Grangers and Automobile Roads.

The Board of County Commissioners did not finish business until Saturday, and in addition to the proceedings reported in our last issue, the following matters were taken up and disposed of:

In the matter of the contract for the construction of a road on the east side of the North fork of Nehalem river, it was ordered that Commissioner H. V. Alley be authorized to enter into a contract or contracts in behalf of the county for the construction of a road lying on the East side of the North fork of the Nehalem river, between the two mile and three mile stakes.

In the matter of the plat of Nehalem Bay Park, it was ordered that the same be approved.

In the matter of the plat of Sunnyside addition to Tillamook City, it was ordered that the same be approved.

In the matter of a contract for the protection of the county road on the Wilson river, it was ordered that Commissioner Geo. W. Boddy be authorized to enter into a contract with Paul Erickson and James Williams for the protection of the same, to be ratified at the next term of the court.

The resolutions, as submitted by the Fairview Grange, were as follows:

Fairview, Tillamook County, Ore., August 10th, 1907.

To the Hon. Board of County Commissioners of Tillamook County, Ore.
At a regular meeting of the Fairview Grange, held at their hall at Fairview, Oregon, on Saturday, the 10th day of August, 1907, in discussing the matter of automobile roads, the Fairview Grange declared that the county taxes are already a burden to the taxpayers, and that a special or an additional tax for an automobile road to be imposed upon them, and for the new roads and bridges asked for, would be a further burden to the taxpayers and prohibit the new settlers coming into the county; therefore, be it resolved:

1st, That the Fairview Grange is absolutely opposed to the county appropriating money for the building of automobile roads;

2nd, That any company or corporation shall have no right to improve any such roads in Tillamook County at their own expense, making such roads suitable for their purpose, the county granting them no special rights or privileges at the expense of the taxpayers, other than to improve and maintain it as such.

Sudden Attack of Dysentery Cured.

A prominent lady of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to inquire where she can obtain Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She says: "While stopping at a ranch in South Dakota I was taken ill of what seemed to be cholera. They gave me some of this medicine and it cured me. I brought a bottle home and have just used the last of it to day. Mother was taken suddenly ill of dysentery and it helped her immediately." For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market.

For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has constantly gained in favor and popularity until it is now one of the most staple medicines in use and has an enormous sale. It is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases, such as coughs, colds and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant and safe to take and is undoubtedly the best in the market for the purposes for which it is intended. Sold by Clough's Drug Store.

THE TREE DOCTOR.

His Method of Treating a Trunk That Is Decaying.

When a tree doctor treats a decayed tree he begins by cutting an aperture in the tree large enough to allow him to get at the inside and remove all the decayed wood. This is essential to the success of the operation. When this work has been done the cavity is ready to be filled. The composition used in case of large fillings contains five parts of sand to one part of portland cement, except for the outer part, where these ingredients are used half and half, this outer coating being several inches thick. To hold the cement in place while it is hardening a stout tin or zinc is employed, this being secured to the trunk of limb in a way to preserve the natural shape. The tin is put on in strips, being fastened with round steel nails having a broad head and a small shank. The strips are wide enough to lap over upon the sound wood, and the nails are placed from half an inch to an inch apart, according to the strain imposed.

The first strip of tin is put on at the lower part of the aperture and the cement put in until it reaches nearly to the top of the tin. Then a second strip is put on, lapping over the other two or three inches, and the two nailed together. Then more cement is used, and so on until the cavity is filled, the last strip of tin being bent down while the final application of cement is being puddled into place and the cavity entirely filled, and then it is straightened up and nailed in place. In case of extra large cavities large sheets of tin or sheet iron are nailed on the outside to prevent the tin from bulging out until the cement has hardened, when they can be removed. The smaller the cavity the larger are the strips of tin employed, as the strain is proportionately less. In twenty-four hours the cement will have hardened completely, and the tin may all be removed. This remedy is applied successfully to fruit trees as well as shade trees.—New York Tribune.

A LESSON IN NERVE.

The Laundry Didn't Charge For the Ruined Shirt.

"When I came to open my bundle of stuff sent home from the laundry this morning," said the bachelor man, "I found in it, sent back washed, but not ironed, one shirt that had planned to it a ticket reading like this:

"We are returning this shirt on account of it not being in a condition to withstand ironing."

"This was a new one to me, but when I came to open up the shirt and looked it over I didn't wonder that they hadn't tried to iron it; one arm was all but torn from its socket, and there was a hole punched through one cuff, with a tear extending from this hole for an inch or two up the sleeve. The shirt was sure not in condition for ironing, but how did it get so?"

"I certainly never sent it to the laundry in that shape. I'd have had hard work tearing the sleeve out of the shoulder the way this one was torn, and I couldn't have made that hole in the cuff without some sort of a sharp and big punch. Clearly the shirt had been torn and mangled in that manner by being caught in the laundry machinery, and so I wrapped it up in a neat little bundle and took it over to the laundry office, intending to make a claim for the value of it. I spread the shirt out on the counter and called the clerk's attention to it and told him that I couldn't have torn the shirt in that manner; it must have been done in the laundry, and how about it?"

"Well," said the clerk, "we made no charge for it."

"As the full significance of this came upon me—they had torn my shirt all to pieces, but they didn't make any charge for it—I staggered back, and I kept on staggering that way until I had got out of the door.

"I shall never make any further claim for the shirt. I got back far more than its value in that lesson in clear, cold nerve."—New York Sun.

An Old Song.

From the hieroglyphics on an Egyptian tomb comes the following song, almost identical with one sung by the Egyptian peasants considerably over 3,000 years later than this was written:

Tread ye out for yourselves,
Tread ye out for yourselves,
Tread ye out for yourselves,
Tread ye out for yourselves,
Tread ye out for yourselves,
Tread ye out for yourselves,
For men who are your masters,
The grain!

—London Chronicle.

Downtrodden Husbands.

The middle class woman in England now generally affects to be superior to the social position she occupies; she endeavors to dress, live and act up to the highest standard she has adopted as her own. This attitude and its attendant circumstances eventually induce the ordinary middle class husband to regard her as socially superior to himself. In time, from this cause, he becomes little better than a footman to his own wife.—Marmaduke in London Truth.

Forgot Himself.

Romance of Failure.

Failure is nearly always more romantic than success. As a rule, when once a man is comfortably successful he ceases to be interesting.—London Reader.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained, however. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by Class 1 Clough, druggist, 50c.

Lame Back.

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proven especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Luke LaGrange, of Orange, Mich., says: "After using a plaster and other remedies for three weeks I had no more back trouble. I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and two applications effected a cure. For sale by Clough's Drug Store."

Independent or National Church.

Every nation has a prevailing religion. The constitution guarantees the right to worshiping God according to dictates of conscience. There are two opponents to his idea, one that worship should be prescribed by the church and the other by the state. Those who hold to the church claim that the church is superior, that it was the church that preserved the bible and decided what was and what was not bible, and the other that the bible is the word of God and governs the church. One is known as Catholic, the other Protestant. The Independent church is non-Catholic and anti-Protestant, not governed by the church or the bible, but individually by the light of conscience. If a man could not understand a language or read, the church or the bible would be of no use to him, so if a man was too dumb to have any impressions within he could not worship God by his conscience. Whether the church or the bible is right or not is left for Catholics and Protestants to settle. The question for the Independent church is, are we capable of worshiping God intelligently by the light of conscience. It requires a great number of men to interpret what the church and the bible teaches, who devote their whole lives to impose obligations upon people who subscribed to their support, but there is not a single man who is spending one-tenth of his time and energy to uphold the light and liberty of conscience. A man has a fine span of years. I admire them, but they have his brand on them. So it is with the Catholic and Protestant churches, they belong to the other fellow. I have no interest in them. The one holds up the church, the other holds up the bible, and the liberty of conscience as the supreme mode of worship, and the best authority for right and wrong.

Verdict for Dr. Pierce

AGAINST THE

Ladies' Home Journal.

Sending truth after a lie. It is an old maxim that "a lie will travel seven leagues while truth is getting its boots on," and no doubt hundreds of thousands of good people read the unwarranted and malicious attack upon Dr. R. V. Pierce and his "Favorite Prescription" published in the May (1904) number of the Ladies' Home Journal, with its great black display headings, who never saw the humble, groveling retraction, with its inconspicuous heading, published two months later. It was boldly charged in the standard and illustrious article that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of women's weaknesses and ailments, contained alcohol and other harmful ingredients. Dr. Pierce promptly brought suit against the publishers of the Ladies' Home Journal, for $200,000.00 damages.

Dr. Pierce alleged that Mr. Bok, the editor, maliciously published the article containing such false and defamatory matter with the intent of injuring his business, furthermore, that no alcohol, or other injurious, or habit-forming, drugs are, or ever were, contained in his "Favorite Prescription"; that said medicine is made from native medicinal roots and contains no harmful ingredients whatsoever; that Mr. Bok's malicious statement were wholly and absolutely false.

In the retraction printed by said Journal they were forced to acknowledge that they had obtained analyses of "Favorite Prescription" from chemists, all of whom certified that it did not contain alcohol or any of the alleged harmful drugs.

These facts were also proven in the trial of the action in the Supreme Court. But the business of Dr. Pierce was greatly injured by the publication of the libelous article with its great display headings. Hundreds of thousands who read the wickedly groveling retraction set in small type as inconspicuous as possible. The matter was, however, brought before a jury in the Supreme Court of New York State and a verdict rendered a verdict in the Doctor's favor. This his traducers came to grief and their base slanders were refuted.
