We welcome the visitors to Tillamook, and to one of the best counties in Oregon for undeveloped resources and golden opportunities.

As there is difficulty in finding beds for the visitors who come to Tillamook, we would suggest that the hotel keepers build a roost for the men to perch on.

Everybody who come to Tillamook in the summer are charmed with the whole county, for the weather is cool, bright and invigorating, with grass and vegetation fresh and green.

We believe in the whipping post or certain class of criminals, and it would have a good effect upon criminals who hold people up with guns or who break into a house in the dead of the night and hold the inmate up on the peril of their lives if they resist.

There should not be any kicking by settlers on account of taxation, because the timber owners pay 65 per cent of the taxes of Tillamook county. With that condition of affairs, if the county can't get good roads and good school houses built the next few years, it won't do so after the timber is gone. See the point.

It will not be long before the people of Tillamook and other "dry" counties will be just as determined against those who violate the local option law as they are against the gamblers, and the most effectual cure for the illegal practice will be a jail sentence for the offenders, for the people insist upon the laws being enforced, especially the local option law, which has become a most popular law in Oregon, and the people demanding its enforcement, it is the duty of county officials to ferret out those who will persist in defying the mandate of the people.

If Nehalem succeeds in getting at least $16,000 for road work next year, not including any special road tax that may be voted, that amount of money ought to help out considerably in getting the work started on both roads to Clatsop county's line. We understand that the county is figuring on giving Nehalem that amount for road work, and if it does the settlers up there will have no cause to complain, for the county officials are giving Nehalem people a square deal. It is a pleasing thing to note that the citizens of the north end of the county are now pulling together for better roads and more of them.

The people of Tillamook county were amongst the first to take a decided stand against gambling and the saloons, and since then other counties have been following suit, with the prediction that a number of other counties will be added to those which are already "dry." Shutting down on gambling and closing up the saloons is conceded to be a good thing for Tillamook, and notwithstanding that the gamblers and saloon advocates predicted that it would kill the city and county—exactly the opposite is the case,—from a business standpoint business men of Tillamook City are not wanting to go back to the saloon regime and the gambling thievery. Even at Astoria the "lid" is beginning to be put on, first in Sunday closing of saloons and now in shutting down on gambling, which will mean that a large number of parasites in that city must either go to work or migrate somewhere else. The spirit of the times in Oregon is hostile to gambling and saloons, brought about largely by the Press, and now that weak kneed sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys see the drift of public opinion, they must do their duty and enforce the law. This is a healthy sign in Oregon, although the gamblers and saloon keepers can always find a lot of pimps to do their dirty work, the people of the state are thoroughly in earnest in insisting that these dens of vice be wiped out.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—SAM H. GWIS, Concord, Ga. For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one divided disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure not known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

SPORTS AT SEA.

How the Long Trip From Madeira to Cape Town is Enlivened.

The voyage to Cape Town from Southampton or Madeira is a long one, sixteen to twenty days, says the Travel Magazine. And so we find pastimes organized on board far transcending the ordinary concerts, amateur theatricals, deck games and the like familiar to all of us on the ordinary ocean going liner.

The programme is an ambitious one, comprising boxing, gymnastic drill, obstacle racing, cockfighting, cricket, baseball and football, egg and spoon races for men and girls and children, ordinary deck games and evening amusement, such as concerts and dances.

The sack race for grown men is the delight of all the children, who love to see their fathers tied up in sacks and progressing by kangaroo-like bounds, whose uncertainty is made still more precarious by the pitch and roll of the great vessel. Nor must I forget the bolster and pillow fights, with competitors perched on horizontal bars, with their legs tied beneath. Some fighters display rare games and staying power, so that the onlookers feel quite grieved when they "go under" in a very literal sense.

Now and then an unfair wag will coat his trousers with resin and thus contrive to keep his balance in a way enabling him to withstand all comers. Of course the prizes are made up of the entrance fees paid by competitors, which may amount to 60 or 80 cents per head.

THE LIGHTNING ROD.

Franklin's Theory Was Known Away Back In Talmudic Times.

In an article on "Current Topics In Ancient Literature" J. D. Eisenstein says in the Sydney (Australia) Standard:

"The lightning rod was invented by Benjamin Franklin in 1752 to arrest the electricity of the thunder. When the information of the discovery reached Rabbi Saul Katzenellenbogen of Wilna, he said that the theory was not new, because it was already known in Talmudic times, and he showed a passage in the Tosefta (third century) where it says that on Sabbath it is permitted to place an iron near the henry to safeguard the fowls from thunder and lightning strikes." The Talmud vouches that "there is nothing superstitious about this belief." (Tosef. Shabb, chapter 6, end.)

"The system of telegraphy, in a crude manner, is curiously described by Judah b. Jacob Chayat in his commentary to 'The System of Theology' chapter, 'The Gate of the Chariot' (see page 218b, ed., Ferrara, 1558). Chayat is perhaps the first Hebrew author who transliterates the term 'magnet,' and he explains the physical phenomena as follows: 'If you break the magnet into two parts and separate them at any distance, even a thousand miles apart, any movement caused by a joining wire to one part will be repeated by the other part' (quoted also in Shelah, page 30a, ed., Amsterdam, 1708)."

Why Penmen Get Tired.

The average person has no idea how much muscular effort is expended in writing a letter. A rapid penman can write thirty words in a minute. To do this he must draw his pen through the space of sixteen and a half feet. In forty minutes his pen travels a furlong and in five hours a third of a mile. In writing an average word the penman makes in the neighborhood of sixteen curves of the pen. Thus in writing thirty words to the minute his pen would make 480 curves, 28,800 curves an hour and 86,400,000 in a year of 300 days of ten hours each. The man who succeeded in making 1,000,000 marks with a pen in a month was not at all remarkable. Many men make 4,000,000 while merely writing.—Minneapolis Journal.

Cleaning a Sickroom.

Most of us know how untidy a sickroom becomes and how annoying the dust of the sweeping is to the patient. "To remedy this," said a trained and capable nurse, "I put a little ammonia in a pail of warm water and with my mop wrung as dry as possible go all over the carpet first. This takes up all the dust and much of the loose dirt. A broom will take what is too large to adhere to the mop and raise no dust. With my dust cloth well sprinkled I go over the furniture, and the room is fairly clean."

Reason For Heavy Wheels.

Everywhere in the old world the wheels of wagons and carriages are two or three times as heavy as those on corresponding vehicles in America and so appear clumsy and cumbersome to us. The explanation of the difference is that our wheels are made of hickory, a wood unknown abroad, which supplies the requisite strength in smaller mass.—Travel Magazine.

A Matter of Economy.

"You're not so strict with that youngster of yours as you used to be," said Popple's friend. "No; for economy's sake I'm not," replied Popple. "Every month I used to have to buy myself a new pair of slippers and him a new pair of pants."—Exchange.

Suited Him.

Her Suitor—I wish to marry your daughter, sir. Her Father (sternly)—My daughter, sir, will continue under the parental roof. Her Suitor—Well, sir, the parental roof looks good to me.—San Francisco Chronicle.

You may succeed when others do not believe in you, but never when you do not believe in yourself.

NAMES FOR BIG GUNS.

Two Significant Ones That Were Selected and Rejected.

At the Fort Pitt foundry, Fort Pitt, Pa., were cast in 1867 for the monitor Puritan two twenty-inch guns, which Captain W. C. Wise, then chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, proposed to call Satan and Lucifer. This proposition called forth a protest from the pastor of a Presbyterian church at Pittsburg, who characterized it as "most unseemly, if not impious." His letter was referred by the member of congress to whom it was addressed to the department and finally came into the hands of Captain Wise for reply. In answer he called attention to the foreign custom of giving to vessels such names as Jupiter, Juno, Vulcan, Venus, Juggernaut, Inferno and Lucifer and Satan to convey an idea of the power of the destructive agent used in battle. These guns, argued the learned captain, were not intended for peace and the utterance of good will toward men, but to inflict as much mischief and destruction on human beings in time of war as their namesake, the devil, tries to do at all times. He further reminded his clerical critic that a number of clergymen had witnessed without protest his act of "christening" in presence of a large assembly of ladies and gentlemen the first twenty inch gun cast for the navy as Beelzebub. However, the argument did not prevail, for religious sentiment was effective in preventing this use of Biblical nomenclature.—Army and Navy Journal.

TOUGHS OF PARIS.

They Are Known as "Apaches" and Work in Gangs.

Les Apaches— They work in gangs. In the underworld their associations are complete and distinct. Fame has come to them—to the gang of Bebert of Montparnasse, of Gegegne of the Courtille, the Green Cravats, the Costards of the Villette, the Mont-en-l'air of the Batignolles. Against these bands the police war in vain. They wage their battles in open day—for some "moments" that Bebert has stolen from Gegegne. A band comes down from the heights of Belleville or of Charonne and raids a peaceful quarter—a home going cab is surrounded, the passenger stabbed through the window and robbed. They prey on the public. Band wars upon band. There are nightly duels on the fortifications or under the bridges—when the Beau Totor meets Poigne d'Acier, knife to knife, in a savage and not unbloody way. Young all, from sixteen to twenty-two, rarely older. Where do they come from? Everywhere. They grow on the pavements of Paris, along the gutters—foundlings or deserted children, sons perhaps of that laboring class which is on the edge of crime and beggary. The life of the Apache is short, but for every one sent to the jail or the guillotine two stand ready at the door of the slums. They used to haunt the den of the Pere Lurette.—From "The Slums of Paris," by Vance Thompson, in Outing Magazine.

Nurses and Cancer.

"I find the trained nurses brave enough in most cases of contagious disease," said a Brooklyn doctor, "but there is one thing at which they balk." "What's that," asked a friend—"smallpox?" "No; cancer. They have all the untrained woman's horror of that disease. The most faithful of them will go without an engagement for weeks rather than take a cancer case. Yet the peril is slight compared with what they face almost without thought." "Isn't it contagious?" "A malignant case is if a scratched hand is brought into contact with the cancer. Three cancers out of four, however, are not malignant and can be dressed without gloves safely. The trained nurses balk at all of them."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Intoxicated Midge Flies.

Concerning the life history of the particular little midge that patronizes the arum in England very little is known, yet it is certain that when arums are blooming these midges give little time to anything besides drunken orgies within their shelter. You have only to cut open a bloom at the narrow neck portion and look down to the lower part to see the helpless insects lying in heaps, all more or less intoxicated—intoxicated from overindulgence in arum pollen.—Strand Magazine.

Two Views.

"What a pity you are engaged so young, my dear!" said the maid who was beginning to carry weight for age. "You will never know what fun it is to refuse a man." "No, I suppose not," rejoined the fair debutante, "but you can't imagine how much fun there is in accepting one."—Chicago News.

The One Thing Left.

"But what will there be left for you to do after your toiling and scheming and self denial have brought you the millions you covet?" "What'll there be left? Gosh, I can go to New York and spend 'em, can't I?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Hurt Him.

Tommy—Did the fowl hurt you, Mr. Squires? Mr. Squires—What d'you mean, my dear? What fowl? Tommy—Well, I wanted to know if it hurt, 'cause mummy said you had been henpecked for twenty years.—Strand Magazine.

A Substitute.

"Anna, you wished to buy a dictionary?" "I have married a professor instead."—Meggendorfer Blatter.
