The Cheese Market.

The announcement made recently by one of the leading cheese handlers of the city that the market had touched hot-tom proved correct, for the advance that occurred soon after was followed by another yesterday. The market is very firm and from present indications not be long in reaching a higher level.

The cause of the sudden rise in pric yesterday was the entry into the market of San Francisco and Los Angeles buy ers. There has been a steady demand from Seattle and other Sound points for from Seattle and other Sound points for some time which has held the market firm, and now on top of this comes the California orders, which have practically cleaned out local stocks. The Tillamook factories are closely sold up, and with the milk supply falling off, it is difficult to see how prices can help advancing. About the only cheese available is the quantity now in transit. The local storage supply is smalk Some Eastern cheese is appearing on the Sound, but at prices that do not compete with the Oregon product. With Californians buying here, it is not pro-bable that any of their make will be available for the local trade. Some of the cheese authorities are of the opinion the cheese authorities are of the opinion that there will be an 18c. to 20c. whole ale market in Portland next Winter Oregonian

Land Agent Decide Price.

SALEM, Or., July 23,-The application of Attorney John K. Kollock, of Port-land, to the State Land Board to, day for a reduction of the estimated day for a reduction of the estimated value of $20 per acre fixed by the board as a reasonable price for 280 acres of tide land fronting on Tilla-mock Bay, application for the purchase of which was made by H. L. Chapin, E. E. Lytle and others, of Portland, as a necessary adjunct to the proposed Ocean Bay Park Summer resort, was taken under consideration by the board and referred to State Land Agent Charles V. Galloway, who is instructed to view the lands and report an estimate of its value Galloway, who is instructed to view the lands and report an estimate of its value. This company already owns over 1000 acres of tide and upland tracts on the bay side of Tillamook Bay. This it pro-poses to convert into a fashionable and popular Summer resort and recreation park for the benefit of Portland residents marticularly incompation with which it particularly, in connection with which it is proposed to construct a $1,000,000 hotel, and the tide land for which ap-plication is made to purchase from the state lies between the company's inland property and the bay shore.
