

Editorial Snap Shots.

What shall we call it? Why, that is easy. The Brain Storm Honk Line! of course.

A notice was posted at the Allen house that Kollie was going to run a automobile between this city and Sheridan. And Geo. W. Grayson wrote under this 25 stage horses for sale.

Cows in Tillamook have been bringing their owners over $10 a month for several months past. Let's see. How much a month did they bring in under the last democratic administration?

Wages away up, how many working men are there in Tillamook county who want to go back to democratic hard times wages? Let those who want hard times pile into the democratic band wagon.

How does it come about, Bro. Botts, that Bro. Wiley is reported by the Fort. Land newspapers to be Mayor of Tillamook City? See them, Bro. Botts, for $5,000, and we will divvy up with you for giving this fool advice.

It is reported to us that some parties have been talking of egging the city marshal. It is only the lawless element that would do such a thing as that, for to molest a peace officer is a serious offence under the laws of the state. But if they attempt such a thing, but if they want to butt up against the strong arm of the law and public indignation let them come out into the open and start in at once.

To ask a Tillamook dairyman to vote for a democrat or a democratic ticket is tantamount to making him take 10c a pound for his butter fat under a democratic administration and shutting him off from getting 35c a pound under a republican administration. When the dairymen of this county see a lot of democrats buzzing around with the glad again, wanting to get into office, think about democratic and republican prices for butter fat when you cast your vote.

We notice that all the truant wives are getting back to their husbands, but the snap shot man is still left in the wilderness, and if the editor of our contemporary was in the same fix he would be saying he was discriminated against. There is more in this discrimination than one imagines. One night the snap shot man felt lonesome and blue and he made a raid on the family medicine chest, discriminating against every decoction but one, for the bottle with the "soothing syrup" is now dry.

According to some of the pessimists who see prospects of towns springing up in other parts of the county, are saying that the bottom is going to drop out of Tillamook City. Bah! That is what the same people predicted when local opinion carried, but business has been on the jump ever since and will continue on the jump until the population is doubled in a few years. The Headlight is wanting to see other towns springing up in different parts of the county, for it will help Tillamook City. And, besides, we predict that it will have a tendency to bring together the two factions in the interest of the city. No set of pessimists can keep Tillamook City or Tillamook County from growing, for there is going to be a steady, gradual growth in all parts of the county from now on, and by people who will put new energy into this rich, undeveloped section of Oregon.

As there appears to be a question as to the legality of the marriages performed by the Rev. A. E. Wingert, the three couples he married ought not to have any objections to getting married again, provided their friends will duplicate the wedding presents. We don't know whether it is good luck or not to be married twice, but there is a novelty about it which the contracting parties will never forget. We know this, it is said of those who get married on Saturday that they do not have time to repent before the week is over. It is hoped that neither of the parties interested have repented, for it is more than probable that their marriages are binding. It is a good many years since the snap shot man vowed that he would "love, honor and cherish," and if by some technicality, we had to go through the ceremony again with the same individuals, we don't think we would have any objection provided the honeymoon trip was part of the program. We mention this simply that the newly married young woman may insist on woman's rights of having another honeymoon if the marriage ceremony is to be performed again.

Headlight's 20th Birthday.

The Headlight entered upon its 20th year on the 8th June, and notwithstanding that it has undergone many vicissitudes and met with a determined opposition at times, it is still healthy, strong, vigorous, fearless and outspoken, ever ready to champion the cause of the people. It has played an important part in the upbuilding of the county, as well as politically and socially. As the county is now on the eve of a great transformation and industrial development, with the transportation problem solved, the duty of the Press becomes enlarged with these changed conditions, for the oft repeated prophecy of the Headlight that Tillamook would become a great manufacturing center and the garden spot of Oregon is about to be fulfilled in a few years. The Headlight has always been a welcome visitor into the homes of the people once a week since it made its first bow to the public, and there are quite a number of persons who have never missed a copy. From Mrs. Mary E. Stillwell's scrap book we will reproduce this interesting newspaper clipping:

TILLAMOOK HAS A NEWSPAPER. THE "HEADLIGHT" MAKES ITS APPEARANCE—TWELVE DOLLARS PAID FOR THE FIRST COPY. Mr. G. Cohn arrived here on the 8th from Tillamook, via the Maddox stage line over the mountains, and he brought in a copy of the Headlight, Tillamook's new paper, and the first one ever printed there, of which C. E. Wilson & Co. are publishers and J. B. Edwards editor. It contains the official returns of the late election and a lot of local news. It is a very neatly printed, eight-page paper, and reflects credit upon all concerned. Mr. Cohn says the first number of the issue was put up to auction and bid off by C. B. Hadley for $12. The second copy brought only 5 cents, the regular price.

And now Tillamook, the last county in Oregon, has a paper, and will soon take the stand to which she is entitled among the counties of the state. The Headlight was received with all the enthusiasm usually connected with the first paper in a town. The proprietors return thanks to every citizen in Tillamook for work rendered in moving in their plant. They also acknowledge the receipt of bouquets, strawberries and cream and also a big strawberry, "seven inches in diameter and four inches in circumference." The usual number of subscribers walked into the office and subscribed for the paper, and plunk down the cash. The editor gives notice that he will soon begin to review the lives of the old settlers of Tillamook, some of whom have been there for forty years. A stray horse is advertised for, with an anchor branded on his shoulder, and 30 feet of rope attached. He is probably a species of marine aquine, and is doubtless riding at his anchor down about Dry Stocking bar.

Mr. Cohn states that the contract has been let for a $4000 court house and a $2500 school house, which shows the good effect of having a newspaper there. Immigrants are coming in, four big wagon loads arriving a day or two since from Umatilla county, having been scared off by the talk of free wool. They will find claims much more plentiful in Tillamook than Umatilla, and will enjoy the change.

One of the Oregon Girls Gives an Account of the Trip East.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. I would like to thank the kind friends who helped me to win the "Pacific Northwest" trip east, and give them a description of the trip through your paper.

We met at the Imperial Hotel in Portland on the morning of May 21st. The Hazelwood Creamery Co. gave us a very nice lunch and took us through their creamery; it was very interesting to see the work, especially to the girls who had never been in a creamery before. We then went to Council Crest, where we had a very pleasant time and returned just in time for the banquet given by the Commercial Club, to which we had been invited.

We left Portland about 8 o'clock that evening for the East, over the Union Pacific. There were only fourteen in the party when we left Portland, but at Ontario, Ore., three more joined us. Our train was late getting into Chicago, so we had to wait there about three hours before going on to Washington. One of the railroad agents took us out to see some of the sights of the city, and after we had been gone quite a while he discovered his time was a little slow, and that we did not have quite time to catch our train, so he telephoned to the depot for them to hold the train for us. They held it six minutes. That was a very unusual thing for them to do, as it was a fast through train.

We arrived in Washington, D.C., late in the afternoon of May 29. As we were all tired we did not go any place that evening.

The next morning we had a three hour automobile ride around the city. Washington is a very beautiful place. During lunch that noon a very hard thunder storm came up, but the sky was soon clear again and we went to Mt. Vernon to visit Geo. Washington's old home. On our way to the boat we passed several parks and many branches of the trees have been twisted off by the storm. Some trees were broken, and three trees were torn up by the roots. We were told it was the hardest storm they had had there for several years. While we were at Mt. Vernon another storm came up and we all got quite wet going back to the boat.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt were at Mt. Vernon while we were there, and several of the girls saw the President, but I did not. That evening Senator Bourne took dinner with us, and we visited the Congressional Library. The next morning we went to the Market and through the U.S. Treasury Building, and in the afternoon we were received by the President at the White House, and were shown through several of the rooms, among them being the state dining room. It was through Senator Bourne that we were allowed in these rooms.

We then went to Washington's monument. That evening we took the boat for Fortress Monroe, arriving there on the morning of May 29th. We stayed there until about 11 a.m., when we went over to the Jamestown Exposition. We were only there about three hours and saw all of the fair we cared to see in its unfinished state.

That evening we started for New York by boat and arrived there at 3 p.m. the next day. The Atlantic was very smooth, and we had a delightful trip. No one was sea sick.

We had a three hour automobile ride in New York, visited the New York Stock Exchange and many other places of interest. We were in New York two days, and also in Chicago two days. We had a long automobile ride in Chicago and saw many interesting things. The next place we stopped was in Buffalo. The first day we went out to East Aurora, where we were entertained by Elber Hubbard, Mr. Hubbard is the founder of the Roy Crofters. He is the writer of the "Pulvisine," which has quite a wide circulation.

The next day we went to Niagara. We were taken through the Shredded Wheat Biscuit Factory. They have a very fine factory and every thing is kept very clean. We were given a nice lunch there, and in the afternoon we went to the Falls. They were a beautiful sight. We left that evening for Minneapolis. The International Stock Food Co. gave us a four hour ride around the Twin Cities, and then took us through their building.

Thirteen of the party started home the next morning, leaving four of the party in the East. We returned home by the Canadian Pacific and reached Seattle about 10 p.m., June 10th, and were to take the 8-40 train the next morning for Portland, but a few minutes before 8 o'clock Mr. Bates was told that the 8-40 train left at 8:15, the time had been changed a few days before. We hurried and got to the depot just as the gate was closed. We stood on one side of the gate, the train on the other, but they would not let us through. That was the only time we missed a train on the trip. The next train for Portland left about 5 p.m. So the party arrived in Portland late Tuesday evening. Everyone treated us fine on the trip and Mr. Bates certainly understood how to give us a good time.

We distributed advertising matter of the stars at the stations where the train stopped long enough for us to get off, and also through the trains. When we saw somebody working near the road we would throw them something as we passed, they always picked it up.

The newspaper reporters gave us a great deal of their time, and things they could not get us to say they would put in the paper and put somebody's name down as having said it.

Thanking those who aided me in winning the trip. I am, yours sincerely, ELLEN HARRISON. June 26th, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that S. V. Anderson has rented the pasture on a parcel of land situated in township 2, S. 8 west; also in township 1 S, 8 west, and has all rights to the same as long as owned by the present owners. MARY H. WEST.

Card of Thanks. We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many kind friends who helped take care of our darling child in her sickness. MR. AND MRS. F. P. HOBSON.

A Fortunate Texan. Mr. E. W. Goodloe, of 107 St. Louis St., Dallas, Tex., says: "In the past year I have become acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, and no laxative I ever before tried so effectually disposes of malaria and biliousness." They don't gripe nor gripe. 25c. at Clough's Drug Store.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is an antiseptic liniment and prevents blood poisoning, resulting from a cut, bruise or burn. It also causes the parts to heal without maturing and in much less time than when the usual treatment is employed. It allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

The Magic No. 8. Number three is a wonderful mascot for Geo. H. Parris, of Cedar Grove, Me., according to a letter which reads: "After suffering much with liver and kidney trouble, and becoming greatly discouraged by the failure to find relief, I tried Electric Bitters, and as a result I am a well man today. The first bottle relieved and three bottles completed the cure." Guaranteed best remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by Chas. I. Clough, druggist, 50c.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it entirely closes, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Remarkable Rescue. The truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleeding stopped rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed best cure for coughs, 50c. and $1.00. Sold by Druggists. Try bottle free. Clough's drug store, 50c.

FAIRVIEW.

A number of farmers have begun cutting hay already, their idea is that not nearly so many weed seeds will be ripe enough to re-seed the ground. Frank Beater did not succeed in selling his herd of mixed cows last Saturday. Bert Donaldson and wife came in on Friday from Idaho, where he has been for the past two years. The boys secured them on Monday night. Campers are beginning to arrive at Happy Camp and Tom Johnson is putting things in readiness for the summer. The writer spent Tuesday at the Camp, enjoying the sea breeze. It is said they intend putting in compartment tents at the camp.

Mrs. A. L. Donaldson's house is being painted by Jason Powell. It seems too bad that there is such a scarcity of carpenters in Tillamook, for Holden & Ziemer cannot get anyone to work on the factory.

DR. H. E. MORRIS Has the Latest Improved Instruments for testing your eyes, and Can Fit them with any desired frame or mounting that best suits your fancy.
