Bids Wanted for Road Work
Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the County Court of Tillamook County, Oregon, for clearing of the right of way and grading of 12 foot solid road bed on the first and second miles of the Court road lying on the East side of the North fork of the Nehalem river, beginning at a stake marked "R," situated in the county road leading to Nehalem, near the gravel pit, thence northeasterly on the line of survey of said roads.

Bids will be entertained for each mile separately. Parties desiring to bid on the work or examine the ground may apply to H. V. Alley, county commissioner, for specifications, a copy of which will also be on file in the Clerk's office. All bids should be filed with the County Clerk not later than July 2nd at 5 o'clock p.m., the Court reserving the right to reject any and all bids.
By Order of the County Court.
G. B. LAMB,
County Clerk.

"The Blood is The Life."
Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought is directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies and enriches the blood, thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions, and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing five-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. J. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrap, or the name being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

SUMMONS.
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Tillamook County.
Miriam L. Colby, Plaintiff, vs.
Grant Mills and Morrison Mills, defendants. Mrs. C. L. Roberts, substituted as Defendant.
To Mrs. C. L. Roberts, the above named defendant:
You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed in the above entitled action on or before the expiration of six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, and if you fail to so appear and answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint. The relief demanded in the complaint is, that plaintiff have judgment against you to the effect that defendant have and recover the possession of an undivided one-sixth interest in and to the following described lands, situate in Tillamook County, Oregon, to-wit:
Beginning at the South East corner of the Nathan and Lydia Dougherty Donation Land Claim, in Section 28, Township 1 South of Range 9 West of Willamette Meridian, and running thence North 42 rods; thence West 20 feet; thence North 65.42 rods; thence West 73 rods and 13 feet; thence South 107.42 rods to the South line of said Donation Land Claim; thence East 75 rods to the place of beginning, containing 50 acres, more or less.
That plaintiff be adjudged to be the owner of the said one-sixth interest in fee simple, and that she have and recover from defendant the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars as her damages for the detention of the possession of said property for the last four years, and for the costs and disbursements of the action.
This order is published by order of the Honorable H. F. Goodspeed, County Judge of Tillamook County, Oregon, made on the 23rd day of May, 1907, directing publication of summons to be made against defendant, and date of the first publication thereof is made May 23rd, 1907.

AN ARGUMENT OF FORCE.

Napoleon Smashed a Vase, and the Treaty Was Signed.
Early in April 1797, the people of Austria demanded peace with France. Negotiations were begun in the vicinity of Leoben. Bonaparte, in an interview with the Austrian plenipotentiaries, said to them, "Your government has sent against me four armies without generals, and this time a general without an army." In the treaty which the Austrian commissioners projected the first article stipulated that the emperor of Austria thereby recognized the French republic. "Erase it!" exclaimed Napoleon. "The existence of the republic is as plain as the sun. This article is only fit for the blind. We are our own masters and shall establish any government we prefer. If one day the French people," he continued, "should wish to create a monarchy, the emperor might object that he had recognized a republic." The preliminaries were soon settled, Napoleon signing for France, thus placing himself on an equal footing with the emperor of Austria. The formal treaty known as Campo Formio was signed in October, 1797, Austria fulfilling the pledges she had already given. The Austrian plenipotentiary protested against the distribution of the provinces beyond the Adige. Napoleon was angered at this, and, seizing a vase, dashed it to the ground, exclaiming, "If it is not so arranged I will break your monarchy as I have broken this vase!" This argument of force, as demonstrated to the diplomat was convincing, and the treaty was signed.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

Don't Develop the Mind at the Expense of the Body.
The man or woman who would train the mental faculties without any reference to the physical shows a faulty qualification for the work in which he or she may be engaged. The mind may be ever so well trained and stored with knowledge of the books, but unless there is behind it a reasonably strong body life runs the risk of being a failure; if not that, an existence of pain that serves as a limitation upon its possibilities. It is a species of cruelty to educate the mind at the expense of the body. Better let a child grow up into manhood or womanhood with an inferior education than with a better education of the mind and a body weakened in the effort.
The fact that so many men in this country who have succeeded in business and in professional and public life have been the sons of farmers, whose early life has been spent out of doors, has been a subject of remark. May it not be accounted for on the ground that in their boyhood their physique was developed so that in after life, besides their mental acquirements, they had strong bodies, with which to do the work they have so successfully performed? This is not only possible, but very probable.—Knoxville Journal.

A Stolen Trade Secret.

The manufacture of tinware in England originated in a stolen secret. Few readers need be informed that tinware is simply thin sheet iron plated with tin by being dipped into the molten metal. In theory it is an easy matter to clean the surface of iron. Dip the iron in a bath of boiling tin and remove it enveloped in the silvery metal to a place of cooling. In practice, however, the process is one of the most difficult of arts. It was discovered in Holland and guarded from publicity with the utmost vigilance for nearly half a century. England tried to discover the secret in vain until James Sherman, a Cornish miner, crossed the channel, insinuated himself surreptitiously into a tin plate manufactory, made himself master of the secret and brought it home.

Women and Jewelry.

"Women know a great deal more about buying jewelry now than they knew twenty-five years ago," said a jeweler. "When I first started in the business a clerk with a persuasive tongue could talk a woman into buying most anything. It wasn't safe for her to step inside a shop unless she had a man along. Now the average woman knows more about jewels than the average man. Of course they can be fooled—anybody can—but as a rule she buys with a surprising knowledge of value, and her taste in the cutting and setting is excellent."—New York Post.

Brains.

"A man stood on his head twenty minutes in order to win a wager. He died the next day."
"What killed him? Congestion of the brain?"
"No; if he had had any brains he wouldn't have done it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Specified.

"When in trouble," said the eminent lecturer, "refrain from worrying."
"But, doctor," asked a woman in the audience, "how can we?"
"Anyway," replied the lecturer, "refrain from worrying other people."

Worse Still.

She—You'll be glad to learn, dear that I've got out of visiting our relatives. He—Grand! Splendid! It hung over me like a cloud. How did you manage it? She—Oh, I asked them here!—Life.

Meeting the Situation.

"I wonder if there's anything serious between that tall girl and the little captain?"
"I think there is. She has had the heels of all her shoes lowered."—Pile-gende Blatter.

THE SHORT NOSES.

Something to Be Said in Favor of Those Who Wear Them.

"Physiologists tell us that the big nosed people do the world's work," said a short nosed man the other day, "and they generally add a lot of rubbish about Napoleon's big nose and how he always selected big nosed men to carry out daring undertakings."
"That Napoleon story was invented by some one with a nose like Cyrano de Bergerac, who wanted an excuse for his proboscis and therefore pretended that his nose was but the introduction to a massive, imposing character. It is true that a big nose is sometimes indicative of firmness and determination, but only when it is associated with a strong jaw and long chin. A big nose with a retiring chin is almost idiotic in the expression it gives to the countenance. Every cartoonist knows this. Whenever you see a cartoon of a society dude it shows a long nose and a small chin."
"But there is something to be said in favor of the short noses. The short nose shows wit, imagination, tact, judgment, discretion. Socrates had a snub nose, and of the lively imaginative writers in almost any language a considerable proportion was short nosed people. Long nosed men do their share of the world's work but the short noses write the clever books and the entertaining plays. Shakespeare had a nose like the Duke of Wellington, do you ever suppose that he would have written the 'Merry Wives of Windsor'?" He might have been a successful theater manager, but would never have become a literary artist.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

POLITICAL SPIES.

They Are Quite Common All Over the Continent of Europe.
On the continent of Europe it is a common thing for royal personages to be subjected to espionage, mainly, of course, for political reasons.
In France, Spain, Russia, Germany and Austria the practice obtains. At one time during the reign of Napoleon III. a small army of political spies was engaged in watching royal subjects. In fact, the vigilance of the different parties was so great that there were three or four distinct secret services. The emperor had his; the empress had hers; the government and the republic respectively had theirs—all employed to watch the other parties and the spies.
Moreover, Bismarck had his spy over the emperor. So that France was over-ridden by spies, the most important, however, being Bismarck's, to whom the war was indeed to a great extent due.
This secret service agent was a German doctor, whose advice the unfortunate emperor even preferred to that of his own court physicians, and thus Bismarck knew even better than Napoleon the real state of the latter's health, which was, of course, a very important factor in the political situation at those times.—Pearson's Weekly.

He Could Run.

He could run, all right, all right. He had to. Talk about your astronauts that spring for sport—this party had learned to run or starve, as a boy, and had never forgot how. Why, say, when he tore himself loose from a vicinity it seemed like the whole landscape was crippled. I used to try him out by giving him a start an' shootin' at him. If he beat the bullet, we figured he was up to form, but if the lead overtook him we'd call it an off day an' unload the cartridges. I've seen him seize a jack rabbit up till it was workin' under forced drafts, then limp up to it from behind an' kind of yawn an' stretch, an' then gad it to wake up or else get off the trail an' let somebody run that knowed how.—McClure's Magazine.

Oh, Yes, of Course.

"Of the many children and women in Nazareth, Palestine, who have picked up a little English all have a way of saying 'of course' instead of a simple 'yes.' The expression which French people catch up as characteristic of the American and Englishman is always 'Oh, yes!' A correspondent, who has cycled down the Rhone valley, about Provence and along the Riviera, found himself greeted with 'Oh, yes!' by the children in the streets of nearly every town. And he discovered when his attention had been called to the point in this way that 'Oh, yes' was really what he and his companions were always saying.

His Business.

The lady in black pointed toward the sky.
"My husband," she sighed, "is up there, but he is looking down. Perhaps he sees all that we do."
"How long has he been dead, ma'am?" we inquired gently.
"With a frown, she answered: 'Dead? He isn't dead. He's an astronaut.'—Exchange.

Suspicious Signs.

"You better hurry up an collect de rent from Br'er Williams."
"How come?"
"Well, fer de las' six nights he been a-singin' 'Jerusalem, My Happy Home, an' it's my opinion he's a-fixin' ter move.'—Atlanta Constitution.

Saving Him.

Little Johnnie—Mother, tell me how papa got to know you. Mother—One day I fell into the water, and he jumped in and fetched me out. Little Johnnie—H'm! That's funny; he won't let me learn to swim.—Tit-Bits.

The dread of ridicule extinguishes originality in its birth.—Blackwood.
