our bit to the person who will publish a better edition than the Headlight issued a few years ago.

Cured of Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry, of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by Clough's Drug Store.
