Mrs. Ed. Worthington was very seriously injured on the streets of Cloverdale last Wednesday by being thrown from a buggy and the horse stepping on her abdomen, the wheel running over her head. She and her husband had just returned from Tillamook and stopped at the store, he going in to make a purchase. Their horse being a green three year old colt began to buck up, frightening Mrs. Worthington and her dress was caught in the buggy so as to pull her and the baby she was holding out so suddenly that she fell prostrate. The baby was also injured about the head. Mrs. Worthington was taken home and the doctor called. She lay in a faint for three hours and suffered considerably after coming to. Ed reports this morning that she is greatly improved and able to eat a little for the first time since the accident.—Courier.

The steamer Sue H. Elmore ran onto a number of boom sticks before she came to the last turn in the slough on Friday evening, and had some difficulty in getting them from under her, as they were chained together. The steamer was detained 24 hours in the slough by the mishap.

At a meeting of the city council on Monday evening an ordinance was passed to keep the cows up from Aug. 20th to the 27th; the prohibiting of fire crackers or bombs being set off on the streets of the city. The council adopted the surveyor's report for the extension of sixth street. The following persons were appointed special policemen for the fair: E. W. Stanley, Bur Ruger, Herbert Parsons, Gilford Stillwell, Arthur Stillwell, Rudolph Knaze, W. Bodyfelt and W. R. Rutherford.

The schooner Antelope, from Nehalem for Portland, with a cargo of spruce, is ashore at Sandy Island, opposite Kalama. The craft was in tow of the tug George R. Vosburg. There was a strong up-stream wind, and the sails of the schooner were set to assist the tug in making time. The point where she went ashore is between 500 and 1000 feet out of the channel. The Vosburg went to Portland and secured a barge onto which the cargo of the Antelope will be loaded. The craft is well out of water, and after the lumber is removed it will require a strong pull to get her into deep water. The Antelope is a diminutive schooner of 117 net tons register. She was built in 1887 at Benicia, Cal. She was constructed for the purpose of making all the small harbors along the coast.

Contest for the Queen.
The contest for Queen of the Carnival was one of the most exciting events connected with the Tillamook County Fair and Street Carnival. It was only until the last few days of the closing of the contest that any interest was taken in it, and on Friday evening the Opera House was packed with an audience intensely interested in the closing, remaining until midnight for the finish. Miss Hazel McNair was in the lead from the start until within a few minutes of the finish, when by the auction of several thousand votes, Miss Hattie Maroff and Miss Nellie Hannenkrat jumped to first and second places, and when all the votes had been counted the three popular young ladies voted: Miss Hattie Maroff, 9669; Miss Nellie Hannenkrat, 9684; Miss Hazel McNair, 4914. The result of the vote was received with applause, and Miss Maroff was sent for and introduced to the audience. The best of feeling prevailed during the contest, and everybody thoroughly enjoyed the excitement and amusement which attended the election of the Queen of the Carnival. Miss Ollie Case and Winnie Wallace will be the Maids of Honor to attend the Queen of the Carnival.

[We are disappointed in not receiving the half tone of the Queen, which had failed to reach us in time for this issue.]

The Tillamook Guards.
The Tillamook Guards is a company of Tillamook boys, organized and drilled for the fair by Mr. C. E. Reynolds, a Grand Army Veteran and numbers forty all told. The boys are dressed in Kaki suits, with cap, blouse, pants and leggings, and are armed with a rifle. The company will escort the Queen of the Carnival (Miss Hattie Maroff), her maids of Honor (Misses Ollie Case and Winnie Wallace) and the Royal Pageant. The company will give drills and a sham battle on Friday night, using blank cartridges. The company is composed of Cloyd Dawson, first sergeant; Earl Epplet, second sergeant; William Snow, third sergeant; Frank Cook, Harris Bibby, Brooks Lucas, Martin Caterlin, Ben Wade, Henry Leach, Thomas Van Patten, Lloyd Williams, Ralph Harris, Ed Thompson, Howard Lamar, Lloyd Eberman, Fred Travis, Bert Thompson, Burl Clements, Henry West, Ed West, Carl Kenby, Vernon Bates, Edward Kunze, Dewey Kunze, Verl Stanley, Thos. Coates, Wesley Harrison, Chesser Mills, Franze Mills, Henry Heisel, Gilbert Oliver, Neal Hiner, Estler Mills, Lloyd Jones, Daniel Schofield, Fred West, Gardine Page, Clint King and Erick Gunstrom.

DIVORCE SUIT.

Mrs. White Sets Up Peculiar Reasons to Sever Marriage Contract.

A divorce suit was filed in the circuit court by Mrs. Kate A. White, against her husband, Andrew T. White, who is a city councilman and the justice of the peace for the second justice district. These parties were married in Linn county in 1881 and have lived in Tillamook county 18 years. The grounds for the divorce, as set forth in Mrs. White's complaint, is that plaintiff has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment and studied negligence as to render her life burdensome and unbearable, making it impossible for plaintiff to live longer with her husband; that plaintiff was born, educated and reared in a Christian family, amid all the comfortable surroundings, and with all the refined influences that a well-to-do American father can bestow upon his children; that immediately after her marriage, Mrs. White complains that her husband began a series of grossly insulting treatment and demeanor towards her, selling property which her father had given her as a keepsake, around which hung associations which could not be valued in money; that defendant kept plaintiff on a farm in a one-roomed shanty for a period of one year after their marriage, and during that time defendant was grossly indifferent to giving her the comforts of life, and refused to surround her with a condition that permitted her to live and enjoy the neigergest home pleasures; that when her oldest child was six years of age her husband brought her to Tillamook county and located them upon a claim in the timber and led them to shift for themselves for a period of about eight years, abandoning them to the mercy of the elements and the society of wild beasts; that defendant failed to provide her with any domestic fowls or other animals, failed to make any fence or to clear even a garden, nor did she and her children have milk or butter until plaintiff's mother furnished a cow; from this cow she contrived to raise 15 head of cattle, which defendant sold, and with a number of other clauses in the complaint, such as the defendant not giving her money, hats, bonnets or head covering, gloves, wraps or shawls, or Christmas or birthday presents, Mrs. White prays the court to dissolve the marriage contract which has bound her and her husband together for 26 years. Talmage & Johnson are attorneys for Mrs. White.
