POWER OF PARDON IS FREELY USED.

Four "Lifers" and Criminals Recently Set Free by the Governor.

SALEM, Ore., May 17.—The news received yesterday from Portland that James L. Warren had been pardoned out of the penitentiary was quite a surprise, as it was not known here that such a move was contemplated. For several months it has been the practice of the Governor not to make public announcement of the granting of pardons, hence the release of Warren was unknown until he was seen by friends in Portland.

Warren is the man who was convicted of killing William King, mate of the ship Clarence S. Bement, in 1901. He carried his case to the supreme court, where it was affirmed, and he began serving his term. The pardon was granted upon the petition of two members of the jury, numerous other parties and upon the possibility that if one witness who was heard at the coroner's inquest could have been procured by the defense at the trial the verdict might have been different. It was also shown that Warren had been of previous good reputation; that his conduct in prison has been good and that he has a wife and child to support.

Long List of Recent Pardons.

The pardons granted recently are as follows: J. S. Smith, from Clatsop County, sentenced in June, 1902, to ten years for perjury, pardoned March 13, 1907. William Fry, from Grant County, sentenced in May, 1896, to life imprisonment for murder in the second degree, pardoned March 15, 1907. W. H. Barre, from Grant County, sentenced in October, 1896, to life imprisonment for murder in the second degree, pardoned March 5, 1907. E. B. Anderson and E. B. Anderson, Jr., from Clatsop County, sentenced June 21, 1906, to one year for assault and battery, pardoned March 15, 1907. George Austen, from Multnomah County, sentenced in September, 1906, to three years for rape, pardoned March 27, 1907.

Charles Allev, from Lane County, sentenced November, 1904, to five years for manslaughter, pardoned April 3, 1907. Harvey Meldrum, from Baker County, sentenced Oct. 12, 1906, to 18 months, pardoned April 4, 1907. John Baker, from Morrow County, sentenced February, 1905, to six years for manslaughter, pardoned April 6, 1907. J. H. Pinckney, from Josephine County, sentenced October, 1903, to five years for robbery, pardoned April 9, 1907. Edgar Chiles, from Josephine County, sentenced April, 1904, to six years for assault with a dangerous weapon, pardoned April 10, 1907. Mose Taylor, from Umatilla County, sentenced in February, 1906, to two and one-half years for attempted arson, pardoned April 24, 1907. Ed Miller, from Multnomah County, committed to jail for 73 days in default of payment of costs, March 16, 1907, balance of costs remitted April 25, 1907, and prisoner discharged.

Al Meyer, of Multnomah County, sentenced February 25, 1907, to one year in the county jail for larceny, pardoned May 1, 1907. Henry Wintzingerode, from Washington County, sentenced May, 1881, to life imprisonment for murder in the second degree, pardoned May 6, 1907. James L. Warren, from Multnomah County, sentenced in July, 1901, to life imprisonment for murder, pardoned May 9, 1907. James White, from Multnomah County, sentenced in March, 1903, to one year for kidnaping, pardoned May 9, 1907, no time served.

Frank Short, of Umatilla County, sentenced to 100 days in jail for larceny (date of sentence not given) pardoned May 14, 1907. Warren's Crime a Brutal One. James Warren killed William Kirk on the ship Clarence S. Bement in Portland harbor in 1900, after which he immediately fled. The police took up the case and finally located Warren in Savannah, Ga. He was arrested there and was held until the arrival of Detectives Ford and Cordano, who returned him to Portland for trial. He was convicted of the charge, and was sentenced in 1901 to life imprisonment. He murdered Kirk with a baying pin. The case attracted wide attention at the time, and Warren's act was considered one of the most brutal crimes ever committed in Oregon.

Local Option in Tillamook. Colonel R. J. Hendricks, who is editor and owner of the Salem Daily Statesman, and is largely interested in street railways and a large property owner in Tillamook county and other parts of the state, was a fraternal visitor at the Signal office Tuesday. Colonel Hendricks was returning from a business trip to Tillamook, and during his conversation with the Signal editor, spoke of the approaching prohibition election in Seaside, saying he had always been opposed to this state's prohibition law; but during his visit in Tillamook he had talked with almost every business man there and they all told him that business was better, that people paid their bills more promptly, and they had fewer bad accounts under prohibition than before.—Seaside Signal.

BOUGHT BY LYTLE. Stock of the United Railways Again Changes Hands.

After many vicissitudes, the majority of the stock of the United Railways has passed into the hands of E. E. Lytle, president of the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company. He says he will complete the projects as already mapped out, but he is not yet familiar with the details of the system he has acquired, and declines to discuss it further. He confirms his purchase of stock but not state what the control of the road east, nor from whom he bought it. It is understood that he secured the stock from local business men who are on the bond given the city as assurance that the franchises would be rightly used. The chief object in acquiring the property seems to be to afford an entrance into the city from Hillsboro by the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company, which is now building a line into Tillamook County from Hillsboro. Mr. Lytle expects to build the projected Hillsboro extension of the United Railways system and haul the timber and other products of Tillamook into the Portland terminal over his own rails instead of turning it over to the Southern Pacific at Hillsboro. The suspicion has been aroused that Mr. Lytle represents the Southern Pacific in making his purchase, thereby giving the Harriman line the long desired front-street track, making the connection between the Jefferson-street depot and the terminal grounds. But this is vigorously denied by Mr. Lytle, who says he is acting independently and has nothing whatever to do with the Harriman interests in making the purchase.

The United Railways franchise has been trafficked and hawked about many times since they were originally granted by the Council to a group of Los Angeles promoters. Each purchase has been glad to drop them as soon as an opportunity presented itself. Construction work is now going on, however, and the latest buyer indicates that the projected lines will really be built.

The report yesterday that Mr. Lytle had bought the assets of the United Railways was generally discredited. Attorney A. C. Emmons, who is the legal adviser for the company, stated he did not know of any such transaction and did not believe it had taken place. Mr. Lytle himself was the only one to confirm the purchase. It is understood that Mr. Lytle and Herman Wittenberg are now the chief owners. Just how much stock he has secured, Mr. Lytle will not say further than he has purchased over half.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains. Among the troubles that beset the kind rheumatism is one of the most aggravating. "I suffered with it for over two years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

Pentecost. TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. Instructions on the feast of Pentecost, given at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, May 19th.

The Church has instituted this great feast in memory of the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the apostles and disciples, who, with Mary, the mother of Jesus, were assembled in prayer, in a house at Jerusalem.—Acts II. The Jews celebrated the proclamation of the law given to them by God through Moses, on the fiftieth day after Easter. The old Pentecost was a figure of the new Pentecost, on which the Holy Spirit was sent and the new law established. It is called Pentecost from the Greek numeral "Pentecoste," meaning fifty, because it falls on the last day of the fifty after Easter.

The day is celebrated by the Church with great solemnity, because it commemorates the proclamation and establishment of the new law of grace; and reminds us of the purifying and sanctifying of human nature, by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, for the first time manifested to the world, by his descent on the apostles in the form of tongues of fire; which also marked the beginning of the work of regeneration in the souls of men, as witnessed by the baptism of three thousand souls who had received the Grace of Penance, through the preaching of St. Peter.

The day also carries us back to the beginning of the Church, as a visible body openly proclaiming for the first time, has belief in the crucified Redeemer. It may be considered as the birthday of the Church, as an organized body, completed and fully prepared to do her mission work on earth. It was well and fitting that Christ should choose a day for proclaiming the new law, when people from all nations under the sun were gathered in one place, as the great fact of the Redemption would thereby easily be spread over the entire world.

The Holy Spirit is also called the Paraclete, which means one who consoles. He was chosen as an aid and strengthener and encourager of the apostles, and was the moving and acting principle in all their great work for the good of men. And as the Holy Ghost was the consoler, the purifier and perfecter of the apostles, so He has been and is the same for all men who receive the Grace of God, and to conform to it. The Holy Spirit enlightens the soul to a perception of the truths of faith, and the beauty of virtue, and gives encouragement to practice what men know to be right. He bestows upon men who live a life of grace, special favors, which we call the gifts of the Holy Ghost. These gifts are: Wisdom, which enables men to value the things of God above all earthly goods, and to strive for their possession by the practice of good works with true delight; understanding, that virtue by which men know the things he is to believe, and to accept the same with faith in God; the gift of counsel which warns him against dangers of faith and morals; fortitude, the power of patience under trial by pain and suffering; the gift of knowledge, that points out the straight duties of man's particular state in life, to give him will and strength to perform them; piety, the virtue which leads man to do all things for the love of God and His Honor; and finally the gift of the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom, and causes man to fear sin more than any other evil that can befall him, purely because of the offence against His creator.

For us, who celebrate this day, according to the Spirit of the Church, it is a reminder of the best things that God has bestowed upon mankind, and which we may consider as having had their beginning on the day of Pentecost. Rev. A. L. LE MILLER.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips, of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by Clough's Drug Store.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-leaf and open to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Kidney Cure, his famous medicine for weak stomach, rapid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever local, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Littlefield, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, run-down, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their women. In fact one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Snake-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of this plant was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Snake-Weed" Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the women's functions, correcting displacements, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.
