numbers and possibly food. By a continual survival of those which ietook themselves to this place of refuge the race instinct would be formed of resorting thither when they felt the tides of life running low. This feeling, Mr. Hudson argues, their descendania are likely to experience now at the approach of the hour of death.

But now it is no longer just a preving spell of extreme cold that leads them thither. The death call has com? and they must lay their bones in the common mortuary. It is not "in order to die" that the guanaco seeks this place; it would be nearer the truth it we were to fuy it was "in order to live.'

But the most true account of all is that it is in grere obedience to the in herited instinct that the guanaco re sorts to this refuge.

TASTES IN CIGARS.

Some Men Lilt Their Tobacco Moist and Some Like It Dry.

The public taste for cigars varies in different localfeles and countries, and in all the large factories cigars are conditioned to suit the demands of the country to which they are to be sent In Europe, moto especially in the Brit ish isles, the consumer of cigars re quires that they should be dry-in fact. almost brittle. It is a common incl-dent in that cfintry to see a smoker take his cigar and place it to his ear to see if it will give forth a crackling sound, and if it does not crackle the cigar is consilered too moist. Pipe smoking tobaccos, however, are required very mcist.

In the United States the proper condition for cigars and pipe smoking to baccos is just the reverse. The American smoker requires his eigars in suct a condition that the wrapper, binding and filler will yield to the pressure of the fingers without cracking or break ing the wrappur, while, on the other hand, the smoking tobaccos, especially the granulated topaccos, must be mod erately dry. employed for keeping cigars and tobaccos in the proper condition, but up to the present time no methor has been devised that will act automatically. Both manufac tured tobacco and cigars are susceptible to climatic conditions, and it requires the constant attention of the manufacturer and dealer to regulate the moisture in his stock cupboard or showcase. In retail stores great trouble is experienced in keeping the air in the showcases in the proper condition, especially when these are constantly being opened. In warm wet weather more moisture is admitted than is needed. while during the cold winter months the cigars are apt to be come too dry, especially in the upper part of the showcases .- Science.

FORMS OF INSANITY.

There are certain premonitory sympinsanity that can be counted on, as a general thing, as infallible.

In paresis, which is claiming its victims in tremendous numbers, there are many physical signs that are almost incontrovertible.

The exaggerated twitching of the facial muscles in conversation, the occasional tendency of the eye to turn outward, the weakness of the legs, the flabbiness of all muscles, are preliminary symptoms that give warning that a man is about to break down.

With the victim of mania-the maniac-the symptoms are often similar to those found in melancholia, though generally the disease gives the victim an appearance of great elation. The eyes are abnormally bright, the features are alert and tense and an air of tremendous excitement is apparent. This is from a constant fear that something is about to happen.

Another form of insanity is prevalent among younger persons. Excessive strain, continual worry or trouble, allied to a weakened physical system, are the causes. It manifests liself through the gradual loss of some faculty that has been all right till now.

The loss of memory for details is an alarming symptom and one that should House, be given careful and immediate atiention. The patient, if taken at the right time, may be cured, but not after the disease has got a firm hold on him.

Paranola, which is a very prevakint type of insanity, is almost invariably indicated by a peculiarly self satisfied, conceited expression of countenance. The patient poses, sneers contemptu-

A PROPOSAL IN JAPAN.

Quaint Custom of Placing a Plant In an Empty Flowerpot.

Old customs appear to be fast disappearing in Japan, a fact which cannot be wondered at considering the childishness which lay at the root of many of the most picturesque, but in some of the Japanese islands the quaintest marriage formalities are observed.

In houses wherein reside one or more daughters of a marriageable age an empty flowerpot of an ornamental character is encircled by a ring and suspended from the window or veranda by three light chains.

The Juliets of Japan are, of course, as attractive to the Romeos as those of other lands. But instead of sere nades by moonlight and other delicate ways of making an impression it is etiquette for the Japanese lover to approach the dwelling of his lady bearing some choice plant in his hand, which he boldly, but, let us hope, reverently, proceeds to plant in the empty

This takes place at a time when he is fully assured that both mother and daughter are at home, neither of whom of course, is at all conscious that the young man is taking such a liberty with the flowerpot outside their window. This act of placing a pretty plant in the empty flowerpot is equivalent to a formal proposal to the young lady who dwells within. The youthful gardener, having setfled his plant to his mind, retires, and the lady is free to act as she pleases. If he is the right man she takes every care of the gift, waters it and tends it carefully with ter own hands, that all the world may see the donor is accepted as a suitor. But if he is not a favorite or if stern parents object the poor plant is torn from the vase and the next morning lies limp and withered on the veranda or on the path below.-McCall's Magazine. sas ble Tail

We all enjoyed the Easter Holidays, and feel more likestudying after the rest. The girls are all glad to see Henry Plasker work at the croquet grounds this morning, and sincerely hope he will be able to finish them soon. Mr. Collins has been trimming the shade trees on the Academy grounds. The Academy pupils are preparing a play "Dolores, or Thru the Fire of Sor rows," to be given sometime in May. As might be expected from the title, this play is very sad but has a happy ending. Those who have admired the plays given by the Academy pupils in the past, will not be disappointed in this. First Printing Press.

The first printing press in the eastern settlement of America was set up in 1038. In the stimmer of that year a ship bearing a printing press, a printer and three pressmen arrived on the shores of New England, the printer being Stephen Paye. In the same year the press was set up at Cambridge. One of the earliest and perhaps the most celebrated of the issues was "The Bay Psalm Book." It is interesting to know that the actual press is still preserved. After various wanderings it Boston, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont it was found in Windson county and presented to the Vermoni Historical society.
